AN ERRAND BOY'S IDEA.

The announcement is made that some of the New York operators think a mistake has been made in amalgamating for union purposes with the knights of Labor. Just how they can have reached such a conclusion does not seem plain. The fact is very apparent that the Western Union Telegraph Company is the strongest of all the electric institutions in existence, and that it employs one-third of all the men who have made telegraphing a study and a business. One would fancy that the strikers would desire the backing of the most powerful labour combination now known in the world, and such is the Knights of Labour. It had its origin in Philadelphia in 1869, among a few who sought protection as cloth-cutters and fitters. In 1873 other trades were included, in 1880 women were made members, and in 1882 the membership was increased to 140,000. Its position and doctrines are indicated by the following extract from an interview with the Chief in Pittsburg, Pa.:

"Are all the trades of the country now represented in the Order?"

"Not one in left out."

"Are any more strikes among any of the different branches contemplated?"

"So far as I know, no. Anyway, we will first get through with this telegraph strike."

"Has any assessment been raised for the telegraphers?"

"No. At the opening of the strike there was in the treasury of the Brotherhood nearly $20,000. I do not know whether this has been exhausted, but a few days ago they declined to take an assessment on the score that they did not need it."

"The Knights are in hearty sympathy with the strike?"

"Yes. The rule of our Order is first to arbitrate then strike. But in the case of the telegraphers the Company refused to arbitrate. Hence the strike was proper, and we will stand by them to the last moment."

"How is the Order having?"

"Well, we have 272 local organizations, with membership running from 20 up to 1,500 and 2,500 persons. We have now five organizers in the field establishing local assemblies. This winter we will put more organizers on the road. At present we are centralizing our efforts in the Chicago regions."

"Are the principles of the Order in any way akin to those of modern socialism?"

"Only this far. We believe in organizing first for proper wages, then for proper education. Our next move will be to establish our own schools. We already have our co-operative stores and factories in successful operation."

The telegraphers may be defeated but not because they belong to a branch of the Knights of Labour. The victory now appears to belong to those who can hold out the longest. When men like Jay Gould and Russel Sage say they will let the wires rest before they submit it is to be presumed they are fully determined, and their defeat would be one of the most important events in the history of conflicts between capital and labour.

THE ARK—THE DELUGE

Two days ago our telegraphic columns contained a notice of the discovery of the Ark by a special Turkish Commission at work in the Adriatic region. This excited our curiosity, which had not satisfied when Prof. Vail's theory of the deluge came to hand. The author of this little book advances opinions which will interest and inspire thought if they do not carry conviction. Prof. Vail (of Barnesville, Ohio), says the primeval ocean was divided into two parts by the firmament, meaning an expanse, and the idea is the same as air or atmosphere. But how could the atmosphere divide oceans?

The Professor points to Saturn and says: "In addition to his eight moons three stupendous rings revolve about him, two composed of meteoric and one of aqueous matter. Then, 19,000 miles from his surface revolves an ocean some 8,000 miles broad and 1,000 miles thick, an ocean above Saturn's firmament or atmosphere. Prof. Vail says once such an oceanic ring surrounded the earth, and these waters were "above the firmament;" those below were on the earth, for it is said "Let the waters under the firmament be gathered together that the dry land may appear." The natural cause, which was instrumental in this separation of the waters, was the native heat of the earth, which originally expelled all the waters from the earth's surface and then during the gradual cooling of the planet the inner rings or oceans fell first to the surface, and last of all the ring which produced the "deluge." The author claims that his is the only theory harmonizing with all the references in the Bible bearing upon the subject.

