SANITARY MATTERS.

The Board of Health meets none too soon to discuss measures for the purification of the city. Some medical men are of the opinion that it has never been in a worse condition, in a sanitary sense, and they no doubt speak with authority. It is not ours to determine with whom lies the fault for the neglect to see that at least annually an attempt is made at cleanliness, but that there has been neglect nobody can deny. The sewers are in a fearful state, and from them rises an effluvium highly favourable to the spread of disease. The heavy rains during the summer have tended to clear the main drains, but they still contain a great deal of matter from which offensive smells arise. Why they have not been flushed out when steam engines and men are available we cannot conjecture, and we question if any of the city officials can give a reasonable explanation on this subject. It is now purposed to proceed with a service which should have been performed in March or April, but it is better that even at a late hour that should be removed which is unsightly and derogatory to health. There should be a properly appointed Health Officer, one who would fearlessly and actively discharge his duty. More than this—the local law makers should have some respect for their own legal enactments. We have the spectacle frequently presented of Aldermen doing their best to check the enforcement of the by laws in whose passage they assisted, and when the members of a corporation lightly consider their ordinances it cannot be expected that their constituents will reverently regard them. By-laws so far as they apply are as effective and useful as the statutes of the Legislature but they are not treated as documents of importance, and that such is the case is the fault, largely, of our Councillors. If the orders of the Council were in all cases strictly carried out, there would be no crying out against the nuisance of piggeries within the city limits, nor would the Magistrate be embarrassed as to what to do occasionally because of the fluctuating feeling and action of the municipal authorities.

THE STRIKE BREAKING.

The strike of telegraph operators appears to be nearing an end, and the sooner it is reached the better. As matters now stand the loss of money is very great. Just what the financial effects are none can conjecture, but they are such as the business men of the country cannot desire to see continued. The telegrams point to a result which we have anticipated. Some of the Companies have made or are now making terms with the strikers, and the Western Union must, we opine, sooner or later submit to the inevitable. A concession has been made which a few days ago was not promised or looked for—that the strikers will be taken back upon improved terms, without prejudice on condition, that the Executive is disowned and the Brotherhood renounced. The concession in after all not a material one, but it is a great step towards submission from one of the power and dictatorship of Jay Gould. It is not enough; upon it a compromise can never be reached. There are at work, however, elements which in the long run will vex the soul of monopolist millionaires, and even cause them to sue for peace. Gould's rivals are bidding for popularity, and with the assistance of the strikers and a sympathetic public must do the Western Union an infinite amount of harm in its present crippled condition. Then there are agitations for new telegraph lines, the competition of which—especially when placed beyond the possibility of a "gobble"—must depreciate the watered stock of existing Companies. Last of all there is the prospect of a great crop of law suits arising out of the Western Union's inability to do business as the circumstances of trade demand. Some of these suits have been already instituted, and upon the opinon of gentlemen of high legal standing, thus:

"If they (the Telegraph Company) are prevented by the elements of nature or by accident from fulfilling their virtual contracts with the public they are in a measure excusable.

"But the case is different when the trouble is caused by a disagreement between a corporation and its employees.

"When the railroad freight handlers struck the Board of Trade and Transportation held that the Companies were liable for damages in consequence of the detention in the transportation of freight Now the telegraph Companies are in a like situation."

To-day or to-morrow we hope there will be negotiations tending to a close of the strike. The Western Union can't hold out against all others; it would not be losing $200,000 a day if its officials had not been so airy and so confident that capital must win in all cases and against all odds.

THE WESTPORT RAILWAY.—The K. & P. RR. are not pushing the project of a branch railway to Westport. They have stated their terms to the municipalities interested and these can do as they see fit. The people of Westport should certainly have connection with Kingston rather than Brockville. There is always advantage in having the terminus of a railway in a place where the competition is keen. People here have little hopes of ever seeing the proposed railway built from Brockville.

