Office per Orton Date

WEDNESDAY EVENING, AUGUST 21, 1878

O'Donnell, who killed Carey, will sail for England on Sept. 4th.

Mr. Gladstone stated this afternoon in the House of Commons that he regretted the Lords had rejected the Irish Registration Bill. He would introduce a larger measure at next session.

Mr. Collings, British Liberal, has given notice that at the next session he will offer a resolution declaring it desirable to grant a measure of Home Rule to Ireland as the best means of securing permanent peace to the Irish.

The Intelligencer is very solicitous about our company, pities us because we associate with the Ontario, and recommends a dissolution of the political partnership. When we feel that public questions cannot be discussed fairly and respectfully, that we must strike at an opponent like a cowboy, we will cultivate acquaintanceship with the Intelligencer and, of course, cut the Ontario. The time for this change has not, however, yet arrived.

DAVIN IN TROUBLE.

The editor of the Regina Leader is furious. He has been tried and convicted having "illegally had in his possession and imported into the said territories, spirituous liquors, without having a special permission for the same, and contrary to the statutes in such cases made and provided." He had a flask of brandy which he purchased in the east, and had not emptied. He complained that the most that could be done was to confiscate the liquor, but Col. Richardson went further and fined him $30 and costs. The prosecution was conducted by Col. Herchmer and Davin contends that the law has been strained "in order to strike a journalist, and that he has made a bludgeon of vengeance of the North West Act." The editor has been sat upon, because, he says, he has not been persistent and fulsome in his praise of the Mounted Police. He concludes his article by asking for a commission and adds: "We ask to have on the Commission no old North West fogy, but a man who, as a judge, has the confidence of Sir John Macdonald in common with all classes, Grit and Tory, and we undertake to show that men wearing the uniform of the Dominion and seated on the bench have barbered schemes which disgrace the one and defile the other."

CRANK OF THE ARMY.

Last night's meeting of the Salvation Army was the most unfortunate that has been held in the city, and the fact was fully demonstrated that upon the leader the success or failure of this movement largely depends. We cannot be accused of unfriendliness—indeed we have been regarded as unduly influenced in favour of the Army—and, therefore, we cannot be charged with malice when we say that a week's engagement of Capt. Coffin would undo the best part of the work it has taken Capt. Abbie six months to build up. We don't question his conversion. He may be saved, and that very high, but we do doubt the piety of the man who boasts his connection with a circus, whose whole study is to cut comical figures, and whose indiscreet tongue gives expression to the remark that "the Lord is as a button-hole bouquet to wear near his heart."

The pity is that he came to the city to throw the Army into unpopularity. Capt. Abbie and her Lieutenants have done wonders in Kingston. They have reformed hundreds. We have stood by them through thick and thin, blinking at what we did not like and applauding that which merited admiration. Miss Thompson is vivacious, but she is also earnest. What she says is well received because there is something refined about her manner and speech; but Coffin, who is dubbed Smiling Charley because he carries a perpetual grin, descends to the vulgar and is offensive when he thinks he is clever. We repeat that the pity is he came to Kingston and if the barrack scheme is to be a success, if the Army is not to go down, he will remain quiet while here and take his departure without ostentation.

On Monday morning complaint was made to us that the band playing of the Army on Sunday morning had disturbed those in the Churches, especially Chalmers' Church congregation. We declined to criticise the performance then, remarking that if the matter were brought to the notice of Capt. Abbie she would see that they did not incur public censure. Last night Capt. Coffin handled this subject recklessly, declaring that the papers should print the truth. Here is Rev. Mr. McCuaig's statement, given at our reporter's solicitation:

"I was half through my sermon when the sound of drums, etc., was heard by the congregation. The noise became more and more audible until I saw that the attention of the people was gone. I simply paused until the noise ceased and went on without making even an allusion to the disturbance. I did not write the letter to the News about this matter nor do I know who did."

At the tent several parties contradicted Coffin's statement—members of the Sydenham Street Methodist Church said they heard the music—and the general opinion was that the Army was doing wrong in drumming about the city on Sunday evening, and that they erred in fighting public opinion. Capt. Coffin must have seen, by the way the people left the tent, how sadly he blundered in sentiment and action, and we see why the movement in some places is not as it has been in Kingston. We hope Capt. Abbie will have sufficiently recovered from her accident to take command of the corps to-night. If she is confined to the house Lieut. Ryerson should take her place and save a large religious body from disrespect and ridicule.

PITHY PARAGRAPHS.

