THE MAN IN THE MOON.

Oh the Man in the Moon has a crick in his neck
When
He looks at the stars as the doctors advise!
And I can easily see how
And a smile on his nose that is purple and black
And his eyes are so weak that they water and reek
If he dares to dream even he looks at the moon
So he just dreams of stars as the doctors advise.
My!
Does?
But can's do what
To just dream of the stars as the doctors advise!

As the Man in the Moon has a boil on his ear
When
When?
What a disgusting thing
I know; but then I'm a new antiseptic by dear.
Throw a bag on his ear and a corn on his chin.
He calls it a dimple, but dimples stick in.
Yet it might be a dimple turned over you know;
Why,
He
Why, certainly so
It might be a dimple turned over you know!

And the man in the moon has a rheumatic knee
Now
What?
What a pity that is!
ought to be
So whenever he wants to go north he goes south
And comes back with potatoes crumbs all round
his mouth,
And he brushes them off with a Japanese fan
Why?
Why?
What a marvelous man!
What a very remarkably marvelous man!

DIOCESE OF ONTARIO.

The Stipends of Missionaries—A Difference of Opinion—A Summing Up of Argument

WEDNESDAY AFTERNOON.

After making the announcements about the Mission Board and Provincial Synod, delegate elections, the discussion of the Canon respecting clergymen's stipends was resumed. It was continued until after 5 o'clock.

Rev. S. Tighe thought the time for passing resolutions on this subject had passed, the time had arrived for putting into effect the recommendations of the Rural Deans. There was nothing more practical than the Canon. What had been so successful elsewhere should be given a trial here.

Voices—Question, question!

Rev. A. C. Neelett doubted if the principle was a right one; at any rate there was no occasion for its hasty adoption.

Rev. K. L. Jones moved that the principle of clause 6 to be accepted, but that the Canon be referred back to the Committee for consideration.

Rev. F. L. Stephenson—That means to throw it back for another year.

Rev. Mr. Jones said that perhaps before another meeting the Canon might be made more acceptable to the Synod.

Rev. Mr. Carey did not regard the Canon very favorably.

The Diocese had machinery enough to accomplish the end desired if it was put in motion. If Rev. Mr. Jones' resolution were passed, and the Canon relieved of its objectionable features, it would be more acceptable to the Synod.

THE SITUATION IN BRIEF.

Rev. J. W. Burke thought a year's consideration was advisable in order that the wishes of the parishes themselves might be better understood. It was most desirable that the position of some clergymen should be improved, but was the Synod prepared to take the consequences of this Canon? to carry it out to its fullest extent? to abandon the parishes that did not keep their obligations?

Voices—No, no.

Rev. Mr. Burke said that if it was not intended to strongently enforce the Canon there was no use in passing it. It was inexpedient to fly from ills they had to others they knew not of.

Rev. Mr. Pick objected to the centralization feature of the Canon. Its main effect would be to give more power to the Mission Board, which had not, as at present constituted, given the satisfaction which some would like. To give the clergy the minimum salaries announced would require something like $8,000 or $10,000.

Mr. Walkem—More than that, $32,000.

Rev. Mr. Pick—So much the stronger my argument. Will the large amount needed be realized? I doubt it. Our object is to make each parish self supporting. Will the new system tend in that direction? I think not.

Rev. Mr. Pollard spoke of the desirability of departing from the present haphazard system. He stated that the proposed Canon would not interfere with the parochial system, that it would not add to the power of the Mission Board, which had simply to receive the money and hand it back to the parish in many cases with the addition of a grant. The details were not exactly what he liked, but these could be modified and improved in time.

Mr. Walkem asked when a parish ceased to be regarded as a missionary parish?

Rev. Mr. Crawford said when it met its obligations without Mission Board assistance.

A LAYMAN MAKES OBJECTION.

Mr. Walkem agreed with Dr. Wilson that it was unwise to experiment, to abandon a system which was working very well. The new system was to a certain extent speculative. Although it proved a success in other Dioceses it might not be a success in Ontario. He asked if it was wise to sever the connection between the people and the clergymen so far as his stipend was concerned. He thought not. He thought the proposed change would work disastrously to the missionary clergymen.

