CITY AND VICINITY.

REMEMBER the great discount sale of gents' furnishing goods at Spence & Crumley's to-night.

PROBS.—Moderate to fresh winds, shifting to northward, generally fair and slightly cooler weather with a few local showers.

NEEDLES for all sewing machines 25c per dozen, at the Singer Sewing Machine office, 238 Princess Street. wanted the best made.

FLOWERS, FLOWERS.—J. R. Hutcheson has received advice of a consignment of 1,500 plants, to arrive on Tuesday morning. They will be sold cheap.

DON'T FORGET the Queen Street Sabbath School Excursion to Thousand Island Park on Tuesday next leaving A. Gunn & Co's wharf at 10 o'clock sharp.

WILLS TO PROBATE.—Two wills were admitted to probate last week, upon one of which were stamps to the value of $113 and upon another to the extent of $82. The Stamp Act is not popular and the sooner it is repealed the better.

A REASONABLE WANT.—Ald. Redden wants $100 from the Council in order to erect a fence at Murney Tower behind which people can bathe when they like. He will collect from the people as much as the Corporation will grant for the purpose.

SCHOOL EXAMINATIONS.—The promotion examinations—those not conducted in the schools—were commenced in the City Hall this morning. They will be finished by Wednesday evening. The entrance examinations occur on Thursday and Friday. Next week the intermediate examinations take place.

NEW TIME TABLE.—The Ferry Company on Saturday altered the trips between Kingston and Cape Vincent. The str. Maud will leave the city at 6 o'clock a.m., and 3 o'clock p.m., suiting the new time table of both the Grand Trunk RR. and Rome, Watertown & Ogdensburg RR. The Cape people will have an extra hour in Kingston in future.

A BAD ACCIDENT.—On Saturday evening H. B. White, a clerk in McMahon Bros', hardware store, fell on the sidewalk and injured his ankle. It was thought he had broken one of the bones, but the doctors think that there has only been a severe sprain. Mr. White will probably be taken to his home at Prescott.

SALVATION ARMY.—The parade of last evening was the best of the week. The band was out in strength and on the square played very effectively. Lieut. Ryerson makes a good commander, still the people miss Captain Abbie and hope her absence will be shortened. The London people must treat her well or send her back to those who know how to appreciate her services.

ON THE RIVER.—On Saturday evening Messrs. W. C. Smith and O. R. Boyes, of Napanee, ran to Kingston on their bicycles. They returned home yesterday accompanied by several Kingston bicyclists. To-night the Kingston riders will meet in the Burnett House and organize a club. There are now about 25 machines in the city. Napanee has five. It is probable that some of the Kingston men will go to Toronto and meet the Canadian Wheelman's Association.

PHARMACEUTICAL BOARD.—Among those nominated for membership of the Council of the Ontario College of Pharmacy, an election for which post occurs early in July, is J. E. D'Avignon, of Windsor. As that Western District has had no representative at the Board for four years it has a good claim through as acceptable a representative as Mr. D'Avignon, whose popularity and standing in the profession make him personally a strong candidate.

THE SUNCE ENTERTAINER.—Bishop Cleary arrived in Kingston on Saturday afternoon. He was a passenger on the express train which was wrecked near Brockville, but being in the Pullman car escaped with a slight shock. At Brockville he was entertained by the children of the Notre Dame Convent. A little girl, Grace Bradley, presented His Lordship with a very beautiful selected bouquet of flowers, after which he delivered a brief address to the children.

MILITARY PROMOTIONS.—The appointments in view of the coming camps are quite large. A. D. Cartwright has been made a Lieutenant of No. 3 Company, Barriefield, 47th Battalion. In the Gananoque Field Battery Captain and Brevet-Major W. Mackenzie has been promoted to the position of Major, and Lieut. C. E. Britton has become Captain of the Battery. In the 16th Battalion, Picton, Captain John E. Cunningham, of Belleville, has been made a Major vice Hagerman promoted.

The Advertiser says it is Capt. Addie (not Abbie) who is to remain in charge of the London corps for the present. We hope the report is correct.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Principal Grant preached in Hamilton yesterday.

J. Upper spent yesterday in the city. He is always warmly welcomed.

Mrs. and Miss Smith, of Goderich, are in Kingston on a month's visit to relatives.

Rev. Mr. Ferguson, B.D., of Chesley, officiated in the Brock Street Church yesterday. It is not at all improbable that he will receive a call to the pastorate.

Rev. Mr. Gracey, of Gananoque, preached morning and evening in St. Andrew's Church. He will be remembered no doubt by the Committee appointed to call a successor to Rev. Dr. Smith.

