PUBLIC FINANCE AND AUDACITY.

Our "antiquated contemporary" in its rambling arguments upon the ex-emption question, in Saturday's issue, endeavours to create an impression that "the city finances have for several years been in a straightened condition," and in proof of this assertion advances two most ponderous reasons, (1) that the City Council failed to supplement the subscription of citizens for the construction of an esplanade on King Street, and (2) that the present condition of the park testifies to the civic penury. We commemorate the display of ignorance made by our contemporary upon this point and sincerely recommend to the future to confine itself to the statement of such facts as it can prove or at least to such as it knows something about.

If our Auditors Reports are not conclusive that we have in them the evidence that our expenditure is being prudently and carefully kept within our revenue, and from the same source we learn that our debenture indebtedness is being reduced at the rate of from $10,000 to $11,000 per annum. Under this condition of affairs we can breathe freely and can afford to put up with many years of such stringency. The failure of the Council to supplement the subscription of the citizens for an esplanade on King Street was occasioned by the belief that corporate funds could be used and were required for purposes of greater public benefit and utility, and the same reason covers the statement concerning the Park.

Regretful as is the display of ignorance to which we have just referred we consider it more than eclipsed by the audacity with which the writer in the News presumes to address "a word to the Council." Taking our Civic Fathers under his loving but patronizingly undersized wing as to their duty and the action they should take with reference to the petition of the Locomotive Works Company. When we consider the standing, the experience, and ability of the members of our City Council, and contrast them with the qualification of their would be mentor, we cannot refrain from using an everyday expression and saying, "It is just too comical for anything."

Concerns as we are of the integrity of our City Council, and of the readiness of its members to adopt such legislation as will be most conducive to the best interests of our city, we commit the exemption question to their care and feel satisfied that their action will be such as commend itself to the best judgment of our citizens generally.

A STRAWY DEFUNCTIONIST.

Hon. Mr. Alexander has not increased his popularity by the speech which he made when Sir Alexander Campbell moved the second reading of the Appropriation Bill. He said:

"The Government ought to be congratulated upon the way in which it managed the Senate. It had been much complained, and had not raised its voice against a single abuse. Two months and a half were wasted, nothing was done, and then the Senate adjourned for the Ontario elections. He wanted to know how long this kind of thing was going to continue. Senators, by meddling in the Local elections, dragged the good name of the Senate in the dirt and held it up to obloquy. They strengthened the hands of those who were agitating for the abolition of the Senate, and gave grounds for the accusation that it was a partisan body. He could see no use in the short time at the disposal of the House in examining the different items of the expenditure. That expenditure was enormous, the increase this year amounting to $4,000,000. The taxation was becoming exceedingly burdensome to the people, and the Government was making the expense of living greater and greater every year. The people were complaining that their incomes were not sufficient to keep up the positions in which they had been used to live. He believed in protecting industries, but every one could see that the duties were excessive, and more than were really needed to foster the industries of the country. The result of having such a large surplus as the Government had taken from the pockets of the people was to induce lavish expenditure. The Government were spending money at an excessive rate, and were sitting up to their ability to do so, would last for ever."

Mr. Alexander managed to reflect, briefly, the opinions entertained by many in regard to the position of the Senate. Its uselessness was never more apparent than during the session that has just been ended, and it is not surprising that men, not sifters and dependents, should tire of the farce and dare to speak out in meeting. The old gentlemen have been most accommodating to the Commons, and adapted themselves to the circumstances which the Government placed them in from day to day. The Upper Chamber has been intended as a check upon hasty legislation, but what it is in that respect was clearly demonstrated when the Licenses Bill was referred to it. This measure, very lengthy (of some 130 clauses) and declared to be one of the most important that Parliament ever dealt with, was passed within an hour and without certain amendments being even read much less considered. But once was anything like legislation originated by the venerable body, and Sir John showed what he thought of it by moving for its discharge in order to clear the paper prior to prorogation. The usefulness of the Senate is gone, and its abolition cannot come too soon. It is an ornament altogether too costly for this young country. It has never been worth the money spent upon it, it will never do the country a service unless—if it must be retained—the members are elected and made directly responsible to the people for what they do. It is not necessary as a check, whether to legislate the will of the Commons.

2. Parvient has great success this year in fine coloured worsted and Scotch tweeds for suitings. His expectations have been more than realized, he having been obliged to re-order the above. Anyone in need of a suit would do well to call on him as he guarantees a good fit and uses first-class trimmings.

CHANCERY COURT.

The Cases Heard Since the Opening of the Court — Decrees Recorded So Far.

