Quidnunc Gubernator Burke.

SATURDAY EVENING, JULY 21, 1883.

It is a grim subject to extract a moral from, but, nevertheless, the fact remains that Kingston gaol is a terrible unlucky as well as unhealthy place to reside in. Recently within a couple of days two out of five prisoners died of natural infirmities, and yesterday the suicide of Charles Clifford completed a record of three deaths within a month, in a gaol so free of prisoners that it may almost be classed as a place of solitary confinement. Superstitious are wont and unwholesome things to possess the public mind with, but if a sentiment of ill-luck hovers over the County Gaol it will not be a bad instrument in the suppression of crime of the vagrant and intoxicating order.

WATER ACCIDENTS.

The dangers as well as pleasures of summer recreation are upon us, and this week fatal bathing and boating accidents are reported in startling numbers. The mournful catalogue embraces double drownings at Port Stanley and a St. Lawrence watering place, and single casualties at Windsor, Port Huron and Montreal. This is a terrible sacrifice of life to holiday indulgences, especially when with ordinary care nearly all of it is preventable. It is very proper that young lubes should bathe, but a false sense of propriety leads them to seek alone some secluded spot, often dangerous and unknown. The result is a frequent loss of life. Young men, out of bravado, swim out into deep water or row into dangerous currents, paying the forfeit of their lives for their unpalatableness. Bathing and boating are almost always safe in themselves; it is their abuse that leads to loss of life.

A CITY STRIKE.

The strike of the Town Council of Stratford is one of the most persistent on record. It is months since it declined to sit under the Mayor because of his being involved in company with a police officer in visits to a house of ill-repute. The Mayor attends the regular meetings, but the Aldermen absent themselves, and the municipal machinery is at a stand still. There is no excuse for the Mayor's conduct but the Council is not the body to inflict summary punishment. It is simply assuming to pass a judgment it could never make effective against a man with the slightest backbone, and the public interests are suffering. The Aldermen are doing the people a great injustice and proving as well that two wrongs can never make a right. The Mayor is amenable to the law on a summons, and that is the proper way to proceed to effect justice and vindication of the Council's dignity. The Aldermen are a highly sensitive lot, anyway. They might be astonished if they knew the police record of one high official once tolerated in Kingston with general complacency.

LOCAL ATTRACTIONS.

A St. Louis traveller, one of the most dyspeptic upstarts, apparently, who ever intruded himself upon a healthy community, lately gave this city a very bad character for its treatment of tourists in the way of hotel entertainment and local transportation, and as usual in its case, whenever a "dig" at Kingston can be secured, the Mail copied the article. It not necessary to say it was undeserved. However, the structures have their lesson, untrue though they be. The hotels have been improved greatly, and more is being done in this direction. But yet the cabs are not yet what they ought to be. This may appear a small matter to talk about, but it really has a great influence upon the popularity of Kingston abroad. It is indeed a very prevalent subject of complaint against us. Lighter and neater vehicles being forthcoming a carefully prepared guide should be published, giving a list of the city's modest but not unattractive or uninteresting "lions." The colleges, forts, penitentiary, asylum, churches, and picturesque drives along the lake shore and to Kingston Mills could all be included. There is nothing a traveller so highly appreciates as succinct information of this order, and if the hotels and hacks together would cultivate the spreading of information they would attract more visitors and benefit themselves not a little. The city has solid attractions but they are not displayed as they ought to be for the want of a little system.

EXAMINATION DIFFICULTY.

On behalf of the young man expelled from the examination at Sydenham it is told us that he is an honorable young man and to be trusted, when he states that he never handled the book found under his desk, much less made use of it to help his answers. He asked for a re-consideration of the case and was refused. His friends contend that the examiners should have every book removed before giving out the papers. An investigation into the whole examination is likely to be asked, on the ground of irregularity. One of the papers should have been given out at a certain hour one day at the examinations all over the Province. It was kept until next day, however, and all that the students had to do to secure safe answers was to telegraph to Kingston, Napanee or Newburg and get an idea of the paper. The telegraph office was watched, but the gentleman who requested that these facts be made public, would not say whether some friend of a student had not driven to one of the places named, and secured the knowledge.

