THE BEAUTIFUL BLUE DANUBE.

They drift down the hill together
Hs smiles in her lifted eyes,
Like waves of that mighty river
The strains of the Danube rise.
They float on its rhythmic measure,
Like leaves on a slumber stream;
And here in this scene of pleasure,
I hear my sweet, dear dream.

Through the cloud of her dusky tresses,
Like a star shines out her face;
And the form his strong arm presses
Is stirred like in the grass.
As a leaf on the bounding river
Is lost in the seething sea,
I know that forever and ever
My dream is lost to me.

And still the waltz are playing
That grand old worthless rhyme
And still those two are swaying
In perfect time and time,
If the great blossoms that in other
If the clarionets that blow
Were given a voice to utter
The secret things they know

Would the lists of the slain who slumber
On the Danube's battle plains
The unknown hosts outnumber
Who die 'mid the Danube's strains?
Those fall where cannons rattle,
'Mid the rain of shot and shell;
But these, in a braver battle,
Find death in the waltz's swell

With the river's roar of passion
Is blended the dying groan
But here, in the halls of fashion,
Hearts break and make no moan.
As the music swelling and sweeping
Like the river know not all
But none are counting or keeping
The lists of those who fall

AMONG THE ISLANDS.

The Hero's Saturday Afternoon Excursion—A Very Large Party—Change in Route

The steamer Hero took a monster excursion party down the river on Saturday—in fact it was the largest which has left the city this season—fully 300 people having taken passage. Many others, who were the latest to arrive and intended going also, met with disappointment on account of the refusal to take them, the numbers already on board having been considered sufficient for comfort, though more could have been accommodated.

A large number got off at the Park, which was reached after a quiet run, while many others remained on board till the return of the boat from Alexandria Bay. At the former place friends were called on and many places visited, particularly the new hotel. Several of the young people of both sexes found their way to the photograph gallery where they ordered pictures. Several young gentlemen who were considerably "gone" on a certain popular young lady visitor, clubbed together, and had themselves, the lady referred to and one or two other ladies taken in a group. This was the theme discussed by them on the way home, causing much merriment. It is said that Harry has the inside track.

Notwithstanding the throng the staff little steamer acted as steadily as if carrying but an ordinary cargo. Many favourable causes tended to create this large turnout of pleasure seekers, chief of which were the fine weather the popularity of the boat and its officers, the extremely moderate charge for passage and supper, and the variation in the route to and from the Thousand Island Park, the Southern channel having been chosen on the downward trip and Kel Bay and the Middle channel on the way back.

The arrival home would have been much earlier but for the length of time taken to get aboard those who got off at the camp ground. Much unnecessary crowding took place at the gangway. This people should endeavour to avoid, for apart from the danger often resulting from impatience to get on board, much time is lost which less anxiety would save. However, everything passed off very pleasantly and free from the slightest mishap, the officers, as usual, proving themselves genial, courteous and attentive to the wants of those under their care. Captain Craig ably piloted the str. Hero throughout the trip, while Sam Cox exhibited his well-known efficiency in catering to the needs of those who called on him for supper, which was an excellent one. The tables were filled five different times, and on each occasion presented no less inviting in appearance than they did the first time, everything being prepared afresh for each sitting. Poor Sam indisposed stood to his post until the last guest was served. We hope to hear of his speedy recovery. The arrival home took place at 8:40 o'clock p.m.

We understand the str. Hero has been very busy of late doing excursion business, which shows that her speed and comfort are properly appreciated.

INVESTING THEIR MILLIONS.

A Montreal despatch reports that the Great Southeastern Railway has been purchased from Bradley by a syndicate consisting of George D. Chapman, of the National Construction Company of New Jersey; Ashley Hibbard and Walter Shanley, of Montreal, and James Mitchell, of London, England, for $3,800,000, leaving Mr. Barlow a surplus of about $800,000 after paying all his liabilities, including $1,400,000 to the Canadian Pacific Railroad. President Stephen when asked about the report answered: "I can't see how we have been cuchred, as stated, for we have just as good connections to the Atlantic ports as we had before, and the purchase of the Southeastern road, if it really has been purchased, will not affect our interests in the least. The Canadian Pacific road had an option to purchase the Southeastern lines for $1,750,000. This option was held some time, and, after mature deliberation, we concluded not to accept it. Whoever buys the Southeastern will have to pay the first mortgage bonds on the road. It is said that the purchasing syndicate represents the Grand Trunk and Central Vermont interests.

It was Mr. Barlow's failure to sell this road that caused the announcement of his failure and that of the National Bank at St. Albans, Vt., of which he was President. About $320,000 of the road's paper had been discounted by the bank. Mr. Barlow invested nearly $1,000,000 in the road.

