Where is the Youth?

Since Saturday no trace has been had of William Whitehead, a carter, who left his home on Centre street. When last seen he was quite inebriated. Some people think he has been drowned. He was reckless while in his cups, frequently appeared before the police court, and lately was fined $10 and costs.

A Minister Injured.

Rev. J. M. Hagar, of Montreal, formerly of Kingston, is again quite ill. He visited his mother near Welland and in taking a box of fruit on board the str. Persia injured his back so seriously as to be compelled to forego his trip. He was removed to the residence of James Gilleland, St. Catharines, where he had a physician in attendance.

An Increasing Army.

The Saved Army is doing a great work in Napanee. A large number of the worst characters have been converted and made good citizens. The work is favorably regarded by the people, and very heartily endorse it. One old gentleman says that there are now only four hard cases outside the ranks. He refers to the newspaper men.

He has been visiting friends in Montreal, and en route Westward stopped off here to renew old acquaintances. He is a son of the late Chief Justice Draper, and for many years practised law in this city. Major Draper was for some time a partner of the late James O'Reilly, Q.C. A host of friends are glad to meet him.

Had a Narrow Escape.

The extensive stationery, printing office and bindery of Moore & Lyon, Syracuse, was burned on Tuesday evening. The fire originated in one of the upper flats, and but for the firemen Mr. James Whitehead, of Kingston, would have perished. He slept in the stock room, was awakened only when the fire was within three feet of him, and escaped through the window. Mr. John Mock, binder, also of Kingston, was an employee of the same establishment, but he was not on duty when the fire occurred. This we learn by letter.

Many persons will regret to learn that a son of Capt. C. H. Becker, of the schr. American, was killed a few days ago on a New York railroad. The young man was engaged on the top of the car when he was struck by a bridge under which the train passed.

Collier's famous Company, producing the "Lights o' London," will appear in the Opera House here for three nights, Oct. 11th, 12th and 13th. This is one of the greatest scenic plays now on the boards and requires a full cast of 60 people besides a large staff of hired assistants.

W. J. Rattray, a well known literateur and journalist, died in Toronto late last night. He had been suffering from consumption for some time. He was part author of "The Scot in Canada," was a fellow graduate of the late Chief Justice Moss, and was a gold medalist of Toronto University.

A PITILESS RETREAT.

The News last evening with a reckless waste of type so often perpetrated upon defenceless readers crawls out from the wreck of its misstatements upon police matters by one reiteration so wilfully misleading that we may be excused if we prolong the discussion by "sampling" it in connection with the many that have preceded it:

"Col. Hance sent in his resignation on the first of December, it was accepted at the meeting on the twelfth, to take effect on the thirty-first. So that there was a 'then' Chief of Police, notwithstanding the Wren's bumptious denial."

This, in face of the fact we stated, that Colonel Hance left Kingston on second December, he feeling so ill that he finally handed over his office with the understanding informally agreed to that he would be allowed his salary until Dec. 31st. He never again communicated with the Commissioners nor was he in Kingston. He must have possessed far more spiritual qualities than fall to ordinary men to be here as Chief and also in the United States absolved from duty at the same. Our petty contemporary puts itself into queer positions by its quibbling. It has to crawl out through a pretty small hole as usual.

The Handsome Weekly.

The WEEKLY BRITISH WHIG of to-day contains a portrait of O'Donnell, the murderer of Carey; reports regarding Cobourg camp and inspection by General Luard; Capt. Abbie's reply to the critics of the Salvation Army; the Church opening at Sharbot Lake; the magician Heller's hot time in Kingston; the murderer Mann's confession, and about forty columns of general news.

MARINE NEWS

Damage to the Bismarck—State of the Wrecks—Down in the Canal—General Notes.

The schr. Oliver Mowat will load iron ore for Fair Haven.

The tug Chieftain and barges have arrived at Garden Island.

The str. Hastings has gone to the rescue of the schr. Typo, ashore at Amherst Island.

The schr. William Elgin loads iron for Cleveland for the Zanesville Iron Company; rate 70c. per ton.

The schr. Jessie H. Breck arrived in port last evening with 600 tons of coal from Sandusky for the K. & P. RR.

The schrs. Penokee, Sanana and Belle Mitchell each bring 22,000 bush. corn to Kingston from Chicago at 6½c.

