WHY DISCRIMINATE?

There is a singular discrimination in the circulation of bank notes. U. S. bills are taken in Quebec at par, while Nova Scotia and New Brunswick notes are at 3 p.c. discount. It is strange that Provinces incorporated in one Dominion and with the same banking law should thus be placed at a mercantile disadvantage. The reputation of its monetary institutions is surely worth something.

A JOKE OF A JUNKET.

Evidently Canada is not to be allowed to enjoy its political quietude long. If trouble does not arise at Rat Portage, to cause a national or parliamentary crisis, the course of attack upon the new Governor General will certainly give agitators the coveted excitement. Tupper is evidently a fixed determination to make his advent in the Dominion an unpleasant one, and even a signal for assassination has been sent over the wires. Now the mission of the Marquis hither is one in which the people of Canada are above all interested, and they will not tamely view an agitation likely to disturb the smooth government of the country. While they deeply sympathise with Irishmen in not possessing the liberal conditions enjoyed here they will not relish this country's being turned into a theatre of agitation. Canada suffered once, during the Fenian raid, by this style of reprisal, and while the feelings engendered have happily died out the memory remains. Such desperate proceedings as are now threatened will arouse a feeling of Protestant unity and aggression that will perpetuate party feeling in the Dominion indefinitely. It would be well for the agitators to stop and think.

A PROGRESSIVE COLONY.

Bermuda is looked upon as an old fashioned colony, very like old England, with a prejudice in favor of personal political virtue. But this impression ought to be corrected at once in justice to the progressive element in the Legislature. This body is rapidly moulding itself after the American model, which so happily brings the voter and the spoils into close communion. Letters from Canadians sojourning on the Isle and references in papers received speak of a species of jobbery in connection with the visit of the Princess Louise that would do no discredit to the accomplished operators at Ottawa. The only difference is that the people of Bermuda are greatly excited over a few thousands while Canadians scarcely wince over millions being given away in gigantic lumps.

An indemnity account of about $4,000 for the reception and entertainment of the Princess was presented to the Island House, and the Attorney General, with more vim than discretion, moved its payment without detail or examination. This led to suspicion, and an amendment calling for vouchers and audit was carried. Some of the accounts were then discovered to be of a singular character. The speaker of the House, for instance, was to receive about $25 each for messages carried a few miles in his small steamer, when the same message could have been telegraphed! The honorable gentleman who gave up his residence (Inglewood) to the Princess is also set down for $330 for supplies, besides an addition of $725 to the furniture of an already well furnished house. These, and other charges of a kindred kind, are, as a learned prelate once expressed it, "evidences of civilization we did not expect to find" in the sedate, well ordered colony.

QUESTION OF ENDURANCE.

On the 19th of July the telegraphers, from ocean to ocean, at least the members of the Brotherhood, to the number of 8,000 or 10,000, struck work. They wanted better terms, so far as the hours of labour were concerned, and they sought much better pay. There is reason to believe that negotiations would have been amicably carried on and a satisfactory result found but for the Brotherhood, and that organization the officials of the Western Union were bound to ignore. The press has given the public a sketch of what has transpired within the intervening 20 days, during which there have been active agencies at work on both sides. A culmination of the difficulty was expected long ago, but now circumstances point to a verification of the prophecy that victory will go to those who can longest endure the crush which the strike involves.

It is estimated by the Jay Gould combination—on the whole the most merciless and unyielding in existence—that concession to the strikers' demand means an increase in expenditure of $1,500,000 annually. This amount they will not be long in losing. The usual receipts may have already fallen short of that sum, but the Company, which watered its stock and realized a dividend of 40 per cent. upon $60,000,000 while its property cost but $20,000,000, can afford to wink at the shortage and continue the war. The money power of the Gould concern is tremendous and just now it is being put to the test. The telegraphers are, as a rule, not wealthy; truth to tell, if they were possessed of either silver or gold they would not be engaged in a service which is physically exhausting and poorly paid. The labor unions the country over, are helping them in a fight which admittedly concerns more than those engaged in it.