CHANGE OF TIME.—We beg to call the attention of our readers to the change of time of the steamer Hero's excursions to the camp ground every Saturday during the camp meeting season. The steamer will leave Gunn's wharf to-morrow at 2 p.m. sharp, remain on the ground at the Camp Ground, and return to Kingston by 7.30 p.m. Reference to the Hero's cruise will be found in another column. Tickets only 25c.

PITHY PARAGRAPHS.

Outlook in the Future.

A Buffalo paper contemplates the time when "wherever there is a post office there will be a telegraph instrument, and the rates be so low that everybody may use it; when the telegraph will belong to the people, not to the monopolists." Such a time may be nearer at hand than some people imagine.

The Need of Railways.

Sir W. H. Gregory comes forward with an original plan for the amelioration of the condition of the people of Ireland. He believes that what is wanted in Ireland is not so much home rule, or resident landlords or even the reclamation of bog lands but railways. Want of means of communication, he declares, causes so much misery in that country.

Lawyers Born in England.

Referring to the emigration scheme of the lacrosse team now in England, the New York Times says: "It is believed that this novel scheme will have a more satisfactory effect than the mere distribution of emigration literature among people whose minds have not been prepared to receive it, a plan often as futile as the sowing of seed broadcast on unploughed land."

New Railway Signalling.

A new sytem of night railroad signalling is to be introduced in England, by which accidents arising from inability of the engineer to distinguish a red from a white light—a visual defect more common than is generally supposed—will be made impossible. It is the use of the ordinary day semaphore signal, illuminated, but the position of the arms, and not their color, will give the information.

Settlers Feeling Easier

The settlers who have been notified to leave the land reserved for the city of Regina, applied some time ago to Mr. Dalton McCarthy, Q.C., for a legal opinion as to their right under the Dominion Lands Act and the regulations prescribed under its authority. Mr. McCarthy has given his opinion in favor of the settlers and though it conflicts with the view taken by the Department of the Interior their fears have been to some extent set at rest.

What Does it Mean?

The Ottawa Free Press says: "It really matters very little who hangs up his hat at Rideau. A presentable sort of person is of course more acceptable to our people than one who is not. But Canada may get tired some day of paying off mortgages on Irish bogs." What does our contemporary mean? We were under the impression that Lord Dufferin in mortgaged his estate for Canada's benefit, and so far we are not aware that Lord Lorne is taxing us in the interest of the Irish bogs. The allusion is sharp but mysterious.

Talking Over the Vice Royalty.

At Trentham, the Duke of Sutherland's celebrated seat in Staffordshire, there was a great meeting of English Whigs the other day. Earl Spencer stayed several days, and the Duke and Duchess of Leinster met him. The question uppermost in the minds of those gathered was the Vice Royalty. Lord Spencer wishes to resign, but the question of a successor is a great difficulty. One party is in favor of abolishing the office; another wishes to see Royalty filling it.

Preserving the Forest.

"It is evident," says Mr. Phipps, in his report on the necessity of preserving and replanting forests, compiled for and published by the Ontario Government, "that the time has passed when it was a matter of choice to attend to forest preservation in Ontario. If we are to retain any, it is now an affair of immediate necessity. In time, if we wait longer, our forests will be gone, and cannot then be renewed, except at the vast expense of time and money required in planting. If we move energetically now, we can preserve our great forests, the maintenance of which is most necessary to our prosperity, and shall also have time to plant where no other means exist."

A CHANGE OF PROFESSORS.

There has been a change in the Faculty of the Women's Medical College. Dr. Irwin found that he could not, according to the regulations of the Medical Council, certify to the tickets of students studying Medical Jurisprudence in one college and to the tickets of those taking Anatomy in the other (the ladies') and so he resigned the latter position, reluctantly and much to the regret of the Board of Trustees. A change was suggested—that Dr. T. M. Fenwick take the chair of Anatomy in the Women's College—but it was not accepted. Dr. Garrett was then appointed to the vacancy created by the retirement of Dr. Irwin, and Dr. Phelan was assigned the chair of Physiology, offered to and declined by Dr. Henderson. The staff is now complete, and the Professors purpose doing all they can to give the college distinction.

