LOSS OF THE ELGIN.

Bringing to Memory a Terrible Disaster on Lake Michigan—Sermons being the Anniversary.

Twenty-three years ago Saturday occurred the week of the Lady Elgin, a disaster still remembered with a sorrowing eyes who lost near and dear relatives in the hungry waters of Lake Michigan. The Lady Elgin was one of the finest passenger boats of the lower lakes, plying between Chicago and Buffalo. She was fitted up in a gorgeous manner, as was the custom in those days, before the railroads had monopolized the travel. The fine steamer was chartered in Milwaukee by the Montgomery Guards, a crack Irish militia company, for an excursion to Chicago and return. There was about 400 people on board, a large proportion being women and children. The trip to Chicago was made without accident or incident except of a pleasant nature. Upon the return trip, when about five miles off Point Wisinsin, and shortly after midnight, the steamer collided with the Augusta, a sailing vessel. The damage to the steamer was not appreciated by the Augusta, and she left upon her course.

The Lady Elgin was badly damaged, as it as the water rushed into the doomed craft a scene of confusion and heart-rending panic occurred. Some brave passengers, together with the Captain, Jack Wilson, worked manfully to improvise rafts and extend aid to the terror-stricken and shrieking passengers. The boats were soon loaded, and some of them capsized. The steamer went down in the blue waters, carrying with her many who were too terror-stricken to move, and paralyzed with fear met their death, without a struggle. The water was filled with shrieking, struggling, and drowning men, women and children. In the meantime the signals of distress had been seen and heard upon the shore, and good service was done in the work of rescue by small boats, the college students from Evanston especially making heroic exertions in the work of saving life. The lost number 297, among whom were Captain Jack Wilson and many prominent citizens of Milwaukee. It has been the custom in Milwaukee ever since the dread occurrence to hold a memorial service in St. John's Cathedral, to which congregation a large number of the victims belonged. The Augusta, the cause of the disaster, still sails the lakes under another name.

THE BARLEY REPORT.

Robert H. Lawder, of Whitby, who recently made a tour of the middle and western states, has addressed the trade, giving the result of his observations.

1. The barley crop of 1882 on this continent was sufficient to meet all the requirements of the beer trade during the past season, in addition to which it furnished several million bushels for feeding purposes, and the close of the year 1882-83 shows an unused surplus in the shape of old barley, malt and beer, which may be safely estimated at equal to 3 to 10 million bushels barley more than at the close of the season 1882-83.

2. Maltsters generally, both east and west, will not require to open their houses at so early a date as last year.

3. Without any dependence upon or assistance from old stock, the crop of barley this year is much larger than is required for malting purposes.

4. Owing to the large crop and low prices of oats, and with a good prospect of an immense corn crop, there will not be found a profitable opening for the use of barley for feeding purposes.

5. From all the above causes combined, maltsters and brewers can safely play a waiting game during the coming campaign.

6. The utmost caution should be exercised by buyers in order that their purchases should be such as to enable them to meet freely a declining market.

TORONTO'S SENSATION.

Considerable consternation was caused in Toronto by the elopement of Mr. Bedford, a retired wealthy Englishman, with a daughter of Robert Spratt. Bedford married a highly accomplished lady of Buffalo, a good vocalist and of great personal beauty. The two families were thrown together very much, and Bedford showed great attachment for Miss Spratt. Last Thursday they left and the injured wife has gone to Buffalo to her relatives. The Spratt family, socially, stand very high here, other daughters having married well.

It is very instructive to witness the astonishing effects of nature's medicine, vegetable electricity. When science goes hand-in-hand with the physician most wonderful results manifested. Rheumatism of many years standing leap for joy and throw away their crutches; neuralgia, the bane of many a happy home, flies like smoke before the wind; nervousness, of every kind, debility of the worst description, the hydra-headed monster that fills many of our graves, is immediately relieved and permanently cured by the help of this scientific discovery—Norman's Electric Belts, Bands, and Insoles. Mr. Norman has patented his belts, till now they are queen of the whole list of known remedial agents. W. J. Wilson, "The Pharmacy," 185 Princess Street, is agent in Kingston; he will be pleased to show testimonials from several in the city and vicinity to those who wish further proof of their efficacy.