The schr. Pembert, has arrived from Chicago with 22,000 bush. wheat. She and the schr. Nevada subsequently left for Oswego to load coal. There was a change of masters on Nevada, Captain Pritchard (in command last year) taking the place of Captain Richards who retires from sailing for the present.

TOSSING THE SPHERE.

Belleville and Kingston Cross Sticks—Taking Three Games in Very Short Order.

Yesterday afternoon the first lacrosse match of the season occurred in the Cricket Field between the Olas of Belleville, and the Maple Leafs, of Kingston. The Olas arrived by the lightning express, accompanied by about thirty of their friends. Dinner was served at the Windsor Hotel, and at 3.30 o'clock they arrived at the Cricket Field, where a large crowd had assembled. The ground was not in the condition the players desired. The grass was high and thick in some parts and so the ball was often lost. That portion of the ground most used had, however, been cut clean. The teams were as follows.

Olas—Messrs. C. E. Kenny, goal; H. E. Burkith, point; H. Yeomans, cover point; W. Hutcheson, E. Hallowell, H. Wallace, defence field; H. Beasley, centre; J. Ferris, A. Overell, W. Garratt, home field; T. Daw, outside home; J. Fleming, inside home; A. Ferris, Field Captain.

Maple Leafs — Messrs. J. Hunter, goal; F. Fitzsimmons, point; T. Little, point; E. Agnew, A. Macdonald, W. Reed, defence field; W. Law, centre; M. Elliott, J. Little, T. Elliott, home field; H. Walker, first home; J. Braton, second home; S. McCullough, Field Captain.

R. J. Kilbreck acted as Umpire for the Maple Leafs, and F. McArthur for the Olas. Chief McKinnon, of Belleville, was chosen Referee.

The Belleville boys were larger than the Kingstonians. They wore red felt hats, blue shirts, navy blue pants, no stockings. The Kingstonians wore blue and white caps, white jerseys, grey pants and red stockings. Kingston won the toss and played up hill. There was absolutely no wind, so that neither had an advantage.

BEGINNING THE GAME.

At 3.35 o'clock the referee called "play" and the sphere went down the field. In a moment it was passed up, again it went whirling towards Kingston's goal, then towards the stand where Thomas Daw made a side pitch for the goal. The ball would have missed the flags, but striking the stick of a Kingston player, shot between them. Time 3 minutes.

The clubs changed positions and the ball was set in motion at 3.42. It was only tossed twice when Reed, from the defence field, passed it to Walker at home and sent it through Belleville's goal. Time half a minute.

The third game was begun at 3.45 o'clock. The ball passed up the field to Garratt, who made a fine throw for the goal. The Maple leaf goal keeper knocked it out and it went flying down the field. It passed up and down several times before Braton secured it, and by a good pass to Walker, had it put through the Ola's goal. Time 1 minute.

THE HARDEST STRUGGLE.

The results of the previous games placed the Olas on their mettle and they played for all they were worth in the fourth and decding game, which began at 4.40 o'clock. The Olas played a defence game and the struggle became a hard one. The ball several times came within range of the goals, but the keepers by fine play kept it from entering and scoring. There was some good long throwing, and the checking on both sides was prettily performed. The running of W. Garratt, for the Olas, and the long throw of Little, for the Leafs, were much admired. The game became very exciting, and with close interest the spectators viewed the contest. Jack Braton, who had not handled a stick for three years, did good service. After a long battle on the left of Belleville's goal he tossed the ball to Walker and the match was settled when he sent it through the goal. Time, 15 minutes.

SECONDING WORK.

The playing on both sides was spirited and good. There was no rough playing and few of the men were scarred or injured. Belleville found women worthy of their steel. For brilliant play Little, Reed, Braton and Walker for Kingston, and Garratt, Ferris, Beasley, Fleming and Burkitt for Belleville, are worthy of special notice. The Olas good naturedly acknowledged their defeat. It was the second they had suffered since the organization of their Club. Cobourg beat them previously. Cheers were given for each team, the Referee and umpires and the crowd dispersed.