Forewarned Forehanded.

Paris has not a useless Board of Health to clog her sanitary interests. The city fathers act for themselves. In view of the possibility of cholera the municipal council have voted $100,000 for the erection of wooden buildings in the fortification, to serve as hospitals. Eventually these will be used for patients suffering from other contagious diseases.

Example's Contagion.

At Preston, England, an inquest has been held on the body of John Murphy, brewer, drowned in a foolish imitation of Captain Webb. Deceased made a bet that he could swim across Stone Dolph Ribble, where there is a strong swirl at high tide. He entered the water and soon sank. Then the men got drunk with the money deceased had bet and lost. Such men are living scandals in a civilized country.

A Brave Woman.

Miss Arabella Kenealey, who lately obtained her degree in medicine at the King and Queen's College of Physicians in Ireland, has offered her services at the seat of the cholera in Egypt. Under the social conditions of that country, a woman doctor might be especially useful, as she could extend aid among those of her sex not permitted to see a male doctor. She has volunteered into a service where she will find less opposition from male students than in the class rooms at home.

The Bigoted Swiss.

The long-delayed formal judgment of the Swiss Federal Council shows that Miss Booth, the Salvationist, was expelled because she omitted to conform to an unwritten and unheard of police regulation, made in virtue of no law in particular, but of general right to treat foreign sojourners as they may think fit. Yet according to the treaty of 1865 British subjects living in Switzerland enjoy an equality of rights with Swiss citizens. Miss Booth did not refuse to comply with the demand to produce her books. She said that the officer who had them was temporarily absent, and that she would furnish a full account in a day or two. Then followed the expulsion by a cowardly set of men whom it is a disgrace to an honourable title to call a Council.

LATE CHARLES WALKEM.

The late Charles Walkem, of the Militia Department, who was recently interred in Cataraqui Cemetary, was born in 1806 at Saltash, Cornwall, England. In 1832 he joined the Royal Engineers and was engaged in military surveys in England and Ireland. In 1844 he came with the Engineers to Canada, and was engaged with them till the withdrawal of the troops in 1870. In 1872 Mr. Walkem received an appointment in the store branch of the Militia Department, and was continued therein till his decease, as surveyor and draughtsman.

He had a love of research and much of the early history of Quebec city and citadel and of old Fort Frontenac, Kingston, was cleared up through his investigation. He had a fine military bearing, appearing every inch the British soldier.

THE LEGALITY TESTED.

A few weeks ago the Superintendent of the Welland Canal received orders from Ottawa to lock the steam barge Active and her consorts through the Welland Canal on the following day—Sunday. This was done and informations laid against twelve of the lock-tenders for violation of the Lord's Day Act. The lock-tenders were convicted and fined. Yesterday an order was granted by Justice Osler for the issue of a certiorari to bring up two convictions, and their legality will shortly be tested.

SALE of Villa residence, Nunnington, will take place to-morrow at the Mart at 12 o'clock.

If the Police Commissioners take the trouble to enquire they will find considerable discontent in the police force. What is the cause of it?

What is the sense of notifying people a dozen times to remove nuisances when the law says they can be fined if they do not act 24 hours after being told once about it?

A CATTLE RANCHE.

A Kingstonian Tells of the Cattle Ranches in New Mexico—Old Kingstonians Heard From.

Yesterday afternoon the door of our sanctum was pushed open and a familiar figure popped in. No card was used to introduce him. John Waddingham had just returned from a two years visit to New Mexico. There is no man in Kingston who has travelled as much as John. As a roving printer he has seen more of the world and at less cost than one has conception of. For many months he has been on the road, and though he has repeatedly gone far away has bobbed up serenely in the limestone city. "Come in" was the greeting given the type. He did come in and soon gave an account of his wanderings. He was on the ranche of his brother, Wilson Waddingham, a millionaire and an old Kingstonian.

HE HAS THE BELL RANCHE

situated near Lacinta, New Mexico. This ranche is 33 miles square and contains over 600,000 acres of land, rough and rocky but excellent for grazing purposes. Upon it there are 70,000 head of cattle. The stock is graded and brings the highest figures in the market. The ranche is considered the finest in the world. From 30 to 100 men look after the stock. The cattle are kept until three years old and upward, then sold. No heifers are disposed of. These are kept for breeding. The ranche is 150 miles from the Atcheson, Topeka and Sante Fe Railway. Dos Mical Slattery, an Irishman, is the chief herder. There is another ranche at Fort Bascom in which the Waddinghams are interested. This consists of about 200,000 acres, upon which roam 11,000 head of cattle. Joseph Waddingham, brother of Wilson, is manager of what is known as the "Waddingham Cattle Association." The brand is "three P's," on the side, shoulder and hip of each animal. Joseph Waddingham, who formerly kept the planing mill here, has a store at Fort Bascom, and his son Willam is Postmaster at Lacinta.

