Daily British Whig.

General Booth speaking recently at a meeting in Exeter Hall, London, said the income of the Salvation Army was never so large as now, and yet they were never in such financial straits. It was intended to build fifteen halls in different parts of London at an aggregate cost of $200,000. They had now 850 corps in the United Kingdom which were growing stronger, and included many former Atheists and Freethinkers.

OUR WRECKING LAWS.

The Canadian Government cannot be expected to abolish its obnoxious law in regard to wrecking until the United States Government does so. There is great need of an international movement in that direction. We never could understand the motives of our American friends in passing an Act which forbade Canadian steamboats and tugs going to the rescue of distressed vessels, which forced many a Captain to desert his ship and allow her to go to ruin simply because American wreckers were not within hailing distance and Canadians dare not respond to his call. The Dominion Government was driven to retaliation in defence of its marine ere it promoted similar legislation. We can applaud every word of the Inter-Ocean when it says "Both the United States and Canada should be ashamed of their wrecking laws. This spring an American tug with a tow of barges broke down in Lake Ontario, and the barges, being quite helpless, were in imminent danger of being lost when the Canadian tug McArthur came along and towed them into Oswego. For this act of saving American property the American Government fined the Canadian tug $400! While our Government is capable of such an act of barbarism, or of allowing a law to remain in force that permits such a penalty, the less any American paper says about the dog-in-the-manger policy of the Canadians the better." It may be said that at certain times the laws have been relaxed, that application has been made to the respective Governments and permission granted to wreckers to operate upon vessels in foreign waters; but official correspondence is slow at all times, and before a decision has been reached in some cases the thing was rendered worthless. It is too late when a vessel ashore, beached at some exposed point, is rolled to pieces, to go to her relief. Wrecking under such circumstances is of little account. We do not presume to know how far Governments can be approached, how far their differences may be compromised. The protests of the mariners should be respected, however; the experience of the past should convince the lawgivers of the absurdity of the existing statutes, and they should find some ground for removing an embargo upon a business which should never be injured by Parliament.

ROASTING THE GENERAL.

Some papers are doing what they can to excuse the unparliamentary conduct of Major-General Laurd at the Cobourg camp. The Commander of the Militia, though encouraging the impression that he is indifferent to public opinion and newspaper criticism, has hastily written to certain journals and declared that he did not give the lie direct to Col. Williams, M. P. He does not, however, deny that he lost his head at the inspection, that he gave free scope to his temper and blasphemy, that he grossly insulted those with whom he banqueted and personally offended Col. Williams, of which so that that officer is now at Ottawa, seeing what he can do about it. The issue is non-political, and hence the papers generally join in demanding his withdrawal.

The Mail says recent occurrences and the tenor of his conduct put it out of the question that he can be defended; it is quite impossible that he should be much longer retained. It adds:

"It is very obvious that General Laurd and Canada must part company. We have no desire at all to dictate; but we mean just what we say. Public opinion, and militia opinion, and parliamentary opinion are all pretty much the same. The Minister of Militia of course occupies a delicate position in such a matter. If he does not take the matter in hand at once it will be due to him and to the militia service that Members of Parliament should next session make action imperative. This is all we need say at present. We are expressing what we believe to be public and professional opinion. If it does not bring about in the manner we have mentioned the change we have named then let us hear no more about it and let General Laurd rant and swagger as he will."

A critical and correcting officer is just what Canada wants. Sir Sally Smyth was too easily pleased. He was scarcely ever known to utter a complaint. General Laurd is too severe. He is scarcely ever known to pass a compliment. He has done a certain amount of good. Some of the battalions, fearing his displeasure, have looked smarter and more efficient than for many years, but the jubilant disciplinarian has not been pleased even then. He has seen so unapish that insubordination was with difficulty suppressed and the feeling of the volunteers was to refuse instead of accept his congratulations. Last year's inspections were almost over and in time forgotten, but this year the Commander of the Militia has stirred up a hostility which must result in his removal. In that event we hope the place will be filled by a native Canadian. This country has many officers from which to choose a soldier and a gentleman, one desiring discipline and yet not forgetful of the condition of the militia and of the disarrangements which they suffer.

