CITY AND VICINITY.

PROBS.—Northerly winds, clear cloudy weather, with occasional rain during the morning, followed by clearing weather. Frosts probable in some localities on Sunday.

THE SAME MAN.—Mr. Longwith says the Jamieson now held on a charge of arson—firing the Wilber barns on the Cataraqui road—is the same who ignited and caused the destruction of his own buildings ten years ago.

SALE OF FARMS.—The Cook farm, in Lansdowne, for which Messrs. Walkem & Walkem were the plaintiff's solicitors, was sold on Tuesday. One parcel (125 acres) was bought by H. McD. Gray for $3,650, and the other part (75 acres) by Noah H. Peck for $3,600.

NAPANEE & TAMWORTH RR.—Mr. M. J. Butler, the engineer of the Napanee & Tamworth RR. commenced operations on Monday last. The engineer of the Grand Trunk RR. is expected every day to arrange for the connection with that line. As soon as the levels are made Mr. Rowe will push the work rapidly.

POSTPONED.—Just as the special train was about to leave the Kingston & Pembroke station this morning for Bedford station with the Kingston delegation en route to Father Stanton's pic nic, at Brennan's Grove, a telegram announced the postponement. The rain was rather a damper.

METHODIST CHURCH.—The Union Conference in Belleville is progressing. The new name will be "The Methodist Church of Canada." It is proposed that the Montreal Conference include its present territory except the Napanee and Kingston Districts. The districts between Kingston and Bowmanville will probably comprise another Conference.

THE EXHIBITS.—At the Medical Convention, John Wyeth & Bro., of Philadelphia, showed through E. Muir, of their Canadian branch at Montreal, a fine collection of parmaceutical preparations. There were elixirs, fluid extracts, compound syrups, compressed powders and pills and dialysed iron, and also their celebrated preparation of beef iron and wire, which has the recommendation of the leading physicians of the county.

CAPSIZED ON THE ST. LAWRENCE.—Last Sunday, Fen Everett and Fayel Adams, news boys, hired a boat and proceeded to Horn's hotel, directly opposite the Cape. By the time the young men decided to return to the Cape the river was very rough. The current carried them down the river. While exchanging places in the boat it was capsized; they were discovered by parties stopping on Carleton Island. They could not have possibly survived ten minutes longer in the water.

SHOVELLERS' UNION.—The shovellers have formed a Union. John Halligan is President; Perry O'Neil, Vice-President. Mr. Bird is Chairman of the K. & M. Forwarding Co's. gang and Mr. Sharp that of the M. T. Co.'s gang. There are in the union 64 members. The rates fixed are $2.50 on cargoes and 84 on heated grain per 1,000 bushels. The union has a benefit board and for sick members each man gives 20c. a week.

SHARBOT LAKE NOTES.—The O. & Q. RR. tracklayers are within a mile of the village. The place will be reached on Monday.—Thompson & Avery's mill is again in operation. It runs night and day.—The iron bridge across the narrows of the lake is being erected and will be ready for crossing in the course of a week.—Mr. Newman has rebuilt his saw mill at the head of the lake and will begin operations next week.

A VETERAN THIEF.—William Henry alias Oxford alias Tallman escaped from the Central Prison on Tuesday night while assistant the engineer to repair a pump. On Wednesday he was seen on Wilton Avenue, Toronto, peddling books. Warden Massip traced him as far as Norwood. Henry has served several terms in the Central Prison and Kingston Penitentiary. Long ago he made his escape from the cells in Kingston, prior to being placed in the Penitentiary by the late Chief McMenemy, Hamilton, who had him in charge.

ARE THEY APATHETIC?—Last night, at the Salvation Army meeting, Capt. Abbie in her prayer intimated that many of the soldiers were becoming apathetic in regard to the Master's work. They were pleasing self rather than pleasing God. Her prayer was very pathetic. She asked that her soldiers might be more imbued with fire from on high, that instead of running off because it was a little late they would stay and work for God. The Captain is suffering much. Her voice is visibly affected. She says it is now very painful for her to speak or sing.

It is not so visionary as our friend supposes. It is an event of the near future. Will the Express please number a few of Kingston's visionary schemes? It has carried through all that it has projected of late years.

MARINE NEWS.

A petition is being circulated praying the Government to abolish net fishing in our waters from the Three Brothers westward to Conner's Point, County of Prince Edward.

Capt. Rothwell, of the steamer Princess Louise, has been laid up by illness for some time. His son, Wm. Rothwell, late of the Pariton, has charge of the Princess during his father's illness.