The situation is just this: that if the telegraphers, an intelligent, civil, gentlemanly and well organized body of men, cannot win in an issue of this kind unions are without virtue and strikes a failure. If the telegraphers can hold out, if the people who sympathise with them will give them the assistance financially which they require, the Western Union may see the advantage of coming to an agreement. The Company after all, suffer most by the present condition of things. The business men, except in their own interest, long submit to the losses they are now incurring through an incomplete and imperfect service. There are millionaires out of the telegraph companies as well as in them, and they talk of practically dingding achievements that will seriously affect the monopoly that cost Gould so much to control. The task set "boom" the lines antagonistic to the Western Union: it elevates in public estimation the line which will be operated shortly across the Canadian territory by the C.P.R.; it gives strength to the agitation for a control of the telegraph service by the Government of the United States and the Dominion.

Capital has its right, so has labour; but the public have interests that should not be wrecked by a conflict by no means inevitable. The people's wishes should have some consideration at such a time, and they are certainly strongly opposed to the money grubbers of Wall street.

PITHY PARAGRAPHS.

New Atlantic Steamers.

The Cunard Company have contracted with John Elder & Co., Glasgow, for two splendid Clyde-built steamships of 8,000 tons and 15,000 horse-power each, with a guaranteed speed of 19 knots per hour. These vessels are for the service between Liverpool and New York, and their dimensions will be—Length 500 feet, beam, 57 feet, depth 40 feet. The Cunarders are bound to hold the front rank in every way.

Down in the Market.

The investors in Canadian cotton mill stock will find sympathetic spirits in another important American industry. Glucose manufacture, which gave such enormous profits for a few months, has become a losing trade. A large number of factories are idle, the output last year being far in excess of the demand, and no small share of the $12,000,000 invested in the trade proving a losing venture. This is the result of the customary overdoing of a new business. Just like cotton.

A True Witness.

Earl Dufferin spoke with grace when he said in his last banquet speech "there was not a man in England who did not understand that beyond the narrow seas which confined this island, there are powerful communities proud to own allegiance to Queen Victoria, and which, if only their feelings and just expectation are duly considered, will never have higher ambition than to continue co heirs of England's illustrious career.

A National Libel.

The charges of the French and Italian press, echoed in the United States, of British neglect of ordinary sanitary precautions in Egypt, have been thoroughly disproved. So far from the spread of cholera being accelerated by bad management of British officials the only impediment its black march has met has been in the places under control of English officers. The Sanitary Commission system has, indeed, preserved Alexandria from epidemic, while all those places under pure Egyptian Government are offering up hundreds of victims weekly.

Assassination Not Yet Stayed.

The demon of assassination has not been stayed by the death punishment of the cowardly murderers of Burke and Cavendish. Carey has fallen a victim to this horrible infatuation for revenge, and yesterday a telegram conveyed a threat of the murder of the Marquis of Lansdowne on his arrival in Canada. As an instance of this species of thought we subjoin a letter received by Field, one of the jurors in the Dublin cases.

"So you are appealing to the——English to raise money for you. Maybe they would, if it was only to spite the Irish people; but you need not think you will escape, for there will be an Irishman got in England to give you the final stab. If all the Irishmen did their duty there would not be an Englishman left on their soil. A TRUE IRISHMAN."

Recognition of Great Men.

Brave Macbean, who began as a British private soldier and died as a Major-General, won his Victoria Cross single handed against a dozen foes. When the General who fastened upon him the decoration complimented him on his "noble day's work," the modest soldier disclaimed all credit, and said simply, "Tuts, it didna tak' me twenty minutes." He was not made of the same rich clay that a New York gentleman now visiting Frontenac is. He walked into a city drug store to which he had been recommended and said he was going out to Sharbot Lake for fishing and if he wanted drugs would order them at that store. He then, with great hauteur, asked the clerk if he knew who he was? The attendant held his breath until the visitor declared himself to be "General Lord Aspinwall," then he breathed freer. The General had never been heard of before, but the clerk will know him the next time so quickly that he cannot fail to be highly elated.