A LOST BOY.

John states that shortly after his arrival in Mexico, his cousin, Joseph Waddingham, jr., son of Joseph Waddingham, of Fort Bascom, a la? 16 years of age, went out after supper, threw a blanket and saddle over a horse, jumped upon the animal's back and went for a ride. From that day no trace has been found of him. Days and weeks were consumed in hunting for the lost boy, but yet no clue has been obtained. The grief of the mother has been very great. The lad had between $60 and $70 on his person, and some think he was made away with.

A CATTLE STAMPEDE.

John was once with Mexican and Texas cowboys, who drove 11,000 head of cattle from Trieco to Fort Bascom, a distance of 200 miles. The trip occupied six weeks. The cattle are driven from water to water each day, a distance of about eight or ten miles. The Indians were very annoying, and once caused a stampede. The red men in Mexico are very cowardly. The stampede occurred by their flourishing firebrands and yelling in the night. The least excitement sets the cattle wild, and with extended tails and lowered heads they rush in all directions, sometimes for four or five days, until they become faint from exhaustion and drop on the ground. The Indians chase the animals, kill those they can, cut the meat from their flanks and leave the remainder to decay. The stampede caused a considerable loss to the owners of the cattle, and nearly a week was consumed in collecting some of the cattle again.

KIND-HEARTED FELLOWS.

In answer to the question as to whether cowboys were terrible men John said they were not. They were good-hearted men, extremely kind and affectionate. There was a great difference between a cowboy and a desperado. He tells a story of a cowboy who carried a pistol, and who, though he never used it, always had it near him. He caught small pox and was about to die, when he called his friends, declared that he was an outlaw, and that $1,200 was offered for his body. He had carried the pistol to protect himself. He asked his comrades to deliver his body and get the cash, but they refused, and wrapping his remains in a blanket placed it beneath the sod.

A CHILD GIVES BIRTH TO A SON.

St. Thomas, Aug. 21.—Phoebe Jane Acker, aged 13 years, 4 months and 28 days, an inmate of the Elgin House of Industry, gave birth to a child on Sunday week, weighing eight pounds. Delivery instrumental; child still-born. The surgeon in attendance, Dr. Luton, is of the opinion that the mother will recover, although she has had two convulsions. The alleged father of the child's child is an old man aged 67, now in the county jail awaiting trial on a charge of rape. All the parties come from the township of Bayham, near Corinth.

THE LARD TRADE.

Chicago, Aug. 22.—The McGeoch-Fowler lard case involved lard worth a million and a half. The peculiar fact developed was the worthlessness of the expert testimony. Samples of lard were secretly prepared and given to experts who in their reports pronounced pure samples adulterations and adulterated samples pure. The Board of Trade decided to censure the Fowlers for their loose manner in conducting business but the motion to suspend the Fowlers from the Board was lost.

COMPROMISED LIBEL SUITS.

Chicago, August 22.—The Herald has compromised eight libel suits against it by Sepmann for $130,000, by the payment of $8,000 to local churches.

FOOT AND MOUTH DISEASE.

London, Aug. 22.—The foot and mouth disease appeared among the cattle at Spalding and is spreading.

LATE CABLEGRAMS.

Migration Money Raising—Davitt on the Situation—Expulsion of the British Jews.

London, Aug. 22.—The Times' correspondent at St. Petersburg, referring to the expulsion of the American Jew in accordance with the law forbidding Jews to live in that city, says it is not likely the Russian authorities have been over strict in such cases, in view of reported protests by the British and American Governments. The difficulty is more of an economical than religious one. There is little prospect of the removal of the prohibition. Thousands of Jews who live in St. Petersburg and Moscow either belong to the privileged class or skilfully evade compliance with the law.

A FAMOUS PRELATE DEAD.

London, Aug. 22.—Right Rev. Francis Kerrianberdt, a well-known Catholic prelate, formerly Bishop of Northampton, is dead.

MURDER CONSPIRACY CASES.

A STARTLING DISCOVERY.