Polly v. Gow.—An action by Polly, a judgment creditor of Gow, to charge lands of Mrs. Gow with the value of buildings erected by Mr. Gow and claimed by Polly to have been built by his mother.—Still dismissed without cost. Bridgen & Whiting for plaintiff; S. Powell, Patton and R. T. Walkem for defendants.

Falkner v. Grand Junction R.R.—This afternoon at 3 o'clock, this case came up for a hearing. It is an action brought by X. B. Falkner, formerly solicitor of the Belleville & North Hastings R.R., now part of the Grand Junction R.R., against the road to recover compensation for services rendered. W. Creasi, of Toronto, appears for the plaintiff. Hector Cameron, for defence. Hon. Mr. Bowell, A. P. Wood, M.P.P., Thomas Kelso, President, and S. Pavell, Secretary, of the G. J. R., Belleville; G. A. Cox, President of the Midland R.R., Peterboro, Mayor Hagel, Port Hope, and a large number of others appear as witnesses.

Sullivan v. Harty.—This was an action brought against the defendant as executor and complaining that he sold the testators goods in a hasty manner so that they did not realize as much as might otherwise have obtained. Mr. McGuire for the defence, besides asserting that the sale had been in the usual way by public auction objected to this suit on the ground that a former proceeding for the same matter was still pending and cited Lansing v. Gee in support of his contention. His Lordship concurred in this view and declined to allow the case to proceed, promising, however, to take into consideration the plaintiff's contention. E. M. Britton, Q.C. for plaintiff. Mr. T. H. McGuire, for defendant.

On Saturday the case of Anderson v. Anderson was called and was proceeding when a settlement was arrived at. The circumstances, as reported before, are that Sarah Anderson, of Bedford, wanted to take possession of property from Margaret Ann Anderson, widow of the late William Anderson. The action was brought to enforce an agreement made between Margaret and her mother in 1875, whereby William was to pay his mother $50 a year and keep her five cows and six sheep, to have possession of the property during his lifetime and absolutely at her death. By the settlement the defendant retains the property for her lifetime, then to be turned over to her sons children, and to receive $50 a year and two cows and five sheep. The defendant pays $200 of the costs. A cross action brought by the mother against the daughter in law to recover certain horses, sheep and cows and certain machinery, which she claimed were hers but which the witnesses built as the property of deceased. The machinery will be returned to the mills. Messrs. Britton & Whiting for plaintiffs and Messrs. Macdonell & Meline for defendants.

HONOURS ON COL. HEWITT.

The following is a copy of a document which appeared upon the notice board of the Royal Military College to-day:

Her Majesty having done the Commandant of the Royal Military College of Canada the honour of conferring upon him the Companionship of the Order of St. Michael and St. George—much, he assumes, in consideration of the very high position which under his command the College has attained as compared with similar institutions in other countries—he wishes to take the opportunity of stating that while it would be affectation for him not to acknowledge that it has been equally his duty and pleasure to devote himself entirely to the work entrusted to him without considerations of personal interest or relaxation, his efforts would have been fruitless had he not been aided in a manner which few men have been fortunate enough to secure, and which he will never forget, by an able, loyal and singularly zealous military and civil staff, and also by the Gentlemen Cadets themselves, whose soldier-like bearing, application to study and general good conduct, recognized alike by the staff and the country, is a subject of high pride and gratification to him.

The Commandant also desires to mention prominently the highly intelligent, exceptionally arduous and most willing assistance afforded to him by the subordinate military staff. The Commandant is proud to acknowledge his indebtedness to the staff, both superior and subordinate, and to the Gentlemen Cadets, and it is a subject of the very highest satisfaction to him to know that his services to the Dominion of Canada, a country with which he has been, with a short interval, connected since 1861, have met with the approval of its Government.

FACTS FOR THE COUNCIL.

The News says a dividend of 10 per cent. has been paid upon the stock of the Locomotive Works. Not since the present Company became possessed of them. This we have from indisputable authority.

The taxation of the Locomotive Works, as it is at present, amounts to $2,000 per annum. If they are exempted, as they request by petition, the extensible tax on the city's assessment will be less than one twentieth of one cent on the dollar.

Our local contemporary advances the wonderful argument that the Locomotive Works should not get exemption from taxation because its stock is worth a hundred and fifty. We have only to remind it that when Mr. Yates, of Brantford, was President of the Company stock could not be bought for less than $300 for $100. And yet we saw the stock of the Company wiped out the holders thereof being unable to save one cent from the wreck.