Last night we received a telegram asking if the steambarge Norman had arrived in port and answered the enquiry that she had not. We learn that she left on Sept. 3rd for Oswego, with two barges in tow, and that the tug George D. Seymour passed her about 40 miles from her destination. On Wednesday the Captain says she was meeting bad weather. Other vessel men reported that a heavy sea was running, and that the Norman, being very frail, may have gone down. A Captain stated that unless the barge was considerably above Oswego she could not have made port alone, to say nothing of dragging a heavy canal boat behind her. It is thought by others that she may have let the canal boat go and run down the lake.

CANNING OF ALEWIVES.

The billions of shad, or alewives, ought to be utilized, says the Napanee Express, instead of being allowed to become a nuisance. An angler at Napanee says he will take stock in an enterprise having for its object the canning of these small fish. They are superior to imported sardines, and of course in small oil and cannot a profitable market would be opened for them. Many die through the summer, not on account of their not being acclimated to our waters, but because in the absence of proper food they starve and finally come to the surface and are washed ashore. Their food consists of flies, bugs and young minnows, and old fishermen declare that they are depopulating our waters of white fish, owing to their love for the minnows of that variety of fish.

RURAL RESORTS.

A Happy Event at the Mississippi—Honouring a Queen's College Student—Social Concert.

Yesterday (Friday) the Presbyterian people of the Mississippi and surroundings pic-nicked in a beautiful grove at the end of the Snow road. Upwards of 300 persons assembled. Mr. Patterson, of Queen's College, had a fine programme for the entertainment of the intellectual man, while a formidable array of attractions appealed the desires and satisfied the longings of the inner man. Among the intellectual attractions Dr. Finney, as a temperance orator, was the most prominent, while the Rev. Mr. McKay, Mr. Perrin, Mr. Munn, Mr. Patterson and Mr. Connolly with Mr. Galloway, Mr. Driver and a local choir contributed their quota to make the time pass pleasantly. About 7:30 an adjournment was made to Mr. P. McLaren's depot, when, in one of his large storehouses, a grand concert was held. It is due to Mr. Patterson to say that he was chiefly instrumental in bringing the whole affair to the successful issue it attained, as he published it far and wide, and if people were not there it was not because they did not understand where it was to be. The large spacious compartment, cleared for the purpose was filled, many being forced to stand during the evening. Mr. Geo. Dawson, Reeve of Palmerston, was called to the chair, and during the evening made several very witty remarks. The programme was varied and delighted everybody. It is only necessary to mention the following names to vouch for its excellence: Miss S. Burton, Mr. Galloway, Miss A. Galloway, Miss Macdonald, Miss S. McAdams, Miss B. McAdams, Miss S. Gray, Mrs. Galloway, Messrs. Crumley, Driver, Clark, Anglin and O'Shea. The whole affair was a kind of leave taking of Mr. Patterson, who, for the summer, has been doing missionary duty in that section. From some remarks let fall by him, in the course of his address, it is quite evident that his labor in his Master's vineyard has not been in vain, though performed with much fear and trembling. Before the pic-nic closed a large number of persons signed the temperance pledge, we believe enough signatures have been secured to warrant the formation of a temperance society. The proceeds totalled $107, out of which some expenses had to be met. Through the kindness of the Superintendent of the K. & P. RR. the Kingston party were conveyed to and from the pic-nic at a very low rate, and, thanks are due to Mr. Coon, the amiable conductor, for what he did to have the journey pass safely. The train and concert company were photographed. All returned to the city about 11 yesterday morning, delighted with the good time they had and expressing gratitude to all concerned. A vote of thanks, as hearty as it was unanimous, was passed to those from the city for their excellent programme.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Rev. R. J. Moore, of St. Catharines, will preach in St. George's Cathedral to-morrow evening.

The Rev. K. L. Jones, B.D., Rector of Arnprior, will preach in St. Paul's Church to-morrow at the evening service.

On Wednesday E. Campbell, of Gananoque, married Miss Emma Allen. Miss Nicholson, of Kingston, was a bridesmaid.

E. M. Joslin, of Saginaw City, of the firm of Wood & Joslin, Solicitors in Chancery, and wife are at the Burnett House.

S. C. Wilson, of Big City, who passed through the city yesterday, worked at the case, in the Sun office, Picton, 45 years ago.

J. B. Ashley, late editor of the Belleville Ontario, passed down the river this morning. He returns and will remain until Monday in the city.

