PROBS.—Moderate to fresh winds, fine weather, higher temperature.

COMING AGAIN.—The celebrated Truman at the Windsor Hotel.

A GOOD quality of ladies molton cloth in all shades at 50 cents per yard; also plushes in every choice shade at half price at S. Burgess & Son's.

LATE TRAINS.—The train from the East due here at 4 a.m., did not arrive until 11.30 o'clock. Snow blockade the cause. The western express was one hour late.

A NOTABLE LECTURE is that of Commander Cheyne in the Opera House to-morrow evening. He is a good speaker as well as a plucky sailor and adventurous savant.

THE ladies of St. Andrew's Church will hold their quarterly sale, consisting of cakes, fancy articles and Easter flowers, in St. Andrew's Hall, on Thursday next, beginning at 3 p.m.

HOLY WEEK SERVICES.—Tuesday and Thursday nights at 7.30 in St. Paul's School Chapel. Good Friday 11 a.m. and 7.30 p.m. in St. Paul's Church. On Wednesday at 4 p.m.; Good Friday at 11 a.m. and 7 p.m. in St. James' Church.

INCREASED BY ONE.—Yesterday Judge Jolliet, of Picton, gave his decision in the recount in the Prince Edward election. After all the ballots objected to had been considered and decided it was found that Mr. Hart's majority had been increased by one. His majority is now 99.

ACCEPTED THE CALL.—Rev. T. G. Smith, D.D., has definitely decided to accept the call tendered him by St. Andrew's Church, St. John, N.B., and will leave Kingston on May 6th. The consent of the Presbytery must be obtained, of course, but that is a mere matter of form.

FOR THE FAR WEST.—The party for British Columbia did not leave the station here until 10 o'clock last night. They went out on a special. The train was delayed by a freight getting stuck in a snow bank at Collinsby. Folger & Hanley ticketed the party, receiving therefore over $6,000.

OPENING THE LINE.—The weather having moderated, the K. & P. RR. employees are at work opening the line. Should the wind predicted come, the loose snow will blow into the track again, and will cause annoying delay. The sun, however, has a tendency to pack "the beautiful."

TRIED AND ACQUITTED.—Detective Sullivan is now bound at Verona. Marshall Sly, the man arrested for stealing A. Grant's money, has been tried and acquitted of the offence. J. P. Gonge was the magistrate. Grant has recovered his money. The detective had to walk 30 miles before he secured his prisoner.

KINGSTON has not a habit of patronizing literary entertainments, but should not lose the treat of Commander Cheyne's lecture on Wednesday evening in the Opera House. In the line of entertainment and instruction, as well as from a patriotic view, it is worthy of public patronage. Let there be a good house.

MEDICAL EXAMINATIONS.—The ladies in attendance at the Royal College are taking the same examinations as the male students and at the same time. It is stated that all the students will be croaked this year, even though the written examinations are of the most meritorious character. Most of the first and second year students leave for home tonight.

DESPICABLE AFFAIR.—The Presbyterian Ministers in the cities and towns do not favorably regard the tea meetings. Rev. Mr. McCraig calls them despicable, while Rev. A. Young strongly protests against raising money by way of them. He talks very fairly against the illiberality of mankind. Wealthy men give $5 to the Church and the next day turn around and pay $8,000 or $9,000 for a farm.

ANOTHER FIRE.—Last evening about 6 o'clock the fire alarm was again sounded. The brigade turned out for the second time during the day. The fire was located in a house on York Street, owned by Dr. J. A. Henderson, Q.C., and tenanted by one Anderson. The fire originated by a defective chimney, the blaze catching the lath of the ceiling and shooting along the sheeting. It was quickly extinguished; the damage is but slight.

EASTER CANTATA.—It has been definitely arranged that the Easter cantata, written and arranged by Messrs. Heath and Marquis, will be produced in Convocation Hall on Saturday evening next. There will be no charge for admission, but a collection will be taken up to defray expenses. Any wishing to attend may procure tickets from members of the chorus. On account of the death of Mr. Geo. Robertson its production in the First Congregational Church has been postponed for a time.

KINGSTON PENITENTIARY.

REPORT IN CONNECTION WITH IT FOR THE PAST YEAR—THE LIST OF LATE IMPROVEMENTS—VERY SENSIBLE SUGGESTIONS.

Financial Statements—The Warden Calls Make the Institution Pay if Allowed to do so—Heating by Steam and Lighting by Gas—New Enterprise Suggested.

