MONTREAL CONFERENCE.

A Brief Summary of Three Days' Proceedings—Matters of Interest to Methodists.

On Saturday the Conference considered the applications of a few members who had left their work during the year without permission and who now applied for reinstatement. There was considerable discussion in each case, but reinstatement of ministerial standing would not be granted under the circumstances. The Conference expects every minister who takes a circuit at the commencement of the Conference year to fulfil his engagement if his health will permit.

On motion of Rev. W. J. Ashlee it was resolved to have the salary of each minister present in the ministry of the Conference for next year. The President of the General Conference, Rev. Dr. Rose, was introduced and also the Rev. Dr. Sutherland.

Rev. J. Dowe presented the report of the superannuated ministers fund which showed a net increase of nearly $50 over the preceding year.

A vote of thanks was presented to Mr. Dowe for his fidelity and industry in connection with his administration of the Superannuation Fund during the many years he has been its Treasurer.

It was moved by Rev. A. A. Smith, that the next meeting of the Montreal Conference be held in Brockville. Carried unanimously.

The cordial sympathy of the Conference was sent to the Rev. Dr. Douglas, who is prevented from being present on account of severe personal affliction.

SABBATH SERVICES.

The Conference love feast commenced at 8.30 o'clock, and the Rev. J. M. Hagar conducted the service. Several ministers from the Toronto and London Conferences were present.

The public service commenced at 11 o'clock. Rev. Dr. Dewart conducted the preliminary services. Rev. E. A. Stafford preached an eloquent sermon. At the close six young members were ordained to the office and work of the Christian Ministry. The names of the young men were F. W. Crossley, B.A., S. C. Kendall, F. W. Keyers, J. Pamel, F. A. Reid and A. G. Robinson.

In the afternoon the different Methodist Sabbath Schools of the city were addressed by the ministers previously appointed for that purpose.

In the evening the Rev. L. N. Beaudry preached the annual sermon in connection with the Theological Union.

MONDAY'S PROCEEDINGS.

The Districts entitled to appoint lay representatives on the Contingent Fund for next year were named: Brockville, 3; Ottawa, 1; Pembroke, 1; Naparee, 1; and Perth 1.

The ex-President gave notice of a motion in the favor of the basis of Union which he would move when that important question would come up for discussion in the afternoon.

The Book Steward presented a very satisfactory report of the book room in Toronto and also of the Montreal branch. There was a large increase in the amount of sales over the preceding year.

The report of the editor of the Methodist Magazine and Sabbath School publications presented gratifying reports.

Rev. Dr. Dewart mentioned the large increase in the circulation of the Wesleyan over the preceding year, an increase of 1,600.

Rev. J. Gray called the attention of the Conference to some important matters relating to the Contingent Fund. A Committee consisting of the President of the Conference, Dr. Potts, L. Hooker, S. Bond, Dr. Lavell and J. McLaren was appointed.

The case of W. A. Allen, who now comes to be a minister of the Methodist Church of Canada, was finally disposed of.

In the afternoon a large number of laymen and a good sprinkling of ladies were present to hear the great union question discussed. A member of the Conference called for the report of the Memorial Committee on the resolution which had been referred to that Committee with regard to union.

Rev. Mr. Stafford moved the resolution of which he had previously given notice recommending the basis of union. The motion took up each part separately, and gave a very able speech in favor of union. The motion was seconded by Rev. James Kines, who declined for the present to make a speech.

Rev. W. Hanford moved an amendment, which was seconded by Rev. H. F. Bland, recommending changes in the basis, and that the whole question be debated until the General Conference of 1886, which shall determine on another basis, and then refer the matter first to the annual Conferences and then to the quarterly meetings. After a lengthy discussion the Conference adjourned at 5.30 p.m.

Mr. Thos. Gun, carpenter, St. Thomas, says my wife has long been troubled with Constipation, she has used a great many so-called cures, but without doing her any lasting good. Dr. Carson's Stomach Bitters cured her and she thinks it the best medicine ever made. For sale by all druggists everywhere, in large bottles at 50c.

Stevenson Jackson, a Sarnia druggist, has sold an enormous quantity of Dr. Carson's Stomach Bitters. He says they give splendid satisfaction. They act promptly in relieving all disorders of the Stomach, Liver or Kidneys and are the "Best Blood Purifier." For sale by all druggists at 50c a bottle.

Consumption.—A name well known in connection with the Hair Renewer, which renews gray hair to its natural color by a few weeks use. Sold at 50 cents a bottle by all druggists.

Edison's Electric Light is a wonderful discovery, but not as wonderful as Hall's Catarrh Cure. Sold by all druggists.

ST. ANDREW'S CHURCH.

Reception to the Rev. Dr. Smith—A Large Attendance and Good Music—Several Addresses.

