OUR OWN.
"If I had known in the morning
How wearily all the day
The words unkind
Would trouble my mind
I said when you went away,
I had been more careful darling
Nor given you needless pain;
But we toss "our ewe"
With look and tone
We might never take back again.
"For though in the quiet evening
You may give me a line of peace
Yet it might be
That never for me
The pain of the heart should cease.
How many go forth at morning
Who never come home at night;
And hearts have been broken
For harsh words spoken
That sorrow can never right.
"We have careful thoughts for the stranger
And smiles for the casual guest,
But oft for "our own"
The bitter tone
Though we love our own the best.
Ah! life with care enough at
Ah! know that look of woe,
That weary look
Were the night too late
To undo the work of more.

The Orange Proclamation.
The Orange manifesto conspicuously posted at Dungannon, Ireland, recently before the party troubles was:
"Invasion of Tyrone by the members of the Fenian and Murder League of Conspiracy. Parnell's visit to Dungannon. To the Protestants of Tyrone. On Thursday, the 27th inst., Parnell, the leader of the enemies of our United Empire, and the champion of the principle "Ireland for the Irish," meaning Ireland for the Romanists, intends to commence by a public meeting in Market Square, a series of meetings throughout Tyrone and Ulster generally, assisted by several of his satellites in the murderous agitation. We ask you, are you prepared to allow of their already boasted triumphal march through Ulster commencing with your loyal and peaceable country? Are you prepared for a reign of terror of burning feelings, of threatenings and of slaughter, perhaps, that should follow their cursed trail? Are you prepared to accept the doctrine of English Radicals that the Protestants of Ireland are aliens in the land, and should be swept out of it by fair means or foul? The Protestants of Tyrone are invited to appear on Windmill Hill, Dungannon, on Thursday, Sept. 27th, to protest against Mr. Parnell's invasion on quiet Tyrone, and to pass resolutions against Home Rule and further agitation that may again lead to murder, trouble and bitterness amongst the people of our land. Hamilton Stuart, Esq., has kindly consented to occupy the chair, and arrangements are being made for eminent speakers to deliver addresses. Orangemen, come with your drums playing, the music of your Protestant fifes, and with flags flying, no man daring to make you afraid. Your motto has always been, "No Surrender!" Let it be "No Surrender!" now. This is a grand opportunity for a display of your strength. Let it be shown.—By order of the Committee."

A Tough Story.
Daniel Wilkens heard a commotion in his hen roost and suspecting coyotes, went out with a club and a lighted candle. He saw something moving about dimly in the semi-darkness and just then his lights went out. Having located the animal, however, he went for it, and dealing it a heavy blow with the club had the satisfaction of hearing it yell with pain. He followed up his advantage and clubbed it until it ceased to move. He then went into the house and called his wife, who came to the front with a light and discovered that the farmer had killed a full-sized Numidian lion, which had escaped from Robinson's circus. In a few minutes the keepers, who had tracked the animal, came up and saw the defunct monarch of the jungle stretched cold in death. They burst into tears and could not be consoled. The lion had been badly beaten about the head and four of his massive teeth kicked out. Mr Robinson was sent for and said he had just paid $10,000 for the ferocious beast and would rather have lost the sacred crocodile of the Nile than to have the poor lion hurt. The old farmer said he never felt so sorry in all his life for anything as that, and offered the circus people an old billy goat with three horns as a balm for their lacerated feelings. It was one of the saddest affairs that ever occurred in that end of our quiet town.—Carson Appeal.