A POLICE OUTRAGE.

The Mounted Police, whose duty it is to prevent the introduction of liquor into the Nor' West Territory, are carrying out their duty with outrageous harshness. A correspondent of one of the English pictorial journals was stopped at Medicine Hat by the Police, under the impression that he had a bottle of liquor in his possession. He vehemently denied it, but the police insisted on going through him. They found no liquor, but they took the correspondent from the train and kept him in the guard house over night without even a blanket to cover him. It is somewhat farcical cosseting corps of English journalists to the Nor' West to advertise the country and then treat one of their number so outrageously. The advertisement he will give is not likely to be very flattering to Canadian hospitality or official consideration.

It is time some punishment were placed upon officers who abuse their powers. It is useless to look to the Government to punish any member of a partisan force, though the victim of his misconduct may be a visitor from the mother land; but the public will, at least, expect that some of those injured will bring actions to recover damages and inflict exemplary punishment. Recently at Montreal a young woman who saw a policeman belaboring a prisoner remonstrated with him and was also struck by the brute in uniform with his baton, rendering her almost unconscious. In such a case the law scarcely seems adequate; a father or brother who wounded that policeman might be forgiven by public sentiment. About the same time Jas. D. Stewart, a prominent Montrealer, was roughly treated by a policeman because he called his attention to a street obstruction. Again, a case a month or two old is worthy of reproduction:

In London, England, John Dukes, a perfumer, had been adjudged a debtor and ordered by the Court to pay up. The bailiff, in serving the writ, gave it to an artist who bore the same name, notwithstanding protestations that he knew nothing of the matter. Then the artist was arrested and taken to the gaol as a debtor. At the prison he protested that a mistake had been made, but the Superintendent paid no regard and passed him on to a cell. Sunday and Monday went by, the victim doing the duties that fell to a gentleman debtor. To the Warders, the Inspectors, and other officials he repeated his declaration that he was the wrong man, but one and all laughed at him, making the amazing remark that all were "wrong" men there. Eventually Mr Dukes paid the debt under protest and was released. Once out of prison he proved his own identity and sued in the full of damages, which was compromised, but the stubborn evidence remains that a poor man in Mr. Dukes' place would have served the full forty-two days of the sentence without any chance of escape.

The Docket at the Court.

Hugh McLaughlin, a first class sailor, became so fired with liquor that he was unfit for duty. The Magistrate sent him to gaol for one week where he will become sober and probably resume his work when he comes out.

Frank Gallaher, with a face sadly smashed up, said he had whipped two men and then went to the station for protection. He was locked up, but charged with drunkenness and fined $4 and costs.

Philip Martin, a foreigner, was assessed $4 and costs or 20 days in gaol for drinking and smashing a window in a hotel. Martin was anxious to get something to eat as he said he had been starved in the cells.

John Finnegan, from Sharbot Lake, made his first appearance in a court. He was fined $2 and costs.

George Moores, of Trenton, a sailor, lost his vessel by his drunkenness. He was allowed to depart.

An east ender appeared on a charge of assault. The prosecutor failed to appear and the prisoner said the case had been settled. The Magistrate said he would not allow this. The prisoner pleaded guilty and was fined $4 and costs. The transgressor was guilty of mayhem, having savagely chewed the thumb off his opponent, besides inflicting other injury.

A Successful Ministry.

To the Editor, British Whig.