London, Aug. 22.—A canister containing white powder which can only be ignited when brought into contact with water has been found at Plymouth. The police believe the contrivance was intended for use by Fenians.

COMING TO AMERICA.

The Irish Bishop who will probably go to America to raise money to supplement the £30,000 set apart by the Tramways Bill for migration purposes in Ireland is Francis J. McCormack, Bishop of the Diocese of Achonry. Two companies have been formed to organize a migration plan.

THREATENING A RANGER.

A painter named Everard was arrested in Dublin to-day on a charge of threatening to shoot Gobaing, the Phœnix Park ranger, who was a witness in the the trials of Cavendish and Burke's murderers.

MICHAEL DAVITT'S PROGNOSTICATION.

Michael Davitt writes: It is probable that, in the event of the Gladstone Government being able to remain in power until next year, a change of the Parliamentary representation of Ireland will be one of the features of the measure of electoral reform which the Liberals stand pledged to introduce next year. The change will consist in reducing the quota of 105 members to 90 or 95. It is equally certain that the extension of household suffrage to county constituencies in Great Britain will apply to Ireland also, in which case the diminution of Irish constituencies would be overbalanced by an increase of national representatives. Under the existing franchise the most that Mr. Parnell expects to do at the general election is to secure seventy seats. This will still leave an anti-national composite party of 38 members from Ireland, which will reduce his actual voting power in the House of Commons to 27.

RHODES' MOVEMENTS.

Buffalo, Aug. 20.—Capt. Rhodes was at the Falls to-day, but did nothing except talk. He did not send his sand bag armour through, but will send a 65-pound dog through to-morrow encased in the apparatus, and will thereupon be arrested for cruelty to animals. The police were looking for him to-night, but as he is registered at several hotels, and has been hovering between the Falls and Suspension Bridge, they did not catch him. An old scow 30 x 120, is being converted into a 65 x 16 ft. boat, to be built nearly like the Maid of the Mist. It will be sent through the rapids with no one aboard, as soon as completed. Capt. Rhodes wants to go, but at a meeting to-night the projectors refused to have anything to do with him. Rhodes told a Globe correspondent that he would make the attempt next Sunday.

FIGHT WITH COWBOYS.

Hunnewell, Kansas, Aug. 22.—There is excitement on account of the attempt of the cowboys to run the town. Five City Marshals, successively appointed, resigned. On Thursday Deputy Marshals Joyth and Paynor arrived. Joyth was sworn in as Marshal. Two hours after he was met by cowboys. A fight ensued. One of the latter, Dick Turner, was fatally shot. On Sunday night the Sheriff with a posse arrested ten of the rioters. The town is now quiet. The cowboys are still ugly.

A DESPERADO LOOSE.

New York, Aug. 22.—On Monday as the Norwegian bark was passing Sandy Hook a sailor named John, who had had difficulty with a sailor named John Oaukon, rushed upon the latter with a weapon, dangerously wounding Oaukon and severely cutting several who interfered. Reaching New York yesterday John broke from confinement, jumped overboard and escaped.

FEARFUL HAIL STORM.

Minneapolis, Aug. 22.—There was a heavy storm West and South yesterday. The wires were down. The report from Kasson says the cyclone blew down many buildings, killing two persons and injuring several. There were hail stones 10 inches in circumference. No particulars. It is feared that great damage has been done.

A BARK SINKING.

HANLAN'S DEFEAT.

Fall River, Aug. 22.—The oarsmen are jubilant over Hanlan's defeat. Rose asserts that Hanlan, finding himself pushed too hard, swamped his own boat.

Testimonial from Capt. Joshua Harper.

SACKVILLE, N. B., Feb. 13, 1877.

J. H. ROBERTS, Esq., St. John, N. B.

Dear Sir,—Early in October last I took a severe cold which settled on my lungs. After having a bad cough for about six weeks I had a very severe attack of bleeding from the lungs while on a passage from Queenstown to Dover. I had daily spells of bleeding for some days until I had about two gallons of blood, and was so weak as to be scarcely able to stand. I put back to Queenstown, where I received such medical assistance as enabled me to get home.

I saw an advertisement of your Phosphorized Cod Liver Oil Emulsion in a paper, I immediately sent and got half a dozen bottles, after taking which I feel myself a well man again. My weight, which was reduced to 120 pounds, is now up to my standard of 152 pounds. Seeing what it has done for me I can confidently recommend it to others afflicted with lung diseases.

Yours very truly,

(Signed) JOSHUA HARPER,

of the barque "Mary Lawrence."
