Daily British Whig.

We see by a statement in the Montreal Star, made by Mr. R. R. Stevenson, of Messrs. D. Morrice & Co.,—who prepared the statistics for Sir Leonard Tilley's budget speech—that the estimated product of the 21 cotton mills in the Dominion, for 1883, is 115,000,000 yards. In connection with this statement in the official report by Mr. J. W. Peachy, Customs Department, Ottawa, of the amount of cotton entered for consumption in Canada during the fiscal year ending 30th June, 1883. This report shows that the importations have been quite large. In the face of this fact is it not strange that D. Morrice & Co. would receipt bills and drafts from mills to the extent to which they seemed to have done, store the cotton and try to keep up artificial prices.

HIGH NOON OF HURON.

The advocacy of a call to Rev. Dr. Sullivan for the vacant See of Huron was so prompt and spontaneous throughout the Diocese, when its unexpected need was known, that the election of that popular prelate yesterday was a foregone conclusion. Should he accept there will be a happy and hopeful Synod, and his declining will be a signal for manifold regrets and not a little local strife. Bishop Sullivan is the very best man for the situation. His moderate churchmanship, his zeal and judgment and eloquence would be sure to produce a unity, respect and admiration powerful for good service.

There are those looking to the future of Algoma Diocese—some it may be who have laboured and sacrificed for it—who will say that Dr. Sullivan has, after putting his hand to the plough, turned back. This charge is not warranted. The new post is not of his seeking. Rather has he shrunk from it, and, though pressed by the clergy and laity on every side, he gave out no promise or sign of acceptance of candidature ere leaving for England to be far from the scene. He chivalrously answered the challenge of the House of Bishops by accepting, at a great loss of revenue and comfort, the missionary episcopic of Algoma. He "walked by faith," as the venerable bishops invited, and if his reward by way of promotion has come earlier than expected it is purely good fortune. It might have been his lot to have spent a toilsome life time in Algoma, nor would he have shrunk from it. No advancement can dim the bright picture of his former self denial.

Dr. Sullivan is a native of Ireland, and was educated in Trinity College, Dublin. He came to this country at the instance of Dr. Cronyn, first Bishop of Huron, and shortly afterwards took charge of St. James', Montreal, where he was the assistant of the present Bishop of Montreal. He subsequently accepted the rectorship of Trinity Church, Chicago. Whilst there he became a great favourite, and his church was recognized as one of the centres of ecclesiastical light. On the election of Dean Bond to the Episcopacy Dr. Sullivan was unanimously called to succeed him in the rectorship of St. George's. The Doctor consented to the removal, though at a considerable reduction in income. This position he retained until he was appointed Bishop of Algoma by the Provincial Synod in April of last year. In accepting this position he again made considerable self-sacrifice, both in a pecuniary and in a social sense. The evangelical wing of the Toronto Synod warmly supported Dr. Sullivan as their choice for the Episcopic of Toronto in 1879, and at one time it appeared probable that he would receive this important appointment. He was also, whilst at Montreal, offered a rich rectorship in one of the leading churches of New York, but declined it, giving as one of his reasons that he did not wish to again transfer his allegiance to the Republic.

A telegram from London, Ont., this afternoon says: "Bishop Sullivan cables this morning, declining his election as Bishop of Huron. He gives as a reason his duty to Algoma."

THE LESSON OF LENNOX.

The Conservative press in most indignant because Sir John is sharply arraigned in print for the state of affairs disclosed by the election trial in Lennox. But were Mr. Blake unseated what a flow of invective would arise from the Mail, and how each satellite would glare with virtuous denunciation! The abusive adjectives of the leading organ would be utterly insufficient for the occasion. With Sir John as the culprit, however, the newspaper sensation is a very tame one, and it is questionable if the Reform press has done its duty. Were a Premier in England to be unseated for bribery by wholesale his position in his party as well as in the country would be seriously compromised. The party most certainly could not stand which defended him. As it is the average Tory here thinks his shirt has been outrageously imposed upon by the Grit press. Indeed we are not sure but he then would be to have all reports of the trial suppressed and have Sir John instantly treated to another banquet.

