MIDDLEKIRK'S DILEMMA.

A Scheme that Was Entirely Successful—Curtain Is Drawn to a Pastor.

Old Mr. Middlekirk got tired of having mischievous boys sneak up, pull his front door bell, half-way across the street and then run like deer for the nearest corner. So he attached a powerful battery to the needle knob, made connections with a nine plate on the door step, and waited for the boy to come along and close the circuit. But the boy had fun enough for that day, and didn't come back for any more. Mr. Middlekirk grew tired waiting and at last forgot all about the whole matter. It probably would not have occurred to him again that day, but yet the minister made his pastoral call that afternoon. The domestic gave the bell cord a gentle, ecclesiastical pull, then he jumped into the air to some place he thought he at the moment resembled like a wild Indian, his hat shot off, he tired his windbells through a side light, and moaning piteously sank down in a convulsive lump on the sidewalk, while the glad voice of Mr. Middlekirk, who heard the row but couldn't see the tableau, rang out from a side window, "Pull it again, will ye, yo that fooled block of the imp! Pull it again, will ye!"

By the kindly services of the house dog the pastor was returned to consciousness and wrath before Mr. Middlekirk got down stairs. He reluctantly accepted the hospitalities of the medicine chest, but said his mind was in no shattered a condition to listen to any explanation just then. And as he walked stiffly away Mr. Middlekirk admitted that he would have to double his subscription this year and about half made up his mind that he would sell two or three half grown hogs to the Kookiak mission college to raise the extra subscription. And he would do it too, if he could catch the boys.—Rev. Sunshine.

THE ORGAN IN THE CHURCHES.

The Assembly of the Free Church of Scotland have, by a vote of 330 to 256, resolved practically to place them a church upon the same footing as those of the Established and U. P. bodies, regarding the use of the organ, viz., that it should be optional to congregations either to use it or not, as they might agree upon themselves. Dr Allan submitted the report of the Committee appointed to consider the question. Principal Rainy then submitted a resolution to enact substantially the recommendations of the Committee, that the Assembly should find that there was nothing in the Word of God, or in the constitution and uses of the Church, to prevent the use of instrumental music in public worship as an aid to vocal praise. This motion was seconded by Sheriff Cosmo Pasche. Then Sir Henry Moncreiff and the opposing forces. His amendment, practically was simply to shelve the question, to permit and circulate the report of the Committee, but to take no further action. The amendment was seconded by Dr. Nicol, Monifieth, in a long, humorous, very uninteresting and very verbose speech. Among the anti-organ speakers, in favor of the organ were Principal Brown, of Aberdeen, Rathie Dickson, Glasgow, and Provost Monteith, Dumbarton. In the front ranks of the opposition was Dr. Biggs who declared that if the resolution was adopted what should be done with him, and with thousands more, would become a serious question. Colin Rae Brown, of Glasgow, opposed the use of the organ, not on scriptural or constitutional, but on purely sentimental grounds.

AN UNFORTUNATE TRAMP.

A shaggy looking tramp knocked at the door of one of the finest residences in Austin, and was received by the lady of the house.

"Please to give me a dime to buy a glass of bread—excuse me, I mean a loaf beer."

"I haven't got any money."

"Haven't got no money? Then, ma'am, I would suggest that you move in to a cheaper house—you are evidently living beyond your means. Economy is wealth. Economize in the matters of clothes and home-rent. Cut your expenses, and then perhaps some day you will have a dime to spare—a dime, ma'am, that may be the means of preventing a hungry and thirsty fellow mortal from committing suicide—or it may be a quarter—a coin of the value of 25 cents—that will upholster the back of rags on the bosom of his disappointed soul with a silver gilded lining and fill his stomach with Rock beer, wood alcohol, bay rum, etc., etc., etc., that lady."—Texas Siftings.

Convincing Proof.

The attention of readers is respectfully called to the advertisement of the Puttner Emulsion Co., appearing in this paper. Convincing proof is there given of the unbounded popularity of this valuable proprietary medicine which cannot be gainsaid.

FOR HUMANITY'S SAKE.

A Timely Discovery—Saved From an Embarrassing Dilemma—Rather Risky Improvements.

A special despatch from Erie, Pa., to the Buffalo Courier said: By a timely discovery to-day the directors of the poor are saved from an embarrassing dilemma. At the last Quarter Sessions the Grand Jury visited the almshouse and recommended on the score of humanity that the married couples be no longer separated, and that rooms be fitted up for joint occupation. The directors decided to act upon the recommendation and a portion of the county house was ordered to be altered for this purpose. The work has been going on for several weeks and was nearly completed when to-day Superintendent Brown called a halt. From mysterious whisperings and movements of the paupers he suspected something was being carried on in secret, and finally he discovered that nearly all the unmarried females, about 180, were in league to get married in the institution and to demand rooms "on the score of humanity." The marriages were to be effected by the Pennsylvania law which recognizes as a legal marriage a simple declaration made at any time and at any place in the presence of a third person. The candidates for marital accommodation are of varied nationalities and range in age from 18 to 80. A number are quite young people and this fact made the plot the more terrible to the directors, who are appalled at the narrow escape the county has had of having to enlarge the institution to accommodate countless paupers in the near future. The reunion prospect is off, and the Grand Jury will suggest something less expensive.

WAS AT HOME.

In the office of a western railroad superintendent when a common looking stranger entered the outer office and asked for the great Mogul, one of the several young men therein employed would claim to be the official wanted and thus turn the bore away. The other day a well-heeled stranger with a business agent in his eyes asked to see the superintendent, and the chief clerk promptly replied:

"Yes, sir; what can I do for you?"

"Are you the man?"

"I am."

"Then it's all right. Six months ago one of your brains killed a cow for me, and you have just been mean enough not to answer any of my letters. Old boss, I'm going to kick $83 out of you!"

"But, sir, you see—"

"I see nothing but you! Prepare to be licked!"

And the proxy superintendent was not only roopped around the room and flung into the wood box as limp as a clothes line, but the cow owner kicked the office out doors and upset the desks and tables with the remark:

"Next time I do business with this corporation I want you to not only reply to my letters, but to put 'in haste on your envelope.'"

Hereford's Acid Phosphate.

The Wildermuth Spring Bed.

I have had the Wildermuth Spring Bed on trial and can recommend it very highly. I believe it's superior to any spring mattress we have used in our house. Mrs MacPherson, Karl Street, Kingston.

Thomas Hutchinson, the Company's agent for Kingston, has a bed on exhibition at 248 Brock Street, where it may be examined and orders left. Mr Hutchinson will put on a set of springs for any one on a week's trial, free of charge.

Painless and Prompt.

Lemon's Painless Corn Extractor, the great remedy for corns, is absolutely safe and painless, does its work promptly, without the least interfering with the comfort of patients, and is absolutely alone as a safe, painless remedy for corns. Do not be imposed upon by dangerous counterfeits. Use only Putnam's Corn Extractor. Beware of base substitutes. Sold everywhere by druggists and dealers in medicine. Take only Putnam's Painless Extractor. R. C. Polson & Co. proprs., Kingston.

Corns and Chilblains.—At this season when coughs are so prevalent, an effectual remedy, and one easily obtained, is Perry Davis Vegetable Pain-Killer.