WORK OF THE SAVED ARMY.

Meetings of the Saved Army are occurring nightly at Odessa under Capt. Willis' charge. A corps has been made in village of Violet, and many conversions are reported. The meetings occur in both churches in that place. The Army, under Capt. Willis, is talking of making an attack upon Napanee. The Portsmouth meetings are being continued nightly under Capt. Atkins. Much good has been accomplished.

A LARGE FUNERAL.

Friends Pay the Last Tribute of Respect to the Victims of the Railway Accident.

One of the largest funerals, says the Free Press, which has probably ever taken place in Winnipeg occurred in connection with the burial of Driver Murphy of Kingston and Fireman Campbell, the two victims of the recent railway accident on the C.P.R. near Melbourne. The former was a member of No. 1 Lodge I.O.O.F., and, as a result, both lodges of the Order of Winnipeg turned out in full strength. The members of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and those of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen also turned out in large numbers to pay the last homage of respect to the memory of their deceased brethren. The members of the different Orders assembled in their respective halls and proceeded to the late residence of Driver Murphy, on Prairie street, he having boarded with Mrs. Robinson, widow of the late Driver Robinson, who was killed in a collision which took place on the C.P.R. some weeks ago at Niverville. It was previously arranged that this should be the place of rendezvous, and that a joint funeral should take place from thence to Kildonan Cemetery, where both Murphy and Campbell were shortly after interred in the one grave. The Field Battery band was in attendance, and as the cortege moved to the cemetery played "The Dead March in Saul. There must have been at least one hundred carriages in the procession. It moved along in the following order

No. 1 Lodge I.O.O.F.
No. 2 Lodge I.O.O.F.
Hearse bearing remains of Murphy.
Brotherhood of Engineers.
Hearse bearing remains of Campbell.
Brotherhood of Firemen.
Mourners.
Line of Carriages.

A VERY IMPOSING SERVICE.

Murphy was buried with the customary honors of the Order of Oddfellows—a very impressive ceremony, in the course of which the brethren threw sprigs of palm into the grave. The hearse which bore the remains of the dead engineer was drawn by four grey horses, and that which contained the remains of Campbell by a pair of jet blacks.

A melancholy incident was the presence of Mrs. Robinson and her daughters in one of the mourning carriages. It is stated that the deceased engineer was engaged to be married to one of the daughters of the late driver, and this fact being known to many made the scene of a deeply affecting one to the thousands of citizens who lined the different thoroughfares to witness the obsequies.

OFFICIAL OFFICER'S TESTIMONIAL.

After the Oddfellows had returned to their lodge room from the grave the following resolution was passed

The Funeral Committee from Manitoba Lodge No. 1, I.O.O.F., beg leave to tender their sincere thanks, on behalf of Manitoba Lodge, to the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers for the manner in which they arranged for the burial of their late Brother R. Murphy, pending the arrival of card and also instructions from Kingston, which did not arrive till late on Saturday night.

JAMES A. PEART,
JOSEPH P. KELLAR,
DUNCAN MCGIBBON.

The pallbearers were selected from among the different societies who took part in the funeral services. Friends of the deceased will have the sincere sympathy of the community in the bereavement they have sustained.

A QUESTION OF ENDURANCE.

Neither Side Showing Signs of Weakening—How Long Will the Great Strike Last?

The Times says:—The Western Union cannot hope to gain its present struggle by a wilful misrepresentation of facts. The statement given out that it is handling its business readily and promptly, and that the service is improving day by day, are absolutely false. The Western Union in New York City have not succeeded in taking more than five from our ranks since the strike. Of these only one is a first class man. On the other hand we have gained five where they have taken one from us.

