Removing a Tumor.

On Thursday, the 20th inst., Drs. Day and Dupuis removed a tumor weighing about eighteen ounces from the breast of a lady living in the vicinity of Sydenham. The lady shows every indication of recovering completely, doing nicely at present. Had the tumor not been removed it certainly would have terminated fatally.

Will Run the Str. Norseman There.

At Weller's Bay the Messrs. McMullen are grading their land, opening up streets, erecting machine shops and a round house which will hold eight locomotives. They are putting in docks and dredging the Bay. At the wharf there is a depth of 17 feet of water. C. F. Gildersleeve has informed Mr. McMullen that when the docks are finished he will run the str. Norseman into the Bay.

The Grain Market.

A dealer in grain informed us this morning that there was no demand for grain, and that no prices had yet been established. The condition of the market is uncertain, and no one knows what a day may bring forth. The Richardsons have put a conveyor into their new warehouse, connecting the building with the railway track. With its use a car can be unloaded of grain in fifteen minutes.

A Bad Liquor Conviction.

Judgment was delivered yesterday by Chief Justice Wilson quashing a conviction recently made against one McDonald of the Township of Hallowell, under a Provincial Act, for selling liquor without a license. The learned Judge held that the Scott Act (a Dominion Act) was in force in that township, and consequently, under the Queen v. Pettie and other cases, no Ontario legislation could apply.

Court of Chancery.

The autumn session of the Court of Chancery opened this morning; Judge Proudfoot on the bench. The only case called was that of Sweeney v. Buckley, a Prescott dispute. The pleadings were about to be read when counsel said the case could be settled and Judge Proudfoot gave the parties an hour and a half to reach a decision. The Court then adjourned. Judge Proudfoot and J. F. Parkes, his stenographer, left for Toronto this afternoon.

Death of Mrs. Gardo.

Yesterday morning Mrs. Gardo, who lives in Maple Row, Barrie Street, attended the market and made some purchases. During the afternoon she became ill, being attacked with smothering spasms. She sent for friends, feeling that death was approaching, and at six o'clock she passed away, aged 61 years. Mrs. Gardo was a sister of the late Patrick Conroy. She leaves a large family, but most of the children are grown up. In their bereavement they are deeply sympathized with.

The Difficulty Settled.

The difficulty between Messrs. Cousineau, Tierney et al and Flint, of Belleville, occurring in regard to a land purchased at Mountain City during the boom in Manitoba, has been settled. The plaintiff sought a compromise and rather than fight the case out an arrangement was effected by which Flint returns all cash and cheques with the exception of $75. Both parties will pay their own costs. The case had been adjourned three or four times, once tried by a jury and a verdict given for defendants.

Harrowsmith Jottings.

The Portland Fair, for the sale and barter of cattle, will be held on Thursday, the 4th Oct.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Jessie Shibley, of Sharbot Lake, took place here on Monday. Rev. Mr Smith, Presbyterian minister, Centreville, assisted by Messrs. Patterson and Ferrie, students of Queen's College, performed the religious services. The reverend gentleman preached a very able sermon, which was listened to very attentively throughout. The church was filled with relatives and friends of the deceased.

There was no service in the Canada Methodist Church here on Sunday, as Rev. Mr. Puch attended the services at the camp ground.

Dr. Smith, Surgeon 47th Batt., arrived home on Saturday evening, looking well after his sojourn in camp. He says some of the camp scenes reminded him of those witnessed by him during the late American war.

The Result Did It.

At the Salvation meeting in Victoria Barracks last evening, Capt. Abbie said that early in the morning, when told of the downfall of the tent, she thought the devil was at work. "When I picked up the paper (the Whig) to-night," she said, "I saw a little item saying that it would be opportune for me to declare that the devil got into the wind and tore my tent. Well, I will say so." She added that if the weather became fair again the tent would be repaired and mended, but if cool nights were in order the tent would be stowed away until next season. On Thursday night the Salvation Jubilee occurs and the proceeds will go towards paying the debt on the tabernacle. The "Salvation Race" appears on Friday night.

FLOGGING THE CHILDREN.

THE SWAN CASE THE SUBJECT OF AN EVENING DISCUSSION—HIGH FUNS AND FEW RESULTS.

Corporal Punishment in the Schools are Claimed to be Necessary—Sympathy Divided Between the Punished Youth and the Suspended Teacher—Further Inquiry to be Made—More Talk About the Strap Than About the Stripes.