SIR,—Knowing the interest you take in Primitive Methodism, will you allow me to state that our late pastor, the Rev. Mr. Jolliffe, is meeting with great success in Toronto. I received from him a letter stating that although the Salvation Army in Toronto is depleting several of the churches the Church over which he presides is increasing in numbers, and that he experiences some inconvenience in seating the congregation on Sabbath evenings. Mr. Jolliffe was visited by several Kingstonians during the show. Mrs. Jolliffe and family are in good health. The envelopes and offerings on Sunday cover all expenses, (and as the rev. gentleman say) but but my heart centers are being converted at the ordinary means of grace. Capt. Abbie would exclaim Hallelujah!—Yours truly,

C. FIELD.

Kingston, Oct. 2nd, 1883.

A Convict Pardoned.

The Governor-General has ordered the convict James Howard to be released from the Penitentiary. He was sentenced to penal servitude for ten years for shooting at Walter Bell, of St. Thomas. Doubts were thrown upon the correctness of the conviction by the evidence which came out on the trial of Montgomery, who received two years for shooting at H. Thornton, of London.

Breaking into Shops.

During last night the clothing house of J. Rockwell, Princess St., was entered. Although Mr. Rockwell can find nothing gone, yet he don't like people to play jokes upon him in such a manner. Mr. Chown's drug store was also entered, but nothing was purloined.

Opening of the College.

This afternoon the Woman's Medical College was opened with appropriate ceremonies. The report of the proceedings will appear to-morrow.

BE ASTONISHED in time, and do not allow what may appear to you as a simple cough to take root, to run into a disease of the lungs, which invariably proves fatal in the end. Dr. Van Buren's Kidney Cure will at once ease your pain and positively prevent those unfortunate results. Take it at once. Any druggist will have it.

THIS MORNING'S SERMON.

This morning the public session occurred at 7:30 o'clock. The clergy entered the Cathedral by the main door in the following order:

Cross Bearer.
Two Acolytes.
Thurifer, Bearing Incense.
Sanctuary Boys.
Priests, Juniors First.
The Bishop.

The boys were beautiful surplices, the priests their red stoles, the Bishop the cappa magna, a magnificent garment. When the sanctuary was reached His Lordship assumed rich crimson vestments and commenced pontifical mass, assisted by the ministers above named. The priests received the holy communion at the hands of the Bishop, and at the conclusion of mass the latter assumed a crimson cope, mitre and crosier. After the chanting of the litanies a suitable gospel was sung by Rev. Fr. Twohey, and later on the Bishop intoned the Veni Creator. From the altar he also addressed the clergy, reminding them of the solemn character of the occasion and counselling them to uphold the holy laws and discipline for the edification of the people and the final glory of the Church of God.

REV. FATHER KELLY'S SERMON.

The Bishop's Secretary, Rev. Father Kelly, preached the sermon. The delivery was very eloquent. The text was Wisdom vi, 8 to 21:

"The beginning of wisdom is the most true desire of discipline. And the care of discipline is love; and love is the keeping of her laws; and the keeping of her laws is the firm foundation of incorruption. And incorruption brought us near to God. Therefore the desire of wisdom bringeth to the everlasting kingdom."

The discourse had particular reference to the organization of the Church, to that harmony and unity which were desirable in order to fulfill the prayer of our Lord, that the Church should be one as He and His Father were one. He pointed out that when a new Province was erected—as the Province of Toronto was recently elected—the Bishops assembled to make laws and decrees suitable to the new order of things and to its condition. The first Provincial Synod was held in 1873, and its laws were approved by the Holy See; but they required to be promulgated by each Bishop in his own Diocese in order to have effect, hence the meeting of the Synod of Kingston whose action brings this Province into more consonant harmony with the general spirit of the Church.

GOING INTO SESSION.

At the conclusion of the sermon the people were requested to retire, and the Synod was formally opened by the reading of the official documents by the Secretary, Father Gauthier. The sermon did not last over two hours and then afternoon most of the priests departed for their respective homes.

A WAR OF CREEDS.