A Deaf-Mute Suicide.
William Dever, a deaf-mute of Iowa, Ill., proposed marriage to the widow of his brother. She refused and left him with a coquettish wave of the hand. Dever became frenzied with rage and rushed to the woodshed. He returned with an axe, followed the young woman until he struck at her with the weapon. It glanced from her shoulder, and she struggled with him. Two boarders heard her cries and overpowered the enraged man. An hour later he came down stairs and approached the young widow again. He had a gaping wound in his throat, inflicted with a dull razor. While the blood streamed he renewed his sign of proposal of marriage. With a horrified cry she attempted to escape, but he seized her by the hair, drew a hatchet from his pocket and hacked himself about the face. The woman fainted. After contemplating his disfigured form in a mirror for a moment he again approached the senseless woman. For an instant he stood over her form, and while his life blood coined from numerous wounds he again assaulted himself with the hatchet and fractured his skull. He fell to the floor and died almost instantly. It is thought the woman will lose her reason. She is handsome and intelligent, and lost her husband but three months ago. Since his death the deaf mute has continually harassed her with his intentions.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Bateman Church Trial.
The Editor, British Whig.
SIR,—The malignant and untruthful letter signed "Justice," which appeared in your issue of the 20th ult., should not go unanswered lest anyone might think there was some truth in the statements. And yet his poisoned arrows have fallen harmlessly to the ground.
"Justice" starts out by saying that "he is capable of writing his own letters" but is very careful not to deny that Mr. Lawson is the real author. Mr. Lawson's peculiar style is too well known here to deceive anyone. It is very kind of Mr. Lawson not to deny writing those spiteful, uncalled-for letters to Mr. Wilson, seeing that Mr. Vanluven had them in his possession and they were produced at the trial. The Committee did not say that Mr. Lawson was imprudent in placing too much confidence in a stranger, etc., but that he "acted imprudently" (i.e. rashly) in writing the letter he did to Mr. Wilson. That it did not injure Mr. Vanluven in his "worldly affairs" is no fault of Mr. Lawson's. Under the circumstances we cannot see that Mr. Lawson is entitled to any credit for his "frank acknowledgment."
The amanuensis he employs thinks it is necessary for ministers to correspond with one another in order to "protect the church from impostors." I quite agree with him there, but I think I have heard of obstacles being sometimes found in the ministry. Such persons are a constant source of trouble to any church, and it sometimes happens that they are "admonished" by their superiors before the climax is reached. The statement that Mr. Vanluven owes Mr. Lawson borrowed money is entirely false. He never borrowed a dollar from him, nor does he owe him a cent. It was not "some dollars" that he told Mr. Anglin that Mr. Vanluven was owing him, but a few paltry cents, which have been paid.
My statement about the "famous resolution" (which I may add was written by Mr. Lawson) is correct in every particular. Mr. Anglin, when spoken to, admitted that he only signed the resolution, and now two members of the Board are willing to father it out of feelings of animosity towards Mr. Vanluven. As to the reiteration that the resolution was "carried unanimously" I may say that the majority of the members of the Board never heard it until sometime afterwards, and then, without any hesitation, they said they could not sanction it.
Mr. Vanluven has nothing to fear from publishing Mr. Lawson's statement of his character. Mr. Lawson's own character is too well known here. Other points "Justice" tries to raise and in a future letter they will be touched upon. For the benefit of my clerical friend "Justice" I may say this letter was not written on Sunday, nor was my last one. Evidently in his opinion Sunday is a day set apart for the especial work of assailing christians in the house of God. Some people have very nice notions of how the Sabbath should be observed.—Yours truly, FAIR PLAY.
Storrington, Oct. 8th.
The correspondence must now cease. It is far from edifying and the issue well nigh fought out.

The Surgeons will have a supply of Spirometers, the invention of M. Louvielle, of Paris, ex-aide surgeon of the French Army, for the cure of Catarrh, Catarrhal Deafness, Bronchitis, Asthma, and Consumption. Consultation and trial of the Spirometer free. Don't fail to see the surgeons while here, as they make a specialty of diseases of the Head, Throat and Lungs, and are curing thousands of cases every year that have been given up to die by doctors in general practice. Crowds are visiting them in every town and city. For particulars write to 173 Church Street, Toronto, or 15 Phillips Square Montreal.

Have You Thought About It?
Pain is one of the sure things of life, and it becomes then a most important question to have at hand the quickest and most efficient remedy. Polson's Nerveine cannot fail to cure cramps, toothache, neuralgia, headache, and all pain, internal or external. Nerveine is the most perfect combination ever offered to the public for the relief of pain. It will not cost you much to try it, for you can buy at Polson's & King's for 10 cents a trial bottle, which will convince you of its mighty pain relieving power.

James Brayley, Hamilton, says:—"I read the testimonials for McGregor's Speedy Cure and found that I must go to New York, Philadelphia, Louisiana or Texas to find living witnesses of its value. We had plenty of persons right here to prove its merits. I got a bottle and it helped me right away. I was so bad with Bilious Fever and Indigestion as I think any one could be. I have taken three bottles and am nearly well and can eat any kind of food without it hurting me. I may say that I am better than ever I expected to be." Free trial bottles at Green's Drug Store.

Now that there is a reliable remedy for kidney trouble half the terrors attached to these complaints have been removed. For this let all be thankful, and to Dr. Van Buren's Kidney Cure award all praise for having thus removed a hitherto constantly fatal disease from our path. It was never known to fail. Sold by all druggists.

Mrs. J. McPhee, Appin, writes:—During the last eight years I have used almost every medicine recommended for Biliousness, but found nothing equal to Carson's Bitters. If you suffer try it. Price 50 cents.

The Most frightful scourge of humanity is Bright's Disease of the Kidneys. Commencing with a little pain in the back, it leads the sufferer to a premature grave. Dr. Van Buren's Kidney Cure is the only known remedy that prevents the fatal result. Take it in time.