LEASING OF THE ISLANDS.

Leases for twenty years, renewable, of the most beautiful and desirable of the Thousand Islands in the vicinity of Gananoque, will be offered at auction at Jananoque, on Thursday, Aug. 9th, at 2 p.m. The Brockville Times calls the attention of the Kingston News to the above fact and warns the editor that his æsthetic soul is liable to be shocked when, on his next trip down the river, he beholds "gaudy pigments." The course which is being pursued by the Government in reference to the Islands is, the Times says, in accord with common sense. It will enhance the beauty and attractiveness of the river and prove beneficial to such towns as Gananoque and Brockville.

SENT HIM BACK.—The Toronto Mail says that "a pass to Kingston was granted yesterday to a cripple named Paul Cursive on the recommendation of the Acting Police Magistrate." The big city should retain its own paupers; we have all we want. Mr. Mayor, ship him back.

INSTITUTE EXCURSION.

The Maud's Trip Yesterday Down the Lost Channel—The Scenery and Music En route.

The excursion of the members of the Mechanics' Institute took place yesterday on the popular steamer Maud, and proved, if not the trip of the season, one that cannot be excelled, for the weather was delightful, the company (about 230 in number) very select and agreeable, the musical programme of "B" Battery Band (under Mr. Trendell) entertaining, and the route the very much admired one, the Middle or Lost Channel of the Thousand Islands, to Fiddler's Elbow. Alexandria Bay was reached at 4.30, the boat remaining half an hour, during which time the Crossman and Thousand Island Houses became the chief points of attraction. At the former our genial friend, Henry O'Brien, the popular clerk, brother of "mine host" of the Windsor here, was found, all smiles and contentment. He reported the business good and the guests increasing in number. At 5.10 p.m. the Maud was headed for Kingston, taking the South Channel, stopping en route one hour at the Thousand Island Park, giving excursionists an opportunity of visiting their friends and inspecting the various objects of interest on the camp ground, chief of which was the spacious, elegant and conspicuous new hotel recently erected near the steamboat landing. All being again assembled on board the pleasant trip was continued to its destination, the young folks, through the efforts of Messrs. John McKay, T. H. McGuire and the other members of the Institute, enjoying themselves in tripping the "light fantastic" to the choice music of the band. Not the least attractive feature of the trip was the inviting spread arranged below by Joe, which gave the utmost satisfaction. Most of those on board partook of supper, and all who spoke of it were liberal in their praise. Those who were instrumental in getting up this excursion are deserving of praise in selecting this route and for their efforts in catering to the comfort and pleasure of the party, as are also the officers of the Maud for their careful guidance of the trim little steamer in her windings through the numerous islands with their varying scenery. The boat arrived home at a quarter to 10 o'clock.

ETIQUETTE IN THE COURT.

In attending the Police Court nowadays one has to endure a deal of agony. Very soon it will be in order to wear white neck ties and steel pen coats and make profound salams to the Sergt Major before being admitted to where dignity reigns, and poor, wretched, sinning humanity is tried and convicted. This morning a leading member of the bar stepped into the court room and was about to pass within the inner circle when the Sergt-Major, with a great demonstration, prevented him from doing so. The Councellor-at-law was much annoyed, and upon the adjournment of the court quietly informed the officials that he would insist upon his rights. He knew what respect was due to the court; this he would pay and no more. He is not the first one, however, whom the Sergt.-Major has undertaken to instruct in court etiquette. Those who have occasion to pass the Magistrate's desk, stoop; that is when a witness is being examined. Such is the practice when our Chief Justices are on the bench, and such is all that should be expected of any man. We have never known the members of the bar to be sat upon by the Judges, and hence the soreness which they feel when forced to cut absurd figures in the police justice dispensary. They are learning, however, which is the Superior Court—for style.