A special meeting of the Board of Education was held last evening, called on requisition to hear the report of the Board of School Management Committee on the Grosvenor Swan difficulty. There were present the Chairman and Messrs. Allen, Anglin, Drennan, Dunlop, Harvey, Irving, Polson, Robinson, Rogers, Savage, Shaw.

The report submitted by Mr. N. C. Polson) said the Committee had heard the evidence of the parties interested, and they had suspended Miss Grevens until the 28th pending the action of the Board.

Mr. Polson commented upon the difficulty of getting at the facts and adjusting the difficulty. Of Miss Grevens, an efficient teacher, against whom no previous complaint had been made, he had to say that he did not think it was intended to punish so severely as she appeared to have done. But the strap was produced, and the Board could see that it was largely responsible for the character of the punishment. Friends of Miss Grevens said that the punishment had been received prior to the whipping in the school and Mr. Grevens had called upon him and requested that action be deferred until further evidence could be furnished. Miss Grevens, however, had been suspended, and it was for the Board to accept or reject the finding of the Committee. That Committee had acted upon the evidence adduced, but upon more searching, and its continuance was inevitable.

MAKING A PERTINENT INQUIRY.

Mr. Irving—Have you exhausted the enquiry? Have you got all the testimony bearing upon the case?

Mr. Polson said all the evidence had been heard up to the time of the Committee meeting. It was not intended to imply that the boy had not deserved punishment—he had merited whipping—but to indicate whether that punishment had been excessive or not. The feeling in the city was that one result of this case would be the relaxation of discipline in the schools. Discipline should be maintained, but the Board should insist that it be restricted to the means and limits acceptable to the parents generally. Mr. Swan was accused of beating his child on the night before the difficulty, but the evidence was more heresay and the Committee could not act upon it.

The Chairman—Was that evidence offered to the Committee?

Mr. Polson—A statement was made to that effect.

Mr. Rogers—Did you ask for it?

Mr. Drennan—Mrs. Swan denied the statement on Monday morning.

The Chairman—The teacher contended that the injuries exhibited could not follow the punishment she inflicted, but when the strap was laid before the Committee it was quite evident that it could produce the marks visible even yesterday morning on the back of the boy.

FAVOURING THE TEACHER.

Mr. Irving said he was sorry that the report was not fuller, that the Committee had no recommendations to offer. He felt that when anything came between the teacher and the pupil the former should be supported by the Board. It was quite possible to govern a school without a resort to corporal punishment, but it was essential that there should be thorough subordination in the schools, that the teacher should have full power over the pupil. The Board should not, as in the present case, take sides, particularly when that partiality had a tendency to lessen the control which the teacher should have. Miss Grevens, he thought, should be reinstated with the caution that severe measures should not be used when a milder course would have the desired effect.

Mr. Shaw regarded the report somewhat as Mr. Irving did—he was surprised that it contained no evidence for the Board's guidance, no recommendation which could be acted upon. It appeared that a certain child had been beaten with a certain kind of strap in the hands of Miss Grevens. What was the purpose of it? Was it ornamental or was it intended to be employed in preserving the discipline of the school? To show it was not to convince the Board that Miss Grevens had exceeded her authority. The Committee had not supplied such a report as would warrant intelligent action. Mr. Grevens said he was prepared by neighbors of Swan to prove that they heard the child shouting as if being severely beaten on the night previous to the school difficulty. That information was not laid before the Committee because received subsequent to the sitting of the Committee. He moved, seconded by Mr. Dunlop, that the matter be referred back to the Committee to consider and report as early as possible.

Mr. Drennan said he saw the marks upon the child, and the Inspector had seen them one hour after the whipping. The Committee had acted on the representations allowed. They suspended; they could not expel. The duties of the Committee was to see Miss Grevens reinstated.

Mr. Irving—A recommendation to that effect should be in the report.

Mr. Polson, answering Mr. Shaw, said the Committee had followed the usual course in such cases. It would be ridiculous to suspend a teacher, to say she deserved punishment, and couple with it a recommendation that she be reinstated. Ample time had been given Mr. Grevens to present such additional evidence as he pleased.

ATTEMPT GROSSLY TO MISREPRESENT.

Mr. Rogers did not think there had been an opportunity given for the submission of evidence discovered less than 24 hours before. He did not think the teacher was altogether to blame for having the strap, and yet she had suffered more than the boy. The lad had only been punished outwardly, but Miss Grevens has been cruelly treated in having her name circulated over the Dominion. The affair had received too much publicity. When he was a boy every touch of the master's strap was not made the subject of newspaper talk. But, as for the strap, what was the purpose for which it was given to her? The Trustees were to blame as much as she was because they provided the instrument. The Board is supposed to supply the strap; had the Inspector and Chairman of the School seen it? If not where, had it been all this time?