The Kingstonians entertained the Belleville party at the Windsor Hotel and saw them homeward bound this morning. The teams meet again at Picton on August 6th, when the Prentice Boys excursions from Kingston and Belleville will be run on that day.

A DEATHED BROTHER.

It is said that one of the latest arrivals from the sunny south, one of Barnum's attaches, while sauntering down Gore Street chanced to hit his optics come in contact with a sign board that reads: "Molt's Factory, Joseph George." These optics became as live coals and amid an rush of water, caused by nature's trickery, tried to drown them out, but eventually settled round his "rooms." The sign in some way seemed to carry him back to his neighbor's melon patch, and he convulsively grasped at an imaginary melon under each arm.

"Once I wished melts to smash,
And wanted a club to dash
Man's youthful dreams to quash,
And many a thought to think."

In the meantime he had reached the other side of the sign, which reads: "Joseph George, Organ Factory." His manner changed. The air seemed breathed full of cross words, and there sat a guilty look on his face like that which sits on the countenance of one who leaves the Salvation Army when the collection is being taken up. He saw it was a fruitless enterprise. Quietly gnashing his teeth and gathering himself together he walked off, melancholy and sad, fully determined to hate himself to death.

Our white vests turn your brain any thing on the market for value and quality. White marseilles vests for $1.50, or two for $2.75. White linen duck vests, best quality, $2.25, or two for $3. A MAN OVERBOARD.

Patrick O'Brien, one of the Dock Hands of the Maud, on a Lark—He Comes a Cropper.

There was considerable excitement caused on the steamer Maud last night by the foolhardy actions of a deck hand named Patrick O'Brien. He was slightly intoxicated, causing a disturbance, and when urged by Capt. Hinckley to be quiet and retire he demanded a life preserver and deliberately jumped overboard. Paddy, being a good swimmer, could easily float and save himself, but the passengers on board became somewhat excited and threw him half a hundred life preservers and chairs in such numbers that the water around him was thickly covered with them. The steamer was stopped and the life boats launched, but the episode having occurred near where the schr. Annie M. Foster lay at anchor her yawl picked the youth up and hauled him on shore, not much the worse for his adventure.

Of course his dismissal followed, and he will be a fortunate youth if the Messrs. Folger do not prosecute him. He was not too drunk to be at all incapable, and when he took a header from the boat struck boldly out in order to escape the wheel. The excursionists did not know the man, did not know that he was an expert swimmer and could, as he was fixed, remain safely afloat for hours, or they would have been less concerned about him. Mr. Drennan, when the Maud was backed up, threw him the end of a rope, but Paddy remarking "To—with it," struck out and seemed anxious to continue his caprice.

The steamer was handled with great judgment and decision, and though, until the real facts became apparent, there was some frustration, on the whole the people acted calmly and the event passed without serious effects. There was no panic, no alarm, and the Maud behaved splendidly, adding to her reputation for safety as well as comfort. "Capt. Hinckley was," said our informant, "as cool as a cucumber and I want no better man to be in command of any craft on which I travel." Some life preservers are to-day missing. For these Mr. O'Brien ought to be made pay. They are valued at $100. At 10 o'clock some of the excursionists were landed. The remainder of the party (200 or more) enjoyed themselves until midnight.

No liquor is now sold on the Maud. The bar is closed.

A CHURCH TRIAL.

A correspondent states that on July 12th there was a Church trial at Battersea between Rev. J. Lawson, a late pastor of the C.M. Church, at that place, and C. S. Vanluven. It appears that Mr. Vanluven left Battersea, having been engaged to manage a mill elsewhere, and the reverend gentleman wrote a letter to the minister in the circuit to which Mr. Vanluven had gone, making assertions that the latter objected to. A church trial was demanded and Mr. Lawson asked to sustain his statements. Revs. L. Hooker, H. F. Bland and E. S. Shorey attended to hear the case, the first named acting as Chairman. Many of the residents of Battersea and the adjoining country were heard in the matter. The decision our informant had not heard, but he thought the statements of the witnesses sustained Rev. Mr. Lawson.