The annual report of the Minister of Justice on the Penitentiaries comes very late to hand, but better late than never. The publication we have already noticed, especially the recommendation of Inspector Moylan in regard to the profitable employment of the convicts. We now notice the contents of the publication in detail. Mr. Creighton, the Warden of the Kingston Penitentiary, reports that the various industries of the prison have been successfully carried on, and, if full wages were paid for convict labor there would be a profit to the prison after full cost of support and management. The principal work from outside the prison has been from two Department of the Dominion Government and as no complaints have been made he presumes satisfaction has been given. Next year he purposes employing a larger number of convicts on labour which will much improve the prison property, but will be thankful for all Dominion work which may be offered. The industry carried on by Mr. L. B. Spencer, under contract, in the manufactory of locks, etc., employs about one hundred and ten convicts, for whom labor Mr. Spencer pays forty cents per day.

OCCUPATION OF THE MEN.

Convict labor outside the walls has been chiefly employed in quarrying stone, improving the farm, filling in and completing the docks, making roadways, drains, etc., inside the construction of a new boiler house, coal bins, office for clerk of works, and store room are nearly finished. Three new steam boilers are almost completed. These will operate the great mill, large Worthington pumps, carpenters shop engine and supply steam for the dry room. The lunatic asylum building and hospital are now heated very satisfactorily with hot water, and preparations are being made to heat the prison dormitories with steam. This will be a great improvement on the stove system of heating, and will be an advantageous in a pecuniary point of view. The lighting of the prison with gas from crude petroleum or its manufacture would be another step in the right direction, especially on the score of economy. He hopes to see this mode of lighting carried out ere long. The land of the new farm, containing 130 acres, acquired for the Penitentiary when the Hon. Mr. Blake was Minister of Justice, is of very great service to the institution. It gives suitable and healthful employment to a gang of fifteen convicts, and saves annually for vegetables, forage, etc., an expenditure of at least $4,000, as shown by the estimates. This amount is not all profit, but it would be expended if the prison did not employ convict labor to raise the products.

MANUFACTURE OF WOOLLEN CLOTH.

Over the new boiler house there is a large square room, very suitable for machinery adapted to making woollen cloth. An outlay of $3,000 or $4,000 would purchase sufficient machinery to manufacture all cloths and flannels for a uniform clothing as well as blankets, rugs and woollen yarn for all Penitentiaries in the Dominion. It appears to be distasteful to a large portion of the public that any industry should be carried on, which will in any way compete with free labour outside. Mr. Creighton thinks convicts should be kept constantly employed, and on such labor as may be found most profitable, because all they could accomplish in any branch of industry would only be a small fraction of the quantity required, and would not be injuriously felt by any one. However no one can fairly complain of prison labor being employed in making material for the clothing the convict wears and bedding to cover him.

Comparisons are frequently made as to the success or failure of the prison in a pecuniary point of view. "It," says Mr. Creighton, "the department which controls my official action will give me full control of this penitentiary, to manage it as I think best as a commercial enterprise, I have full faith in my ability to make it pay its way, leaving some margin for profit, and until I am placed in that position I do not hold myself responsible for its partial failure in that respect." The PRISON POPULATION IS INCREASING.

This is easily accounted for by the fact that the demand for labour is great and wages good throughout the Dominion. A large proportion of the criminal classes are defective in intellect and incompetent to make any great effort to obtain an honest living. But where employment and good wages are offered then they are just as ready to work as to steal. During the year the conduct and industry of the convicts have been very good. There remained in the Penitentiary on the 30th of June, 1882, some 577 men and 24 women, a total of 601, or 104 less than at the beginning of the year. The daily average was 643, and

THE COST PER CAPITA,

$146.13, an increase of $1.02 on the previous year, caused by the diminished number of prisoners, requiring nearly as large a staff, and rations being somewhat higher. The gross revenue paid to the Finance Department was $12,028.18, equal to $20.57½ per each convict, which reduces the real cost per capita, in money actually expended to $125.55½. The amount paid out on salaries was $42,858.04; in maintenance, $42,203.38; on working expenses, $17,635.24; capital account $9,068.12; industries, $3,107.06; estate of S. T. Drennan, award of arbitrators, $10,045; Chief Keeper McCartney, acting as Deputy Warden and expenses, $850; balance of contingent fund, $6,104.69, a total of $132,454.32. The debts owing the prison aggregate $1,507.38; bad and doubtful, $97.49; the claims held during the year, $13,584.43.

RETURN OF LABOUR.

The following is the return of labour, exclusive of material, on work done in the Penitentiary for the year ending 30th June, 1882:

Carpentering, nauseating, and joiners	$ 6,37[illegible].40
Machinery and stone cutting	20,126.41
Woodworking	7,100.00
Lock Department	12,400.12
Tailoring	6,900.00
Shoemaking	6,700.00
Bakery	1,845.20
Painting, tinning, &c.	2,000.00
Cooking, cleaning, &c.	6,200.00
Total	$84,009.20

INSPECTOR MOYLAN'S STATEMENT.

The Penitentiary has been managed with the same ability, economy and success, that have marked the administration of Mr. Creighton since he assumed the duties of Warden.