The Mosaic record reads: "For yet seven days and I will cause it to rain on the earth 40 days and 40 nights, and every living substance that I have made will I destroy from the face of the earth." Prof. Vail argues the utter impossibility of such a rain from ordinary clouds under the ordinary laws of evaporation and condensation, of heat, motion and gravitation; and while acknowledging that the "Creator of heaven and earth, who holds the oceans in His palms and balances the universe as upon the tip of His finger, can do any and all things," denies that it is necessary to believe the waters of the deluge came from the beds of principal seas or from the atmosphere. His belief is, of course, that the waters came through the atmosphere from the outer ocean, on their way to the surface of the earth. "Again we open the sacred volume and read: 'In the sixth hundredth year of Noah's life, in the second month, on the 17th day of the month, the same day were all the foundations of the Great Deep broken up, and the windows of heaven were opened,' and the flood was upon the earth 40 days and 40 nights." Most people will pooh-pooh Prof. Vail's ideas, but the American scientists say they are not at all unreasonable. They are certainly apropos when the public mind is concerned about the finding of the ark.

PITHY PARAGRAPHS.

What Meaneth This?

The Canadian Law Times publishes the last batch of Queen's Counsel. Its only comment is to relegate the reader to Acts 6., 12: "And they were all amazed, and were in doubt, saying one to another, What meaneth this?"

Seeing the Governor.

Peter X., of the Berlin News, who is in Quebec the other day, called, in his capacity of a journalist, upon the Governor General. Col. DeWinton must have been away or such a thing wouldn't have happened. The Colonel is pound of pumpkins on style and classification.

Change of Opinion.

The Hamilton Tribune recalls the fact that the present editor of the Mail, as its Ottawa correspondent, some years ago wrote up the O'Brien family as patriots and loyal workingmen; but as an editor of the Mail to-day he writes them down as "Mowat's lambs, scoundrels and blackguards. The editor's memory serves him an ill turn on this occasion.

A Splendid New Man of War.

The French have just launched another ironclad, the Furieux, built at Cherbourg. She is a mastless ironclad, two turrets, two screws, and constructed of iron and steel. The hull is divided into nine large and several lesser watertight compartments, which will render it impossible for her to go to the bottom. She will carry two heavy steel guns, of 52c. and several Hotchkisses, in order to repel the attacks of torpedo boats. It is calculated that the Furieux will cost £280,000, a sum which, of course, does not include labor.

Rosa Greets Lord Coleridge.

O'Donovan Rossa, in his paper on Monday, makes allusion to the alleged threat by the Fenians against the life of Lord Chief Justice Coleridge as follows: "No wonder. This is the Norbury Judge that sentenced Dr. Gallagher and other Irish-Americans to English transportation for life; this is the Judge who is coming to America to get feasted, wined and dined and welcomed by the 'big wigs' of this country. Well, let him come; he'll get a welcome from us, and no doubt."

Wm. Johnson's Offence.

William Johnson, of Ballykilbeg, has been reprimanded in the British Parliament for expressing himself too freely. In a speech at an Orange celebration he said that "rather than see Home Rule and a Parnellite Parliament the Orangemen would line with their rifles every ditch from the Boyne to Belfast." He was called to time but doesn't mind it a bit. He is bound to be outspoken, and will probably resign his Government office rather than be coerced into silence. Officers of the Government, however, are expected to be discreet.

Lord Lorne and the Princess.

The Winnipeg Free Press has an article upon departing Vice Royalty. Lord Lorne, it thinks, has acted his part fairly well, though he has not said anything anyone can remember, and his greatness largely consists in his being the husband of his wife. Of the Princess it has much to say of a kindly character. It says she took much interest in Canadian affairs. Her contempt, if she showed any, was not for the Canadian people but for those ashamed to acknowledge themselves of the Canadian people. It was the sham-aristocratic, imitation-English, grovelling poor creatures who imagined they had a special right to be entertained by her. They wanted to feel tremendously like courtly people if possible. They wanted the Princess to enable them to pose as "the real thing," and she appears to have trampled ruthlessly upon their preposterous aspirations. Good luck to her, she is a noble lady, and democracy in Canada owes something to her.