DETECTIVE'S EXPERIENCE.

His Successful Undertaking and Escape from an Impending Fate.

(Buffalo, N. Y., News.)
One morning several years ago, just as the dull grey light was beginning to show itself in the east, a small band of men might have been seen deployed about a house on Forty street, in Buffalo. There was nothing special either in the dress or appearance of the men to indicate their intention, but it was plain that they had business of importance on hand. Suddenly a man appeared at one of the windows, took in the situation at a glance, and, swinging himself outward with wonderful quickness, scaled the roof of the house. This man was Tom Ballard, the notorious counterfeiter, and, armed to the teeth and fully realizing his situation, he defied justice and the officials below. Some of the officers, knowing the desperate character of the man, proposed to shoot him until he was killed, but one of the number promptly protested, and declared that if his brother officers would assist him to second he would capture the man alive. Accordingly he began the difficult and dangerous task, and succeeded in bringing his prisoner to the ground in safety.
The man who accomplished this task was Mr. Thomas Curtin, the present Superintendent of city police of Buffalo, N.Y. Mr. Curtin is a man who is known by every prominent detective and policeman in America, and he stands pre-eminently in the front rank of his profession. Quiet and gentlemanly in appearance and manners he possesses a courage, combined with marked physical powers, that make him the terror of evil doers and the pride of the law-abiding citizens. Few people can realize, however, the trials, exposures and even privations to which the members of every municipal police and fire department are exposed. Compelled to be on duty at uncertain hours, subjected to the most inclement weather, and often necessitated by the nature of their duties to protracted undertakings, they endure a nervous and physical strain that is terrible. Such was the experience of Mr. Curtin in former days; and it is not surprising that he found himself suffering from a mysterious physical trouble. In relating his experience to a representative of this paper, he said:
"At times when I was on duty I would feel an unaccountable weariness and lack of energy. My appetite was also uncertain and my head seemed dull and heavy. I did not fully understand these troubles, but supposed, as most people suppose, that I was suffering from malaria. I tried to throw off the feeling, but it would not go. I thought I might overcome it, but found I was mistaken, and I finally became so badly off that it was almost impossible to attend to my duties. I have known any number of men in the police and fire departments of this country who have been afflicted as I was, and I doubt not there are to-day hundreds similarly troubled who, like myself, did not know the cause, or really what ailed them."
"Your present appearance, Mr. Curtin, does not indicate much physical debility," said the interviewer as he looked at the 220 pounds of bone and muscle standing nearly five feet eleven inches in height before him.
"O, no; that is altogether a thing of the past, and I am happy to say that for more than a year I have enjoyed almost perfect health, although I now realize that I was on the road to certain death by Bright's disease of the kidneys and travelling at a very rapid pace."
"How did you come to recover so completely?"
"That is just what I want to tell you, for I believe it may be of great service to many others in my profession who may possibly hear of it. I began the use of a popular remedy at the earnest solicitation of a number of friends in this city, and I found to my great gratification that I began feeling better. This feeling continued and I gained in strength and vigor until now I am perfectly well—and wholly through the instrumentality of Warner's Safe Cure, which I believe to be the best medicine for policemen, firemen, railroad men or any other class of people exposed to danger or a change of weather ever discovered. Since my recovery I have recommended it everywhere, and never know a case where it failed either to cure or benefit. I would not be without it under any consideration, and I am positive it is a wonderfully valuable and at the same time entirely harmless remedy. Indeed, I see that Dr. Gunn, Dean of the United States Medical College of New York, endorses it in the highest terms."
"So you experience little difficulty in the execution of your duties now, Mr. Curtin, do you?"
"None whatever. Our department was never in better condition than at present."
"And do you never have any fear of some of the desperadoes whom you have been the means of bringing to justice?"
"Not in the least. Such men do not try to retaliate, partially because they have not the courage, but oftener because they respect an officer who does his duty."
The policemen, firemen, letter carriers and other public employees in this country have a particularly trying life. When, therefore, a simple and pure remedy that can restore and sustain the health of all such men is found, it should be cause for great congratulation, especially when recommended by such a man as Superintendent Thomas Curtin of Buffalo.

In the city is at William David's, Broker, dealer in new and second-hand goods of all kinds, such as clothing, furniture, hardware, dry goods, jewellery, musical instruments and household goods. All he wants is the people to come in, as he is sure to sell. Wm. David, Princess Street, next to Robinson's carriage factory.

They all tell the same story. Mr. W. Thompson, Junction, Dalhousie, suffered for years from Dyspepsia, got no relief until he used Dr. Carson's Stomach Bitters. He says it was just the medicine I needed. It has cured me.