The Pembroke Observer, in bidding adieu to Rev. H. F. Bland, said: "Pembroke [illegible] a Methodist clergyman. His efforts on behalf of the Christian cause were untiring."

Mr. Bugg has been dropped as an Inspector of Schools in the Counties of Leeds and Grenville. The counties have been reconstructed for school purposes, and in future Messrs. Blair and Kinney will, in addition to their new duties, perform those which were formerly discharged by Mr. Bugg.

THAT PECULIAR EGG.

The egg in possession of John Carr, of Portland, is attracting great attention and yesterday was a veritable field day for visitors. Upwards of 200 buggies, occupied by men, women and children were seen wending their way to Mr. Carr's. There is much excitement over the article. A correspondent writes that the egg has a cross and a man on one side, and on the other a cross and the words "the last year." The inscription and figures are raised on the shell. The family are non-plussed and feel very bad over having it. They are afraid of some calamity.

A VERY SUDDEN DEATH.

Yesterday Mrs. A. C. McMahon passed away very suddenly. She was attacked with erysipelas in the head; it travelled upward until it reached the brain. Great sympathy is felt for Mr. McMahon and his three children. The blow came suddenly and with terrible force. A bereaved relative in this office has our sincere condolence.

MARINE NEWS.

Rescuing the Schr. Eliza Quinlan—A Quick Trip—Towage Imposition Again.

The schr. St. Louis is loading iron ore for an American port.

The schr. Speedwell, with 12,500 bush wheat, has arrived from Toronto.

The barge Gibraltar, of the Erie's tow, has been thoroughly overhauled.

Several Canadian schooners are lying at the Chicago docks waiting for cargoes owing to the extreme dullness in freights.

According to a new regulation on the Welland Canal all vessels over 600 tons burthen are required to have ten inch scuppers.

There was a break in one of the Corsican's boilers in consequence of which the steamer delayed at Lachine until repairs are made.

The steamer Pierrepont went to Gananoque last evening, having been chartered to carry the Gananoque Field Battery to Brockville to-day.

The schr. Flora, of Picton, arrived yesterday with the jettisoned cargo of the prop. City of Montreal, which ran some weeks ago on the Ducks.

The steamer Spartan ran ashore on Caribean Island, Lake Superior. The Captain wires from Sault Ste. Marie for a tug, two steam pumps and a diver.

The Active and her consort made the round trip from Kingston to Toledo and return, in ten days. The actual running time was only seven and a half days.

While the schrs. Bamarck and Bavaria were loading timber at Grand Marais sand bar formed outside the harbour, and it cost $200 to cut a channel through it.

The Collector of Customs has issued orders to the Landing Waiters to prevent the landing of steamers carrying excursionists on Sundays. The American boats are the offenders.

The tug Active brought into port last evening the schr. Gaskin, 37,379 bush. corn, and schr. Genora, 43,000 bush. corn from Toledo. The schr. D. Freeman also arrived with 10,700 bush. of wheat from Port Whitby.

The steamer Chieftain left Garden Island on Saturday evening for Port Dalhousie whither she leaves the schrs. Saxon, Oriental and St. Lawrence. From that port the tug went to Hamilton for a raft bound for Quebec.

The schr. F. B. Gardner, unloaded at the M. T. Co's wharf on Saturday, was 500 bush. wheat short. The cargo was taken in at Chicago in 500 bushel drafts. One more of those was counted than the vessel received.

The towage charges on the Welland Canal are still excessive. The tugmen will not give up a fat thing without a struggle. A vessel went through the canal last week in twenty hours at a cost of $125. The job was worth about $60, and then there would be a profit.

Several steambarges and their consorts running between Chicago and Lake Ontario ports have gone into ordinary owing to the high towage charges in the Welland Canal. For goodness sake when is this thing going to cease. Will the Government wake up to the seriousness of the situation?

The steamer Hastings had to leave the wrecked Eliza Quinlan ashore at South Bay Point owing to the wind blowing very fresh. Capt. Vanblack had not enough cedar to float the vessel, and although the Hastings drew the vessel some fifteen feet it was impossible to take her off. It is probable that another attempt will be made to rescue the craft.

THE RAILWAY ACCIDENT.

The cause of the accident on Friday last on the G.T.R. near Brockville, was that the watch of J. Vaney, section foreman, stopped and he had no intimation of the arrival of the train until it whistled close at hand. A rail was up and the workmen had only time to replace it and drive a few spikes when the express rolled past. The heavy locomotive soon broke the fastening but did not leave the track. The Times says Mr. England, one of the passengers was in the second class carriage which was knocked around considerably, and had a hole or two punched in it. He came by the Circassian from Sarvy, England, and was on his way from Montreal to Kingston with his wife. Mrs. England was standing up in the car and was thrown from one side to the other, over the seats. She received a severe shock and was badly bruised. She quartered in Brockville over Saturday.

