MARCH.

A mellow gray in the chilly dawn,
A burst of the red gold sun at noon,
A windy sea for the dying day,
And a wail at dusk like the distant moan,
A ghost at night in the hollow lurch,
A sigh and a moan,
And this is March.

A frown in the morning black and dim,
A smile when the day is half way up,
A moan when the wind comes up over the sea,
And moans the lurch when the day is done,
A penitent, changeful, gruesome thing,
Is this fierce live child,
Of winter and spring.

It is mad with the rage of an unloved one,
It is child with the waters that long have sat;
It is sad at times and soon it laughs,
And is warm with the summers that are not yet,
And its voice laughs loud in the leafless larch,
But to sigh again,
And this is March.

A dose of quinine when the sun comes up,
From its tossed up bed in the eastern sea,
Some castor oil when the moon has risen,
And a blue pill dark and cramp tea,
A direction made from the leafless larch,
And another blue pill,
And this is March.

An Atlantic Coast man, who has kept a diary for twenty-nine years, says that a succession of eight stormy Sundays, which occurred this winter, was an event quite unprecedented. In 1878 five successive Sundays were more or less stormy. In 1864 there were only eleven stormy Sundays.

Romain Chabot, the Arthabaska murderer, now lying under sentence of death at Arthabaska, is said to be his fly recorded to his fate. He weeps piteously at his approaching fate, and during a recent interview between him and his wife the pair spent the time in violent exclamations, and refused to shake hands at parting. Since Chabot attempted to cut through the iron bars of his cell he has been placed in close confinement.

ENGLISH RITUALISTS.

What a Late English Paper has to say of Their Christian Work—Good Men at Heart.

The success of two men to whom ritualism owes its largest success, namely Lowder and Alex. Macconochie, is due, not to millinery and upholstery, but to a manly effort to better the poor. The Rev. Charles Lowder was Vicar of St. Peter's Church, London dock. It was a most dreadful parish. Any one acquainted with "Our Mutual Friend" will recollect the horrible stone depot of it the opening chapter. His curate has been a dashing life guardsman, and it must have been an awful sacrifice to come and live where he did. Ratcliff highway, thronged with thieves and loose women, abounding in dens of debauchery and murder, was the scene of their labors. Mr. Stanham, the curate, lived with a high bred wife and three lovely children in a close little house hemmed in on one side by a soap factory and on the other by a fish baler. When Lowder was carried to his grave it was amid the tears of the poor and the sublime benediction of the miserable, for whom he had labored thirty weary years. The Catholic priest of the neighborhood said: "He had every virtue except the true faith." He was a tall, spare man, with a very sweet expression, about the last one would expect to see where he chose to live and die. Stanham, his curate, who succumbed to an infectious disease, was cut out for a garrison dandy. The Vicar of St. Alban's, Holborn, is of the same stamp. It is a parish which was once the headquarters of a school of thieves. A noted thieves' kitchen, supposed to be the same painted in "Oliver Twist," stood where the altar now stands. The neighborhood is composed of Italian image makers and fabricators of articles that will retail for 1d. Twelve thousand are squeezed into a few principal streets, which ever and anon are visited by epidemics and always by want. Macconochie is nobly helped by Stanham, his senior curate, in all particulars a splendid fellow. A Persian called some time ago to see him and insisted, notwithstanding many denials, upon being taken where he was. Stanham was found in a miserable court, with a large apron tied around him, busily engaged in white washing a room where a smallpox patient had just died to fit it for a poor family. No workman had been willing to do it for any money. These men are samples of the real Ritualist. They try to improve the poor man's home. They share penny banks, coal clubs, shoe clubs, and what not. They have a club for youths and boys, mothers' meetings, maternity clubs, temperance societies, homes for the outcasts, hospitals for the sick, free dispensaries and gratuitous doctors, coarse and high born women nurse poor waifs that perhaps never knew before what it was to sleep in a bed or enjoy a wholesome meal. Macconochie has earned the love of many of the Irish poor of London. Last year a lady met him 25 to buy a warm overcoat, his own being thin and threadbare. A fire broke out soon after and a poor carpenter lost all his tools. Macconochie took him the 25 and continued to wear his old coat.