Lieut. Sears, a graduate of the Royal Military College, attached to a militia regiment at Malta and a hero of Tel-el-Kebir, visits his brother here.

Mr. A. H. Roe, M.P.P. for Lennox, and respondent in the Lennox election case, has been in consultation with Mr. Hector Cameron, Q.C. He is uneasy in regard to his trial on Monday.

Mr. Gerald Meagher, of Kingston, is to attend the pic-nic at Picton. It is whispered around town that he is going to carry off a memento of his visit.

A HARVEST HOME FESTIVAL.

Yesterday the harvest home in connection with Zion Church, Pittsburg, was held, and it proved an exceedingly attractive and successful event. There were about 200 people present and they had a most enjoyable time. Rev. Mr. Riland, successor of the Rev. Mr. Awde, and pastor of the church presided, of course, and make some very felicitous remarks. The tables were spread beneath the long shed adjoining the church, and they were laden with all the good things which the caterers could think of. The dinner was served at 2 o'clock, and after in the company adjourned to the church, in which addresses were made by the pastor, and Rev. Mr. Buchanan, Mr. R. Trotter, sr., a member of the Salvation Army (Mr. Thompson) and Capt. Abbie. The little woman made a capital speech, touching, earnest and eloquent, and deeply moved the people. All praised her manner and hoped she would have success in her work. She was offered a purse of money, but we are not aware that she accepted it. The harvest home must have netted the managers $75.

POLICE COURT.—Peter Hanson, drunk, asked for fifteen minutes in which to leave the city. He was fined $1 and costs. Peter Collins, fighting on the street, was remanded until Monday. Joseph Meade, who was held for the larceny of a coat and who occupied a cell in the county gaol, was allowed to go, on promising to appear when wanted.

BUILDING AN ELEVATOR.—The Napanee people say that that town will not be a way station on the N., T. & Q. RR., as the new Company are noised to build the line to the river and erect a $30,000 elevator.

FRATERNIZING FATHERS.

POSTPONING A FELLOW FEELING—SHIRING FARMENTATIONS FROWING FREELY—FUN AND FROLIC.

The First Delinquency in the Drying Fun—Fined For Forbidding Orders—Frankly Forgiven—Festive Father Fraternally Fleeing—Fined Four Times—Fines to be Faithfully Fulfilled.

"Ald. J. Wilson requests the pleasure of Mr. ———'s company at an excursion on the steam yacht Swan on Friday, 7th Sept., at 1:30 o'clock sharp, from Swift's dock."

The above was the form of an invitation laid on a desk in the Wigwam some a few days ago, and the person addressed decided to do Ald. Wilson honor. Though the weather looked threatening our representative made for the place of embarking, and half an hour later the sang little yacht started on her adventurous trip. The following at the roll call were found on deck: Commodore Wilson, Mayor Livingston, City Clerk Flanagan, Alds. Allen, W. Wilson, Creeggan, Smythe, Shaw, Downing, Law, Quigley, Redden, Ex-Mayor McKelvey, Police Magistrate Duff, G. M. Wilkinson, A. Lanigan, J. A. Macdonald and J. G. Kilbett. Previous to starting the steam yacht "Marquis of Lorne" moved from her moorings, but near Fort Frederick she was seen to stop and the steam to blow off. Excitement seemed to reign on board. As the Swan got under way she was signalled, and after describing a circle the disabled craft was reached. It was found that a portion of the internal economy of the engine had gone wrong, and there was no hope of the boat proceeding without repairs. A tow line was passed to the Swan and the Marquis taken to her wharf. During the trip back to port a discussion ensued in regard to the bearing of the marine laws, and it was unanimously agreed that the Swan was entitled to half the value of the vessel and cargo as salvage. The Aldermen, however, did not insist on the transference of the halves to the Swan. Another time would suit them for the change.

AGAIN A START WAS MADE, and soon the fast sailing yacht was speeding down the river with a good helmsman in the person of Mr. Wilkinson. As Whisker Island hove in sight there was a halt. The Commodore informed his party that the boat always stopped at this point, and for a reason which was soon explained. Filling their glasses with ginger ale and something not so weak the party drank their first toast, "a safe voyage." Then the pasteboards were produced, and the company, in sets of four, turned up trumps but not for hearts. The games rattled away, keeping time with the speed of the vessel, and as each contest was ended the victors set up a shout that made the animals which grazed upon the Pittsburg shore start with affright. At this stage it might be opportune to remark that the smallness of the company was due to the state of the weather, and also to the fact that certain Fathers, who would have delighted to be present, were detained by business engagements. Grog Island now appeared, and the race for it was of short duration. Again the craft, as if by instinct, slackened speed, and finally the propeller ceased to revolve. The engineer greased the machinery while the company "smiled" at the vessel's conduct, at each other's little peculiarities, and at "Stonewall's" jokes. He was the lion of the day, and all wished him long life and much prosperity. Just an hour and forty minutes after leaving Kingston the wharf at Gananoque was reached and the party disembarked. The Commodore allowed 30 minutes for rest and exploration. The little Birmingham was explored, and fully 40 minutes were consumed before the City Fathers and their friends returned to the ship. At 3.30 o'clock