The Most frightful scourge of humanity is Bright's Disease of the Kidneys. Commencing with a little pain in the back, it hurries the sufferer to a premature grave. Dr. Van Buren's Kidney Cure is the only known remedy that prevents the fatal result. Take it in time.

SONS OF TEMPERANCE.

The Local History and Work—Present Condition and Status of St. Lawrence Division No 2.

Nearly thirty-six years ago the Order of Sons of Temperance was established in this city, and for about a quarter of a century during which Frontenac No. 2, mechanics No. 374, and Williamsville No. 322 divisions existed) many hundreds pledged themselves to abstain from all intoxicating drinks. Division No. 2, which meets regularly, in Mission Hall, corner Princess and Montreal Sts. every Thursday evening at 8 o'clock. As it is comparatively unknown to the public and very little enquiry is made about the principles of the Order we might quote in part from beautiful ritual. "Our Order is right to the blind, strength to the weak and a hope and comfort to all. The mission of the Order is one of benevolence, to destroy the destroyer of millions, to conquer the enemy of our people and to promote the virtue and happiness of mankind. Our meetings are for the purpose of interchanging the greetings of an exalted friendship, to counsel, admonish and strengthen one another in the discharge of duty, and to deliberate on the best means adapted to promote the objects for which we are associated. We join hand in hand and heart to heart to meet a common foe with the victorious weapon of combination." We cordially invite all Christian workers to assist in this laudable enterprise. For there is no man possessed of a regard for the welfare of his race who can look unconcernedly upon the degradation and ruin of his fellow men. Bad as human nature is there yet remains in the breast of every honest individual a sympathy for the woes and suffering of mankind, and every one who wishes well for the prosperity of his his country and the success of those institutions which are designed to improve man's moral and social condition, and increase and strengthen those virtues which adorn our nature is bound by high and holy considerations to unite his aid and influence in behalf of a cause next in importance and sublimity to Christianity. The victories it has already achieved and the blessings it has diffused are ample inducements to stimulate every lover of virtue and of his country to untiring exertions until the moderate drinker shall become ashamed of his useless stimulus, every sot in the land, reclaimed from his degrading vices, be gathered into the fold of total abstinence and thereby rendered a useful member of society.

Our present membership is between 60 and 70. The admission fee is $50, and the weekly dues 5c., just sufficient to meet current expenses. Our meetings are made interesting by initiations, readings, music and short addresses. We have also in connection a branch of the National Mutual Relief Association, embracing six classes from $500 to $6,000.00, subject to $1.00 death calls. There is ample provision made for the pleasure and comfort of the true Son of Temperance while he lives, and a safe investment for the benefit of his family when he would be called away. We invite all temperance men and women, all moderate drinkers and all who are immoderately addicted to the use of strong drink, to join our Division and help in this good work.

FROM SLEEP TO DEATH.

L. L. Conrad, a lawyer of Baltimore, prominent in professional and social life, was shot and killed on the 7th, by his wife, near Glyndon, in Baltimore County. Mr. Conrad and his wife, who has been a confirmed invalid for years, came to Bloomfield, where her mother, Mrs. Mary G. Worthington, and her brother, Mr John Tolly Worthington, live, on Saturday, to spend the summer. Mrs. Conrad has for years suffered from neuralgia of the stomach, producing nervousness and insomnia. Mr. Worthington brought Mr. Conrad's mail to him from Baltimore, last evening, and when he got home Mrs. Conrad was almost frantic with pain. While Mr. Conrad was reading his letters Mr. Worthington held his sister in his arms. She frequently called her husband to come to her, and said she could not bear to have him leave her. When tea was announced Mrs. Conrad said she was so nervous that she could not sit down and she walked up and down the room. She took a little cream, and then held her bowed face in her hands, saying it made her pain even more intense. Mr. Conrad asked her several times how she felt. 'Oh, my love,' she answered, 'my nerves are setting me wild.' Shortly after that Mr. Conard gave her an inhalation of oxygen, which had been recommended by Philadelphia doctors. This was given her for five minutes.

About 10 o'clock Mr. Conrad gathered up the things he used for her comfort during the night, and started up stairs, carrying a light, while his brother-in-law followed, carrying Mrs. Conrad in his arms. He tenderly laid her on the bed and Mrs. Worthington and Mr. Conrad proceeded to prepare the invalid for bed. Between 10 and 11 o'clock Mr. Worthington went to the sick chamber and got a lamp to set in the hall door. Mr. Conrad gave it to him and this was the last time he ever saw his brother-in-law alive. About 12:20 o'clock Mrs. Conrad ran screaming into her mother's room, which adjoins the one occupied by herself and husband. She was terribly excited and cried out, 'Oh, my God, I have hurt Mr. Conrad.'