The schr. Fanny Campbell is still aground near Thompson's Point, and will have to be lightened before she can be got off.

Capt. McLeod, of Buffalo, is holding a survey of the steamer Prussia at Globe & Macfarlane's dry dock in Oswego.

The schr. A. M. Foster passed Kingston from Hamilton to Gananoque, laden with sand. She weathered the gale and stood it like a yacht.

The str. Hiram Easton and four barges arrived at Ottawa from Kingston yesterday to load ore at Ironside for James Swift, who will ship it to Cleveland.

The prop. Tecumseh and schr. Ed. Blake have taken in 1,200 tons of rails for Monokamah Bay, Lake Superior. They leave as soon as the weather moderates.

The schr. Typo is owned by newspaper men in Milwaukee. Her value is $15,000. Of course to journalists this sum is nothing, because she is fully insured.

The str. Gipsey is now making her last trip to Ottawa for the season. Mr. Swift is well satisfied with the season's work of the Gipsy, her receipts for August amounting to $2,700, including freight.

The boat which the Folgers have been asked to build and put upon the route between Cape Vincent, Clayton, Alexandria Bay and the Camp Ground next season will be larger and faster than the Maud, and an American bottom, of course.

Yesterday the barge Senator, of the M. T. Company, bound up, laden with railway ore, struck the barge Frontenac, of the K. & M. Forwarding Company, bound down, in the Cornwall Canal, damaging the latter's bow so that she filled and sank. The Frontenac had 18,000 bush. corn, ex-schr. Bangalore, from Toledo. The Frontenac is one of the oldest barges on the river, having been built by the late firm of Glassford, Jones & Co.

Capt. J. F. Allan, after seeing the barge D.D. Calvin safely at Cleveland, started for home. At Port Dalhousie he be heard of the disaster to the schr. Norway, went to her and found that she had run safely into Port Colborne harbor. The tug, however, did not pick her up. She broke her jibboom against the inside lighthouse and went ashore on a flat rock bottom. The Captain had thrown his anchor but it dragged. The vessel lies with 6½ ft. of water at her bow and 7½ ft. at her stern. Her mainmast is broken at the hounds, and the mizzen-mast and topsail yard carried away. The str. Chieftain, with a schr. as lighter, will go to the rescue. The schr. Hercules also went ashore owing to the inefficiency of the tugs. She lies broadside on the beach, in 3½ ft. of water, having rolled her fore-topmast out.

THE BISMARCK DAMAGED.

Considerable anxiety was felt for the safety of the schr. Bismarck, which should have arrived ahead of the Norway, and all sorts of rumors were current about her. Anxiety grew so strong at Port Colborne that one of the harbor tugs started up the lake in search of her, and succeeded in finding her drifting down the lake a complete wreck. Capt. A. Milligan, of the Bismarck, says they were in the middle of the lake, about abreast of Grand River, when the squall struck them on Monday evening. The vessel broached two on them, and the masts went out of her. They dropped her anchors and cut away the wreck, and she lay there plunging through all the blow. She jumped the jibboom and bowsprit out of her on Tuesday at 4 a.m., when, having rigged a temporary jibboom, they rigged a jib from a piece of the foresail which remained in her, hoisted the anchor and were on the way down when the tug picked her up. The Bismarck is owned by J. L. Breck & Co., of Kingston, and bound from Detroit to Kingston with timber. The crew and Captain say it was the worst storm they ever experienced, and congratulate themselves upon their narrow escape.

The Swiss Bell Ringers.

The audience was small at the Opera House last night, but those present were entertained by the Alleghanian Bell Ringers. The programme was quite lengthy and enjoyable. In the opening chorus the voices of Miss Hilfert, Miss Hanlon, Walter Field and J. M. Bagbard blended very nicely. In concerted selections they showed their training. But their finest selection was the "Burning Ship," given with great effect and power. Miss Hanlon was quite handsome and in her ballad singing was loudly encored. She has a sweet mezzo soprano voice. The feature of the evening's bill was the bell ringing. This performance was very fine and kept the audience in an intensely interested mood. The manipulation of the bells was really marvellous. Not a wrong note was struck, not the least discord caused, though over 100 bells had to be handled by the four performers. This evening they give another entertainment, when an entire change of programme occurs. The citizens and especially the lovers of music should attend.