Lakeville, Conn., Oct. 2.—A bitter fight was made at the polls yesterday between the Catholics and Protestants. At the town meeting it was the intention of the Protestants to introduce resolutions calling upon the town officers to remove Father Lynch's crucifix from the roadside as a nuisance, but the Catholics outnumbered their opponents 2 to 1 and the resolution was not offered.

AFFAIRS AFFAIR

Paris, Oct. 2.—The Journals continue to condemn the conduct of the populace towards King Alfonso, politicians not especially that they were playing into the hands of Bismarck. Grevy apologized to Alfonso for the outrage on Saturday.

At the banquet Grevy were the Spanish Order of the Golden Fleece. Alfonso conversed for half an hour after the banquet with Grevy and Ferry. Grevy urged the King to remain in Paris another day. The King made an excellent impression at the banquet. Grevy said he never expected to meet so much good sense, dignity and courtesy in any sovereign.

Madrid, Oct. 2.—The irritation against France has assumed tremendous proportions. Heraldo says the King could not consented to remain one night more in Paris and dine with Grevy, only after an humble apology, and conserving liberty of action, to ask the satisfaction of the public and an triumphant.

Paris, Oct. 2.—Alfonso, in declining an invitation of Grevy to extend his stay in Paris, remarked that Grevy's apology might make him forget the bitterness of his entry into Paris, but Spain would long remember the hisses of the populace who would not see that behind the King it was a nation they were hissing. As the train bearing the King left the station His Majesty requested the Secretary of Grevy to inform the President that he left with a deep sense of his courtesy. An order for the assembling of the Cabinet to-day under Grevy was countermanded. It is reported that a Ministerial crisis exists.

JUDGMENT REVERSED.

Albany, Oct. 2.—In the Hatch-Williams cases against the W. U. Co., the Court of Appeal reversed the decision of the general term and affirms the judgment of special term. This establishes the legality of over $15,000,000 stock and removes all obstacles in the way of the payment of the dividend.

A SERIES OF SUICIDES.

Pittsburg, Oct. 2.—Josephine Bryant, who committed suicide with great deliberation on Saturday, left a letter giving her history. She had been a copyist for Dr. Orton Newton. He had been separated from his wife in Cincinnati and after the suicide of his son he became the victim of intemperate habits. He and Miss Bryant agreed to live as man and wife. Dr. Newton was worried by letters from his wife and told Miss Bryant that he intended to suicide. He asked her to kill their young child and then take her own life. She refused to kill the child but promised to follow his example if he committed suicide. Her letter says she has kept her promise. Miss Bryant's brother suicided when 15 years old because he was set back in his class at school.

A CANADIAN LOTTERY.

Ottawa, Ont., Oct. 1.—A drawing for prizes in the $25,000 lottery, under the auspices of the Orange lodges of Ottawa district, took place on board a steamer on the American side of the St. Lawrence River on Wednesday. In order to evade the law the promoters of the scheme chartered a steamer at Brockville, and after steaming into American waters proceeded with their drawing. The capital prize of $1,000 was drawn by a clerk in a music store in this city. The $500 prize was drawn by a New York lady.

At this rate the decrease in the annual revenue will be $70,000,000. The excess of the receipts over the expenditures in the first quarter of 1883 was about $20,000,000, while for the three months ending Sunday the excess was about $13,120,000, a falling off of $17,000,000.

It is said that among the Chinese, the Larvæ of Insects are used medically to give strength to feeble. Caterpillar Syrup they consider a specific for Bronchitis; Dried Toads are taken to give tone to the system, while the horns of the rhinoceros, the bones of tigers, the jaws of tigers, and the wings of bats all have a place in the Chinese Pharmacopœia. A simple remedy containing well-known ingredients is nothing thought of by a patient, and their doctors seem to be quite of the same mind. How different it is with us outside barbarians in this respect, where the elegant preparation, of pleasant taste, composed of well-known and well-tried remedies, such as embodied in Robinson's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil with Lacto-Phosphate of Lime is not only sought after by the patient but is recommended and largely prescribed by the most intelligent physicians.