The dispute between the different sections of the Society of Friends at Bloomfield, Prince Edward County, came up at the Chancery session in Belleville. It was to try the question of ownership of the meeting house. The introduction of new practices and acts which were pronounced by some as heresies, led to the trouble, and the end of the law was invoked. The judge decreed that the plaintiffs were not trustees and could not, therefore, succeed on such grounds. The "new lights," or plaintiffs, paid the costs of the litigation, which must amount to a considerable sum. We hope that hereafter the brethren will continue to dwell together in unity and peace.

SALVATION ARMY NEWS.

(English Papers.)

"General" Booth and Mrs. Booth made a triumphant public entry into Sheffield from London. There was an immense crowd, numbering at least 30,000, at the station, and a strong force of police, under the chief constable, was present to prevent a repetition of the riots which took place on the last occasion. There was no disturbance whatever. The procession was headed by four "military" bands and "tambourine bands," and it marched through the streets to the tune of "The Golden Slippers." Mr. Booth and his wife were both cheered and greeted at, but there was no attempt to molest them.

In a painful letter the Rev. Samuel Chadwick charges Mr. Booth with alienating the affections of his daughter from her home, and sending her out in uniform against her father's injunction, to sell the Salvation Army newspaper in Paris. He declares that the higher officers of the Salvation Army possess a book of secret instructions which, if they are acted upon, make the officers so subordinate to their general as a Jesuit is to the head of his order. It requires implicit obedience, the breaking of ordinary church order, the neglect of the Sacraments, and the total effacement of the family tie. He contends that no religious body in these days needs such instructions; they are contrary to the spirit of the age and the needs of the free and open spirit of the Christian religion.

The Greatest Genuine Success of the Age

No medicine introduced to the public has ever met with the success accorded to Hop Bitters. It stands to-day the best known restorative article in the world. Its marvellous success is not due to the advertising it has received. It is famous by reason of its inherent virtues. It does all that is claimed for it. It is the most powerful, speedy and effective agent known for the building up of debilitated systems and general family medicine.

Winston Prosthe Co., N.C., March 18, '80.

Gents—I desire to express to you my thanks for your wonderful Hop Bitters. I was troubled with dyspepsia for five years previous to commencing the use of your Hop Bitters some six months ago. My cure has been wonderful. I am pastor of the Third Methodist church of this place, and my whole congregation can testify to the great value of your Bitters.

Very Respectfully, Rev. R. Finlayson.

Rochester, N.Y., March 12, 1880.

Hop Bitters Co.—Please accept our grateful acknowledgment for the Hop Bitters you were so kind as to send us, and which were such a blessing to us. We are so built up with it we feel young again.

OLD LADIES OF THE HOME OF THE PATRIOTS.

Oshkosh, Wis., Sept. 18, 1880.

Gents—I have taken quite quite one bottle of the Hop Bitters. I was a feeble old man of 76 when I began to. To-day I am as active and hearty as well as I did at 30. I am a great many dollars worth of medicine. D. Kelsey.

Sherman, Mich., Sept. 20, 1879.

Sirs—I have been using Hop Bitters for a consumption of long standing, and have taken down not one, but four dozens, failed to do me any good. The effect of the extract seemed the reverse. W. L. Carter.

Gentlemen—I have a sick friend, whom nothing but a few bottles of Hop Bitters will restore, that friend is perfect health and happiness.

Bradford, Pa., May 8, 1880.

"It has cured me of several diseases, each an inveterate one, so I think all the cheapest, most reliable medicine in the world. I have not seen a sick day since I took Hop Bitters." Thos. Gibson.

Evansville, Wis., June 16, 1882.

Gentlemen: No medicine has had one half the sale in my town or has such universal satisfaction as your Hop Bitters have. We take pleasure in speaking for their welfare, as everyone who takes them is well satisfied with their results. Several such remarkable cures have been made with them here that there are a number of earnest advocates in the Hop Bitters cause. One person, present in every person from taking only a few bottles. Warren E. Cox.

Hop Bitters Company, Gentlemen: I took your advice and used two bottles of your Hop Bitters, which have done me more good than any medicine I have taken for years. I recommend my friends to use your Hop Bitters when they need a tonic, and I feel confident strengthen the nervous system, and make new life. I respectfully add my testimony to your Bitters. Rev. A. Chapin, Chaplain of Chemung Prisons.

Syracuse, N.Y., Aug. 1, 1880.

