A GOVERNMENT RESIGNS.

The Nova Scotia Government has collapsed. It suffered defeat in the late local election, held concurrently with that for the House of Commons, but retained power until the present in the expectation of being able to corruptly obtain the support of certain Oppositionists and thus avoid the contingency that has just taken place. We may take it for granted that the hopes which for a month buoyed up the tottering Ministry have been blasted, and that the wiles, tricks and questionable expedients of desperate men have utterly failed of their purpose. The Liberals have proven loyal to their party and loyal to their principles, and we trust they will be in a position to form a strong Government and conduct the affairs of the Province in a manner calculated to win the continued confidence of the people.

Mr. Gayton, of Yarmouth, who has been summoned to the Premiership, comes of good stock, the U. E. Loyalists. He was first sent to Parliament in 1871, and since then has been re-elected some three times. He is a merchant and held the important office of Commissioner of Public Works and Mines from 18th Dec., 1877, to 22nd Oct., 1878, when the Ministry of which he was a member, led by Hon. P. C. Hill, resigned. In the Cabinet, the dissolution of which is reported by telegraph to-day, there were five without departments. These, however, and three others, constituted what is called the Executive Council.

CHANGE OF BASE

The Manitoba Provincial elections are close at hand, and for them the political parties are preparing. It is interesting to note the sudden change in policy adopted by the Tories since the Dominion election. The Manitobans had many grievances against which to complain, and they very properly refused to have these glossed over or compromised at the eleventh hour by the Ministerial deputation sent from Ottawa. The election of three Liberals to two Conservatives was ominously regarded by the Norquay Government, and it is not surprising that its organ, the Winnipeg Times, should trim and announce a programme entirely new to the Local Government, thus:

1. The extension of the Province eastward, westward, and northward, including a large slice of the territory claimed by the Ontario Government, the new boundaries being larger than those of the five older provinces in the Confederation.

3. The maintenance of the constitutional powers of the Manitoba Legislature as equal to those of every other Province in the Dominion.

8. The right of the Province to grant charters to railways running within the confines of the old Province to the international boundaries, and within the new territory to within 15 miles of the said boundaries.

What a somersault this pronunciamento indicates, my countrymen! In the projected enlargement of the Province, however, it is easy to detect the hand of Sir John Macdonald, who advises a course calculated to embarrass Mr. Mowat and at the same time to help him out of a difficulty. The Manitoba Government cannot win favour by its specious promises now. Hon. Mr Norquay has been a willing tool of his Ottawa friends. He manifested this fact too often, and now that the people are rising in their might and demanding relief from the imposition of railway monopolies, and a fair and patriotic land policy, he seeks to become their champion and secure a continuance of the power he has so long misused. The fate of Schultz is likely to be the fate of Norquay. The latter is even more deserving of banishment from public life, inasmuch as he, as Provincial Premier, should have protested most vigorously against the iniquities he allowed the Province to suffer from the syndicate and the Government that placed the interests of the province so largely in their keeping. The Liberals of Manitoba, like the Liberals of Ontario, contend for the liberties of which Sir John would deprive them if he had the power. The great Premier is learning too soon the truth of his own observation, "We cannot check Manitoba;" and he will learn in the near future how futile it is to attempt to check Ontario.

OUT LOOK IN ENGLAND.

We regard an early change of Government in England as very probable. Those who are numbered among Mr. Gladstone's supporters are by no means united. Various public questions affect various wings of the party, and the occasional opposition of these has become embarassing to the Premier, "the grand old man," who is not actuated by personal or sectional motives, but only seeks the greatest good of the greatest number. The Irish party and the Government have been apparently completely dissevered, and without any possible hope of being benefited by such the former seem to be disposed to hasten a change in the Administration. There are too many men in the British House of Commons working for the party rather than for the state. Some are too advanced, some not advanced enough in public opinion, and not a few are factious in spirit.

The Opposition have helped Gladstone very largely in promoting Irish legislation, with apparently two objects in view—(1) to command favourable consideration for a desire to forward parliamentary work, and (2) to effect reforms which must prove advantageous to them in the event of the Ministry sustaining defeat at the next election. The generosity of Sir Stafford Northcote has not, therefore, been as real as it has been apparent; and we have ground for this opinion in the facility with which he has taken advantage of Bright's resignation and other indications of a want and harmony on the Egyptian question to prepare a motion, the carrying of which would leave the Government no alternative but to at once resign. Unexpectedly, however, disunion has appeared in the ranks of the Opposition, Lord Churchhill, who is the leader of a fourth party, having become the advocate of a policy which cannot command a strong support—not at this juncture at any rate—namely, the establishment of a native Egyptian Government under British control.

