A SUICIDE'S WILL

An Extraordinary Letter Left by Woman—Calm Preparation for the End.

On Saturday last there died at Pittsburgh, Pa., a woman calling herself Mrs. Fanny Bryant Newton. She had taken fifteen grains of morphine in the house to a promise made to Dr. Newton, whose mistress she was, and who also committed suicide about two weeks before. She left several letters behind her, among them the following addressed to an undertaker, who found everything exactly as described:

Pittsburgh, Sept. 26, 1883.

To Mr. Burns—Dear Sir: Please to call, as soon as you receive this, at No. 151 Second avenue, and take charge of the body of Mrs. Fanny Bryant Newton, who committed suicide this morning. I have left a deposit of money addressed to Dr. ——, and placed the letter with enclosed money, in a vacant under my bed. I want you to furnish everything at these prices:—Casket exactly like my husband's, Dr. Newton's, $40; embalming, $10; hearse and three carriages, $20. The money is to be paid you by Dr. ——. I want to be buried in the Allegheny cemetery, Pittsburgh, in a grave lot. In ancient the grave lots cost $5, but I have left $20 with Dr. —. Should it cost only $5, the other $15 to go to my boy. Get the health certificate in this way: Name, Fanny Bryant Newton; born upon the Sandusky Huron, Ohio; satisfied at residence, No. 151 Second Avenue, September 29, 1883. I have been at 151 Second avenue five months; former residence Cincinnati. You will find soap, sponge, towels and sheet in top drawer of the dressing case in the room, right by the window. I am all initialed and dressed just as I want to be buried. Please to put on black and white crape, as I am still young. The black pall and no sheets over or around me. I have taken fifteen or twenty grains of morphine, and I hardly think that my fate will be disturbed from it. I have left $5 with Dr. — for digging my grave. If any inflammation of the abdomen or elsewhere sets in, and you think that I will become unsightly, please to place me in the casket at once and close the lid down. If I am not put in the casket before night upon Saturday see to it that some one sits up with my remains, as there are a great many more in the room. I expect my sister here, and I should like to look natural. I may, in some of the letters that I have left, have mentioned that I wanted to be sent to our family burial ground at Bloomington, but under no circumstances do I wish it now. I wish to be buried right here in Pittsburg. I have left a pail of fresh water in the room for embalming purposes. I trust that you will find everything all right. Thanking you for your prompt attention at the doctor's death, I am, respectfully,

MRS. FANNY BRYANT NEWTON.

Fashionable Wedding.

On Tuesday morning a number of intimate friends of the contracting parties assembled at the residence of Mr. J. L. Upham to witness the marriage of his sister, Miss Josephine Upham, to Mr. J. J. Nelson, of Kingston. The Rev. T. G. Williams performed the ceremony. The bride was very nicely arrayed in plain colored silk with pearl ornaments, and the bridesmaid, Miss Della Upham, wore a costume almost similar. The groom was supported by Mr. Robb, of Perth. At the breakfast a pleasing surprise awaited the guests, for under the careful hand of Mr. Hagey Hodges the cakes and confections had been transformed into works of art. The wedding cake stood in the centre, five stories high, surmounted with the traditional orange blossoms, and magnificently ornamented with organ designs which seemed to stand almost independent of all the drapery over it. Then at each end were pyramids of cake and candy, enclosed in gossamer like cages, all hallowed by hand from sugar. After the breakfast the happy couple left for Prescott, en route to New York, amidst the best wishes of their friends. The bride leaves behind her a large number of personal friends in Brockville. They will visit Niagara Falls on their way home.—Brockville Times.

A Nice Affair.

Ever since Lord Aberdeen and a few friends made their celebrated trip over the Dawson route, the Tory press has never grown weary of raging the changes regarding the subsidiaries said to have been contracted on such. Recently the Tory Manitoba Legislature, headed by Premier Norquay, made a trip over the Canadian Pacific Railway, and the Boston Globe says: "We have been treated to a spectacle hardly rare in this country—a whole Legislature bamboozled on the newspaper. Forty two members of a Legislature greeting each other with glasses of liquor, drown violently in the face of each other, accompanied by epithets to the effect that the worst blackguard would hesitate to use to his dog, and only kept from doing bodily harm to the other by the intervention of the police."

Remarkable Recovery.

$25 in a 10 cent package of the Triangle Dyes, sufficient that 25 cents value is given to five from 100 different kind of goods, silk, and wool, fast colors, warranted equal to any dyes, 10 cents a package. Triangle Dyes, W. H. Dennis's, Druggist, Kingston.

James Bangs, Barrie, says:—I used the Emulsion for Shiloh's Spasmodic Cure and found that I had not to go to New York, Philadelphia, Louisiana or Texas to find living witnesses of its value. We had plenty of persons right here to prove its merits. I got a bottle and it relieved me right away. I was so bad with Bronchial Pleurisy and Inflammation I think any one would be. I have taken three bottles and feel well and can eat any kind of food without distressing me. I think that I am better than I was before I contracted the disease. Free trial bottles at Chase's Drug Store.

