LENNOX ACTIVE.

A meeting of the Reform Association of Lennox has been called for Wednesday, Oct. 25th, at the Town Hall, Napanee. The officers for the ensuing year will then be elected and the nomination of a candidate for the Local Legislature take place. One of the penalties of greatness is being experienced by this county. Had Sir Richard Cartwright and Sir John Macdonald never been candidates in the riding it would not be set upon party edge so keenly as it is constantly. It might, indeed, have been as calm and lifeless in the political sea as its sister borough, Addington. The Reformers of Lennox have an organization that does them great credit, having won them more than one signal triumph, notwithstanding the strong Tory prejudice existing. No Conservative could have won in the last contest but Sir John, and even his friends had to enlist a powerful lever in a lively corruption fund.

COUNTY SHOWS.

The Port Hope News proclaims that the exhibition business is played out, as witness the results of the recent Central and Union Fairs at Cobourg and Port Hope. It says:

"The people have been fairly surfeited with exhibitions. Some change has got to be made, or the interest will fag out completely. It would seem as if the only way to retain any life about such institutions would be to dispense with the township fairs and unite in one grand county fair. As things stand now they are one horse concern all around."

Precisely. That is just what Kingston did when it lost its grip of the Provincial, and the result has been the Central Fairs with about 5000 entries in place of former west county shows. Now when we have won the Provincial back again we are well prepared for it not only in the way of the thousands of competitive entries but by presenting the very best market exhibitors at the Provincial Show have yet had for sale of improved stock. By all means build up the county shows into Central Fairs, for those in the ridings and townships do not afford a sufficient range of competition either to instruct or profit, while they militate against the success of worthier efforts.

THE SMELTING WORKS.

The City Council is apparently impressed with the idea we mentioned yesterday, that the offer of a cash bonus to secure the proposed iron works would be useless on the part of Kingston, as it could not hope to bid as high as larger and wealthier places. But the proposal to give a full description of the many advantages we have enumerated in favor of this city as a location, and to promise a fine site and exemption from taxation, should meet fully the reasonable desires of the company. It is exciting a wider competition for its benefits than we have already stated, since similar requests to that received here have been laid before the London Council as well as those of Hamilton and Belleville. Even London's best friends will scarcely claim that it has advantages as a site for this industry, and, therefore it would seem that Mr. Robins and his fellow capitalists are not showing a practical preference but a weakness for a big bonus. A $25,000 gift would be a mere pittance compared with the loss that would take place in a few years' operations at a disadvantageous point.

HUNTED DOWN.

President Arthur is realizing the discomfort of being public property. Wearied at Washington, between the vexations of public affairs and the importunities of patronage seekers, what a charming temptation it must have been to which he yielded in spite of charges of neglect of business, when he set out for a ten days' rest and change in the picturesque Thousand Isles. And a delightful holiday it must have been in this most charming autumn weather. But though this section may be a happy retreat from political cares, it is not a spot where a man's social incognito is delicately regarded. The President could not any more readily kiss the pretty dining room maid at Alexandria Bay than he could her counterpart at Washington, without creating scandal. He has been ogled out of sight, and every movement watched with such a peculiar interest that it must surely be imagined that a President is an odd sort of being who walks and talks and acts differently from other men. That crowds have been accustomed to hang around the doors until he came out is not so much to be wondered at in view of the excursions made to the bay by all sorts of curious people. But it is rather degrading to have it said boastfully in honor of a Brockville photographer, that he had been shadowing the President for a week past in the hope of getting a good photograph, but had been unsuccessful. He secured some excellent views, however, of the dining party at the House, on Sunday last." The may be business enterprise, but it is an espionage only a degree above that which stoops to bedroom key holes. We are sorry that a Canadian was guilty of it. This "shadowing" has, too, created inconvenient gossip. It is against all propriety for the President to leave U. S. territory without the leave of Congress, and when the steam yacht, unconsciously to that official, took a short cut home this week to the Bay by a Canadian channel, the fact was telegraphed all over as a good joke on him. But to-day's telegrams inform us that he deliberately fished yesterday in Canadian waters. We shall waive the privilege of denouncing this last fishery outrage in Dominion waters, as the gossips of the U. S. press will make handle enough of the bold operation to punish his Excellency. But the press or public opinion are not elements that terrorize him.

HANSON'S DEATH.

The Second Engineer at the Cotton Mill Crushed Fatally—A Very Sad Accident.

