VICTORY! VICTORY!

The Liberals are to be congratulated if they to-day set up a shout of jubilation. The party was as successful in the elections of yesterday as the most sanguine could have wished, having held two seats, to which Liberals were elected in the general elections and redeemed a third, West Middlesex (Local), to which Mr. Johnston had been elected but so corruptly that the Judges had to remove him.

There does not, therefore, appear to be any immediate probability of a change of Government.

Mowat won't go.

He won't re-ascend the bench.

Neither will Hon. C. F. Fraser.

They never calculated upon doing so, and the statements to the contrary were simply campaign lies.

Hon. G. W. Ross is to be congratulated upon his great triumph, having converted a minority of 87 into a majority of 136. That he was able to accomplish this result despite the strongest political combinations and the rankest conspiracies that the Dominion Government could suggest, that he won despite the fearful bribery of which a partial expose has been made, is a testimony to the popularity of the man and the cause which he espoused.

It is a strong and deserving endorsation of the Government's policy, and especially of the change in the Ministry of Education, necessitated by the unfortunate illness and removal of Hon. Mr. Crooks. Scarcely half Ross accepted of fice and returned to the constituency in which he lived and laboured for so many years, then he was pursued by men whose commission it was to Jeffame and traduce him, to deprecate his ability, to do him injury and if possible compass his defeat.

The Mail published columns of vile abuse. It falsely accused the man of violating the law by acting as an advocate of school books when it was very well know that he was not then, nor for some time before, nor ever in the sense implied by it, in the service of Messrs. Gage & Co. It said he was a sham educationist, a sham student and a sham lawyer, though he had for years been a teacher, an Inspector of Schools, and had successfully passed and been registered as a barrister. If he did not practice his new profession it was not because he had not the ability, but because Mr. Mowat saw that he was just the one for the vacancy in the Cabinet, that he was by qualification and experience fitted to be his colleague, and that his selection would give the fullest satisfaction to all who are identified with the Provincial school system.

The people of West Middlesex knew him better than the Mail, and its vicious attacks only made him friends. The Tories overdid the thing. They were too bitter, too unprincipled, too corrupt by half, they cast a boomerang, and it started the bribery brigade homeward with wounds and scars in plenty.

The London Advertiser fitly described the situation in the following words: "Defeat Ross and Cameron at all hazards is the Tory cry, and the Tories will have no stone unturned, no lie muttered, no slander uncirculated, no purchasable vote unbought, no means of corruption untried, that they believe will further the end they have in view." They no doubt spent their last dollar, resorted to their last expedient, fought as desperate men usually fight—and lost!

The disappointed ones needs tell us that the Grits were illegal in their methods, while the performance of Weeken is fresh in the memory; while the missionary efforts of Mackintosh, Wilkinson, and their ilk is remembered; while Bobby Pringle, the bosom friend of Shields and Smith, is convenient to suggest, by his conduct, a reference to the remarks made by Judge Patterson in delivering judgment in the Muskoka election case.

"Another party, which included persons named Shields, Pringle and Smith, came to Bracebridge, where they were in communication with some of these friends of agents of the respondent, with whom he appears to have been more directly associated. The evidence leaves no doubt upon our minds that the purpose of these persons who came from outside the district was to influence the election by corrupt means."

These are the men of whom Mr. Meredith has a fondness, and of whom, at Mount Brydges, he remarked but a day or two ago, "They are honest and upright and ought to be encouraged."

Into West Middlesex (in both elections) the leading speakers of both parties went. On the Liberal side it was felt to be desirable that Mr. Ross should be elected, not only because he was personally valuable and needed as the administrative head of an important department, but because his election would be the gain of a vote and the addition of strength and stability to the Government; on the Tory side the feeling was cultivated that Mr. Ross' defeat would vitally affect the Government, that the Ministry would lose in prestige and power, that the effect upon succeeding elections would be disastrous, and that eventually there would be a collapse of Grittism!