Two More Original Sufferers of humanity in Dwight's Review of the Kidney Consumption with a little pain in the back, is hurrying the sufferer to a premature grave. Dr. Van Buren's Kidney Cure is the only known remedy that performs the final result. Take it in time.

Mrs. J. McGee, Apple, writes:—Dodge this fall I had a severe cold. I have used Shiloh's Consumption Cure. It has cured me. I cough but little now. Sold by Chase at 25 cts., 50 cts. and $1.

SPECIAL NOTICE.—The undersigned whom are authorized to collect all debts on the late firm of Wade & Co., and all persons so indebted are requested to settle at once, that the business of the late firm may be closed up.

FORTY MILLION GERMS.

A Wonderful Theory That Concerns the Welfare, the Happiness and Life of Everyone.

In his quiet and cosy library at the close of a tiny day sat a gentleman and his wife, he absorbed in a new book and she in the newspaper. Quickly glancing toward her husband, she asked, at a certain point in the article.

"John, what is the germ theory?"

"The germ theory—well—yes; just look in the encyclopedia under 'Germ,' that will explain it so much better than I can."

Accordingly his wife opened the book at the word named and read: Germ Theory of Disease, a theory advanced by the ablest and best investigators and scientists of the times. It supposes the surface of the earth, the air and water to be inhabited to a greater or less extent with a peculiar growth of the lowest form or fungi—commonly termed bacteria, whose power of reproduction, under favourable conditions, is so great that a single germ will increase to 15,000,000 in 24 hours' time, and unchecked in its increase would grow to a mass of 900 tons, in three days' time, if space and food be furnished. There is no condition under which it can be said to be absent, unless it be from fire or air filtered through cotton batting in numerous layers. A single drop of water containing a germ, put into water boiled, filtered and then freed from bacteria, will grow murky in a day or two from the development of new germs. When it is considered that it requires about forty billion to weigh one grain, some remote idea can be had of the capacity of germ reproduction. Prof. John Tyndall, in a late work, elaborately treats of the influence of germs in the propagation of disease and changes upon this came the inception and development of very many of the ailments most injurious to man. Prof. Pasteur, an eminent French savant, has carried his original and beautiful experiments so far, and from behind them deduced such practical results as very greatly to diminish the number of cases of anthrax among sheep and chicken cholera among fowls, proving his theory that these are essentially and actually germ diseases. These germs are carried into the system through the lungs, the stomach and possibly the skin, but through the lungs chiefly. Once in the system, they begin to develop, poisoning the blood, arresting the nerve centres, disturbing the functional activity of the great organs of the body and inducing a general impairment of the vital processes. They are the cause of fevers, rheumatism, Bright's disease of the kidneys, pneumonia, blood poisoning, liver disease, diphtheria and many other ailments. Lately Prof. Koch, a famous German physician, has proved that consumption of the lungs is due to this cause, the presence of a peculiar germ.

When the circulation is blunting, the nerves chastle and the system all aglow with life and energy, the germs seem to develop poorly, if at all. But with weakened nerves, poor digestion or malassimilation of food or a lowering of vitality from any cause, a change occurs, and in this impoverished and weakened fluid the germ finds a congenial home and develops until symptoms of disease are distinctly manifested. This is seen in the everyday experience of all. The healthy man resists the influences around him and does not take cold, while those whose systems have become weak from any cause readily contract colds. This is on the same principle as the germ theory. The germs attack any weakened spot in the body, and fixing themselves upon it, begin their propagation. It is plain therefore that it is only by fortifying the weak portions of the body that the germs of disease can be resisted and driven from the system. But this has proved almost an impossibility heretofore, and it has been the study of physicians for years how best to accomplish it. Within the past few years, however, a preparation has been attracting great attention, not only throughout the entire land, but among the medical profession and scientists generally, which is based upon this theory, and it may safely be said no remedy has ever been found which can so successfully place the system in a condition to resist the germs of disease as Warner's Safe Cure. This article is unquestionably the best and most efficient that has ever been discovered for this purpose, and—

"John, say, John! does the encyclopedia advertise Warner's Safe Cure?"

"I should not wonder, dear. It's a great remedy, and that pamphlet we received the other day stated that Dr. Gunn, of the United States Medical College, endorsed it. At all events, the wonderful cures it is accomplishing entitle it to be honorably noted among the great discoveries of the present century."

Wherever the facts above stated may be, the truth remains that the germ theory of disease is the correct one and that the great remedy mentioned is the only one which has ever been found that can put the system in a condition to kill these germs before they obtain a hold upon the body and unhorse the life.

The Brethren At Home.

The other day an old worthier came to the city and attended divine service at a fashionable church. The old fellow listened with rapt attention to the sermon, occasionally nodding in approval or shaking his head in uncertainty. When a man with a contribution box approached, the squatter asked:

"What's up?"

"We are taking up a collection for the brethren, and as you seemed to be much interested in the sermon, I didn't know but you would like to give a few dimes."

"What's the matter with the brethren?"

"Why, we don't know anything about the gospel, and we want to raise money enough to send it to him."