Mrs. Worthington, who is old and infirm, got out of bed, and, followed by her daughter, proceeded to the other room. There, to her horror, she found her son-in-law dead, the blood trickling from a wound in the head back of the left ear, and a Remington revolver of thirty-two calibre on the bed. Death had been instantaneous. The relations between Mr. Conrad and his wife have always been of the most tender and friendly character. They have been married 14 years.

Mr. Conrad was a native of New Orleans, and a son of Wm. H. Conrad, Secretary of War during the Fillmore administration.

The success with which the Triangle Dyes have met proves them the most remarkable Dyes of the past or present. They are attracting attention from a class of society.

A MOUNTAIN ROMANCE.

The Wedding of a Wealthy Young Man and a Dusky Maiden Annulled—A Big Gift.

Little Moose Lake, in the Adirondack Mountains, was recently the scene of a romance, the result of which has only within a few days been settled to the satisfaction of all the parties concerned. At that place lives the half breed Indian guide, Elijah Camp, who is well known to nearly every tourist in the mountains. He has a handsome daughter named Emma, just budding into womanhood, who is the pet of her father, and has always been the favorite of the many tourists who have happened in the neighborhood of her home. A regular summer visitor to the home of Camp has been Mr. Robert G. Mead of Sing Sing, who, with his family, have passed the season there. Mr. Mead has a son named Gabriel, who is about 23 years old, and possesses a fortune in his own right of about $125,000. Last summer Gabriel boarded with the family of Elijah Camp in the mountains, and was thrown much in the society of the dusky maiden Emma. It is alleged that the wily Elijah, by making the young man drink too much, induced him to marry the girl. After the ceremony Gabriel remained with his Indian wife until last spring, when he paid a visit to his father at Sing Sing. Mr. Mead, when he learned how his son had been entrapped into his marriage with the guide's daughter, was very angry, and steps were at once taken to procure an annulment of the marriage. The ground of the action was that the ceremony was performed when Gabriel was not in a condition to know what he was doing, and that his consent was obtained by fraud. Mr. Mead employed Mr. Smith Lent, of Sing Sing, to prosecute the action, and the defendant, Emma, was represented by Gen. Charles Hughes. Nelson H. Baker, District Attorney of Westchester, was made referee and, after hearing the testimony in the case he reported in favour of annulling the marriage, and the Supreme Court confirmed his report. After the decision Mr Mead presented Emma Camp with $10,000 as a recompense for her voluntarily abstaining from fighting very hard to keep control of her white husband.

Horsfords Acid Phosphate
IN SEASICKNESS.
Prof. Adolph Ott, New York says: "I used it for seasickness, among the passengers, during a passage across the Atlantic. In the plurality of cases I saw the violent symptoms yield, which characterizes that disease, and give way to a healthful action of the functions impaired."

CHEESE MARKETS.

The Utica Herald says developments have been a surprise to dealers as well as to dairymen. Cheese was so well cleaned up the week before that buyers took hold the early part of the week at former prices, and congratulated themselves that they were doing well. But they did not anticipate that the English market would drop off so suddenly that the cheese brought to fill short contracts. The shipments from Montreal are running well to those of New York. For the week ended July 28, Montreal shipped 4,303,448 lbs., against New York's 4,689,503 lbs. Such a combination as that is enough to stagger anything but the hungriest kind of a market. The only remedy that can be suggested is that factories in the country, which are pretty generally sold close to the hoop, should hold back part of their cheese, and by means of lighter receipts give the market a chance to steady itself.

In The Hour Of Need.
You want not to try experiments, but resort to the old and well tested means that afforded relief in the past. When your corns ache don't take the first article offered you, but find out just the thing to answer your purpose, viz., to remove the troublesome corns, and to do this without pain, and do it promptly. Putnam's painless Corn Extractor has been used for many years. It has never been known to fail. Putnam's Extractor makes no deep holes in the flesh, hard to heal and more troublesome than the original discomforts. It works nicely and efficiently.

Be Advised in time, and do not allow what may appear to you as a simple back ache now, to run into a disease of the kidneys, which invariably proves fatal in the end. Dr. Van Buren's Kidney Cure will at once ease your pain and positively prevent those unfortunate results. Take it at once. Any druggist will have it.

Those unhappy persons who suffer from nervousness and dyspepsia should use Carter's Little Nerve Pills, which are made expressly for sleepless, nervous, dyspeptic sufferers. Price 25c. all druggists.