The collision was, therefore, a sharp and decisive one.

The issue was momentous.

The Tories were "crushed again."

Cardwell is a sort of pocket borough, and pretty sure to return a Conservative. Mr. Hamnell, however, to make sure of his election in February, squandered a large sum of money, and he went under when the Courts investigated the facts. He was boastful of success in the campaign just ended, still he was anxious, and so were his friends, and they rallied to his aid. The constituency has returned to its first love, but whether that love has been influenced by irregular means and bright duests remains to be seen.

Mr. Phelps has again headed the poll in West Huron, doing so well—better in fact, considering the best of the Opposition—as he did in February. The electors owed it to themselves to see that he was re-elected, his seating being contested by the indignation of an agent of whose action he knew nothing.

The Dominion election in West Middlesex has resulted in the election of Mr. Cameron, Warden of the County, and the candidate who were the Liberal standard. His success is almost as remarkable as that of Mr. Ross. Mr. Cameron is an intelligent man, a fair politician and speaker, and we will be welcomed to Ottawa by the Liberals in the Commons.

CAMPAIGN NOTES.

Hurrah for Mowat as Ross!

Hon. Mr. Mowat is not going out of politics; he is not seeking a judicial appointment. At least he says he is not, and he ought to know something about the matter.

The little Premier will endeavour to pull through the next session of Parliament. He ought to survive the premature attacks of Hon. Mr. Meredith when he has a solid majority over a dozen.

Hon. C. F. Fraser has flatly contradicted the rumour to which great prominence was given by Conservative prints, that he was about to have the Provincial Government and second the bench.

The Mail does not let its opponents rude names. To whom, then, has it been referring as the "dagger" and the "ball pap?" To whom did it allude when speaking of "the cannot fill out an of the Education Department?"

Mr. Weeken, who gave such damaging evidence respecting the corruption of Johnston's Committee in West Middlesex, has cleared out. He did this in order to avoid arrest and prosecution for perjury. This man knew too much and so he was helped out of the way.

The story goes that Mr. Mowat has receded from his position on the boundary award question. He hasn't done anything of the sort. He was favourable all along to having the difficulty referred to the Privy Council on certain conditions. These conditions, we believe, he will insist upon.

A telegram from Toronto on Thursday said: "Betting is freely indulged in here as to the results of the Provincial elections to-morrow. Odds are being given that three ridings will go Conservative. Bets of five to three are offered by Conservatives that Mowat won't get a house." Some of the politicians must have filled their stockings.

The Conservative papers have been cruelly abusing Mr. Pattullo, who has been referred to as one of the "common instruments of dirty work" in West Middlesex. Mr. Pattullo has not been in West Middlesex or any other county in which an election has occurred. Some days ago he returned home from Rat Portage and has since been confined to his house by illness.

PERSONAL MENTION.

How People we Know are Spending Their Time—Their Coming and Going.

Mayor James, of Napanee, is again a candidate for 1884.

Sir Leonard Tilley arrived in Ottawa this morning from West Middlesex.

W. Pemberton and wife, of Denver, Col., are at the Windsor Hotel.

Mr. Justice Ross took his seat on the Common Pleas bench yesterday.

Rev. Prof. Murray, of Montreal, formerly of Kingston, is recovering from an attack of diphtheria.

Capt. Ludgate, of Hamilton, is in Belleville looking after the Salvation Army and Capt. Nellie Ryerson.

Mrs. Dr. Field, of Prescott, died there a few days ago and her remains were interred at Gananoque, her former home.

Dr. T. M. Fenwick has been asked to offer for the representation of Cataraqui Ward in the Council. He says he cannot do so on account of professional engagements.

Rumour has it that the contest for the Mayoralty of Picton will be between C. B. Allison and Dr. H. B. Evans, formerly of Kingston.

H. J. Emery, a student of the Royal College, will leave on Monday for London, a delegate to the annual dinner of the medical students of the Western University.