Mr. Gladstone cannot be expected to continue in an office involving as at present by fearful anxiety and exhausting labour. He is an old man, and cannot stand what would soon wear out the most vigorous of constitutions. Then it must be remembered, that while willing to serve his Sovereign and country he is not hungry for power, and will not sacrifice the principles of a life time in order to retain it. He will not desert his post when his duty as a statesman is so much required, but the storm being past and something like calm restored, he will, in all likelihood, seek the retirement which one of his long service and usefulness so much deserves. He does not look for elevation to the House of Lords. As plain Mr. Gladstone he prefers to end his public career.

How Kingston Appeared to One Visiting It for the First Time—Oh, those Cabbies

The Chicago Tribune contains a well written, spicy letter, description of a trip to Franconia, N. H., via the Grand Trunk RR. to Kingston, thence down the river via the Royal Mail Line. The first impressions of Kingston were bad, no cabs being at the depot to convey the tired and disgusted travellers to the city, and telephone calls for conveyances failing to elicit responses. The party made an onslaught upon an "all night" eating house across the way, and somewhat refreshed, set out to walk to the leading hotel, where another sensation was encountered—a scent "comparable to the perfume arising from the soiled underwear of the Passing Regiment." A member of the Board of Trade, learning of mascalonge, 40 lbs. in weight and liable to bite as quick as the spoon was thrown out, went fishing, and returned in the evening sunburned, limp and weary. He had been twice becalmed, he had been nearly run down by the Spartan, and as a result of the day's work produced only a string of four innocent, eyed perch and a small bass. Of the city a good word is spoken. It is said to be picturesquely located, and to look as quaint as any Rip Van Winklean city. The College is well arranged, is manned with competent professors has a good curriculum and a large number of students. The asylum is noticed as beautifully located, with grounds kept in admirable order. The buildings are massive, and the interiors capitally suited for the care of the inmates. The institution, too, is cleanly and well kept. The penitentiary is very substantial. The residence portion of the city is well cared for. The streets are clean, the yard lawns beautiful, and the residences fine and palatial. The business houses are but moderately substantial, and different in comparison with any well built metropolis.

A Pair of Noted Criminals.

Allen Pinkerton writes to the Chicago Tribune respecting the career of a couple of young men, described as great adventurers and thieves. One of these gave the name of Augustus Stuart Byron, and claimed to be a natural son of the poet; the other represented himself as the nephew of Admiral Napier. Byron said his mother's maiden name was Mary Stuart, that she afterwards married a man named McDonald, and in 1841 resided in or near Kingston. Pinkerton watched the brace of rascals. Subsequently he convicted Byron of train wrecking, and had him sentenced to 99 years' imprisonment, only three weeks of which he lived. Napier, who was in the post office service and kept Byron posted in regard to the despatch of valuable mails, fled to Europe and escaped the punishment that was his due. Byron is not believed to have been related to Byron, and is not thought to have a mother residing at or near Kingston, although he claims to have visited her here.

Taylor Has a Rival.

A veteran, of warlike aspect, inquired at the post office wicket this morning for a letter, adding, "It's a big square one." On the clerk's negative reply, he said, "Look again; it's a big one with the Royal Arms on it. It's from the Dook of Cambridge. I have been writing to him." Bystander, (loq.), "He's another Taylor."

A Machine Destroying Cat.

The following is taken from the Car Builder: "A man in Ohio has invented a sheet iron cat, with cylindrical attachment and steel claws and teeth. It is worked by clock work. A bellows inside swells up the tail at will to a belligerent size, and by a tremulo attachment causes the patent cat to make all the noise of which the living cat is capable. When you want fun the sheet iron affair is wound up and placed on the roof. Every cat within hearing girds on his armour and sallies forth. Sometimes as many as fifty or a hundred attack the metallic cat at once. No sooner does he feel the weight of an assailant than his teeth and claws work with lightning rapidity. Adversaries within six feet of him are torn to shreds. Fresh battalions come on to meet a similar fate, and in an hour nothing is to be seen in the vicinity but a medley of hair, toe nails and fiddle strings."