Mr. Anglin—The same kinds of straps are in all the schools?

Mr. Drennan—Except in Gordon St. School where there is a three inch stick. (Laughter.)

The Chairman—Should the pupils not be beaten on the hands?

The Inspector—A teacher is not supposed to beat on the body. The rules say that a child must not be tortured; there must not be punishment to interfere with the laws of health.

Mr. Rogers.—Have you heard of pupils being beaten upon the body?

The Inspector—Not lately.

Mr. Rogers agreed that the boy should not be beaten as he appeared to have been, but when a teacher had but the one strap what was she to do? He was informed that the boy would not hold out his hand, and that he threatened the teacher with all sorts of things if punished.

The Chairman—She should have reported to the Principal of the school.

Mr. Rogers—Is a teacher to waive all personal authority?

READING THE RULES.

A member passed to Mr. Rogers the rule bearing on the case, and he read it as follows: "The teachers are required to practice such discipline in the schools as would be exercised by a kind and judicious parent, and shall avoid corporal punishment in all cases where good order can be preserved by milder measures. The teacher will be held responsible for the due exercise of his discretionary power." Mr. Rogers said the responsibility was certainly placed upon the teacher in this case, but it would have been a gracious act on the part of the Committee to have recommended Miss Grevens reinstatement. Corporal punishment cannot be dispensed with. Moral suasion was not always effective.

The question having been raised, Are the schools suffering for lack of discipline in consequence of this case? the Chairman looked to the Inspector for an answer.

Mr. Kidd said he had not noticed any insubordination and he had been in three of the schools that day. He had more faith in the government of the schools than to believe in anything of the kind. In some departments the strap could be withdrawn without bad effect.

Mr. Shaw—Will you withdraw the straps then? Have you the power?

Mr. Kidd said he would not remove the straps. The straps and his power were provided by Act of Parliament.

The Chairman said that if the matter were referred back to the Committee greater justice could be done Miss Grevens, in whose behalf additional evidence could be submitted.

WORK OF THE EVENING OFF HAND.

Mr. Shaw said can Mrs. Patterson was ready to give evidence that the Swan boy was beaten the night before Miss Grevens whipped him.

Mr. Savage saw the wounds on the boy's back on Saturday night, and was satisfied that they had been inflicted by the strap. Mr. Swan was willing to make an affidavit that he had not beaten the boy in six months.

Mr. Dunlop was not in favour of severe punishment but he believed in discipline, and without corporal punishment there would be no discipline. There were some boys who could not be controlled without whipping, and it was resorted to rather than expel them and put them upon the street.

Mr. Polson, was not anxious to have the matter referred back to the Committee of which he was Chairman. It might be sent to a special committee of which Mr. Shaw was a member and evidence got not attainable by others.

Mr. Shaw was glad that Mr. Polson had discovered his own standing, and that he admitted the fact that others might perform his duties more satisfactory. If he were a member of an investigating committee he would not shirk his responsibility, he would not shuffle out of service as Mr. Polson had done, he would not act in a perfunctory manner.

Mr. Drennan—Were you at the Mayor's dinner yesterday?

Mr. Shaw—No, sir; they knew that I was temperate.

Mr. Shaw's motion was now put, amended by the addition of a line to the effect that Miss Grevens be reinstated while the enquiry is being continued. The vote stood:

Yeas—Messrs. Allen, Anglin, Dunlop, Harvey, Shaw, Waldron—6.

Nays—Messrs. Drennan, Irving, Polson, Robinson, Rogers, Savage—6.

The Chairman voted yea a second time, the casting vote, and the motion was carried.

NIGHT CLASSES STOPPED.

Mr. McKay was granted the use of two rooms in the Model School for night classes in commercial subjects.

THE STRAP AGAIN.

Mr. Rogers wanted to know if something could not be done about the straps.

The Inspector said he was collecting such as were objectionable, and in answer to an enquiry said that the law did not describe any particular kind of strap for use in the schools. The straps in use were picked up wherever they could be got.

Mr. Harvey said the straps were abolished in the British Army, and if soldiers could be ruled without flogging surely teacher children were not unmanageable under mild treatment.

After explanations by Mr. Waldron, reported elsewhere, the Board adjourned.

Found at Last.

Information comes from Sharbot Lake that Harris, reported searched at Chatham by two deserters from "B" Battery, is now working on the O. & K. RR. and is in good health. He had little idea that his action removed from the camp near Chatham had caused such a good commotion.