COMPLIMENT FROM THE WEST

Mr. McGillicuddy of the Signal in Goderich, writes the following regarding the paper and office in which he was initiated as a typo: "The WEEKLY BRITISH WHIG, of Kingston, came to hand last week, enlarged and improved. It is now a handsome eight-page paper, off six columns to the page. The BRITISH WHIG is, if our memory serves us aright, the oldest newspaper in Ontario, and its files contain the history of Canada for the past half century. We were initiated into the mysteries of newspaperdom on the WHIG some sixteen years ago, and many a time and oft had the proud privilege afforded us of endeavoring to decipher the hieroglyphics of the veteran journalist, Dr. Barker, whose genial countenance, erratic style, terse Anglo-Saxon and execrable chirography, made him so strongly resemble the late Horace Greeley. The old doctor still lives, and is hale and hearty, we are pleased to learn, but the WHIG has passed into the hands of E. J. B. Pense, the grandson of the original proprietor. From the appearance of the journal under the present management, we have become convinced that there is not only Pense in the editorial sanctum but dollars and cents in abundance in the counting room. So mote it be."

TACKLING THE MILITARY MEN.

The Police Magistrate has been endeavoring to improve upon the customs practiced at his court. To be sure there was room for improvement, but there is a danger of his drawing the reins too fine. The poor reporters were shuffled about by the officials and crushed with dignity a few times, but it was not until a couple of lawyers had a collision with the Sergt.-Major that the real importance of the Court became thoroughly understood. A change in the "lay out" of the place has enabled the machine to run with much smoothness lately. But this morning another incident occurred. A couple of soldiers were summoned for their share of a horse, and they rose in the court room with their little caps jaunttily set upon the sides of their heads. The Magistrate ordered the headgear to be removed, but they declined, alleging that they were not required to do so except while being sworn. The military here stood upon their dignity, and they triumphed. They took their hats off, however, when placed in the dock.

SUCCESSFUL CANDIDATES.

The Results of the Examinations in Kingston in Front—What the Schools Can Do.

The results of the recent Intermediate and teachers' examinations have just been announced by the examiners. About 1,317 candidates passed the Intermediate throughout the Province and about 1,230 passed the third-class non-professional examination, two candidates obtained a grade "A" non-professional certificate, two obtained a grade "B," twenty-seven obtained a grade "C," while twenty-eight passed the first-class professional examination.

Kingston has done as well as any place in the Dominion.

First Class (Professionals)—Salina E. Holmes; Isaac Wood.

Third Class (Non professional)—Mary A. Cunningham, Frankie L. Godwin; Anne Ricard, Clara Ricard, Jane Isabel English, Sarah E. English; Charlotte Lovick; Addie Walker, Lizzie Heustridge.

Intermediate.—Lizzie N. Barry, Gertie Purdy; Rachel Veale, Emma Walker.

COLLEGIATE INSTITUTE RESULTS.

The following were those sent up by the Collegiate Institute and passed the examinations. There were 18 candidates.

Second Class Certificates—Miss Mary Cassidy, Second A.

Third Class—Misses Celia Beaton, Grace McKay, Emma McManus, Mary O'Reilly and Lottie Weller.

Intermediate—Fred Allen, Stanley Chown, Mary Donald, Jessie Harold, Ada LeRichous and Sarah Joyce.

COUNTY CANDIDATES SUCCESSFUL.

The following are the candidates successful in the County.

Second Class B non professionals.—Edward Walker, Alfred Lockhart, Anne Pepper.

Third Class Certificates.—Nelson Jackson, Henry McConnell, Frances Lawler, Thomas McKwan, Ruth Jackson, Minnie Irvine, Amanda Gordon, Michael McGrath, Wallace McPherson, Anne O'Reilly, Alice Wood and Lyford Freeborn.

Intermediate.—Michael Ryan, Thos. Bowers, Geo. Moore, Julia Wheeler, Ellen Hanvah, Maggie Snortall, Addie Rostan, Lilian Moore and Elizabeth Paxton.

CREDIT TO THE CITY.

Our reporter met the City Inspector this morning, and he smiled as he spoke of the great success of the public school candidates. Of the seventeen who had wrote for Third Class certificates 13 had been successful. The number would have been increased by two had there not been a mistake in entering their names on the application paper sent to Toronto. They were set down for examination in the wrong subjects and so were left without questions when the examinations were begun. This sad overtoove will be regretted. The candidates will be certain to pass at the next examination. Mr. Kidd never knew the public schools to be so successful in the examinations for teachers; he doubted if a similar record could be presented the Province over. It was certainly somewhat upon which the School Board could be congratulated. The Collegiate Institute had also done well and its Board will share in the general rejoicing.