THE RETURN TRIP WAS MADE,

and with it the movement. In the trip down the river the ice had been broken and all were in a jovial mood. The yacht had hardly left her moorings when the Commodore entered the cabin, with solemn mein, and to the very great astonishment of the passengers, charged Mayor Livingston with a serious offence. He felt sure the City Clerk would reluctantly read the complaint.

Mr. Flanagan, with that placidity of countenance which has been his characteristic for forty years, exclaimed, "Oh, what change!" With cries and laughter he was upbraided for his innocence.

Ald. Smythe substantiated the Commodore's statement and remarked that he had heard the charge preferred before his House, and the City Clerk had been instructed to read it. The information being sworn to,

Ald. Creeggan arose, and, during an appalling stillness, reported the charge. He said that as they were on the high seas it was their duty to be guided by the Commodore's commands. Orders had been made to return in twenty minutes and the Mayor had not done so. He was guilty of insubordination. While in Gananoque he had deliberately baited a party and taken them into a public house. The party protested, but the protest was waived and the demand renewed. By his act the officers of the craft had been delayed.

Ald. Smythe, counsel for the defence, said he had been authorized to state that His Worship pleaded "guilty."

This intimation was received with cheers, when the Mayor arose and declared that he did no such thing. He went into an exposition of the case, but was called to order. Finally, in deference to his counsel, he pleaded "guilty under extenuating circumstances."

Ald. Allen was appointed to officiate as Judge, and from the crowd a jury was polled. This jury retired, and after a few minutes' deliberation, returned a verdict of guilty. Though the Mayor had done wrong, yet, the jury thought, having paid for this "smile," he should be leniently treated. The decision was—that he blow a steamer and invite the Council, the ex-Mayors and ex-Aldermen to join him in a trip within a month, or be fined $1,000.

With great dignity Ald. Allen arose, drawn a cocked hat made of paper, and remarked: "It becomes my painful duty to pass sentence upon you. You have transgressed grievously, but owing to your previous good character the jury have dealt leniently with you." The sentence was pronounced and the Mayor authorized to fulfil it or in default to pay the fine.

The Mayor moved for a new trial and Ald. Downing went his security.

ALD. SHAW ON THE RACK.

The first charge had hardly been completed when Ald. Quigley entered a complaint against Ald. Shaw, viz., that of "ogling and winking at a Gananoque girl." The culprit was arraigned and offered his defence. The jury retired and returned a verdict of "guilty," but owing to Ald. Shaw's extreme youth and inexperience he was only fined four bottles of champagne. Ald. Allen, in summoning the offender, said he had narrowly escaped—that there was further evidence he couldn't have heard. Ald. Shaw had been seen to "finger-nugger" with a married woman. A thrill of horror passed through the company. Supper was then served, washed down with "claret cups" and other stimulants. Cigars, too, were lit and enjoyed. The boat during all this time was rapidly approaching the city. She fairly flew through the billowy waves.

Toasts were now in order and the first was to Commodore Wilson, a bumper. Both the Mayor and Ald. Allen made flattering remarks, and after a song the Commodore replied, in deeply affected tones.

Then Mr. Wilkinson was accorded a few compliments. Both Ald. Allen and ex-Mayor Livingston testified to his honesty and uprightness.

The Mayor and Police Magistrate were next honoured.

By this time Kingston was reached and the day's outing at an end. The opinion was generally expressed that such trips were productive of much good feeling. As Ald. Allen said "Such trips take the fire edge from the remarks we must towards each other. We are not Greeks and Trojans here, but jolly good fellows. It is wonderful how good we are, and what surprises me most is the way these two newspaper chaps sing together to-night. They entertain no animosity towards each other apparently."

Ald. Wilson having inaugurated a new scheme for Aldermanic enjoyment it is presumed others will follow suit, to be capped by one from Mayor Livingston.