MARINE NEWS

Returns Coming in of Disasters—The Schooner Norway Dismasted—A Lively Gale.

The schr. Seabird is still aground on Navy Bay.

The schr. White Oak is discharging coal at Toronto.

The canal survey is going on between Morton and Gananoque.

The Meteorological Office has ordered up the cautionary storm signal No. 1.

The canal boat Nelse Stone has been sold to James McDonald, the former owner of the Pride of America.

The schooner Nevada arrived at Cape Vincent last night. Her sails and bulwark were carried away in Monday night's gale.

R. J. Elliock, who purchased the steam barge Clinton's damaged cargo, and sold it at Oswego, made a good stamp out of it.

The yacht Tourist left Oswego yesterday afternoon for Pultney ville. In running back they missed the piers and went on the beach east of the life-saving station. Crew safe.

The schr. Wm. H. Vanderbilt, from Escanaba to Buffalo, loaded with iron ore, sank off Long Point about 2 o'clock yesterday morning during a heavy gale. All hands were saved.

The schooners Norway and Hercules went ashore yesterday morning east of the piers at Port Colborne. The Hercules with lumber. The crew got ashore all safe.

The spars had been taken out of the wreck of the Foster at Oswego. She has been lying where she struck since last fall. Some time during Monday night the hull lightened and floated off down the lake.

The contractors for the Murray Canal have got the timber cleared so that one can see from one end of the route to the other. They have two steam cranes in use, and at one end a steam dredge. The main part of the earthwork is now at water level.

The Arthabaska, the first of the C. P. R. steamships, has arrived in Montreal after a run of 20 days from Glasgow. She will be cut in two for passage through the upper canals, two bulkheads being built just at the point where the cut will be made, and all that is necessary is to remove the heads of the rivets.

ACCIDENT TO THE SCHR. NORWAY.

The schr. Norway during the storm of Monday night was dismasted at Port Colborne. She is laden with pine timber, and a vessel will be sent from Kingston to secure her cargo. This vessel has had four accidents since she was launched. A few years ago she rolled over and was dismasted in Lake Huron while under the command of Capt. Malone. Then she went ashore on Point au Pelee reef, Lake Erie. Two years ago, off Prince Edward coast, she was wrecked and her entire crew drowned. She is a very unfortunate craft.

A VESSEL GONE ASHORE.

Capt. Bruce, of the schr. Tyro, arrived this morning and announced that her vessel had been wrecked on Amherst Island. She was from Milwaukee, bound to Kingston, and carried 22,500 bushels of wheat. On Monday night the storm struck and drove the vessel towards the Island. On Tuesday, about 3 o'clock, during a violent blow and downpour of rain the craft went ashore. She is greatly damaged and her hold is full of water. She is reported to be twisted out of shape and to have had "her back broken," to quote a nautical term. She is owned by Byler Bros., of Milwaukee, and is insured; so is the grain. The captain and "mate" had to remain aboard from 8 a.m. until 11 a.m. Kingston was reached by way of Deseronto.

Pushing the Line Through.

W. B. Mills, of Arden, reports that work on the Ontario & Quebec RR. is progressing rapidly. The construction train is expected in Arden in a few weeks. The rails are now laid to within six miles of the village from the east, and in its vicinity there are about 200 men at work. There are several sink holes on the line that seem almost unfathomable. The quantity of material that has been already placed in them is enormous. Most of these sink holes fringe a shelving rock and a good foundation cannot be secured. As soon as the hole is filled up the gravel, brush, timber, etc., slip off, leaving a depression. It is expected that the line from Sharbot Lake to Peterboro will be open in a few months.

APOLOGY.

WE OWE THE PUBLIC an apology on account of the dirty, dusty and disarranged condition of our Store during the past few weeks, caused by plasterers, carpenters and painters in the enlargement and improvement of our premises and also because our Stock has been run down and poorly assorted, as we did not deem it wise to receive new goods in the dusty condition of things.

TO KEEP PACE with our requirements and accommodate our largely increasing trade we have to extend our premises, and have now one of the neatest and most convenient stores in the city of Kingston.

OVER FIFTY CASES of new fall stock to hand

HAINES & LOCKETT.
CITY BOOT STORE.

WE HAVE CONFIDENCE in stating that we are in the position to offer prices and a variety which cannot be obtained elsewhere. Facts are stubborn things—statements amount to nothing. Call and be the judge.

TERMS CASH. Goods marked in plain figures.

We are the largest retail dealers in Boots, Shoes Trunks, Bags and Travelling goods in Canada, buying and selling for cash, with leading establishments at