We congratulate the Principals of the Model and Louise Schools upon the creditable position which they have taken. They have not been content to meet the requirements of the law, to secure certificates which would enable them to teach in the schools to which they are appointed. They have been ambitious to reach the top of their profession, and they have had that ambition satisfied. We only regret that men and women of their ability are not paid proportionately to their qualifications.

A HIGHLY COMPLIMENTARY CAREER.

Miss Crawford's result, too, has been a praiseworthy one. She took a Second B certificate while a pupil of the public schools, at the Collegiate Institute she took a grade higher and the Governor General's medal, and, now while a resident of St. Catharines she wins a professional status.

QUERY—WHOO RESPONSIBLE?

So many complaints have been lodged about the defective state of the sidewalks in the City especially the unlighted ones, that the Council had better bestir themselves before they are mulcted in serious damages for accidents therefrom. Undoubtedly many persons receive more or less (to say the least) unpleasant falls, which are seldom made known to the public through the agency of actions against the Corporation, and these, the most respectible of our citizens. Any individual noted as a Public Jubilee, or otherwise dissipated, seems not to have the courage to sue them for the damages he has sustained. But the father and bread winner of a family, returning from his work, from church or even the Salvation Army may on any dark night break his neck, maim himself for life, or incapacitate himself for working to support that family, and incur among other expenses a heavy medical bill. Such things are of almost daily occurrence, even when the sun is shining. How much more so when the nights are dark.

When Kingston streets were merely sand paths, worn on the grass, such occurrences were infrequent, but now they are in some places, what we may call composite, planks laid longitudinally without sleepers, and the rest sand, sheer and unadulterated.

It would be invidious, as the poet says to speak bad of the bridge that carries you through, but on several occasions we have done our little hymns of salvation for having passed over free. To single one street out of another as in bad repair would, we say, be very invidious, but Johnson Street on both sides, Clergy on the east side opposite the old kirk, and the west side of the Wood Market on Brock Street are fearfully out of repair and require renovation. Let a man go along Clergy Street, for instance, opposite the old Scotch Church of an dark a night as last night was, with the sleepers laid down for the plank walk as they have been for some time past and the intervening path, it is ten to one he breaks "something," his neck or his boots, and who is responsible?

Mr. Dennis Collins, formerly of this city, but now of O'Keefe's Brewery, Toronto, is in the city spending a few days with his friends.

STOCK EXCITEMENT.

Explanation of the Whirl Things Got on Wall Street—The Millionaires Speak.

New York, Aug. 14.—There was much surprise and some consternation among the bulls of the stock market concerning the decline during the past week. About two weeks ago stock fell with a thump but before the day passed the market recovered and fears were dispelled. This second flurry is regarded as inexplicable as the first. Telegrams have been received from Europe asking the reason of the depression. A well known banker cabled back, "Ask us something easy."

New York, Aug. 14.—The sales at the Stock Exchange yesterday reached 576,000 shares. There was not so much dread displayed as on Saturday, and alarming rumours were not so freely circulated. The suspension of Cecil, Ward & Co., it was claimed, was due to the failure of a customer for whom stock was carried to meet obligations. The firm says the suspension is only temporary.

The Times says an observer said the reason of the break was not because the outside public had not come in a year ago. Riggers of the market dumped a mass of stock and cleared out everybody. Then they bought back the stuff and tried to bull things, but the public had been fleeced and had neither money nor confidence. Contraction by the banks had precipitated things but the real cause of the decline was that heavy holders could carry their stocks no longer. They were compelled to liquidate.

Gould said some of the stocks were selling far below their intrinsic value. He advised the people who had ready cash to buy stocks which they could afford to hold. He thought the operators on margins would do well to keep out for a while.

The President of the Exchange said the situation in no respect was like that which preceded in the panic of 1873. The people who make up the general public are out of the market and have been out two years. The present depression may be regarded as the natural outcome of a long period of liquidation.