OPERATORS' STRIKE.

The Railway men will not Join in it—Funds Now at the Strikers' Command.

Montreal, July 20.—A railway operator was asked, "How do you feel over the strike of your confreres?"

"Jubilant, of course, for I am almost positive they will gain their point, thus demonstrating to telegraph companies that our rights are not to be tampered with."

"Will the railway operators follow the example of the commercial men?"

"We have not done so for the reason that we have not yet received our orders from the Executive to do so; but rest assured that if such orders are issued you will find that we will not be far behind our commercial confreres. The fact is," added the speaker, "no strike of railroad operators will take place unless as a dernier resort, that is, in the event of there on strike at present not being able to keep up the contest alone.

"Are you prepared to stand a strike?" "Decidedly yes," was the reply, "for, as you are well aware, we are backed by the Knights of Labor, while we have at present over $255,000 to use in an extremity."

"Can substitutes not be procured?"

"Certainly not, for the reason that enough cannot be obtained to manage the wires properly," was the reply.

"Besides," continued the speaker, "as soon as the true state of affairs would be explained to them by our men they would unhesitatingly leave off work, as was instanced last night by some five new operators in this city who joined our Brotherhood."

"What about the railway operators?"

"Well, you can state authoritatively that the railroad men will not strike. They are supporting their commercial confreres, however, through thick and thin and have refused to do any business other than strictly concerning the railway. An attempt was made last night to persuade some of the railway men to work after hours in the commercial offices, but they indignantly refused."

Before bidding the reporter adieu, the telegrapher stated that some of the country operators who had been brought by the companies into the city had joined the Brotherhood and the strike.

The following message was received this afternoon from the General Manager of the G. N. W. Co.'s office at Toronto: "I have just had an application from five of the strikers to be taken back, as they say they have been deceived by the Brotherhood."

FIRE INSURANCE RATES.

The agents of the Fire Insurance Companies doing business in this city have received notice that under the arrangements now made by the Canadian Fire Underwriters' Association, the various cities and towns are classified according to their means of fire protection. The City of Kingston has been rated in class B, along with such places as Brantford, Sarnia, St. Thomas and Windsor. "The rates," said an insurance man, "will not be greatly increased. For years the Companies have been cutting so much that there were no profits, but now the Companies, having combined, they will be advanced. The advance so far is only on new risks. Renewals are taken at the old figures. The raise is not up to the figures asked in 1875." In class A Guelph, Hamilton, St. Catharines, Ottawa and Toronto are grouped. The protection against fire is better in these than in other cities. In class D Belleville, Brockville, Napanee and Peterboro are to be found. In these places there are very poor systems of fire protection.

FELL FROM A WATERING CART.

Yesterday afternoon about 3.30 o'clock the rumour ran that a man had been killed. The facts did not warrant this statement. Harry Williams, driver of the big watering cart, was, it appears, leisurely driving down Brock street, the second cart a little in rear. Robb's truck was in front of the watering apparatus, and Williams, not seeing it, nearly had a collision. He pulled up his horses and the animals stopped quicker than he calculated. He fell forward from his narrow seat, went between the horses, and in striking the street, one wheel grazed the fleshy part of his arm. Spectators rushed to his aid and found a gash in his head near the neck. It bled profusely. Dr. Sullivan was summoned and the wounded man was carried into Smith's wool establishment. The wound was dressed and Williams then removed to the Beaupre House, where he boards. He will recover.

The Court has ordered that the vessel be sold and that the claims of the libellants be paid—they amount to $700, together with $33 tonnage dues—and that the fees of the Proctors, Marshal and Clerk be paid, and the balance handed to the Registrar of the Court. The amount of E. A. Smythe's claim for salvage, $768.25, was ordered to be retained in Court, subject to the determination of a suit between Capt. McDonald, of the vessel, and Mr. Smith. The vessel will be sold in about two weeks.