Toronto, Aug 2.—The strikers are still firm and more determined than ever. The Company's local affairs are in a bad condition. Yesterday the Corn Exchange sent an official complaint to the Company, and this will be followed by a lawsuit if there is no improvement.

The benefit to be given the Brotherhood at the Academy of Music in Buffalo on Monday next promises to be a grand success.

New York, Aug. 3.—The Horse Shoers Union voted $1,000 to the telegraphers last night. The Times says the strike seems to have settled down to a question of endurance, the Western Union managers having determined to starve the men out rather than yield to the Brotherhood. Gould outlined this plan in a statement to a friend while talking of the situation. He said the present strike was but a skirmish line in the fight projected by the Knights of Labor in every branch of business.

LATEST FROM NEW YORK.

New York, Aug. 3.—The announcement that the Mexican Telegraph Co. have struck for an advance of wages is groundless.

NOTES FROM THE BROTHERHOOD.

Chicago, Aug. 1.—The 14th day of the great strike finds Chicago still determined and cheerful. The subject to delay notice still decorates the Western Union office. Haynes & Co., bucket shop men, told a Herald reporter: "Our business is about the one hundredth part of what it was before the strike began. We had about 60 despatches yesterday whereas we used to receive about one thousand per day. A message was sent to Cleveland on Monday and we have received no answer yet. Interviews with other prominent firms shows the same state of affairs.

New York, Aug. 1. The situation here has been materially improved. All our members are hopeful and determined. The Western Union is a bluff, having announced they would accept business without the subject to delay endorsement, were flooded with business on Monday and Tuesday. As they were not in a condition to handle even a smaller amount, they have been swamped. To offset this the officials announced every imaginable excuse, such as malicious interruptions of wires, trouble from Aurora Borealis caused by the earthquake in Europe.

THE PLAGUE.

London, Aug. 3.—Orders have been issued to thoroughly disinfect the cargoes of rags from Egypt. Sir C. Dilke, in the House of Commons yesterday, said the general health of the country was very satisfactory, although there was a large mortality among children in London from diarrhoea. Unusual precaution would be necessary to guard against the cholera until the expiration of six weeks, when it is believed the danger will be passed.

Alexandria, Aug. 3.—There were three deaths from cholera yesterday.

London, Aug. 3.—The News asserts that the deaths from cholera in Egypt, so far, have been 16,000. It says the disease is less virulent. Of ten men attacked among the British troops on an average six survive.

A STRANGE SUICIDE.

Chicago, Aug. 2.—Gov. Norden was found dead in the Swedish Lutheran Church at Englewood yesterday, having ascended. MURDER WILL OUT

A Girl Arrested for Murdering Her Offspring—Drowned in a Cistern.

Hamilton, Aug. 3—Last fall Clara McCabe went to the city hospital to be delivered of an illegitimate child. When the child was about three weeks old the mother went to service and the child went with her. She gave the name of a young man as the father of the babe. It was a healthy, happy little thing. "I would have adopted it myself, said a lady, "but the girl would not tell me where she put the child to board. She returned after she had left me and worked a couple of weeks while I was house cleaning. The baby was not with her then. During the four or five months she worked for me I paid her $4 a month and kept her and the baby. Since the time Mrs. Foster mentioned, the girl has not been in her house. In the yard in rear of the Foster residence is a cistern, covered with loose boards. It was not used. About noon to-day Mrs. Foster in play with a little girl, said, "I'll put you in here if you are naughty," at the same time raising one of the loose boards from the well. Looking in she saw two tiny hands, but took them for two eggs. The horrible discovery was made that the two white objects were the hands of Maria McCabe's little child. The body was much decomposed. The child had probably been drowned in the cistern by the inhuman mother when she left Mrs. Foster's service. Maria McCabe, came from Dublin three years ago. She had no relatives in America. With no one to restrain her she seems to have gone to the bad. A warrant was issued for the arrest, and she is now in jail.