Last night between 10 and 11 o'clock a most unfortunate accident occurred at the Kingston Cotton Mill. It had been decided to remove a heavy pulley on the shafting in the third story and have it bored or to some extent remodelled. The drum, weighing some 300 lbs., had been lowered and rolled along the floor to the elevator. Here darkness prevailed, the manager not allowing any lights in the building beside those of the gas gets and covered lamps, and none of the latter were convenient. Mr. Wilson and Mr. Youlden, (Chief Engineer) were in the main part of the mill arranging to have the pully lowered to the next flats, by boards and ropes, but in their absence from the elevator Charles Hanson, Second Engineer, undertook, himself—perhaps unconscious of what his superiors were about—to get the heavy piece of metal down stairs. He must have got before it, and the wheel was got safely over three or four steps; then it overpowered him. Mr. Wilson says he has no doubt that in his endeavour to prevent the damage that would have ensued had he let the pilly go. He held on to it and went to the bottom of the stairs with fearful violence. Wilson and Youlden heard the crash and rushed out to see what had happened. They found Hanson on his back upon the floor, and the wheel upon his chest. The poor fellow had received great injuries, but he was calm, conscious and remarkably patient under the circumstances. He was released and placed upon a board, in the position in which he rested with the least pain. The clothing of his breast was cleared away and the fact became apparent that he could not live. His chest was crushed in, and Mr. Wilson could see the bone and flesh slowly recovering their former position. Dr. T. M. Fenwick was hurriedly summoned to the mill and found the forehead wounded above the eye, the blood vessels of the chest broken, and evidence of great internal injury. He had the sufferer placed on a stretcher and borne to his home on Magdalene street, near the mill.

HANSON SACRIFICED HIS LIFE

THERE HE GRADUALLY SANK,

Rev. Father Twoney administering the sacrament before unconsciousness set in and death took place. At midnight the Dr. was again sent for, and visited Hanson, but could not do anything to save his life. He breathed his last about 1 o'clock, and greater grief the physician has never seen than that exhibited by his family. A wife and three small children survive him. Mr. Wilson says Hanson had been an employee of the mill since its opening, and was a favorite with every one connected with the institution. He was a willing worker, and could not undertake and perform too much. His only fault was his indiscretion, his rashness, against which he was often cautioned, but which he failed to check. The accident is the saddest that has occurred in the mill, and great was the depression apparent among the employees to-day.

SERVICES IN FORMER YEARS.

He was formerly a fireman—and a good one—was for many years with the Messrs. Anglin, and subsequently with the Montreal Transportation Company. While with the Anglins he was sent on the steamer Kingston to Ottawa, during the holding of the fair at the Capital. At one place on the Canal there was no one convenient to take the line, and with his hand full of money, which he had collected as fare and freight, he essayed to jump ashore, missed his footing and went under water. Again he thought of others before himself, and cramming the money into his mouth, swam out from under the boat, and clambered some distance off upon the wharf. His life was insured for $1,000.

At the next meeting of the Catholic Mutual Benefit Society he would have applied to become a member, by which his widow would have been entitled to $2,000. It is a pity such had not taken place.

COLLEGIATE INSTITUTE.

Visit of Inspector McLellan—Sports on Monday—Position of "Marmion" as a Text Book.

On Thursday Mr. J. A. McLellan, LL.B., arrived from Ottawa, where he was engaged in putting into force the new regulations affecting the Normal Schools—now his special charge. Yesterday he spent in the Institute, and was a listener to the examination of Mr. Knight's classes in Classics; Mr. Gordon's classes in Mathematics, and Mr. Given's classes in French and German. Personally he examined in Mathematics and Reading, and in all respects appeared to be well satisfied. At the close of the day the pupils were collected in the Assembly Room, where he addressed to them words of advice and encouragement. He pointed out how important it was to continue a student, not resting satisfied with the success of one or more examinations, as many are supposed to do. The Intermediate or higher standard was but a mile post in the educational career. He observed that Canadian pupils did not lack in intellectual power and ability—nowhere could young of greater mental grasp be found—but they lacked in moral culture. He had no doubt reference to the examination frauds, as no other circumstances seem to have suggested the remarks. He urged the scholars to be persevering, to be especially accurate in their knowledge, and in conclusion he quoted the well known lines:

What constitutes a State?
Men who their duties know,
But know their rights, and, knowing, dare maintain.
And Sovereign law, that state's collected will,
Over thrones and globes elate,
Sit empress, crowning good, repressing ill.

MR. M'LELLAN'S ELECTION.

In 1872 Mr. McLellan was elected an Inspector. He began life as a public school teacher, and by dint of great study and brain power succeeded in passing the University examinations, taking a gold medal for Mathematics and a silver medal for Mental and Moral Philosophy. Subsequently he was appointed Mathematical Master of Upper Canada College, then Principal of an Academy at Yarmouth, N.S., then to his old position in Upper Canada College, and finally an Inspector. He is now chief of the staff.

USE OF MARMION.