Dr. Lafferty, of Regina, a graduate of the Royal College, Kingston, has accepted the position of Superintending Surgeon of that portion of the Canadian Pacific RR. north of Lake Superior, with headquarters at Multiplication River.

A. M. McLeod, Captain of the Queen's College Foot Ball Association, left today for Port Hope, where he attends a meeting of foot ballers. He will probably bring the championship cup back with him.

Afternoon, Truly.

The ladies' oyster supper and entertainment was a success, as the evening was fine and everything favorable. There was a large attendance, including people from Leeds, Lansdowne, Sterrington, Kingston, St. Lawrence and other places. Thanks to the persons who assisted, both materially and personally, and particularly to the young lady who presented the congregation with a beautiful five story cake, which netted $20.70. The whole amount realized was nearly $100.

No Voting for Them.

The following resolution was carried unanimously at a large meeting of the Queen's College Y. M. C. Association, held this morning:—

"Resolved, that the members of the Queen's College Y.M.C.A., as a body of students, do condemn the action of intoxicating students as objects of Church influence or election, as appears to be the case from an item of the public press."

Gospel Services.

The usual gospel meeting, under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A. of Queen's University, will be held on Sunday evening at 8 o'clock in the City Hall. D. McTavish, M.A., will act as leader, and Mr. Sterling and others will make addresses. All, especially young men, are invited to attend.

Beware of that Cough! It may kill you sure as a gun. Use Dr. Carson's Pulmonary Cough Drops. A never fails. Large Bottles at 50 cents. For sale everywhere.

A BANDMASTER'S PRESENT.

Prof. Davy's Leadership of Hunstman Very Popular—Address and Reply.

Prof. Davy, of Kingston, has become popular as a bandmaster. A couple of weeks ago he received a flattering address from the Sydenham band, which he has been teaching for some time past, and on last Tuesday the Westport Silver Trumpet Band gave him a farewell concert, at the close of which he was presented by Mr. Adams, a member of the band, with the following address:

Dear Sir, — We, the undersigned members of the W.S.T.B. are desirous of expressing our entire satisfaction with Prof. J. W. Davy, our instructor. Since he commenced his labours in Westport as bandmaster, he has displayed both energy and talent, and has used his best endeavours for our welfare, and we have found you to be an excellent teacher and composer of band music. We have also to thank you for the excellent composition entitled W.S.T.B. Polka, which you have composed and kindly presented us with, and as the term of instruction has closed our association with you will be remembered with pleasure."

E. G. Adams, W. S. Ripley, G. C. Frohenbergh, W. A. Clark, W. H. Chaney, Amos Connolly, James Due, W. Kearns, S. Kearns, W. A. Due, Joel P. Reid, Herbert J. Bilton.

Prof. Davy made the following reply:

"Gentlemen—It affords me much pleasure to learn that my efforts as instructor of the Westport silver trumpet band have been appreciated. I endeavored to discharge my duties faithfully and to the best of my ability, and it is gratifying to know that my labours have resulted advantageously to those interested. I am well pleased with the progress you have made, and there is no doubt but you are one of the best bands in this section of the country, and I hope you may continue long and prosper in the future as in the past. I will take this opportunity of thanking the members of the band and the citizens of Westport for the many acts of kindness shown Mrs. Davy and myself during our stay with you, and a hearty welcome will always be in waiting for any of our Westport friends who may favor us with a call."

LADIES' AID MEETING.

What a Few of Rev. Mr. Carey's Friends Decided Upon Last Night.

At a meeting of the Ladies' Aid Society of St. Paul's Church, held last night, the question of the election at the recent bazaar was discussed. The result of the meeting was forwarded to us to-day. It is as follows:

"It was moved and seconded and carried unanimously,

"That the Rev. B. B. Carey had nothing whatever to do in the getting up of the polling booth, and had interfered in no way in the carrying out of the election, it being altogether in our hands, and we hereby publicly declare this to be a fact.

