Wednesday Night's Attraction.

Our readers will enjoy hearing the policemen's duet and chorus on Wednesday evening. The following is a strain from it:

"Then Tuttle, lifty, large and awful,
Was soon installed in Jimmy's place,
To him small boys are by a gawful,
His coat would Jumbo's form encase;
And when a bummer's caught reclining
Upon a form with feeble hold,
He runs him in to show that he's
A lobby hold."

Book Binder in America.

At the Princess Louise Dragoon Guards' sports in Ottawa on Saturday, Sergeant-Major Morgan, of the Royal Military College, Kingston, gave an exhibition of his skill in using the sword. It is acknowledged, says the Citizen, that this gentleman is the best master of this time honored weapon in America, and it is therefore unnecessary to state that the exhibition he gave was a splendid one and elicited great applause.

Bankrupt Stock of Dry Goods.

They will commence their great cheap sale on Thursday morning next, when the public will have a grand opportunity of purchasing dry goods at their own prices from Brown & Bissonette. Wait for the bargains.

Wong Ching Foo Job Missing.

"I don't like to contradict people," said Wong Chin Foo, of the Chinese American, to a reporter on Saturday, "but the story of my disappearance is not quite accurate. True, I have changed my address. True, also, that my paper has not appeared for the last fortnight. I have been staying with some friends in Hudson to escape the hours which afflict every editor, and the Chinese American has not come out because of some changes in its management. I have secured an American gentleman to conduct the finances while I take care of the editorial work. I can be seen in room 87, No. 555 Broadway, by all who are confident about my really being in town.

Death in Watertown.

The sudden death of Judge Hiram Davey, of Watertown, is reported. He frequently visited Kingston, being general adjuster of claims against the Watertown Insurance Company. He was 70 years of age and highly respected. He was one of the founders of the Watertown Insurance Company, and watched the progress of that institution from the time it started with a few hundred dollars until its gradual accession to the ranks of the foremost corporations in the United States with a capital of $1,500,000.

Judge Davey died of paralysis of the heart. His first wife died in 1848, since which time he has been married three times and now has nine children living. He has been a member of a Baptist Society ever since he was 21 years old. He leaves an estate worth from $200,000 to $300,000.

NO QUORUM PRESENT.

The Meeting of the City Council Deferred—They Would Not Wait—Victoria Park.

Exactly at ten minutes after eight o'clock last evening City Clerk Flanagan read the roll in the City Council chamber. There were but two or three Aldermen in the room, but others hurried in to have their presence recorded. The following answered "Here": Mayor Livingston, Alds. Allen, John Carson, Clemmis, Creggan, Downing, Redden, Shaw, Smythe, Whiting and J. Wilson. The quorum was not complete and there was a desire to depart. Ald. Smythe asked the members to wait a moment, but they were not of the waiting kind; anyway it was against the rules to wait.

The Mayor asked the gentlemen to remain. The hall had been refused the Salvation Army in anticipation of a meeting of the Council.

Ald. Whiting said he "was sorry," as he slid out of the door.

STRATHCONA WITH ALD. DOWNING.

His Worship thought it too bad that Ald. Downing was brought in so far for nothing, but Ald. Creggan declared that his home was just as far away as Ald. Downing's. At this point Ald. McGuire arrived, looking calm and dignified and bearing a compendium of law under his arm.

"It's just ten minutes after eight," he remarked. "I looked at the clock as I passed."

It was too late, however, as the rank had been sadly thinned within a few seconds.

Ald. Law, with his cap drawn over his ears, next appeared. He was greeted with the remark, "late, as usual."

Ald. Allen, on the outside, inveighed against the strictness of the rules. He said he has warned the Aldermen not to pass them. His idea was that the Council should be called at 7:30 o'clock, and a half hour's grace allowed for the Aldermen to appear.

The Council had very little business to do. There was a finance report and a few petitions to hear. The night was too pleasant for the jolly bachelor Aldermen to be housed in.

MEETING OF A COMMITTEE.

The Committee on Parks was in session in the Clerk's Chamber. They considered the advisability of expending $300 on Victoria Park.