If you experience bad taste in mouth, sallowness or yellow color of skin, feel stupid and drowsy, appetite unsteady, frequent headache or dizziness, you are "bilious," and nothing will arouse your liver to action and strengthen up your system equal to Dr. Pierce's "Golden Medical Discovery." Sold by all druggists.

ELECTRICITY is nature's own remedy for disease. It cures easily and simply. No nauseous medicines to take; no bitter pills; no, the belts are to be used as directed, and new vigor, new life pervades the exhausted system. A cure guaranteed in 99 cases out of a hundred. Only obtained at the Pharmacy, Heath & Gunn's old stand. See advt. in another column.

An Ohio physician dug seven graves for a like number of his patients, but was sent to an insane asylum before he could kill the intended victims.

All the barbers in St. Paul are negroes. One of them was refused a drink at a fashionable bar on account of his color. The next time the bartender went to a barber shop he was informed that no negro in that city would shave him until he erased the color line at his bar. He is growing a full beard in consequence.

Near Mexico a mammoth tree was felled on the farm of Charles Cowan. It measured 9 feet through near the ground and was 110 feet high, the first limb growing out a height of 30 feet from its base. It is thought to be 300 years old. The wood was made up into 800 rails, 300 fence posts, besides ten cords of fire wood. By its fall 12 squirrels and one racoon were killed.

The youthful son of a rich widow at Boston became so saturated with dime novel romance that he abandoned his luxurious home and started out to settle the Indian question. Ragged, emaciated, and wretched he was picked up in a New York park and returned to his home, where he will content himself hereafter scalping doughnuts and tomahawking dumplings. Four months did it.

Look out how you hug your grandmother. A young man of Oakland, Cal., who was a great favorite with and very fond of his grandmother, gave the old lady a squeeze the other day which might have been relished by a blossoming maiden, with subtle bones and elastic tissues, but the old lady gasped "Oh! my," and sunk fainting to the floor. A surgical diagnosis revealed the fact that four ribs were broken.

A young doctor who found himself in a Dakota village without a dollar to pay a heavy board bill, concocted a plan by which a wandering tramp played the part of a small pox patient, and the doctor vaccinated the entire population of the town with some innocuous acid at $2 each. The swindle was discovered too late for the enterprising physician and his bogus patient skipped out with $300 each.

The most wonderful curative remedies of the present day, are those that come from Germany or at least originate there. The most recent preparation placed upon the market in this country, is the GERMAN INVIGORATOR, which has never been known to fail in curing a single case of impotency, spermatorrhœa, weakness and all diseases resulting from self-abuse, as nervous debility, inability, mental anxiety, languor, lassitude, depression of spirits and functional derangements of the nervous system. For sale by druggists, or sent free by mail on receipt of the price, $1.00 per box or six boxes for $5.00. Address J. G. King, Sole Agent for Kingston, Ont. Send for circular.

THE Hon. J. Lyman Bulkley, M. D., of New York, says: I have used Dr. WHEELER'S Compound Elixir of Phosphates and Calisaya largely in my practice for two years, and in my judgment there is no preparation of the kind that can compare with it. With feeble anemic women of whom we have so many, and in cases convalescing from prostrate diseases, I should hardly know how to get along without it. In dyspepsia it acts like a charm—in fact in any of the long list of exhaustive diseases, it is the remedy.

AFFAIRS IN EGYPT.

Bluster But No Battle—Arabi's Defence—News Not Very Exciting.

Alexandria, July 19.—A telegram from the Porte for Dervisch Pacha arrived shortly after he left here for Constantinople. Seymour sent after him and he is now returning. No Europeans remain in Cairo except 20 Germans, who refuse to leave. The Consul killed at Seamasig was an Italian Consul.

London, July 19.—The ships of the squadron have been ordered to return to their several stations. This is regarded as an indication that the emergency, as far as regards the demand upon the navy is concerned, passed over.

London, July 19.—Efficient precautions have been taken to protect Port Said, Imaila and Suez. The identical note of the powers to the Porte, regarding the despatch of Turkish troops to Egypt, is still unanswered.

ARABI BEY HEARD FROM.

Alexandria, July 19.—A correspondent yesterday drove nine miles along Arabi's retreat, and passed several villages where the people were starving. The soldiers robbed them of everything. The entire route was lined with dead horses and carriages. It is reported that the Bedouins harassed the soldiers along the retreat, killing 200. The conduct of the Khedive causes much uneasiness. He has for the last few days allowed several persons to be at the palace well known to be intimately connected with Arabi Bey. The Khedive apparently trusts them, but it may be that he is trying to get them thoroughly in his power.