"That we sustain the decision of the Returning-Officer, Mrs. Wm. Smith, in her action in declaring Dr. Sullivan the successful candidate, he having secured the greater number of votes. We declare him the winner of the chair, for the reason that the friends of the doctor placed the larger amount of money in the polling booth. "Mrs. Sayers,

"Secretary."

"P.S.—We cannot understand why there should be so much finding fault with the polling booth, as it is known for a fact all over the country different Churches have had raffles and used other means somewhat similar to raise money for the church, and it caused no comment. In this case, but for Miss Hannah Kaye' fainting all would have been well."

These resolutions by no means, however, settle the difficulty.

A Parallel Success.

A graduate of Edinburgh writes to the Globe on state aid. He inserts this paragraph:

"Queen's University, Kingston, in by royal charter founded after the model of Edinburgh, and on looking at its history for the last 50 years we find it a parallel success. All honour to the Presbyterian Church for having started such an important educational institution."

Sensational Story.

"A bizarre bazaar—a scandalous scene in a Kingston Church—how an injudicious Rector almost stirred up a rough and tumble fight," is the heading of the article in the Toronto News on St. Paul's Church bazaar.

ROE REBUFFED.

His Motion to Dismiss the Action Brought Against Rice—A Failure.

Toronto, Dec. 14.—At Osgoode Hall this afternoon Roe's motion to dismiss the action brought by Mr. Mine was dismissed with costs, and the case will now go to trial. The action is for $5,000, damages for numerous acts of bribery practised in the Dominion election for Lennox.

Pimples and Blotches.

Call at A. F. Chown's drug store, and get a package of Rodrigues & Fuchs's Curative Cerate. It is composed of Vaseline, Carbolic Acid, and Cerate, and has never failed to remove Pimples, Blotches, Chilblains and Burns. Bough Skin. It cures when all others fail. Try it.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

A Churchman Speaks.

The Editor, British Whig.

Sir,—I had intended to criticise Mrs. Smyth's letter, and to tell what I know about the methods adopted by St. Paul's Church to raise money for religious purposes, but as the recent bazaar election is likely to lead to a judicial investigation and all the facts will come out, I will have nothing further to say for the present.—Yours truly,

A CHURCHMAN.

Dec. 13th, 1883.

Christ Church, Camerton.

The Editor, British Whig.

Sir,—In your issue of the 13th you say you were informed that there were not more than fifteen or twenty persons present at the service in Christ Church on Sunday last. Knowing that you would not willingly make an incorrect statement I would say that your informant must have made some mistake, as twenty remained after service to receive the Holy Communion. Considering the proportion of Church of England congregations who usually stay for this purpose I need not say that the number present during the service numbered at least four or five times the number stated.—Yours,

ONE WHO WAS PRESENT.

Dec. 14.

The Clergyman's Memorial.

The Editor British Whig.

DEAR SIR,—You have been misinformed as to the rumour respecting the clergymen's memorial to the Dean. It is not rumoured that during the session of the Diocesan Committees some of the attending clergy signed a memorial to the Dean calling for the dismissal of Dr. Wilson, but it is said that a day or two after the appearance in the newspapers of the report of the all-night meeting of the Salvation Army—which, be it observed, was some days before the Diocesan Committees met, and before any correspondence took place between the Dean and Dr. Wilson—the church clergy of the city held a meeting, and drew up and signed a memorial to the Dean, directing his attention to those newspaper reports, and concluding with the request that Dr. Wilson be called upon to resign his position as Curate of the Cathedral. The Dean, I am told, does not deny having received that memorial. Do any of the city clergy deny having signed it? If so, now is the time to hear from them, otherwise the rumour must be accepted as correct.—Yours,

JONATHAN.

Kingston, Dec. 23rd.

Wellington Catechumens.

The Editor, British Whig.