What are the facts of the case, however? A. R. Ross was the profuse briber. He has had ten years of intimate acquaintance with Sir John, including frequent correspondence. The constant parading of the Premier's letters by Ross has proved this long since. Ross had the management of the campaign, and spoke and wrote daily as chief agent in Sir John's presence. Then what territory Ross could not cover in the work of bribery the nominal President of the Association visited with the persuasive material in vogue. If Sir John had no real complicity or moral part it is a most remarkable escape. Barely are innocent men snapped for bribery, not simply or in pairs alone but in quartettes, by their intimates, the best men of a local party. Therefore the loss the Tory party says about Grit treatment of the subject the loss will the dark features of the campaign come forth to rebuke it. Doubtless Ross and his fellow briber are now suffering the tortures of immolation for their clemsiness, and far from requiring the local favour they expected at Sir John's hands will suffer materially unless his well known remembrance of personal discomfitures is not preserved as keenly as his other faculties.

The majority was a sufficient index also of the character of the campaign. The constituency that had elected Hawley in a pure contest suddenly turned about and chose Sir John and his warm friend Ross by large majorities, though the local Tory party was so demoralized that it could not be marshalled for any one candidate and the Premier was called in as a peace offering. His election was attributed to "personal magnetism" and "powers of fascination," but the world at large learns once more what these are synonymous for.

The Lennox exposure, following so soon after that in Muskoka, proves how the elections of 1882 and 1883 were fought on the Conservative side. In each case there was a failure of justice. The enquiry should have been carried on until it was disclosed where the great Tory campaign fund came from. The Shields, the Macdonalds and other generous contractors, the liberal manufacturers and the mysterious agents who flitted about the country, should all have been secured. Then a scandal only second to that of 1873 might have been disclosed. There, is, indeed, a crying need of an electoral commission, as in England, for the generosity and the recklessness of bribery prove that the occupation despises the ordinary penetration and penalties of the election law.

An Alarm of Fire.

Before nine o'clock this morning an alarm, apparently from box No. 6, was sounded. The engine and fire brigade went up Princess Street, but no fire being seen they returned to the station. Word came afterwards that the alarm was from box No. 15, the General Hospital. The engine was despatched in that direction, but a chimney only was ablaze, and it could burn for a year without doing injury to anything. There was excitement, however, because the house was filled with smoke. The fire was put out in a short time.

While running around about the city this morning, and jolting over the defective crossings, four leaves of the front spring of the Chatham engine were broken. A new spring will cost $25.

Death Under Sad Circumstances.

About two months ago James Conway, aged 20 years, landed from London, Eng. He was a tailor, and, coming to Kingston about five weeks ago, began work. He was connected with several establishments. A month ago he was taken ill and removed to the hospital. His illness turned into rapid consumption, and his means were quickly reduced. A week ago he came out of the hospital, and, being ambitious, resumed work. Again he was prostrated, and this morning his death came suddenly. During his sickness he was tenderly cared for by Mr. and Mrs. Brown, of the Market Square, at whose place he died. He will be buried here by and among strangers.

County Teachers' Association.

The regular annual meeting of the Frontenac Teachers' Association opened at 1:30 this afternoon; Dr. Agnew, Vice-President, in the chair. About forty-five teachers were present.

Mr. J. W. Heastridge gave a report of the visit of the delegates to the Provincial Teachers' Association. This report was exceedingly interesting and instructive.

Mr. Thomas Parker was then called upon and gave a resume of what he construed the "Rational method of teaching."

Bain Challenge.

That "beaten horse" is heard from. The owner says he will be delighted to make a match with Edward Northmore, as suggested in that gentleman's letter to the Whig, and he then proposes: I will pay the "beaten horse" against Northmore's in a flat race on Cataraqui track, Kingston, any time within the acceptance of challenge, for from $25 to $100 a side, best two out of three heats of one mile each; stakes to be deposited with Thomas Wilson, Kingston. I still hope.