Frank Edge Cavanagh, educated for the Catholic priesthood, afterwards a well known newspaper reporter, was yesterday installed as the pastor of the Reformed Church, Hyde Park.

AMONG THE NAVVIES.

The Habits of the Natives of the Sunny Land—A Very Peculiar Race—Very Frugal.

Working on the Ontario and Quebec Railroad, in the vicinity of Sharbot Lake and village of Arden, are many natives of sunny Italy. They are olive in color and peculiar in habits. They are great workers and most frugal in their style of living, making a dollar extend farther than many men can make two go. From several gentlemen in the City Hotel yesterday we learned that the Italians live much to themselves. They do not reside in the shanties provided, but camp out. Each man provides his own grub, and uses neither butter, tea nor coffee. The ordinary food is bread and pork. If the bread becomes hard they soften it by pouring water over it. When they visit a store to make purchases they "beat" the storekeeper down to as low figures as possible. They dress strangely and their dialect is as queer as everything else about them. All their earnings, after paying for the bare necessities of life, they send to their friends and families in Italy.

The postmaster at Arden is oftencon siderably troubled in dispatching their orders. The money is sent to an Italian banker in New York and by him forwarded to the parties for whom it is intended. The men have an idea that they are only temporarily living here, that as soon as they become rich they can return to their native land and spend the balance of their days in comfort and happiness. They belong, of course, to a musical race and their nights are made melodious by guitar and violin playing. They also dance very gracefully, and with a motion most pleasing to the eye. They drink lightly, but have not become accustomed to the custom of treating. When they enter the taverns each man pays for the liquor he consumes. They all wear big boots, eights or tens, though their feet are quite small. For a time a camp of Hungarians was located at Sharbot Lake, and an informant states that the people were the very opposite of the Italians, being very fastidious and living on the best fare they could secure. They drank Mocha coffee, sweetened with granulated sugar, eat beef and fish and such delicacies as were to be purchased. Storekeepers in the rear of the county would be pleased with such customers all the time.

Palmerston's Mica Mine.

A professional mining engineer, Mr. J. H. Dwyre, of Ottawa, has inspected the mica region in the Township of Palmerston. He says that in an opening 6x4 feet he found a beautiful crystal measuring twelve inches on the exposed edge and showing a thickness of fourteen inches. He was informed that about two tons of merchantable, clear, white mica had been taken from this opening. On further examination of the property he traced a vein of crystal about fifteen hundred feet long, which varied in width from three to twenty-seven inches, showing on the surface crystals varying from four to sixteen inches in width. He also saw a number of other beautiful mica shows. Until he saw the mine he did not believe there was such mica in Canada, and has no doubt there is a fortune in it.

An Egyptian God.

J. M. Froiland is cleaning and gilding what he calls an Egyptian God. It is made of copper, is about an inch long and closely resembles a bust of "Punch." The idol is said to be about 3,000 years old, and was taken from a mummy's grave. It belongs to Miss Hora, Pittsburg. People who desire to know what kind of statuary was worshipped by the people of long ago can do so by a look into Mr. Froiland's window on Wellington street.

Protecting the Salvationists.

Chief McKignon, Chief of Police in Belleville, declares that the members of the Salvation Army will be protected so long as they comply with the city ordinances. Any one annoying their services will be arrested. In this city the Chief of Police took a similar stand. For the first few weeks policemen watched the proceedings and a number of persons were arrested and fined. As a result the most orderly meetings now occur. Police supervision is not required.

A Drawn Battle.

Yesterday the str. Princess Louise, having on board the Gananoque Lacrosse Club, the silver cornet band and about forty excursionists, went to Prescott, where a lacrosse match was to be played. The teams met on a wretched piece of ground and struggled for fifty-five minutes in the first game. Neither succeeded and as there was grumbling it was ultimately decided to declare the match a draw. The ground was full of holes and lay on the side of a hill.

Death at Carp Village.

Mr. W. G. Kidd, Inspector of Schools, was this morning notified of the death of his nephew, Dr. T. A. Kidd, residing at Carp Village, between Brockville and Ottawa. The deceased was a graduate of Trinity College, Toronto, very talented, and in possession of a splendid practice which he had lately shared with the Inspector's son. The funeral will occur on Saturday.