We learn that it is probable that the first and second cantos will be once read in the High School, and in these there are no passages to which objection can be taken by any one. Hon. Mr. Crooks did no more than what has been done for years—that is, prescribed for the High Schools the books that have been previously prescribed by Toronto University.

ATHLETIC SPORTS.

On Monday the annual athletic sports in connection with the Collegiate Institute take place. It will be a regular field day for the boys.

THE "LEAN" POLICIES.

To the Editor of the British Whig.

SIR,—In reply to Mr. Patten's sound Quaker advice to mind my own business I beg to say that it was and is solely with an eye to (my own) business, that I wish to give the citizens of Kingston a peep into these very ingenious and accommodating lien policies, that is for one Company. I do not intend to encroach any more on your space hereafter, but I will patiently wait for Mr. John Patten to explain where the articles referred to in the Journal of Commerce and insurance Budget are misrepresented. I am certainly willing to be enlightened. All I want is fair play, and lastly I would advise Mr. Patten leave off Quakerism out of his business or at least out of the canvassing part, as I am sure he would not secure a large number of risks where so much of the powers of speech are required.—I am yours, &c.,

AGENT.

Kingston, Oct. 7th, 1882.

President Arthur.

It is said that the condition of the President's health when he first left Washington this summer was much more serious than is supposed. His physicians at Washington parted from him with the gravest apprehensions as to the possibility of the outcome of his case. The story is that the President was suffering a very painful kidney case which threatened to become chronic. The doctors warned him if he did not work less and sleep more he might expect a fatal termination within a space of time comparatively short. It is said eminent physicians recommended even more strongly a change of habits and absolute rest if only for a time. It is said the President went to Alexandria Bay much depressed by the statements of the physicians, but resolved to profit by their advice.

I tried many remedies without effect; at last I used this Emulsion and before three bottles were used I am glad to say I was restored to perfect health."

CAPITAL SPECIAL.

New Companies—Statement of Revenue and Expenditure—A Surplus—Tupper's Trips.

Ottawa, Oct. 7.—Letters patent have been granted to the Dominion Cattle Co'y, capital $8,000,000; Dominion Bridge Co'y, capital $500,000; Bow River Branch Co'y, capital $40,000.

The value of goods entered for consumption in the Dominion during the month of June is as follows: Total dutiable goods $7,143,932,; coin and bullion, (except U. S. silver coin) $160,459; free goods $2,686,210; grand total $9,990,502. Duty collected $1,819,692.70.

The following is a statement of the revenue and expenditure on account of the consolidated fund of the Dominion for the fiscal year 1881-82, which closed on the 30th of June last. Revenue to 30th June, 1882, $32,188,793.06. From 30th June to 30th of September, Customs, $6,84,270.54; Excise $7,852,772; Post Office, $8,437,288; Public Works, including railways $3,692,983; Miscellaneous $3,684,761. Total $33,381,381.20.

The foregoing statement of revenue does not include $1,774,456.48, the sum received during the year from the sale of Dominion lands. The expenditure to 30th June, 1882, $23,753,193.59. From 30th June to 30th September, $3,402,378.36. The total $27,155,902.95. Surplus for the year $6,225,478.25.

Miss Brady, the plaintiff, is a daughter of a respectable citizen, and Roy is, or was, an employee of the Public Works Department. Plaintiff testified to Roy having criminal connection with her on the strength of the promise of marriage, and when she was about to become a mother he gave her a bottle of medicine to cure a headache, but which procured abortion. The jury brought in a verdict of "guilty."

During the absence of the Hon. John Costigan the Hon. Mr. Mackenzie Bowell, Minister of Customs, will act as Minister of Inland Revenue.

A special train for Winnipeg leaves on Wednesday next.

Large numbers of sheep are being shipped to the Montreal market.

The Dominion police force will shortly be reorganized with an increase in number.

The case against Roy, for abortion, is in progress at the Assize Court to-day.

The Citizen says: "We understand that the expenditure on capital account for the year will be about $8,000,000. This includes Pacific Railway enlargement and improvements of canals and surveys of lands. The surplus of last year, and proceeds of the sale of lands, amount to nearly $8,000,000, showing that there will be little or no increase of the net debt of the Dominion for the years 1881-82."

Sir Charles Tupper, Minister of Railways and Canals, has left for the west. He intends to travel over the entire line of the Canada Pacific Railway as far as the construction has been completed. He will make a personal inspection of the entire line. He will be away from the city about three weeks.

The decision given in the case of Russell, Gardner and Leggatt vs. Graham, at the Assizes here, has created a stir among merchants. The suit was brought to recover the value of goods purchased at local stores by his wife, after he had forbidden her to pledge her credit. The verdict was given in favor of Graham, and now retailers are in fear of many other men repudiating their wives' debts.