Rev. Mr. Nimmo disagreed with the last speaker. Instead of injuring the clergymen he thought the Canon would place them in the position of independence which they should occupy. The new system seemed to some to be an evolutionary step, and it was time there was something of the kind. Its difficulties were magnified by those who did not understand the position of the missionary clergymen, who, as matters now stood, made the appeal for support one of the first duties of his office. The position of some clergymen was relatively worse now than formerly because their salaries were not increased and their income did not go far. By request Mr. Nimmo described the system in existence in New York State. It was declared to be very much similar to that in use in this diocese.

Mr. Walkem was not opposed to some features of the new scheme, certainly not to the increase of stipends. He did not know that a clergyman had to appeal to his people for his stipend.

The Bishop said that if a clergyman went into a mission where no preparation had been made, and no stipend promised, he did so at his own risk. Cases of this kind had occurred and against his remonstrance.

Rev. A. C. Neelett did not know of a time when men were asked to go into a mission without arrangements being made in regard to this stipend.

Rev. Mr. Prime said there was machinery for the assistance of the missionary, but sometimes the machine did not go. His experience had been somewhat like Mr. Nimmo's. The subscription list showed a larger amount than he got.

Rural Dean Bogert was disposed to note against the Canon. He pointed to what the Rural Deanries had effected in the past four, and with their addition desired a longer test of the present system.

Rev. E. P. Crawford spoke at some length in support of the Canon, supplementing his speech of the day before and answering opponents of the new system. He contended that it was not designed to grind money out of the laymen, but simply meant to protect the clergyman and provide for his salary.

OTHER WEAKNESSES DISCOVERED.

After Rev. Mr. Houston and Mr. Reynolds had spoken the Bishop made a few remarks upon the Canon. He had been a missionary clergyman and had endeavoured to put himself in their places in considering questions of this kind; and for his part he would not allow any body to go between him and his congregation. He warned the clergy that if they passed the new Canon they were liable to place themselves in awkward positions. If a congregation wished to get rid of a clergyman it had only to stop remitting to Mr. Spencer; in fact Mr. Spencer would become a kind of register to indicate to him what clergymen were unpopular in the Diocese. He did not think the missionary clergy would like to have it known that they left their missions because the congregations would not pay their stipends. The success of the system in other Dioceses was no criterion for Ontario as the circumstances were by no means the same. It did not say much for the systems of Niagara, Toronto and Huron, that the clergy wrote to him frequently complaining of the difficulty they had in getting their stipends. If the Canon passed he would not veto it. They would do that themselves in a short time.

Rev. Mr. Jones' motion was put and lost.

Dr. Henderson then submitted an amendment, that the Synod do not commit itself to the principle of the proposed Canon, that the matter stand over until the next Synod, that in the meantime the Rural Deans bring it before the Rural Deaneries and report upon the advisability of proceeding with the Canon, modified and altered. This motion after some slight discussion, was carried.

Canon Huntington presented the Canon on the Widows and Orphans' Home. It sought to provide against the distribution of as much benefit to the families of clergymen who had spent a short time in the Diocese as those who were located in it for a lifetime.

Rev. Mr. Lewin moved that the Canon be left over for the consideration of next year's Synod. The business of the Synod was yet to be taken up; and this Canon was simply a fancy matter, a crotchet which it were desirable to burk. Rev. Mr. Carey seconded the motion.

SPECIAL MISSION ASSESSMENTS.

Mr. John Wilmot moved for the appointment of a Committee to consider the question of assessing the several parishes and missions of the Diocese for the purpose of raising more money in order to carry on the work of the Diocese. Rev. A. Spencer seconded the motion in a warm and able speech. Mr. Wilmot's speech was also lengthy. He made a point when he said that they should canvass in connection with church schemes as they did in connection with parliamentary elections; if they did this the annual income for the Mission Board would be nearer $2,000 than $9,000. The motion was referred to the Mission Board.

Arch. Jones announced that the Committee to whom the matter of a permanent Diaconate was deferred did not purpose taking action this session.

The Synod adjourned at 6 o'clock.

WOMAN'S MEDICAL SCHOOL.