TROUBLE IN THE CHURCH.

Grievances of the Irish—They Leave the Church in a Body—A Curate's Dilemma.

A painful spectacle was witnessed in the Parish Church of Ste. Cunegonde, after mass on Sunday. The Irish have been complaining of not getting their share of sermons in English and have not been paying their proportion of dues to the clergy. The parish priest was around collecting and did not meet with the success he expected, the Irish people making their complaints of being neglected known to the rev. gentleman and some women actually cried with grief. Father Seguin felt insulted, and PREPARED A STRONG SERMON.

He mounted a pulpit in the sanctuary, and addressing his Irish flock in English expostulated with them, saying that he had often been treated roughly when calling for his collection. The Irish element demanded as many sermons in English as in French, threatening secession of their demands were not conceded. Father Seguin stated that such a demand was inconsistent, the Irish congregation amounting to only 450 families, while the French element consisted of over 1,200 families. He grew quite angry and told them if not satisfied to get a priest of their own nationality. The Irish contingency rose en masse and went forth with contemptuous looks, murmuring discontent. The rev. father looked surprised, but turned to the remaining portion of the congregation and said, in French, "Good, now we are at home." The stampede his accents grew milder, and he repeated in French what had been said in English. He explained that there were yet 445 families in arrears. The priests had been too good all along to those who did not pay. They had baptized, given the holy sacraments, prayed over the dying, and received nothing in return but carelessness, drunkenness and gluttony. The congregation neglected the Church. This ought not to be, and if they continued so to do they should have no burial service for their friends and the sacraments of baptism, marriage, confession and communion would be withheld from those who kept away from church and refused to subscribe for the maintenance of their church. They must listen to this and obey it. Having thanked those who had liberally subscribed Father Seguin mentioned that up to date the collection had only amounted to $1,800, whereas if all had subscribed, as was their duty to have done, it would have been $5,000.

HAVING HAD A COOLING EFFECT

IRISH CONTRA'S STATEMENT.

The Irish organ, in its account of the scene, concludes by saying: "The incident has created the widest and deepest indignation throughout the community. We are given to understand that steps are to be taken to lay the matter before Mgr. Fabre, the ordinary of the diocese.

How Fast News Travels.

The Evening News, of York, England, comments upon the case of the Bishop of Liverpool, who was hauled over the coals by his Anglican friends for preaching in a Presbyterian Church. Our contemporary cites the case of Dr. Wilson, who was attacked because he came out in favour of the Army, and adds:

"In those days when we hear so much about the comprehensiveness of the Church, is there not room enough for the services of this enthusiastic Salvationist? Alike in the Mother country and in Canada the spirit of ecclesiastical exclusiveness manifestly thrives. Alas, for the rarity of Christian charity!"

Remembering Old Associations.

At the festival in the Methodist Episcopal Church, on Tuesday evening, Rev. Mr. Harris said that though union was commemorated he could not ignore old associations. He could not forget the Church of his youth and adoption any more than the Jews could forget Zion. The scriptural language was, "If I forget thee, O Jerusalem, let my right hand forget her cunning; if I do not remember thee, let my tongue cleave to the roof of my mouth." Still he believed the union was of God, and those who went to the Conference left it with devoted benisons thereto.

Police Court Docket.

Hugh Metcalf, an old offender, was fined $3 and costs for drunkenness. Patrick Kelly was assessed $1 and costs for similarly offending.

Mary J. Callaghan, a domestic at the Albion Hotel, was charged with larceny. She pleaded "not guilty" and asked for trial by a jury. It appears that some $20 were stolen from a bureau in the bedroom of Mrs. McLaughlin, and the domestic was accused of the theft. She was committed for trial but bailed out.

APOLOGY.

WE OWE THE PUBLIC an apology on account of the dirty, dusty and disarranged condition of our Store during the past few weeks, caused by plasterers, carpenters and and painters in the enlargement and improvement of our premises and also because our Stock has been run down and poorly assorted, as we did not deem it wise to receive new goods in the dusty condition of things

TO KEEP PACE with our requirements and accommodate our largely increasing trade we have to extend our premises, and have now one of the neatest and most convenient stores in the city of Kingston

OVER FIFTY CASES of new fall stock to hand

HAINES & LOCKETT,