Sir,—I heartily agree with one of your correspondents, who points out how some of our churches are degrading themselves by "catchpenny" means of "raising the wind," whether by lotteries, raffles or mock elections, for which such a strange name seems to have arisen of late. Apparently, as soon as one Church introduces any new absurdity of the kind, the others follow suit like so many sheep. We have heard a good deal of the irreligiousness of the Salvation Army, but the scene described in your issue of Thursday evening in connection with one of these mock elections was far more disorderly and discreditable, as associated with a religious object, than anything I have ever observed in the Army. Let us hope that it will recall the promoters of such things to their senses, and that we shall not see Christian Churches further disgraced by a sin so similar to that which our Lord so severely rebuked on the only occasion on which he resorted to personal discipline. It is all right for ladies to earn honest money by honest work, and give that to church purposes. If "time is money" it is as praiseworthy to give the one as the other. But the "short and easy methods" of resort to fictitious excitements in order to extort money from unwilling givers, by appealing to their selfishness in the name of religion, is simply to profane holy things and attempt to build up the kingdom of Christ with the very elements which it came to oppose and conquer. On money so gained how can the blessing of God be expected to rest?

I earnestly hope we shall hear no more of such unworthy practices in connection with church sales. If we do, it is time that those who see the evil should enter their protest by absolutely declining to countenance bazaars or sales attended by such accompaniments. Yours, etc.,

OLD FASHIONED CHRISTIANITY.

Dec. 13.

IMPRESSIONS ELSEWHERE.

How the late Political Banner is Regarded in Brockville and Belleville.

Church bazaars, in which the popularity of politicians is tested by votes, have become demoralizing. The one held in behalf of St. Paul's Church in Kingston the other day produced a tremendous excitement and according to the reports a tremendous amount of bogus votes were polled. In fact the "votes" were simply dollars of which the two sensitive candidates or their friends were fined in the name of the church to the tune of $400.—Belleville Intelligencer.

A somewhat scandalous, though not the less laborious, scene occurred in Kingston on Wednesday evening. It seems a bazaar was held in connection with St. Paul's Church, of which Rev. W. B. Carey, who visited Brockville on July 1st as Chaplain of the Prince of Wales Rifles, is pastor. A chair had been put up for donation to the most popular of two well known politicians, Mr. W. Harty, Liberal, and Dr. Sullivan, Conservative. When the poll closed a dispute occurred as to the number of votes recorded. It ultimately resulted in a disgraceful row in which the polling booth was knocked into kindling wood over the lady returning officer's head, men and women, church officers and politicians mingling in the fray. After this Kingston can be set down as furnishing during the past year some of the most disgraceful scenes in connection with religious rites on record.—Brockville Recorder.

TROUBLE AHEAD.

Orange Meeting vs. Parnell Meeting—Lord Rosmore in the Agitators.

Dungannon, Ireland, Dec. 13.—Placards, signed by the Orange Grand Master, have been posted announcing a monster meeting of Orangemen, to be held at Dromore on the 1st January, in opposition to the meeting called by the Parnellites. Lord Rosmore will be present.

Dublin, Dec. 13.—The trial of Elliott and others, for the murder of Smith, has been postponed owing to the illness of a juror.

MURDERER OF CAREY.

Dining His Wife Yesterday—The Man Going Behalf by the Condemned Man.

London, Dec. 13. — O'Donnell took final leave of his friends yesterday. His brother was with him for half an hour. O'Donnell told him that just previous to the shooting, Carey had asked him to go below and order some beer, saying that he would go himself but did not care to have his wife see him. O'Donnell went below and Carey followed soon after. While they were drinking together Carey said with an oath, "I believe you know me." O'Donnell replied, "Yes, you are Carey, the informer." Carey then drew a pistol and attempted to fire, but O'Donnell knocked it upward, drew his own and fired. Carey's son was the first person to come toward them. He picked up his father's pistol. Beyond this, O'Donnell refused to talk on the subject. He is in good spirits and hopeful.

While we Aim to be Popular

PROGRESSION IS OUR LAW.