London, Aug. 14.—There was almost a panic at the Stock Exchange this morning in American railway securities, which were greatly depressed and difficult to sell. The American Government securities were not affected.

TELEGRAPHERS' STRIKE.

New York, Aug. 14.—John McClelland, an officer of the Brotherhood, testified that the direct cause of the strike was the insult of the Western Union to the Committee of the Brotherhood in refusing to recognize or treat with them. Until then it had not been expected that a strike would occur. The grievances were not and if there had been a spirit of concession of the Company the operators would have met them. The salaries of operators was of secondary importance. The length of the working hours and Sunday work, without additional compensation, was the greatest grievance.

REWARDING FIDELITY.

Long Branch, Aug. 4.—When the telegraphers struck all this vicinity went out excepting Peter Brady, Manager of the Red Bank office. In recognition of his fidelity he has been presented with a gold watch and his salary has been increased $30 per month.

HOT DEBATE.

London, Aug. 14.—A hot and bad-tempered debate occurred in the House of Commons last evening when expense of prosecuting criminals were provided. Harrington said Myles Joyce was legally murdered despite evidence of his innocence and Callen said the Phœnix Park murderers could have been convicted without Carey. Harrington and Healey were called to order.

NO DEFINITE NEWS.

London, Aug. 13.—Lord Fitzmaurice, Under Secretary of Foreign Affairs, stated this afternoon in the Commons that the Government was aware that Shaw, English Missionary to Madagascar, had been imprisoned by the French but had yet no definite news as to the charge against him.

SLADE-MITCHELL FIGHT.

St. Louis, Aug. 14.—It is reported that the Slade-Mitchell fight will occur at Vinita, Indian territory, 50 miles south of Kansas city, on the fair grounds. There is no local law against prize fighting and an immense crowd is expected.

WATKINS REGATTA.

Watkins, Aug. 14—Water rough. Trial heats will not be rowed till late. The decisive heat between Hanlan and Courtney will not be rowed till to-morrow. Courtney is the favorite, 10 to 13 for the field.

TAR AND FEATHERS.

Lexington, Mich., Aug. 14.—William Garwood, fresco painter, reported that his wife in Cleveland had married a colored cook here recently. A mob tarred and feathered him on Saturday.

NATIONAL REGATTA.

Fall River, Aug. 14.—Hanlan, Courtney, Lee, Ross, Riley, Elliott, Plaisted, and nearly all the other great oarsmen, will probably participate in the national regatta here on the 18th.

A BREAD INSPECTION.

This afternoon Police Officer McCormack made an inspection of several bakeries and weighed the bread. His report was as follows:

James Newman—Good weight.
R. H. Toye—No bread.
George Bugg—No bread.
Robert McCommon, Bagot Street, 26 loaves seized, being from 3 to 5 oz. light. The bread was hot when weighed. It was confiscated.

Police Officer Hoyle found the following condition of affairs:

James Boyd—Correct weight.
A. Swanson—Good weight.
R. Carnovsky—Proper weight.
J. Northmore—Good weight.

The American Government having secured the title Wakefield Westmoreland Co., Va., the site of the birth place of Washington, a monumental building twenty feet square and 30 feet high will be erected. Congress has appropriated $53,000 for the purpose.

NIPPED IN THE BUD.

Madrid, Aug. 14.—If the Republican movement had not broken out prematurely in Spain it might have been formidable. The intention of its promoters was to have made a pronunciamento during the absence of the King and War Minister in Germany next month. The organization was on the same line as the Russian secret societies, each district forming a distinct circle, whose members did not know each other, but received instructions from a local chief.

DOWN MT. WASHINGTON.

Mt. Washington, N.H., Aug. 13.—Mr. C. E. Heath, of Chicopee, Mass., rode down Mt. Washington from the Summit House to the Glen House on a tricycle. The distance, eight miles, was made in fifty-five minutes. The previous record on a bicycle, over the same road, was one hour and fifteen minutes. The start was made at 6 a.m.