Ald. Carson urged that paths and a horse ring be made at once, according to the plans adopted some years ago.

Other members thought it inadvisable to expend the money at this late time of the year. The people in the upper part of the city were not suffering for a Park. They could get all the fresh air they desired.

It was pointed out as the best thing to do that the ground should be ploughed and seeded with buckwheat and afterwards with grass. It could then be levelled better than at present. The money that had been appropriated went to the credit of the Park and could be utilized when required. It was agreed that a visit should be made by the Park Committee to the grounds.

Concert Last Night.

The Jubilee Tennessean, under the auspices of the Salvation Army, gave a concert in Victoria Hall last evening before a large audience. The Troupe is well known in this city, having appeared frequently during the last twelve months, and gained for themselves a very good reputation. Their jubilee songs, ballads and chants are rendered with melody and sweetness, and their time excellent. "Little Gem Waiting for Me," rendered by Mrs. Julia Bailey, and chorus, was a simple but sweet production and brought forth great applause. Miss Pinkie Johnston, the leading soprano, sang several solos with telling effect, and was encored each time. The guitar solo by Mr. Delta was also good. We have not space to dwell upon each piece; suffice it to say the entertainment passed off without a flaw and all the singing was highly appreciated.

Canadian Officers at Aldershot.

The following staff officers of the Royal Canadian Forces viz: Lieut.-Colonels Maunsell, le Comte d'Orsonnens and Otter, of the Infantry; Turnbull, of the Cavalry; and McGill, of the Staff of the Royal Military College, Kingston, went to Aldershot last August to study the interior economy and tuition of "the three arms" and military engineering, preparatory to organizing and establishing in Canada Schools of Instruction, to consist permanently of one regiment of Cavalry, three battalions of Infantry and two battalions of Field Artillery. These officers also went through a course of instruction in tactics, field fortification, topography and military law, under Major C. L. Harvey, Garrison Instructor.

The Cash Box Empty.

The Directors of the House of Industry have published the Council for $400 with which to carry on the work of the institution. The management have not a military cook, a sad state of affairs on the eve of winter. A Director, on being asked if subscription lists would be opened, said he did not know. The men who supported the institution were asked to help all other local charities. Whenever money was required the same class of citizens were appealed to. In his opinion the city should "father the institution." A special rate of half a mill would raise a sufficient sum to make the House what it was intended to be. The poor would then be kept properly and the people as a whole bear the burden equally.

High Court of Justice.

The city seems to have an overdose of legal luxury at the approaching Fall Assizes. (1) The Burns case, for the untimely death of Miss Burns; (2) the suit of Mrs. Hemsley for the breaking of her arm through the bad state of the sidewalks in Frontenac Ward; (3) the suit of Mr. Carwick for injuries by reason of the bad condition of the sidewalks in Cataraqui Ward. Mr. T. L. Shook has the first two cases and Mr. T. R. McGibbon, Q.C., the last case.

QUEEN'S UNIVERSITY.

ANNIVERSARY OF THE SIGNING OF ITS CHARTER—A HOLIDAY, ITS ORIGIN AND HOW IT IS ANNUALLY KEPT.

Sports in the Park—Prostitution of Prizes Re-night—Installation of Two New Professors—A Distinguished Career—A Valuable Acquisition to the Teaching Staff—Lecture on a Live Subject—Are Miracles Possible Now?

Forty-three years ago to-day the charter of Queen's University was signed by the Queen. That charter was the first of the kind which bore the signature of Her Majesty, and it gave to our University, the privileges and rights possessed by any similar institution in Britain. Our readers—all those who are not acquainted with the circumstances—will understand the importance which is attached to the occasion, why it is a holiday and why the annual College sports occur upon it.

APPOINTMENT OF MR. GOODWIN.