NEWSY ITEMS.

The str. Hero carried a load of cattle from the Bay of Quinte to Alexandria Bay yesterday.

The yacht Condor was yesterday much admired for its handsome model and exceeding neatness.

The str. Maud advertises a new and popular departure from her Saturday trips. Take the river trip to-morrow.

A special excursion party of fifty, coming down by the Grand Trund RR., go to Alexandria Bay with the str. Maud's party on Saturday afternoon.

The steam yacht Emily, belonging to the late Robert Packer, of Idle Wild, has been sold to a gentleman in New York.

An editor says while at Clayton last week he observed that each lady arriving by train and destined for the river summer resorts had from two to half a dozen trunks, presumably containing her wardrobe, but possibly loaded with greenbacks wherewith to pay expenses.

The Hero's excursion to the Bay and Camp Ground yesterday was one of the most delightful ever given on the river. The air was splendid, the water pleasant and the return in good time. There was a large number on board, and yet not a crowd. The Hero goes down the river again to-morrow.

A great many employees of different work shops are agitating for half a holiday on Monday in order to attend the big pic-nic of the House of Providence. Already two large firms have signified their intention of closing at 1 o'clock. Great interest is taken in this pic-nic by all classes of citizens.

The steambarge Norman was in Oswego yesterday and cleared light for the Bay of Quinte. After the barge had departed a telegram was received for Captain Collins order him to load coal. A tug immediately started in pursuit, and after a chase of several miles succeeded in overhauling him and delivering the telegram. The barge returned to the port.

THE WEEKLY BRITISH WHIG came forth in eight page form yesterday, and added another to the evidences of the steady improvement the establishment is making. The veteran paper is handsomer than ever.

SALE at Hutcheson's mart, to-morrow morning at 10 o'clock, of six good Brussels and tapestry carpets, furniture, building, &c.

THE END AT HAND.

Telegraph Strike Over in Some Places—Western Union Still Holding Out—A New Scheme.

Oil City, July 26.—The Exchange has appointed a Committee to build an independent telegraph line between Bradford, Oil City and Pittsburg, with a possibility of extending it to other cities.

CONCEDING TO THE STRIKERS.

New York, July 26.—The American Rapid Company, which has conceded the demands of strikers, employed 116 operators in the main office, and nearly 300 in the city. Its whole force is about 1,500. Its lines extend from Boston to Washington through New York to Philadelphia, and way stations throughout the oil regions, Pittsburg and Cincinnati to St. Louis and throughout Albany to Buffalo, Cleveland and Chicago.

New York, July 26.—By a majority of the persons the surrender of the Rapid Telegraph Company to the strikers was regarded as a certain indication that the strike was nearing its end. At the office of the Rapid 166 operators are now on duty, including 116 strikers. 95 out of town offices were opened and 400 operators in all had returned to work. The Western Union shows no indication of yielding.

THE NEW OCEAN CABLE.

New York, July 27.—Ald. Sadler, of London, arrived yesterday from Canada, where he says all the arrangements have been completed for laying a new ocean cable to connect with the land lines of the Postal Telegraph Co. The latter Company announces that it will open its Chicago wires next week with a tariff of 25 cents for 25 words. The Western Union says it will meet this cut.

DISCHARGING ALL THE PLANS.

At the telegraphers' meeting yesterday it was stated that the Rapid Co. had discharged all those who had been with it during the strike, retaining the Brotherhood members only. Campbell said an agreement with the Baltimore and Ohio Co. was hourly expected. The Western Union announces that it will receive applications for places from operators and pass upon them according to merit of the applicant without any prejudice on account of the strike. Relinquishment of membership of the Brotherhood will be required. The Rapid Co. has raised the rates to Western Union prices.