For rods the rails were torn and twisted and the earth torn up as if a tornado had visited the locality. Platforms, [illegible] were torn, tangled, interlaced and tied up in an almost inextricable mass.

THIS MORNING'S MATCH.

John Sharbott, an Indian, was sent to his home.

Joseph Nesbitt, from Cape Vincent, en route to Bedford, became drunken. He was fined $1 and costs.

Jane Coffee had the charge of assault against her dismissed, while Patrick McCallum, for a breach of a city ordinance relative to fences, was fined $2 without costs.

James Fitzgibbons did not leave the city as he promised to do on Saturday but went home and created another row with his wife. This morning he was charged with assault. He said he would leave the city this time at once. He would get away in half an hour. He did not want to be sent to gaol and lose a summer's work. After this outburst of feeling the loafer was given another chance, but a policeman will see that he makes the grand exit.

AN HISTORICAL CELEBRATION.

There will be a great historical celebration on July 4th at Sackett's Harbour. Invitations have been extended to the military and civil authorities of Kingston, and the steamer Maud will probably take a big load across the lake. There will be lots of sport, and an opportunity for the last time to see the great war ship "New Orleans," built in 1812. It will be sold for firewood immediately afterwards.

NATIVITY OF ST. JOHN.

A FESTIVAL HELD IN HIGH ESTEEM BY THE MASONS—A SERVICE IN ST. GEORGE'S CATHEDRAL.

March to and From the Lodge Room—An Imposing Display—Sermon by Rev. Bro. Austin—Ideal of the Masons—Benevolence, Love and Truth.—A Good Offering.

Yesterday was midsummer day—the nativity of St. John the Baptist. Considering the part borne by the Baptist in the transactions on which Christianity is founded, it is not wonderful that the day set apart for the observance of his nativity should be, in all ages and most parts of Christendom, one of the most popular of religious festivals. It enjoys the great distinction that it is considered as Midsummer Day and therefore has inherited a number of observances from heathen times. These are now curiously mixed with those springing from Christian feelings, so much that it is not easy to distinguish them from the other. It is only clear, from their superstitious character, that they have been originally Pagan. To use the quaint phrase of an old translator of Scaliger, they "form the footsteps of ancient gentility; that is gentilism or heathenism." The festivals of the saints are generally celebrated on the anniversaries of their death, but an exception to this rule holds in the case of John the Baptist. The observances connected with his nativity formerly commenced on the evening previous, the eve or vigil of the festival, or Midsummer eve.

ON THE DAY ITSELF

we find that the people kept their doors and beds embowered with branches set up the night before, upon an understanding that these had a virtue in averting thunder, tempest, and all kinds of noxious physical agencies. The eve of St. John is a great event among the Masonic Lodges in Scotland. Waite's History (1861) thus describes the ceremony at Melrose: "Immediately after the election of office bearers for the year ensuing the brethren walk in procession three times around the Cross, and afterwards dine together under the Presidency of the new Grand Master. About 6 o'clock in the evening the members again turn out and form into line, two abreast, each bearing a lighted flambeau, and decorated with their peculiar emblems and insignia. Headed by the heraldic banners of the lodge the procession follows the same route, three times around the Cross, and then proceeds to the Abbey. On these occasions the crowded streets present a scene of the most animated description. The joyous strains of a well conducted band, the waving torches and incessant showers of fireworks, make the scene a carnival. But at this time the venerable Abbey is the chief point of attraction and resort, and as the mystic torch-bearers thread their way through its mouldering aisles, and the outlines of its gorgeous ruins become singularly illuminated, and come out in bold and striking relief. The whole extent of the Abbey is with 'measured step and slow' gone three times round. But when near the finale the whole Masonic body gathers in the Chancel, and forming one grand semi-circle around where the heart of King Robert Bruce lies deposited near the High Altar, the band strikes up the patriotic air, 'Scots wha hae wi' Wallace bled.' The effect produced is overpowering. Moist showers of rockets and the glare of blue light the scene closes, the whole reminding one of some popular saturnalia in the middle ages."