Dr. Barrett Explains the Intentions of the Faculty—The Proposed Basis of Operations.

(Toronto Globe.)

At a meeting, called by the Women's Suffrage Club, at Shaftesbury Hall to further the establishment of a medical school in Toronto for women, Hon. Justice Patterson occupied the chair. There were between 30 and 40 present, the majority being ladies.

Mr. James Beaty, M.P., moved, "that medical education for women is a recognized necessity, and the facilities for such instruction which exist in Toronto should be made available."

THE SCHOOL A NECESSITY.

Rev. Dr. King recognized the establishment of such a school as a public necessity. Toronto was a city peculiarly adapted as a site for a Provincial school of this description. In respect of education, Kingston, for instance, he thought was ahead of Toronto.

The motion was amended so as to read that "separate" medical education was necessary, and so on.

Dr. Barrett then recounted the steps taken to establish the school and the circumstances connected with. Dr. Trout's offer of $10,000, which he said they could not have a directorate controlling their course. The lecturers would be without emolument, but so long as they had pupils they would go on with the school. In choosing the staff they had only one woman, but that was simply because women could not be had. They were perfectly willing to have ladies associated with them on the teaching staff. They had no less than twelve applications for entrances already, and he was satisfied that the school could be successfully carried on.

A CHANGE OF FRONT.

Mrs. E. Trout congratulated the President of the Women's Suffrage Club on successfully applying her art on the President of the proposed College for Women. He had during the past month exhibited a complete change of front. One month ago, when declining to accept Dr. Trout's gift, he stated that a Board of Trustees composed of both sexes would be a failure, that a mixed staff of professors was a farce, a perfect farce. Mr. Trout thought to call a meeting at this late date was an act of discourtesy toward the Kingston people. They waited patiently until there was no prospect of the school in Toronto succeeding. Then they worked vigorously, and established their college on a liberal and substantial basis. As there was no prospect of obtaining a sufficient number of student, to support two schools they in Toronto should give the Kingston people an opportunity to show what they could do, and as soon as circumstances would warrant go to work with combined forces and establish a school of which they might be proud. He wished it distinctly understood that he was not opposing the best interest of Toronto, for he was largely concerned in the city's welfare.

WOMEN TO HAVE PREFERENCE.

Mr. McEwen, President of the Woman Suffrage Club, described the nature of a correspondence she had with Dr. Barrett, in the course of which he told her that when vacancies in the Faculty occurred and there were women competent to fill them they would be given not only an equal chance but the preference over men. She thought it was not too late yet for those promoting the Kingston school to come into the Toronto scheme, which certainly had the priority.

Dr. Geo. Wright said there could be no discourtesy towards Kingston in the matter, as the announcement of the School in Toronto was made weeks before the Kingston scheme was mooted.

Dr. Stowe thought it meet that this scheme should emanate from the Toronto School of Medicine, as that School was the first in Canada to graduate a woman in medicine.

The motion on being put was carried, none dissenting.

BASIS OF OPERATION.

In the course of his address Dr. Barrett read a proposed basis for the new school. The basis sets out that the Board of Directors is to consist of four members of the Faculty and three ladies. The Board of Directors to have the nomination for election by the Faculty of future incumbents of professorial chairs. Such incumbents may be women.

Dr. Carlyle moved, "that the organization of the Women's Medical College as now explained by Dr. Barrett and others, meets the present necessity for a woman's medical education, and this meeting heartily approves of it and recommends that steps be taken to give it substantial aid." This was seconded by Mr. Kirkland, of the Normal School, and carried nem. con.

A committee of Dr. Barrett's Committee was appointed to raise funds.

LETTER FROM PRINCIPAL CAVEN.

The following letter was addressed to the Chairman by Principal Caven:

"The argument in favour of establishing such a school are very strong, and there seems every reason why Toronto, with its superior facilities for medical training, should be its seat. The Faculty announced will command the confidence of the entire community."

Z. Pervoy has great success this year in fine coloured worsted and Scotch tweeds, for suitings. His expectations have been more than realized; he having been obliged to re-order the above. Anyone in need of a suit would do well to call on him as he guarantees a good fit and uses first-class trimmings.