The conduct of the convicts is reported to have been "very good." I have seen satisfactory proofs of their industry. Every year there are valuable additions to the buildings and extensive improvements made.

The Warden mentions accommodation which the new boiler house affords for serving on the manufacture of woollen cloth for convict clothing, blankets and rugs, for the use of the Penitentiaries and other purposes of the Government, such as the N. W. Mounted Police, the Indians and others. This is an enterprise which holds out every promise of success. It is quite legitimate and unobjectionable, as it is proposed to manufacture exclusively for the Government and would not enter into competition with any existing industry. The aim of the undertaking would be to combine economy with the means of employing a certain number of convicts at skilled labor. The Government will regard with favor this proposed plan of the Warden, which he has conceived and maturely considered for some years. The recommendation made, for many years, to light the Penitentiary with gas, is renewed by the Warden. He suggests that gas be manufactured from crude petroleum. This would be a great improvement upon the plan now in use, on the score of cleanliness, safety and, eventually, perhaps, of economy.

VALUE OF THE PROPERTY

The old and new farms have been much enhanced in value by manuring and skillful cultivation. The Warden does not over estimate the annual saving of money to the Government by the farm at $4,000.

The buildings projected and put up by Mr. Creighton, including the splendid criminal lunatic asylum, boiler house, the stone barn and dwellings on the new farm, the carriage house and annealing rooms, to the rear of the saw shed, and the continuation of the Penitentiary wall down to the bay, together with the improvement and fencing of the land, the new roads, drains, extensive wharf and docks, give tangible proof of the good judgment exercised in administering the Penitentiary. It would be probably rather under than over the mark to estimate the value of the improvements of all kinds for the last twelve years at $120,000, the actual money outlay not exceeding a sixth of this sum.

A GOOD CONTRACT.

The contract with Mr. L. B. Spencer gives employment to more than one hundred convicts, at moulding, lock-making, etc. This greatly relieves the Warden, who would experience serious difficulty in finding work for so many, in addition to the large number of prisoners whom he has to keep from idleness. This contract does not interfere with good discipline. It is to be regretted that a larger number of prisoners cannot be engaged in consequence of the moulding room being too small.

All things considered, the staff of the Kingston Penitentiary comprises as large a number of good and deserving officers as the nature and circumstances of the service could possibly be expected to attract. It would be a step in the right direction if inducements sufficient be held out to secure and retain in the service the right type of men.

TRIBUTE TO THE PHYSICIAN.

The report of the Surgeon of the sanitary state of the institution is all that could be wished. This is also the case even among lunatics. In this relation it is incumbent upon me to bear testimony to the exact manner in which the visiting physician discharges his duties, and the care and attention which all receive who require his professional aid. The precautions which he advises, and which are faithfully adopted and carried out by the Warden, have successfully prevented the inroad of disease. The Asylum Department erected on the site of the workshops destroyed by fire in 1874 is pronounced well adapted for its purpose. A great mill, of sufficient size to grind flour for them as well as the Penitentiaries of St. Vincent de Paul and Dorchester, has been fitted up at one end of the Insane Asylum building. The Warden expects that a large amount will be saved annually, by the manufacture of flour on the premises.

REPORTS OF THE CHAPLAIN ET AL.

Rev. C. E. Cartwright refers to the baneful effect of indiscriminate association. He says, "I think that associations and its results are the greatest hindrance in the way of reformation." He also maintains that he received several letters during the year from ex-convicts in Canada and the United States who are doing well.

Rev. P. A. Tassby reports "everything as having proved satisfactorily during the past year." The chapel, which had been renewed and decorated, was blessed by His Lordship Bishop Cleary in August with due solemnity.

The matron states in her report that the conduct and industry of the women "has been much better than ever before," in her experience of 22 years. There are three insane females.

The school has been well attended, the number being 118.

In addition to the yearly grants to the libraries in the Penitentiaries voted by Parliament would be of great benefit. Indeed, it were difficult to apply the same amount of public money to better use.

The place of Mr. Thomas McCarthy has not been filled, as the Warden has decided to dispense with a Chief Keeper, for the discharge of whose duties there is proper provision has been made.

The death of Mr. Henry A. Jones, the very efficient clerk to the Warden, occurred during the year. He has been succeeded by Mr. Robert Creighton at a salary of $700 per annum.

AN AFFLICTED MINISTER.

Yesterday a telegram to the Kingston Presbytery gave reasons for the absence of Rev. D. Mitchell, of Belleville. On Sunday morning the reverend gentleman was seized with a fit which rendered him unconscious for several hours. His friends were much alarmed. Doctors were summoned and although hopeful of favourable results they announce that the case is a serious one. There was no paralysis as first reported, but the patient is suffering from a spinal complaint and nervous prostration. Over-study and mental exertion are said to be the causes. In several Protestant churches of Belleville touching allusions were made to the illness of Mr. Mitchell and special prayers were offered for his restoration to health.