The Most frightful scourge of humanity is Bright's Disease of the Kidneys, commencing with a little pain in the back, it harries the sufferer to a premature grave. Dr. Van Buren's Kidney Cure is the only known remedy that prevents the fatal result. Take it in time.

If you are broken down in constitution and wasting away by sickness, dissipation, too great mental tension, or suffer from any chronic disease, do not abandon hope until you have tried Burdock Blood Bitters. What it is doing daily towards restoring others, it might do for you.

"Leaves have their time to fall," says the poet, but Wild Strawberry leaves are the best poet now, being utilized in such enumerous cases that we are sending Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry—the infallible remedy for Cholera Morbus, diarrhoea and other Summer Complaints.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

A SALVATIONIST'S ADVICE.

The Editor, British Whig.

DEAR SIR,—"Observer" would make the public believe that he is the only sensible man that has expressed his views on the subject of the Salvation Army. For my part I think it matters little about "Observer's" opinions, and of all those critics would just study their bible more they would find less fault with their neighbors. They would find enough in their own evil hearts without finding fault with their neighbours. Let him that is without sin cast the first stone.

No sensible man would find fault with the Army if they knew the vast amount of good they have been instrumental in doing. If all the Christian people, ministers as well as members, had the salvation of souls at heart, as has Dr. Wilson, there would be less fault finding with the Salvationists. If each one of these fault finders will utter the Publican's prayer sincerely their thoughts will then be the salvation of souls, which would be more in accordance with the teachings of the bible. To my knowledge scores of miserable homes have been turned into happy ones.

When I do not like the doings of the Salvation Army I will stay away and say nothing about them, least I may make one of those Ministers to stumble, shall then wait in his work, "According to your faith be it unto you." Let us ask God to enable us to overcome that awful sin of fault finding, and to enable us to ask in faith that He will show the Army what is sinful.—Yours.

Sept. 11. A SINNER SAVED.

FORGED SIGNATURES.

The Editor, British Whig.

SIR,—A few years ago a sensing attack on the Military College appeared in the Toronto Mail in the form of two letters purporting to be written by Lord Lagden. It caused astonishment at the time that an English nobleman should be going of writing a colonial institution, and it further appeared strange that his lordship should have been travelling in the country and studying our ways without the fact being known. It subsequently transpired that the signature "Dagden" was a forgery, the real writer being not Lord Lagden, but an individual of comparatively humble station in life. And now the same signature appears again to a letter in your issue of yesterday. Is Lord Lagden really amongst us this time?

THE NORTHERN PACIFIC RR.

The formal opening of the Northern Pacific Railroad took place on Saturday. This road has had a somewhat eventful history. A charter was issued in 1864, and land grants to the amount of 47,000,000 acres made. Jay Cooke & Co., who here the weight of constructing the road, went down in the commercial panic of 1873. Henry Villard, a German, got control of the road in 1880, and is now one of the railroad kings. Since 1880 all but 388 miles of the road has been constructed. The entire length of the through line is 1,800 miles from Duluth, at the western end of Lake Superior, and St. Paul, Minn., to Puget Sound, in Washington Territory. This road now has over 4,300 miles of main track and branches, extending from St. Paul and Superior City to the Columbia river at the mouth of the Snake, where junction is made with the allied Oregon Railway and Navigation Company's lines to Portland. Other branches are in course of construction, and others still projected in Dakota, Montana, Washington and Oregon. The "Villard system," altogether, as now laid out, includes probably 3,000 to 6,000 miles of transportation routes. The Northern Pacific has stock obligations of about $65,000 and bond obligations of $35,000 per mile, or $100,000 per mile in all, as against $130,000 on the Union Pacific and $120,000 on the Central Pacific.