LOSING HIS RELIGION.

The Violent Conduct of Alex. Nicholson—A Heavy Fine for Selling Liquor—Gone to Gaol.

Morris Gardiner, a navvy from the rear of this county, had not kept a proper guard upon himself while in the city, and so he fell. He said he had been drunk, but was sorry for it and asked to be discharged. Not having fully recovered from the effects of his tippling, he was remanded for a day.

John Bryan, another navvy, was assessed to the extent of $1 and costs. He was allowed time in which to pay.

Chas. Fitzpatrick still suffered from continued intoxication. He made saucy answers to the magistrate. Fined $4 and costs and ordered to be kept in the cells until thoroughly sobered.

AN EX-SOLDIER'S BAD CONDUCT.

Alexander Nicholson is an unfortunate young man. The religious excitement which has kept him buoyed up for six months, while a member of Capt. Abbie's corps, seems to have completely left him, and his salvation is no longer sure. For several days he had been on a spree and did a lot of mischief. He broke the windows of several stores. Last night he was arrested upon Johnson street, his conduct being disgraceful. One police officer said that he had never seen a man acting so violently. Four men were called upon to convey him to the police station. He kicked Sergt. Carson in the face, causing a great swelling. He candidly admitted being drunk, but what he did while under the influence of liquor, he could not tell. His passion, it was shown, was aroused by the remarks of those who followed him and the policemen down the street; they inspired him to violent opposition when he was arrested. He pleaded for forgiveness and promised to lead a better life, but the magistrate said he could not overlook the offence. However, owing to his previous good conduct, he would not impose a severe sentence. He fined Nicholson $5 and costs; in default to be incarcerated for 20 days in gaol. The sentence for the offence of drunkenness was held over; the prisoner's future good conduct would decide whether for it a penalty would be imposed.

RESULT OF INTERFERENCE.

A young man who interfered and excited the crowd following the police when Nicholson was arrested, was reprimanded and dismissed.

James Lunn, a demented person, but whose language denoted that he had a superior education, was sent to gaol for a month as a vagrant. He stole a quantity of note paper from the residence of Col. Hewitt, Emily street. Patrick Carroll, Ontario street, was fined $50 and costs for selling liquor without license. This was his second offence.

The greatest good feeling was exhibited towards Father O'Donoghue during his temporary charge at Toledo. The two great bodies, Protestant and Catholic, not only agree, but work hand in hand in all public and social matters. Father O'Donoghue has always promoted harmony in his parishes.

DEWEY'S RASCALLY WORK.

The drafts, with money found on Dewey, aggregate over $43,000. The Superintendent of the New York police telegraphed the discovery of another bill of lading, presumably negotiated by the prisoner in that city for $12,000. The Inspector of the Boston Police, who arrested a man in Texas supposed to be Dewey's brother, telegraphs that he will arrive here on Friday. The prisoner says he will explain everything.

THUMPING THE STOCKS.

Effect of Three Days' Operations—Slaughter of the Professionals—A Review.

New York, Oct. 18.—The Tribune says the operations in stocks yesterday were larger than for some time, and in the morning the activity was extraordinary. Some large operators in stocks expressed great confidence that for the present the worst had been passed. Gould said he had no fear of a panic, because the low prices were constantly attracting new buyers who took the stocks out of the street.

The Sun says that yesterday Gould, Vanderbilt, Sage and Field had been consulting concerning the concerted support of the market. Gould said he intended to confine his time, money and energies to his own stocks. He knew what they were and knew what they were worth. Sage said things would come all right without any such action. He expressed the opinion that the worst had been seen. The slaughter of the last three days had not been of innocent lambs but of professional speculators. A score and more of names were mentioned of men who lost from half a million to several millions since the glory of the Northern Pacific system has began to wane. There are rumors that Villard is about to retire from the Presidency of the Northern Pacific. It is insisted upon in spite of numerous denials.