The employees engaged by our local industries to which exemption from taxation is granted number about 1,000. The total exemption granted amounts to $6,000, which is $6 less than one tenth of one cent per dollar upon our present assessment. Assuredly we cannot grant that we are in a "straightened condition" under this head. The best test we can apply to this case is to ask how many citizens of Kingston would object to the grant of a similar sum if by so doing they had the opportunity of doubling the employing capacity of our present industries.

A CIVIC JAUNT.

Ottawa Visited by the Deputation Appointed by the Council—What They Asked For.

Yesterday morning the civic deputation—composed of Mayor Livingston, Alds. Allen, Smythe and McGuire—returned from Ottawa, tempted but with out any definite promise that their mission would be successful. They left here on Friday afternoon—at least the first three named did so. Ald. McGuire following by the next train and joining his colleagues next morning. Mr. Wm. Harty also went east on Friday afternoon, on business in connection with the Locomotive Works. He was with the civic deputation, however, en route to the Capital, and on their arrival there spent some time with them. A number of old Kingstonians were met, including Mr. James Johnson, of the Citizen, who is usually at the service of his visiting friends. On Saturday, at noon, the deputation dined with Hon. G. A. Kirkpatrick, and at 3 o'clock, accompanied by the Hon. the Speaker, A. Gunn, M.P., and J. White, M.P., Hastings, they had an interview with Sir John. It was on the programme that the city should ask for the water front, West King Street, the right of way across some Government land between the cotton mill and Montreal street, right of way across the Artillery Park in the extension of Ragot Street, and for a deed of the Market Battery. Of course the delegates learned before leaving the city that the battery they could not obtain, that it had been and Mr. Kirkpatrick did not hesitate to confirm the statement. "He went further," said one of the delegates, "he informed that we had been working for months to accomplish this end. He said that as member for the county and as solicitor for the line he had had much trouble in consequence of the depot being at the inner section of a much travelled road adjacent to the Tete de Pont barracks and he had done what he could to bring about its removal. The Premier heard all the representations of the delegates—who came of the city was advanced as strong as possible—and said he would have an answer forward as soon as he has an opportunity to consult the other members of the Government. It is not likely that any correspondence will be received before the meeting of the Council to-night, and hence the report of the delegates will be confined to such a statement as we have embodied in this article. Before the interview closed with Sir John, the Mayor drew forth a map and asked the Premier if he would point out a section of land that the Government could give the city for a fair ground. The Mayor told the Premier the present position of the city in w the Crystal Palace property, and asked that land settlement be given to the Corporation for a new location. The head of the Government said the matter would be considered.

Ald. Allen was in good humor at the Capital, and when a bohemian called around to see what the deputation want ed he became very communicative. He told the newspaper correspondent that the Kingston party had a great deal of business on hand, but the most pertinent bit thing was the scheme of from the Martello Tower to Snake Island, a work of necessity; a work the completion of which would make the harbour the finest in the world. He said the cost of the undertaking would be considerable, for crib work, but that the filling in would be comparatively inexpensive inasmuch as the stone of the shoals could be used for that purpose. And the young man, thinking Ald. Allen was as solemn as he was dry, and unconscious of the fact that a breakwater of the kind mentioned would actually cut off Lake Ontario and shut out the shipping, made a minute of the item and no doubt sent it to the paper with which he is connected. "The Czar laughed over this little bit of fun several times and assured our reporter that while he was not certain about getting some of the things he asked for, the breakwater he was sure of. He believes in the maxim that the most unlikely things sometimes happen.

A GRAVING COMPANY

A citizen writes us this morning, "Have the K. & P. RR. Co. not land in Cataraqui ward upon which they can erect a station? I think they have and that their action in regard to the obtaining of the Market Battery not 48 to be endorsed. The Company have made pretty well out of the city. They got a bonus of $300,000, and $30,000 interest before the bonds were issued; they got property at Place d'Armes, and north of Tete de Pont barracks, and they got exemption from taxation upon all they have for a long period. With all this they should not undermine the city and take a piece of land for which they have really no need. I am not an opponent of the K. & P. RR. Co., but I think they are acquiring too much at the city's expense."

THE SPEAKER ENLIGHTED.

The Montreal Star says that on the return of the members of the House of Commons to their own chamber Mr. Alonzo Wright (fitly chosen on account of the elegance and gracefulness of his language and manner) on behalf of the members of the House, conveyed to the speaker their high appreciation of the courtesy, firmness and impartiality which had characterized his conduct in the chair. Mr. Trow pleasantly concurred in the remarks of Mr. Wright. In this connection I may remark that Col. Kirkpatrick has won much esteem by his amiability and general good qualities, and if all the reports are true, he has won even more that during this session of Parliament; for there is much talk in society over his approaching marriage with the charming daughter of the Hon. Mr. Macpherson, Speaker of the Senate.