POLICY OF GERMANY.

Berlin, July 19.—The Cologne Gazette and Berlin North German Gazette print articles that are regarded as directly inspired by representing the policy of Germany and other powers except England and France. The articles state that the Egyptian Question can only be ripe for Germany after the Western powers come to a mutual understanding to apply the assent of Europe. In view of the general need of peace England may rely for support on all sides in all her endeavours to bring about a settlement of the question, especially if she continues in the role as a defender of her just rights.

LINE OF DEFENCE.

Constantinople, July 19.—According to a communication received here, Arabi maintains that the bombardment of Alexandria was a hostile act to Egypt, and contrary to the rights of the Sultan, and he was fully justified by law and the decision of the Council of Ministers in replying to the British fire. The Khedive, he argues, in accepting the English soldiers as a body guard, shows that he considered the Egyptian army enemies. By international and sacred laws, he says, he has right and duty to defend the country, and the Khedive's order to suspend military operations is analagous to an order of Bey of Tunis at the time of the French invasion.

A Policeman's Elopement.

Baltimore, July 19.—On Sunday William Watkins, policeman, aged 24, eloped with and married Catherine Fowner, aged 15. Catherine's father met the couple on the street, after the marriage, and tried to take the daughter home with him. Watkins arrested him for disorderely conduct. Fowner was soon released but in the meantime Watkins and wife got away. Fowner and wife eloped 16 years ago and were married in much the same circumstances, and at the same parsonage as Watkins and Fowner's daughter.

A Chinese Strike.

San Francisco, July 19.—250 Chinese cigar makers, at the factory of Retrenbaum & Co., struck yesterday because three high binders were discharged for drawing knives and threatening the foreman. The Company are negotiating for white help.

Local Government Resigned.

Halifax, N.S., July 19.—The Local Government of Nova Scotia has resigned, and it is rumored that Lieut. Gov. Archibald will send for Mr. Gayton, of Yarmouth, who was Commissioner of Mines in 1878, to form an Administration.

Steamer Wrecked.

New Orleans, July 19.—The steamer "John Wilson," plying between here and Alchafalaya River, struck a snag on Sunday night and sunk. Six lives were lost. The steamer drifted down to the railroad crossing, ten miles below, where she now lies wrecked.

A Poor Witness.

New York, July 19.—George Canavan, who served two years in the State Prison, and on his release made serious charges of cruelty and mismanagement against the prison authorities, was yesterday sentenced to five years in Sing Sing for robbing a store.

An Ugly Theft.

Waterford, Ireland, July 19.—A railway van, containing a large number of military rifles and a quantity of ammunition, has been broken into here and the rifles and cartridges stolen.

Child Recovered.

Montreal, July 19. — There is great rejoicing here to-day over the recovery of Mr. Smith's child, abducted by thieves, who wanted $10,000 before returning it. The detectives found it.

The Strike Over.

Cincinnati, Ohio, July 19.—A large number of Union men broke from the ranks of the strikers yesterday and returned to work at the rolling mills.

A Great Fire.

Symra, July 19.—A great fire is raging here. Many hundreds of houses have been destroyed.

PROPERTY OWNERS, BE WISE

And SECURE YOUR BUILDINGS and contents from the effects of lightning, so prevalent in this country, by erecting thereon the LONDON GLOBE PATENT COPPER LIGHTNING ROD, the safest and best known to scientific men, as shown by the late practical test in London, made by W. M. CAIRNS, ELECTRICIAN, LONDON, MANAGER DOMINION TELEGRAPH COMPANY, and also during the month of August last when in or about $75,000 worth of property was destroyed by lightning in the County of Middlesex alone, as well as in many other places through the Dominion, yet not one case occurred where these rods were set up, although thousands were in use all over this country. The COMPANY HAS OFFERED $500 to any person who can prove otherwise, and the DOMINION INSURANCE CO'Y. OF HAMILTON, will now insure property where these rods are erected for ONE-TENTH LESS, when application is made by this Company or their authorized agents. One or two good reliable agents wanted. Apply to J. BROKENSHIRE, Head Agent for Kingston District.

N.B.—A good variety of WELL PUMPS of the most improved kinds kept on hand. FELT ROOFING also done on the shortest notice.