The congregation of St. Andrew's Church, St. John, gave Rev. Dr. Thomas Smith, who was recently installed pastor of that church, a hearty welcome on Friday evening. This pleasant event took place in the Sunday school room. The room was tastefully decorated. Over the platform were the flags of England and United States. Over these, in the form of a shield, was the Union Jack and the Royal Arms. On the south wall in large red letters was the word "Welcome," and opposite it, in blue letters, the same word. The southern wall was neatly draped with flags, which were hung around the room in almost endless profusion. The chair was occupied by Mr. T. A. Rankine.

Rev. Dr. Bennett opened the meeting. He said—It afforded him great pleasure to preside at a meeting for the purpose of extending a hearty welcome to Rev. Dr. Smith. He was firmly persuaded, it they only strengthen the hands and encourage the heart of their new pastor, that the church will speedily regain its position of influence in the community.

MR. MATTHEW LINDSAY

delivered the address of welcome. He said they felt that Dr. Smith's highest relation to them was that he was an ambassador of Christ; in that capacity they welcomed him with all their heart. They had heard of what he had done elsewhere, and felt the more confidence in him for that reason. Mr. Lindsay went on to extend a social welcome to Dr. Smith and his family to St. John, and to express the hope that they would find that they were among friends. (Applause.)

REV. DR. SMITH'S REPLY.

In replying Rev. Dr. Smith said that one of the hardest trials in his life had been to leave Kingston and come to St. John. Just having bade farewell to his friends in the place he had left he did not feel as he would like in replying to the welcome he had just received. But after all there was something congenial in such a welcome as had been given him by St. Andrew's. He feared that some of his friends had spoken too kindly about him, but the kind words would certainly stimulate him and maintain the reputation his friends had given him. Since he had been in the ministry he had never been without work. This work was not new. He had come to St. John to carry on the same work in which he had been engaged for 30 years to preach the Word. He referred to the parable of the mustard seed and said that all the ministers had to do was to sow the seed and there could be no doubt that it would grow. Success was inevitable. What ministers wanted to do was to preach the Word as simply as possible. It might be that some would think his sermon too simple, but he could not help that. Such as God gave to him he would give to them. He entered on his new pastorate with a good deal of trembling. Indeed he had never entered a pastorate before with such fear. When he went to Kingston he knew that he would have to preach with five or six clergymen and professors listening to him. The very thought of having these wise men listen to him had caused him to tremble. He knew that they wanted eloquence and he felt he could not gratify them. As he entered the pulpit on the occasion of his first sermon the thought entered his mind that he could give them only that which the Lord gave unto him, and in that way he would enter on his ministry in St. John. If they came to church prepared to be benefited they could not help but receive it. He spoke of how delightful it was to have a fine church edifice, good music and pleasant surroundings, but it was the duty of the church to spread the gospel throughout the world. In asking the extension of the mission, they should remember that they were doing it for Him who died on the cross. Before closing he asked the congregation to accept his hearty thanks for the kindness and consideration they had shown towards him since his name had first been used in connection with St. Andrew's Church.

As Dr. Smith resumed his seat the applause was very hearty. The choir then sang in excellent style a fine chorus which was favourably received.

REV. DR. MACRAE, on being called upon by the Chairman, said he shared the privilege of welcoming Dr. Smith to the pastorate of St. Andrew's Church. Dr. Smith was a man of wide sympathies, who would take a warm interest in all public matters. He referred to the regrets expressed in Kingston at the departure of Dr. Smith, which showed what he had said of the man. He welcomed the new pastor of St. Andrew's Church as a man who would be a great acquisition to the Presbytery. St. Andrew's was the first of the Presbyterian Churches in St. John, and so far as he knew the handsomest in the Maritime Provinces. But the people knew from experience that a fine building would not bring souls. God wanted self-consecration and earnest workers. Next year, he believed, it would celebrate the centennial, and he hoped it would enter on a career of increased usefulness. He welcomed Dr. Smith in the name of his own congregation and in the name of the Presbytery of St. John, wishing him a warm and cordial God speed in his work. (Applause).

OTHER PARSONS SPEAK.

Rev. J. C. Burgess was glad Dr. Smith had had come to St. John. He wished both pastor and people much happiness in their new connexion.

The Avon quartette then sang, "I Cannot Always Trace the Way," after which

Rev. D. D. Currie welcomed Dr. Smith on behalf of the Methodist denomination.

Miss McIrain then sang in a very fine manner an appropriate solo.

So far as one Baptist minister could speak in behalf of the denomination, Rev. Dr. Hooper welcomed Dr. Smith to St. John in the name of the Baptists of St. John and the Province. (Applause.)

Rev. T. F. Fotheringham welcomed Dr. Smith to St. John on behalf of St. John Church, the daughter of St. Andrew's.

The Avon Quartette then sang "The Soldier's Farewell," which was heartily applauded.

Rev. George Bruce extended the same hearty welcome on behalf of St. David's Church. From what he knew of Dr. Smith he was a man who would uphold with credit the blue flag of Presbyterianism.

Miss Cunn followed with a very pleasing song.

Hon. William Ekler said the press would be glad to record whatever was done by the church fitted to advance the great interests which it sought to promote.

After the speeches and music the audience partook of tea.