The Journal of Commerce says some stocks, freely sold by the bears, are difficult to obtain for delivery. In a few instances a premium is paid for their use, which tempts the brokers who have bought them for customers to lend them. A customer receives no pecuniary benefit from a loan. If the purchasers of stocks generally would insist upon them being locked up and not loaned out the market could be turned upward in a very short time. This course is being pursued to some extent with the Central New Jersey and few other specialties.

AN EXCITING OPENING.

New York, Oct. 18.—Stocks opened excitedly. Jersey Central started at 85¼ and rose to 89 regular, 89 cash. Stocks in practically cornered. The movement against the shorts shows how much the market is oversold. At 11 o'clock stocks were firmer, with an improvement of ¼ to 1½ per cent., although feverish. The coup d'etat in Jersey Central undoubtedly made the bears more timid and checked the selling for short account. Jersey Central has reached to 85¼ cash, and 85¼ regular.

Russell Sage said this morning that the Western Union, Delaware, Lackawanna and other dividend payers would continue to pay dividends, that the owners of stock were wise in holding on to them, and that the whole scare was the result of a most reckless bears' attack, with no real foundation for it.

A BETTER FEELING PREVAILING.

Wall Street, noon, Oct. 18.—Stocks were buoyant during the past hour. A large number of outsiders are buying orders in the market to-day. The advance from the lowest point to-day ranged from ¼ to 2½, the latter in Oregon Transcontinental and North Pacific preferred. As high as 5 per cent. was privately paid for the use of 1,000 shares of Jersey Central this morning.

Constantinople, Oct. 18.—It is reported that much damage to property and great loss of life is being caused by earthquakes on the peninsula between Chesme, in Asia Minor, opposite the Island of Chios, and Vurla, on the southern coast of the Gulf of Smyrna. All the villages in that region have been destroyed. It is believed upwards of 1,000 persons have perished. The survivors are suffering fearful privations. A complete panic prevails.

Constantinople, Oct. 18.—Tuesday's earthquake was the most severe in Anatolia, being particularly destructive on that portion of the coast which lies directly east of the Island of Chios. All the villages between Chesmeh and Vaurla were completely wrecked, and at least two thousand persons have lost their lives by being buried under the falling walls of their dwellings. An immense amount of property has been destroyed, the value of which it is at present impossible to estimate. Chesmeh was badly damaged, but no lives were lost. At Smyrna the shock was quite severe, and a regular panic prevailed during the continuance of the vibrations, but the damage was slight. On the Island of Chios the shock was also severe, but the duration was short and little harm was done. Exactly how far the disturbance extended into the interior of Asia Minor is at present unknown, but reports from points lying to the east of Chesmeh and south-east from Smyrna indicate that an extensive area of country was affected.

Constantinople, Oct. 17.—Tuesday's earthquake was most severe in Anatolia. At least 2,000 persons lost their lives by being buried under the falling walls of their dwellings.

Constantinople, Oct. 17.—Another despatch says much damage to property and great loss of life was caused on the southern coast of the Gulf of Smyrna. All the villages in that region are destroyed. It is believed that upwards of 1,000 persons perished. The survivors are suffering great privations and a complete panic prevails.

A WOMAN TO BE HANGED.

Hamilton, Oct. 18.—At the Assize Court here Maria McCabe pleaded guilty to having murdered her babe and there was nothing for the Judge to do but record the sentence. When the poor girl was brought into court she had to be supported by a constable, and was painfully affected as she stood in the box. After asking the usual questions, Judge Morrison, in a broken voice, pronounced the sentence, which was that the prisoner should be taken to the place from whence she came, there to remain until the 18th of December next, when she is to be hanged by the neck until dead. The Judge was visibly affected. The closing sentence, "And may the Lord have mercy on your soul," could hardly be heard. As soon as the sentence was pronounced the prisoner put her hands to her face and broke into loud weeping. The court-room rang with her cries until she was removed. The Government may be asked to commute the sentence.