I heard it was rumored in the neighborhood that Hop Bitters was coming again with a great deal of good-sounding praise with and difficulty with most every kind of complaint, and I find them unrivalled for diseases of the digestive organs, and all kinds of nervous complaints and kidney troubles I took one bottle according to directions. It was quite the best medicine I ever took, and I could hardly believe it. I am well, and am sorry we could not have Hop Bitters for our family medicine, and have no well anywhere they will use no other. Our family have been troubled for years, as well and being that week from the use of three bottles. Remarkable Statement.

What it Did for an Old Lady.

Cooksburg, Stations, N.Y., Dec. 20, 1880.

Gentlemen—A number of people had been using your Bitters here, and with marked effect. A lady of over seventy years and been sick for the past ten years, she had not been able to be around. Six months ago she was helpless. Her old remedies or physicians being of no avail, I sent forty-five miles, and got a bottle of Hop Bitters. It had such an effect on her that she was able to dress herself and walk about the house. After taking two bottles more she was able to take care of her own room and walk out to her neighbors, and has improved all the time since. My wife and children also have derived great benefit from their use.

Honest Old Tim.

Gorham, N.H., July 14, 1879.

Gents—Whoever you may happen to know, but I think for hard, and long, grateful to you to know that in this world of adulterated trash, there is one article that does what it is claimed to do. I was completely shattered and broken down by long years of hard work, and for years I had a cough that kept me awake nights, which impaired me to such an extent that the least exertion would make me shake like the aspen. I was induced to try Hop Bitters. I did so, I was blessed to try Hop Bitters. I used one bottle and did not see any change, but rather did an change my nerves that they were now as steady as they ever were. It tired to take both bottles to write, but now my good health I owe to Hop Bitters. N. B. If you publish to make use of this letter, or any part of it, you will accompany it by honest testimony, and publish the greatest blessing on your Bitters ever that was ever conferred on mankind.

Anna Maria Kruger, Wife of Tobias K.

Chamberlaining, July 20, 1878.

This is to let the people know that I, Anna Maria Kruger, wife of Tobias Kruger, am now great sufferer for two years of age. My health was very bad for some years past. I was troubled with weakness, bad cough, dyspepsia, great debility and constipation of the bowels. I was so miserable I could not sleep. I heard of Hop Bitters and was persuaded by my friends. I have now used three bottles, and I feel wonderful well, well and strong again. My friends say my complexion are quite good enough yet. I think it my duty to let the people know how well I was cured of what I suffered from so long, so they may see my testimony with the rest. My wife was troubled for years with bilious spells, sick headache and jaundice so her face which nearly unnerved the life out of her. She tried many remedies and physicians in vain. Of course she commenced using Hop Bitters, a daily friend of Syracuse, N.Y., who had had similar experience and had been cured with Hop Bitters, recommended her to try it. One bottle relieved her, three as many months, high tribute as a child's and gives her good health that is serious almost a miracle.

A Rich Lady's Experience.

I travelled all over Europe and other foreign countries at a cost of thousands of dollars in search of health and found it not. I returned disappointed and ill. Hop Bitters I was induced to try them, and lo! I am well and hearty. Health and strength are now mine. I can walk miles and not feel tired. I cannot speak too highly of Hop Bitters. I hope others may profit by my experience and stop at home.

A Lady, Augusta, Me.

I had been sick and able to do no work, suffering and bedridden so much trouble and expense. Hop Bitters cured me. I was so weak I could not walk. I was so nervous and had the blues. My kidneys were all out of order. I was a great sufferer. I was induced to try Hop Bitters. I have taken two bottles and am well and able to do my work. I cannot say too much in their favor. I hope others may profit by my experience and stop at home.

A Great Cause of Human Misery

is the Loss of

MANHOOD

WE have recently published a new edition of Dr. Culverwell's Celebrated Essay on the Radical and permanent cure (without medicine) of Nervous Debility, Mental and Physical Incapacity, Impediments to Marriage, etc., resulting from excesses.

Price, in a sealed envelope, only 8 cents, or two postage stamps.

The celebrated author in this admirable Essay, clearly demonstrates, from thirty years successful practice, that self-abuse consequences may be effectually cured without the dangerous use of internal medicine or the knife; pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately and radically.

This lecture should be in the hands of every youth and every man in the land.
