AMHERST ISLAND SHOW.

Generally a Better Exhibit Than Last Year—Display of Live Stock and Fall Grains.

The Amherst Island Agricultural Society held their annual show on Tuesday, Oct. 16th. The weather was all that could be desired, the attendance large and the display in the several classes fully up to and in some cases superior to any previous year.

The exhibit for horses was well filled up, especially amongst the class for single driving horses, some of which would stand competition at any fair. The want of a proper driving ring prevented them from being shown to advantage, but from what could be seen of their action, as the drivers showed them up and down the road the judges were able to decide those most worthy of merit, and their decision was agreed by all to be correct. The mares and foals for agricultural purposes consisted of a good class of stock and would indicate that the farmers are devoting more attention to improving their farming horses.

The cattle were a decided improvement and the judges who were present on former occasions noticed the fact.

The display of grains was excellent as regards quality, but with the exception of barley (the chief produce of the Island) there were not many exhibitors in this class. The display of roots and vegetables would be hard to beat at any exhibition.

Space will not permit to particularize more fully, but the sheep must not be omitted; a few of the Island farmers devote much attention to their breeding and their exhibit in this class will speak for itself. On the whole the show was a complete success and seems to become better each year.

Judges on horses were Messrs. T. Johnston, W. Aylworth and Nicholas Amey.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

An Optician's Opinion.

The Editor, British Whig.

DEAR SIR,—The letter of "Pro Bono Publico," in yesterday's Daily News, should have been headed "Personal Spite," instead of "The People's Opinion." It is an outbreak of rancour against other medical men for giving their testimony in favor of my lenses. He speaks on a subject of which he knows but little. I will not say the writer does not understand the eye, but I certainly say that he knows but little of the appliances which the eye demands. I think I can prove this. For example he instances the want of spectacles by telling the public that persons from 45 to 50 years of age require spectacles because of the hardening of the crystalline lens. He does not instance any other reason why spectacles should be worn. Why did he merely speak of the hardening of the crystalline lens? Are there no other eyes but those that require magnifying power? The remark by an esteemed medical gentleman about my lenses, kept by J. Geo. King, "the best felt want to every derangement of the vision," is perfectly justified. Mr. King keeps every kind of lens that is made—from the deepest cataract (14 in. focus) to lenses so delicate that power can be barely detected; every tint in convex and concave lenses; others made especially for wearing after operation for strabismus; every possible sight in concave lenses; spectacles made again for protection against strong light, with and without power; in fact all that can be found in a London optician's establishment is kept now in Kingston.

The writer makes a strong point about pebbles, and informs us that they are natural rock crystal. He infers that any one recommending pebbles in preference to glass "preys on the credulity of the ignorant." Now my best lenses are genuine pebble, genuine rock crystal, and their advantages are these: They cannot be easily broken, they are cooler to the eye, they cannot be scratched. The American lenses sold in Canada contain a large proportion of lead to make the material ductile, to make it capable of receiving a great polish which the mere wiping with a cambric and silk handkerchief destroys, covering it, as they do, with minute scratches. Hundreds can testify that the mere friction of the spectacles being taken in and out of the case destroys the lustre and makes the convexity of the lens opaque, thus seriously interfering with the comfort of the wearer. Are these reasons not sufficient why pebbles should be preferred? The writer wishes to make bad blood with Mr. King and his fellow druggists. He says other druggists keep a fair supply of lenses. Who deserve it?

In conclusion I think I understand the writer. He is a would-be specialist without a practice and would like for spectacle wearers to call on him first. Let the public do so if they like. I have supplied in Kingston nearly two hundred pairs of eyes with spectacles; 95 per cent. have only tried on one pair of spectacles and that pair selected by me and approved and appreciated by those who have purchased. If this is doubted call at King's store and get name.

Can "Pro Bono Publico" do more or as much? If he further impugns that I am not an optician worthy of confidence I shall simply fall back on the testimonials of such veterans in medical science (who by the way understands the eye as well as "Pro Bono Publico") as Drs. Jennings and Almon, of Nova Scotia; Marmion & Sewell, of Quebec; the present President and Vice President of the Medical Association of Canada; the ex-President of the Medical Council of Nova Scotia, and many other great medical authorities and hundreds of persons whom I flatter myself would not have been enjoying ease and comfort with their eyes if they had not been wearing the spectacles supplied them by

Your obedient servant,
R. LAURANCE,
Optician.

Oct. 23.

Since writing the above I have received the following local testimonials from J. Mackenzie, Esq., F.R.C.S., Eng., and Jas. A. Henderson, Esq., D.C.L.:

Mr. Laurance requested me to re-express an opinion on the spectacles at present for sale at Mr. J. G. King's.

They appear to be carefully constructed, of good defining power, and the glasses in each frame of equal focal length.

Mr. Laurance is prepared to furnish glasses for cases, when there is an unequal refractive state of the two eyes, and for other abnormal conditions of vision assisted by spectacle glasses.

J. Mackenzie, F.R.C.S., Eng.
(Retired) Surgeon Major H.M. Indian Army, and late Senior Surgeon, Jamsetjee Hospital, Bombay.

Mr. R. Laurance, Kingston.

DEAR SIR,—For some time past I have been wearing glasses, and until you visited me I never had any which gave satisfaction. The great care you take to adjust the spectacles to the requirement of sight is a strong recommendation in your favor. It is certainly an advantage to the inhabitants of this city that you have secured the services of such a reliable agent as Mr. King, druggist.—I remain, yours truly,

Jas. A. Henderson.

Science.

To increase the weight of the body, invigorate the system, replenish the exhausted, old and diseased, is the true object of medical science. The digestive organs must be in a healthy condition if we wish to secure this desirable result, and to remedy yet discovered has proved so effectual in accomplishing this as Fleming's Extract Cure. It contains the Phosphates to build up the nervous system and all the fat producing properties of Flax seed to enrich the blood and supply the animal economy with the substances for muscular tissue. For sale at Wade's and the Pharmacy, W. J. Wilson.

It is a simple pain cure. Headaches, toothache, neuralgia, colic, in fact all pain, internal, external, and local, are relieved in a few minutes. Get at once to Polson's & King's drug stores and get a trial bottle. It will only cost you 10 cents, and you can at small cost test the great pain cure. Polson's Nervilines. Large bottles only 25 cts.

IMPORTANT TO STEAM USERS AND ENGINEERS.
How to Keep Boilers Clean.
KNOWLES' PATENT AUTOMATIC BOILER PURGINE when properly applied to a steam boiler, never fails to remove all Muddy Deposits and Sediments from water before they become baked into scale. The Purgine is automatic and certain in its action, and will convert a new boiler, a few days after using it, into a state of full and free public, as well as a reasonable liability to explosions.
Having the agency for this section of the country, we are prepared to fit them up and guarantee them to do all the patentee claims for them.