This afternoon there was a meeting of the Trustees of the University, and at it the nomination of Mr. W. L. Goldwin, of Sackville, N.S., as Professor of Chemistry, made during the summer by a large and special Committee, will be confirmed. Mr. Goodwin has been at work lecturing before both the medical and art classes, the action of the Trustees being purely formal. There were present at the meeting to-day Rev. Robert Neill, D.D., of Burnbrae; D. B. Machennan, Q.C., Cornwall; Rev. Dr. Wardrope, Guelph; Rev. R. Campbell, Montreal; Rev. D. Ross, Lachine, Q.; A. T. Drummond, Montreal; Rev. W. Bain Geo. Davidson, Rev. George Bell and G. M., Macdonnell, city; James Machennan, Q.C., Toronto, and Dr. Grant, Ottawa. The Chairman, Hon. A. Morris, was unavoidably absent. He is in Winnipeg.

A SKETCH OF MR. GOODWIN'S CAREER.

At the time of Mr. Goodwin's election to the chair of chemistry we gave a few facts in regard to his career. We are now able to supplement them, and the publication of the information is very timely. Mr. Goodwin is a Canadian, of distinguished ability, and with a most promising future. He is but 28 years of age and has a striking appearance, being of medium stature, in the prime of early life, full of vigor and fully acquainted with the most recent modes of investigation and teaching. He won the Gilchrist scholarship in 1877, and spent the next five years in Edinburg, London and Heidelberg. At the first named place he carried away all the gold medals, prizes and scholarships connected with his chemistry and experimental classes. He studied, too, the medical subjects, a knowledge of which is of so much value in teaching chemistry to the student. He took the degree of B.Sc. in London in 1881, graduating with honours in chemistry and experimental physics; the degree of D.Sc. he secured in Edinburg in 1883. Several of his papers on original work have been published in the transactions of the Royal Society. He acted as special assistant to the Professor of Chemistry in Edinburg, and was appointed Demonstrator and Lecturer in University College, Bristol, in 1881. There besides his work as a teacher he was able to carry on an interesting and important research on the nature of solution. The result of this work he embodied in his graduating thesis for the degree of Doctor of Science. In the following year he was appointed a Professor of Chemistry and Physics in Mount Allison College, Sackville, N.B., and remained here until called to Queen's. A man who has studied under such Chemists as Crum-Brown, Kahne and Bunsen, and Mineralogy under Professor Rosenbusch ought to be in a position to give the students of Queen's all that they can be taught on the subjects.

EXTRACTS FROM THE TESTIMONIALS.

Prof. Crum-Brown, of the University of Edinburgh, says Mr. Goodwin "knows his subject thoroughly and he also knows what a student needs and has the power of communicating it. Any college is to be congratulated on having so useful a Professor."

S. P. Thompson, Professor of Experimental Physics, University College, Bristol, says Mr. Goodwin, is "not only an original thinker but his knowledge of science in general is both wide and accurate."

Dr. Weller, of the School of Medicine, Edinburg, said: "Dr. Goodwin's career in Edinburgh, his subsequent residence at Heidelberg and the distinction which he there achieved under Bunsen in the Department of Chemistry, and under Kuhne in that of Physiology, are matters too well known to call for recapitulation. I can safely affirm that Dr. Goodwin's chemical acquirements are profound. His reading in Encyclopædic, his teachings scrupulously accurate and his originality exceptional. Nevertheless I am persuaded that all he has yet accomplished is but an earnest of future achievements. Taking him for all in all, I consider him the best student I have ever taught. If accorded a proper field, and opportunities commensurate to his powers, I am fully persuaded that he possesses the genius of discovery, and will do work which the world will not willingly let die."

SUNDRIES FOR TO-NIGHT.

The events of the evening will be very interesting. They will commence, we presume, with the presentation of prizes won at the athletic sports to-day. Following this will come the installation of not only Mr. Goodwin, but Rev. D. Ross as Professor of Apologetics and New Testament Criticism. The Principal will have something interesting to say about the College, and probably about his recent tour across the Rocky Mountains. Some of the distinguished visitors may also say something. The chief feature of the evening will be the lecture (the inaugural) of Rev. Prof. Ross, on "Physical Science and the Possibility of Miracles." The subject is an interesting one, and the treatment of it will no doubt be worthy of the man and the occasion.

NAPANEE FAIR.

An Exhibit That Compares Well With Our Own—Some of the Local Entries—A Good Show.

