BUTLER'S COURTING.

Exploits of the Governor of Massachusetts—Greasing a Log for the Downfall of Others and Himself.

When Butler was just as wicked when he was young as he is now. The New York Truth recalls a story of the Governor when he used to go a-courting and was in love with a fair damsel living some distance from his home, and for whose favoring smiles there were many aspirants. It goes without saying that they were all better looking than Ben, but the latter determined to put the inside of his head against the outside of those of his opponents. The sequel was as follows:

The nearest way to the fair girl's house, and the one taken by all her caper suitors, was over a big pasture over a deep brook in the rear of the house. Young Bother repaired to the bridge an hour earlier than the accustomed courting time carrying a pail of lard with which he carefully anointed the log by the mellow moon light, backing himself across astraddle. As he afterwards sat with his sweetheart, waiting for the other suitors to appear, a loud splash came from the direction of the brook. Ben's game eye twinkled and in imagination he could see one of his gorgeously gotten up fellow candidates climbing up the opposite bank with his teeth chattering and howling for home across lots, but the conspirator looked as innocent as a cat in the dairy and said nothing. Pretty soon there come another souse and after a while another. The beauty began to look at the clock and show evidence of a decided pique at the negligence of her other admirers—a circumstance Ben did not fail to turn to his own profit. Presently he could hear voices in the distance and he knew that the last two swains were approaching together. Pretty soon there came a tremendous double souse. "Dear me," said the young lady, "how the fish are jumping to-night. The up shot of it was that when the future Governor rose to go the slightred beauty gave him her hand, and sealing the bargain with an old fashioned husking-bee kiss. But he left his prize in such a state of exhilation that he forgot all about the greased log and the first thing he knew both heels hit him in the back of the head and he took a header below just as his victims had done. He climbed up the already clawed bank and made the six miles home uttering Kearneyisms unfit for publication. He was taken with chills and fever as a result and when he got well found that his finance had eloped with a hired man. Butler tells this as the narrowest escape of his life, as he said the girl began eating onions the very next day after she became engaged. The General has been lucky ever since.

Dr. C. W. Benson's Celery and Chamomile Pills are prepared expressly to cure and will cure Headache of all kinds, Neuralgia, Nervousness and Dyspepsia. Proved and endorsed by physicians.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

Coal can be dug out of the river bank at Kincardine.

Rev. Wm. Meyhoff, Guelph, accepted a call from Boston.

Complaints are made in Winnipeg that railway rates from New York have been increased 50 per cent since last season.

Among 300 persons have left Dublin since the beginning of the recent private inquiry into the murder conspiracy.

A young Nebraska farmer refused to marry his betrothed because she used powder. He evidently thought it unsafe to have a match where there was so much powder.

At one ford on the Tuba River, Cal., over 200 people have been drowned of the last eight years. It is the coroner and not the bridge-builder who gets rich in the far West.

It is said in Boston that the Methodist Bishop Bowman believes that he holds spiritual communication with his deceased daughter.

Hypnotic really do steal children outside of fiction. A Boston small boy was taken off by a strolling band, and kept ten days before his parents found him.

At the Leeds Assizes on April 26th, James Harling, a mill manager, was sentenced to ten years' penal servitude for having set fire to a mill because he was refused a partnership.

The Duke of Albany, on the 23rd ult., laid the foundation stone of the new premises for the Birkbeck Literary Institute, London, which will accommodate 3,000 students.

EXTRADITION TREATIES.

New York, May 14.—The Tribune's Washington says: "It will be strange if one of the first results of the present Irish American agitation is not a new extradition treaty with Great Britain. It is more than likely that the two Governments are now engaged in secret negotiations upon that subject. The present treaty is the oldest of the existing treaties in the United States, and the first ever adopted by our Government with the exception of the article in treaty of 1794, which expired in 1806 without any law having been passed by Congress to carry it into effect. The obstacle which prevented the revision of the treaty thus far has been chiefly the English. Making conspiracy to murder, is included in the number of treaties of Great Britain with other powers, but thus far this is not named in any treaties of the United States. The United States now has treaties of extradition with 31 foreign countries. In 20 of these political offences are expressly excluded from application in the treaty, but no attempt is made to define such offences."

THE WHEELBARROW MAN.

R. Lyman Potter, of this city, was recently killed in Salisbury, N.C. Potter left a wife and two children two years ago and travelled a wheelbarrow to San Francisco merely to get a name of accomplishing a feat. He had always been regarded as being very queer. He declared when Grant was elected President that he would never shave his face or cut his hair until a Democratic President filled the chair. When he started on his wheelbarrow trip it was regarded as a wild scheme. He had his wheelbarrow made to suit himself, and after piling all on it he deemed necessary for the trip he started. He received notices from various papers, and was an object of curiosity wherever he happened to pass. It was while crossing the Western prairies that he chanced to capture a couple of cub wolves. These he trained to accompany him, and whenever they get tired he would carry them on the wheelbarrow. Finally one of them died. The other was with him at the time he was killed. It is quite large now, but very tame. It will cut out of the hand and loves to be fondled the same as a cat.—Albany Times.

Our Children.

Why compel them to take those vile and nauseating medicines, when Pattner's Emulsion is so palpable and nice, and produces better results than any other. Most astonishing reports are daily recorded in favour of its cures where other preparations of the kind have failed, and then been cast a side in disgust.

QUICK TRANSIT from a state of restlessness, bodily languor, and nervous irritability—induced by dyspepsia—to a condition of vigor and physical comfort, follows the use of the standard regulating tonic—Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. Northrop & Lyman's vegetable Discovery and Dyspeptic Cure, which speedily conquers Indigestion, Constipation Bilious Complaints and Female Complaints, purifies the Blood, and re-inforces the vital energy.

It is the greatest blood purifier ever introduced into Canada.

THE MOST frightful scourge of humanity is Bright's Disease of the Kidneys. Commencing with a little pain in the back, it harries the sufferer to a premature grave. Dr. Van Buren's Kidney Cure is the only known remedy that prevents the fatal result. Take it in time.

In the absence of suitable materials, or the time to prepare it, people often go without a dressing for sores. Buy Dr. Thomas's and you will never trouble yourself to make another.