THE SERVICE IN KINGSTON

As directed by the various Masters, the Royal Arch Chapter and Masonic Lodges met yesterday at their hall to the number of about one hundred and fifty, and marched to St. George's Cathedral where they engaged in divine service and listened to the admirable sermon of Rev. Bro. Austin, of Gananoque. The brethren made an exceedingly imposing appearance in their expensive regalia and decorations. They occupied the centre aisles in the edifice, and filed in to the pews as the organist rendered an appropriate voluntary. The music all through was worthy of the Cathedral choir. The preacher based his discourse upon these words. (Philippians iv—8)

"Finally, brethren, whatsoever things are true, whatsoever things are honest, whatsoever things are just, whatsoever things are pure, whatsoever things are lovely, whatsoever things are of good report; if there be any virtue, and if there be any praise, think on these things."

He observed, at the outset, that Free Masonry was very ancient, that some writers traced the evidences of it as far as the foundations of the world. They contended, in fact, that it is co-existent with the universe. The Order certainly dated from a very early period. This was clearly indicated in the arts and sciences and particularly in the gigantic works which to-day exist in Egypt. He spoke of the mystery surrounding the erection of the Pyramids, of language and characters which are mystical because not understood, of Moses and his works and of Solomon and his temple. In the erection of the latter there was a perfect organization, a completeness of system which led to the accomplishment of a wonderful fabric, according to plans, in seven years, from the laying of the foundation stone, while the building of Herod's temple occupied 36 years, the building of the temple of Diana 200 years, St. Peter's, Rome, 155 years, and St. Paul's London, 35 years. In all these seven years there was sound of neither axe nor hammer, the stones hewn cut and carved at Mount Lebanon carried to Jerusalem and fitted together pursuant to specification. The harmony of operation which characterized the rearing of the temple should be an example to Masons for all time. In there should be nothing to create contention or mischief. As the workman follows plans provided by the Architect so the Freemason should always strive to erect his spiritual building according to the designs of the Great Architect of the Universe. Mr. Austin expatiated upon duality. The physical world, created by God, is His ideal worked out in material form; man's ideals are called into being by the aspirations of the soul, and it is with nations as with individuals, they are high and elevated or low and degraded, in spirit and character, according as their ideals are high or low. Without an ideal neither the nation nor the individual can arouse enthusiasm nor command respect. What is the Mason's ideal? Benevolence, love and virtue. These rise the higher and shine the brighter in proportion as the members of the Order realize that the God of love and peace and truth dwells within their hearts. The preacher now proceeded to answer one of the great objections urged against Masonry—that it is irreligious. He remarked that primitive Masonry was pure religion, but it suffered by the swerving of some of its votaries from the true worship. Masonry like the Church had a history, and its descent could be traced from the foundation of Christianity—the perfection of religion—to the present time. This fact could not be denied and it dispelled the objection to which he had alluded, still the should receive greater prominence, should be made part of the workings of every lodge room. The relations of St. John to Masonry were now explained at length. Reasons were assigned why he had become the Mason's patron—because he was the herald of the Christian dispensation, because he parted with life rather than lose his integrity, because he was remarkable for his sincere advocacy of the truth, &c. In concession Mr. Austin commended the words of his text to the Masons whom he addressed. Their characters were not to be elevated by what was of an æsthetic nature, but by what they did under the promptings of the Holy Ghost. The opinions of those not Masons should be respected. Principles should not be sacrificed by any one, he should be consistent in the discharge of grave and solemn duties, but offence should not be given through hasty and unwise action. Masons should remember that the eyes of a gainsaying world were upon them, that there were many to cavil at and condemn, but they could not affect the Order if the counsel contained in the text were acted upon. Each Mason should make it certain so far as he was concerned, that he performed well his part, keeping the robe of Christ free from filthiness, stigma and reproach.

Rev. W. B. Carey assisted in the service. The offering went to the funds of the House of Industry.

After the service the Masons returned to their lodge room and dispersed. They wore in their marches to and from the Cathedral, under direction of Bro. Creggan, Master of Ceremonies.

Consumption.

From H. B. Smith, Esq., a prominent Merchant of Rosetownton, Kent county, N. B., under date June 9th, 1877.

Dear Sir—I have suffered for some years past with Cough from Affection of the Lungs, Spitting of Blood, Weakness of the Chest, and Want of Appetite, and have tried many so called remedies but without any effect whatever until I commenced using Rennison's Pyrometric Expansion. I have now taken 8 bottles, and find this quite equal to what it is represented to be, for it has wonaed like a charm, and I can cordially recommend it to all who are affected as I have been, as I feel it is going to make a perfect cure of me. I still continue it, and I must say I never took anything equal to it. If you wish to make any use of this for the benefit of yourself and the world at large you can do so, for I think it should be known. I remain, yours truly,