CZAR'S CORONATION.

Precautions for His Safety—Arrest of Suspicious Characters—An Agitated Man.

New York, May 28.—Specials from Moscow say that extraordinary precautions were taken on Thursday to ensure the safety of the Czar during his entry into Moscow. For over eight miles two lines of soldiers stood arm to arm on either side of the street. At the back of these a single line of moujiks, dressed in peasant costume, who volunteered from the cities and towns and villages all around to assist in the protection of the Emperor. Not a hand could have been lifted without danger that its possessor would have been immediately torn to pieces. On every roof soldiers stood guard to prevent the possibility of escape should an attempt have been made from the houses. It had been proposed that the windows should not be allowed open during the passage of the procession, and that no person would be allowed to carry anything in their hands, but the rumor proved unfounded. Perfect freedom prevailed. Every window was opened and crowded with enthusiastic people. The police urged such measures but the Emperor was determined to trust entirely to his subjects. Many were nervous as to the results. When the Czar dismounted to enter the chapel he was visibly agitated, nervously standing first on one foot, then on the other, and twirling his moustache. In the evening ominous rumors spread of arrests during the day. The fact became known that fifty workmen, engaged on the electric lights within the Kremlin, had been imprisoned. Then followed rumors that Hartman was in Moscow.

CONCEALED AS A PRIEST

All that is certainly known is that scores of suspicious characters were kept in prison until the festivities were over. Hundreds of students were sent home at the expense of the Government. During the ceremonies yesterday many old soldiers were so deeply affected that they wept aloud. There were at least half a million people outside of Kremlin and the enthusiasm was immense. American Minister Hunt was placed in the third row on the diplomatic tribune, among Chinese, Japanese and South American representatives. His wife was with the ladies of the French Embassy. Rear Admiral Bald win, representing the American navy, was in a group of special envoys, including Gen. Wolseley and others. After the coronation the ceremony was concluded.

A NIHILIST THAT DEFEATED.

It is said that the Czar on Monday night found a slip of paper in his room warning him to grant a free constitution and parliament or the coronation day of his fate would be sealed. The paper suggested if he doubted his fate was in the hands of the Nihilists that he send the police to numbers 81 and 82 of the Tverskaia. The police went and discovered that the two houses had been undermined in such a manner that in the event of an explosion the buildings would have toppled into the street crushing the Czar and his cortege.

FAGAN'S FATE.

Hanging of Another of the Murderers of Cavendish and Burke—Quiet End.

Dublin, May 28.—Michael Fagan, one of the Phœnix Park murderers, was hanged this morning.

Dublin, May 28.—The execution took place in Kilmainham jail. Since he received sentence Fagan has been very attentive to the instructions of the priests who visited him. In an interview recently with relatives he declared that he had not hurt a hair on Burke's head. His mother, who was confident of his innocence, wrote to the Queen repeating this declaration. Her letter was not answered. Canon Kennedy attended the condemned man this morning. The black flag announcing that the execution took place was hoisted at 8 o'clock. A strong force of police and military was present. Everything went off quietly. A small crowd collected outside the prison, a few of whom knelt in prayer for the repose of Fagan's soul. The condemned man was pale but appeared to be resigned to his fate. Death was instantaneous.

GOVERNMENT REWARDS.

Dublin, May 28.—Farrell, informer in the Phœnix Park murder trials, received £5,000 from the Government, and Kavanagh, carman, £250. They both left the country. James Carey and his brother Peter will receive smaller sums for their services.

Circulation in China.

The Temperance Canon is the best circulated English paper in China. Papers of the temperance order do not take such a lead in America. China must become civilized, or the liberty of the subject—to drink what he pleases—will be in jeopardy. Arthur Nash, formerly of Kingston, now of Shanghai, sends the paper hither.

Property in Winnipeg.

Winnipeg has a civic debt of hardly two million dollars, on which it last year had to pay a rate of interest amounting to 38 per cent, of the total amount raised by assessment. The valuation is much too high. A western contemporary says property in the Manitoba capital cannot be held for long at the heavy prices demanded by the speculators.

Sent up for Trial.—Peter Paradise of Belleville, has been committed to gaol to stand his trial for forgery. Bail was refused. The household effects of the accused have been taken possession of by creditors and disposed of to meet outstanding claims. Paradise introduced himself to members of the Y. M. C. A. W. J. Shanks, the Secretary, wrote to the Y. M. C. A. of Montreal, regarding Paradise, when he was answered that the man was unreliable and therefore should not be trusted.