A NEW SCHEME ADVANCED.

The telegraphers are sending out circulars of the plan for an independent Telegraph Co., capital $10,000,000, to be raised by subscription from merchants and practical telegraphers of $200 each. The circular reads:

"An Association is wanted which cannot be sold out, consolidated or fall into the hands of speculators, and in which no stockholder can obtain any advantage over another.

"To secure these ends it is proposed

"1st. That the capital shall not be represented by stock, but shall be the aggregation of initiation fees of life membership.

"2d. In lieu of interest or dividend each member shall enjoy certain privileges in the use of the wires.

"3d. The investment shall be returned as life insurance to heir or devisee, with increment in same ratio to the prosperity of the Association at the time of death.

"Suppose we say membership fee $200, each member to receive annually a ticket entitling the holder to free telegraphing to the amount of say $20 (or 10 per cent.)

"While the capital is intact and the surplus less than 10 per cent. the death payment shall be the same as the original investment ($200).

"When the surplus earnings exceed 10 per cent. on the capital, the death payment shall be $300 and so on, $100 being added to the death payment for each 10 per cent. of surplus accumulated.

"A stock which should pay 10 per cent. and accumulate 10 per cent. more, would be worth $150. Let the living be more than just to the dead.

"As membership cannot be transferred this Association could not be sold out.

"A 'member' cannot increase his interest, nor diminish it, nor terminate it.

"Membership, not being property, is not marketable, so cannot fall into the hands of the Sheriff or Surrogate.

"Would not such an Association in proper hands offer an investment so secure as to compete with Savings' Banks for the surplus earnings of the people?"

We think so.

CURIOUS PRANKS OF THE WIRES.

The Chicago Herald is authority for the following anecdotes:

The employment of inefficient operators in place of the strikers has precipitated a state of affairs whereby the following is likely to occur at any moment. This startling possibility is predicated on the strength of similar transmissions already made:

"H——, Ill., July 21.—S.J.S.——, South Clark Street, Chicago. Send three barrels wind.

JOHN T. K——"

The foregoing is a copy of a telegram received by a South Clark Street druggist from a "general store" dealer in a neighbouring country town. It has not been sent yet—the wind.

A produce commission dealer on South Water Street was somewhat appalled yesterday by the magnitude of the following order:

"Forward twenty-five cars of strawberries by express."

Until reminded of the strike he rested for some time in the belief that a hitherto right-minded customer had suddenly gone crazy. It then occurred to him that "twenty-five cases of strawberries" was what the message meant, and he proceeded to forward them.

The operator at Neganee tried twenty-six times to get that word into the man at the Chicago end of the wire, and then gave it up as a bad job. Chief Operator Springer endeavored to convey to one of the key-thumping gentry whom he had been breaking in that he was not well and he was going to stop work. "I am not 100," was the way the new man got it.

Elsewhere throughout the country many laughable mistakes have been made. An order was sent by a Long Branch hotel-keeper to a purveyor for 500 loaves of bread and 200 pounds of coffee. It was replied to by a brief message. "Will send your bread, the coffee is on the way." The despatch as sent read: "Your brother is dead. The coffin is on the way." A hearse waited at the Long Branch railway depot that night, and the inn-keeper's family were there in two carriages in half mourning. Another despatch to a butcher in Chicago was written: "Ship 500 beeves. There are few prime beeves in New York." It was received in Chicago: "Ship 500 thieves. There are few prime thieves in New York."

A message delivered at a wholesale crockery house in Warren Street yesterday read as follows: "Send 200 dozen tramps of the latest pattern; also twenty dozen patent tramps, and ten dozen of all grades. Will pay cartage and costs of boxing." The order was for lamps and shades.

New York, July 26.—The Commercial says the terms of the telegraphers made with the Rapid Co. are to be kept secret until August. The most important point concealed was the recognition of the Brotherhood.