Thursday and Friday were gala days at Napanee owing to the holding of the Annual Lennox Fair. The town on Friday especially, was filled with people, and it was difficult for late arrivals to find a resting place for horses and vehicles. The crowd is said to have been as great as at the Midland Central, but this was not the fact though it showed to greater advantage on the smaller ground.

The Lennox Agricultural Society is highly prosperous. It makes money each year, and has now its Agricultural building and other improvements paid for. In future it will be able to add to its annual premiums and outside attractions. Mayor James is Secretary of the Society and looks well after its interests. The ground is located in the town itself, and this is a great advantage.

A VERY AUSPICIOUS OPENING.

The opening day was fine and the exhibits came in lively. The show of stallions was especially good—better than Kingston's; while the horses generally were excellent. The cattle and other animals were not nearly so good as at the Midland Central, nor were they in as good position for viewing. The show of carriages was admirable if not so large, while the outdoor display of agricultural implements was first class. The Palace contained a full variety if not a great quantity of horticultural products, musical instruments, manufactures and ladies' work. Gibbard & Son showed, as usual, a very stylish list of furniture, and R. J. McDowall's exhibit of two New York pianos was much admired. G. W. Robinson had a large show of Kingston carriages, and won a prize on every exhibit. Dr. Bigham and A. Knight, of Cataraqui, showed their horses, as well as Ald. J. Carson, the prize man on matched teams.

DINING ALL THE PEOPLE.

The large tent of the Ebenezer camp grove covered several rows of tables at which the great crowd present dined in comfort. The afternoon was made entertaining by repeated tests of speed between the teams, trotters in sulky rig, single carriage horses and saddle horses. Some excellent time was made, considering the uneven track and frequent sharp curves. Wash. Kingston's Cheap Jack, had all day an admiring, profitable audience. He can always entertain by his clever use of the tongue. It is a valuable possession—to West.

A Deserved Presentation.

As Mr. McNeil was about to leave his summer charge at Kirk Hill, Lochiel, where his services in the "double tongue" was greatly appreciated, his numerous friends there had a social gathering in the house of Mr. Wm. McLeod, and presented Mr. McNiel with a well filled purse ($130) accompanied by the following address:

Mr. McNeil, respected and dear sir,—Permit me, in behalf of our congregation of St. Columba Church, to say a few words on the eve of your departure from us. For the very short period you have labored among us you have endeared yourself to us by your courteous intercourse and frequent visitation as well as by your zeal in preaching the gospel of Jesus Christ. Please accept of this purse ($130) as a small token of our respect and well wishes. And if it be the Lord's will we would be highly pleased to have you again breaking the Bread of Life among us if we fail in our present endeavors to obtain a permanent pastor among us. And that the Lord may guide, protect and sustain you is the fervent prayer of your many friends in Lochiel.

Mr. McNiel, who was taken by surprise, gave a suitable verbal reply.

Bell's Photographs.

It is a good sign that Kingston's business men continue to branch out in other places. The latest to open a second establishment are Bell & Son, of the Crystal Block, Princess street. They have chosen Perth, and will next week open a gallery in a fine block on a main street, well fitted up and supplied with the thing most desirable—a large north light. They have prospered so well here and made so many friends among the public that we predict signal success likewise for their business in Perth. The Kingston gallery presents some attractive backgrounds, painted by a photograph operator, Mr. Brown. They include a summer water scene, a Welsh winter scene and a drawing room scene, all artistically painted and quite charming in the pictures. Duplicates of these will go to Perth. The gallery of the Messrs Bell is worth visiting from the great variety of photographs shown.

A Valuable Copper Coin.

Some 27 years ago Mr. Froland, jeweller, in change obtained a colonial or Washington copper Auctioneer cent bearing date 1785. He sold it recently for $5. Since then it has passed through the hands of men in Kingston, Toronto and New York, and increased in value to $35, then to $40. Later on a Massachusetts man made enquiries about it, and was referred to the New Yorker who had it. The latter informed a friend in Kingston by letter yesterday that a companion coin had sold for $640, and that he had been offered a larger amount for his relic and refused to sell it.