MANY PEOPLE WONDER WHY IT IS THAT in this enterprising city of Kingston there is only one Fur House that keeps in stock an assortment of SEAL JACKETS AND OTHER FINE FURS.

Such, however is the case and it is now apparent to the trade that this single establishment that does carry these goods is

THE BOSTON HAT STORE,

WELLINGTON STREET

Our reputation for showing FINER LINES OF FURS than any other house in the city is now established. At the Prince Medal at the Dominion Exhibition of 1882 and at a much larger one at Paris in 1878 we were the successful competitors against the world. Our Fur Department is larger than ever before. Those who buy furs of us know that they get the genuine article, and that they have to pay but little more than half what they would have to pay for inferior goods. Compare prices and qualities with those of other stores and judge for yourselves. Further we claim to sell

I CURE FITS!

When I say cure I do not mean merely to stop them for a time and then they come again, but I mean a radical cure. I have made the disease of Fits, Epilepsy or Falling Sickness a life long study. I warrant my remedy to cure the worst cases. Because others have failed is no reason for not sending for a cure. Give express and post office address. Dr. H. G. ROOT, 186 Pearl St., N.Y.

MONEY TO LEND.

Money to lend on Freehold Security—MONEY WANTED, Princess Street.

CONSUMPTION

I have a long time a remedy for the above disease, by the use of which hundreds of cases of the worst kind and of long standing have been cured. I shall be glad to send two bottles free to any sufferer who will send me their Express and Post Office address. I feel confident that my remedy will cure the worst case of Consumption in its first stages, and I ask the sick to give me a trial. Address, DR. T. A. SLOCUM, 96 Pearl St., N.Y.

A YOUNG MAN, used to keeping a set of books, wants a situation. Can give Bond if required. Address, Box 1, Station B, N.Y.

TANDERBILT'S GREAT BALL.

The Most Elegant Affair Ever Given in New York.

New York, Dec. 14.—Mr. W. H. Vanderbilt's ball last Tuesday evening was the grandest ever given on this continent. There were 2,000 of his friends and acquaintances at his palatial home on Fifth Avenue. The Vanderbilt families since their entrance into society have entertained most handsomely and their fancy dress ball given last March by Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Vanderbilt was acknowledged to be the most elegant and costly ever given in this country. But Mr. W. H. Vanderbilt determined his ball should surpass that given by his son and by ever all Europe. It was grander than that given by the Queen of England or the Prince of Wales, whether in Buckingham Palace, the Marlborough House or Sandringham by comparison. The decorations, suppers, music and toilets were were in preparation for weeks. The two large houses were thrown open and appeared as one. They were so arranged when balls, sliding floors having been placed between the two large vestibules. These vestibules appeared like a large hall and were dotted on either sides with flowers, ferns and palms. The ball room of each house had the floors highly polished so as to resemble a mirror, and flowers bloomed everywhere. The supper was the grandest and most elegant ever served in or on this continent. It was served by Delmonico, assisted by Vanderbilt's own corps. Over 300 waiters were in attendance and the supper and wines cost in the neighborhood of $50,000. The tables were decorated with masterpieces in confectionery, pyramids of French pears, pullets and hot hens. Now comes the only one known supper machine so good on the above at a price everybody can afford to going and getting their groceries at Crawford's, and there is no reason why every person in this city could not have a supper to outrun Vanderbilt when they can buy fruit of all kinds, jams, jellies, pickles, sauces and table delicacies at such low prices as Crawford is now selling them at. It is said the wines used on the above occasion were chiefly Mumm's and Ayala extra dry and sweet and dry Catawba. These wines can be had from James Crawford at the same price as you pay other houses for the common wines, for they are agents for Catawba and Isabella wines, and that is the reason they can afford to sell them so cheap, and our Labatt's London stout puts Guinness in the shade; in fact our Labatt's Stout makes it pale by comparison. Go to CRAWFORD'S for your groceries and wines and you will be highly pleased.