"Well, I tell you. I don't think he'll quite allow anyone. I've got a farm away on home, 'an' if I can get stuff back, mebbe sometime 'an' we'll send him some taters."

"But, my friend, the destitute children are starving."

"Do these taters, by jingo. Still ain't were nothin' but a chicken for six months, an' hasn't tuney either pretty, whenever I've got a carcass to hit brethren big green year hot, an' built fast to stay on the farm when a stranger comes, want to get his children mouthed down here hollin. Consarn'em, when the rough, you I don't think the brethren will quite have enough."—Detroit Free Press.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Description of Northern Michigan.

The Editor, British Whig.

Dear Sir,—Since my arrival in Kingston so many questions have been asked me respecting the prospects and present state of things in the section of Northern Michigan where I am now employed that I have thought a letter on the subject might prove interesting to your numerous readers. The village of Newberry, where the works of the Vulcan Furnace Co. are situated, is on the south side of the Detroit, Marquette R.R., about 75 miles from its eastern terminus at St. Ignace and about 85 miles from the western end, at Marquette, which is a beautifully situated town on the southern shore of Lake Superior. It has a population at present of about 300 and contains three good general stores, a drug store, watch maker's, butcher's shop, public school, two churches, neatly finished, Methodist and Presbyterian (the latter a gift, costing over $3,000, from John S. Newberry, Vice President of Vulcan Furnace Co., etc.) We have also a fine hotel, built by the Land Department and a large boarding house belonging to the Vulcan Furnace Co., capable of accommodating 30 men, the remainder of the employees finding comfortable quarters in some of the private boarding houses, and in two camps in the bush. The place has every prospect of becoming a good business centre, and will some day be the county seat, the position of the public square and the sites of the Court House and other public buildings being already marked out. The streets are well laid out, the principal one, Newberry Avenue, running south from the railroad, being 100 feet wide and the others 66 feet each. The water supply is good, being all obtained from driven wells 65 to 85 ft. in depth.

The land on the south side of the railroad is mostly high, slightly rolling and through apparently too light and sandy for agricultural purposes, yields very good crops, particularly of potatoes. This light soil extends for about two miles southward and from that point becomes heavier and fit for any kind of crop; it is easily cleared as the trees for the most part are not heavily rooted and there is hardly any underbrush. It has sufficient undulation to afford ample facilities for drainage, yet is level enough to admit of a full load of wood being drawn right from the stump with either waggon or sleigh according to the season of the year.

On the North side of the railroad the land is lower and somewhat swampy, but the natural fall to the Tahquamenon River being about 40 feet in less than a mile there will be no difficulty in draining it, and when this is done we shall have an immense extent of first-class land, all rich black loam, 3 to 8 feet in depth.

The ground here rarely freezes owing to the deep snow which comes early and remains till spring without any break. Spring crops can, therefore, be got in earlier than one would expect in this northern latitude.

The land is held $5 to $10 per acre, according to quality and situation, and where the timber is valuable a small stumpage is charged in addition. There is a great deal of bird's-eye maple on some of the land very valuable for ornamental work.

The prospect for industrious settlers is very good, as the Vulcan Furnace Co. will buy all their wood either standing or cut at fair prices, so that the farmer can always find employment in his bush when not otherwise engaged. There is a great deal of lumbering going on in the neighboring pine bush. The Land Department also employ a large staff of men in draining and otherwise improving the great extent of territory controlled by them. An effort is now being made to get a tannery started in the neighborhood, the supply of hemlock bark being abundant and the chemical works connected with the charcoal retorts can supply a large amount of cheap acids and suitable for plumping the hides. We also want a good shingle mill, shingles being held at a high rate, although there is plenty of good material for making them (cedar) in the neighborhood. Parties desirous of starting any saw business could secure sites at almost nominal rates and make very favorable arrangements for freight on the D. M. & M. Rly.

The present population consists of about equal numbers of Scotch, English and Irish, with a large proportion of Canadians and some native born Americans.

The Vulcan Furnace Co. holds the right of cutting three-fourths of the wood on certain sections. They have now cleared about 1,000 acres, and this is being taken up by settlers as fast as it is cleared. Yours obediently,

SAMUEL D. MILLS.

Superintendent Vulcan Furnace Co.

The Business College.

The Editor, British Whig.

Dear Sir,—There are in the city many apprentices who, from their financial position, are not able to pay a large fee for instruction in an evening class but are eager for lessons in different subjects. In the interest of these young men, and young women as well, would it not be advisable for the Board of Public School Trustees to grant such a sum as would insure such instruction as they need in the Kingston Business College under their own Committee's supervision, or better still open classes in the Model School building, and arrange with the city Writing Master to give lessons to the classes in his special subjects of writing and book keeping. I am sure many would avail themselves of the opportunity of attending such classes.—Yours, etc., H.

On Tuesday, the 16th, Mr. Lawrence will return and remain for a fortnight. He is a specialist of no common order, and can fit a sight to every eye with unerring skill. He is recommended here by Drs. Sullivan, Henderson and Fisher, and has lists of testimonials from nearly every eminent man in Canada east of Kingston. He has fitted 2,000 glasses in Canada alone.
