PROBS.—Fresh to strong west to south west winds, fair warm weather; higher temperature.

LAST CHANCE to buy Italian marble tonight. Everything must be cleared out without reserve. Sale at 7:30 by Mr. J. E. Hutcheson.

GO to Prevost's for fine and well made clothing. The latest patterns in Scotch tweeds to select from. Remember we guarantee a first-class fit.

THE young men are heartily invited to hear a sermon to be preached by the Rev. C. A. Cook in the Baptist Church to-morrow evening at 6:30.

HURRAH! What is the rush about? We are going up to the new store called the "Pantry," where, we are told, everything in groceries is fresh and very cheap.

EARLY PUBLICATION.—We publish at an early hour to-day in order to permit of the removal to our new premises, on King street, the newspaper press and engine still at the old office.

A GOOD OFFER.—Mr. J. E. Jones has no desire to part with the colt which he trotted in the first day's races. He came from good stock, the sire, a Continental, having made his mile in 2:19, and the dam in 2:23.

ANOTHER ASSAULT.—Last night Charles Walker was seen by Mr. A. McGill, Deputy Clerk of the Crown, in the act of beating his son and another boy. He went to their rescue, and was then turned upon and also assulted.

GRAIN MARKET.—The deliveries to day were not as numerous as they were a week ago. Barley has dropped to from 75c to 75c, and farmers are not inclined to sell at such prices. The rates are as high as the condition of the American markets will permit.

ST. PAUL'S CHURCH.—Harvest thanksgiving services with suitable decorations, to-morrow, in St. Paul's Church. The special collections will be for the poor fund. Thanksgiving sermons will be preached at 11 o'clock by the Secretary of the Synod, and at 6:30 o'clock by the Rev. W. B. Carey. Seats free.

CHIN SNAPPED OFF.—Last night Edward Spooner, a resident of Wolfe Island, telegraphed to the police as follows: "Send over on first boat and arrest Theo. Briggs and Charles Davis for biting off my chin." No action was taken upon it. It is said that in a fight Spooner was wounded, but only the flesh was bitten.

A BAD BEATING.—Last night, about 8 o'clock, as Luby, (who was prosecuted some time ago for striking Ben Holder in the dark, mistaking him for another man) was attacked by two men, unknown, and unmercifully beaten. He was bruised in several places, and by heavy blows, presumably kicks, had two ribs broken.

WORTHY PRESENTATION.—Nicholas Murdock and Miss Louisa Murdock, who were in the yacht which capsized in August last in the Bay of Quinte, have been presented with a walnut easy chair and couch by their fellow passengers. All would have been drowned but for the bravery of Mr. Murdock, who rescued the entire party.

MARRIAGE IN PRISON.—Butler, a convict, who has served several terms, and who will be a free man a few days hence, has been married to a woman who was also until recently a convict in the prison and there fell in love with the man. Rev. C. E. Cartwright, by permission of the authorities, married the couple two days ago.

MEDAL RECEIVED.—A very handsome bronze medal has been received to-day by Mr. Kidd, School Inspector, from the Ontario Arts and Agricultural Association. It has been awarded for his very complete assortment of geological specimens. The medal was quite unexpected, though the excellence of the exhibit was acknowledged by many.

A SEVERE SENTENCE.—People have been wondering for years for what real purpose boys gather horse chesnuts. However, Oswego boys have a superb use for them; three have been sentenced to fifty days in gaol for throwing them at passers by. The Palladium says there is room for more boys, but youngsters who prefer a warm bed and buckwheat pancakes at home to a hard plank and mush and molasses in a dungeon should stick to the pea shooter and leave the horse chestnut on the sidewalk to trip up policemen. In this way they can secure safety and revenge.

A RELIC OF DERRY.—A mass meeting of Orange bodies was held last night in Ottawa. It was decided to march in a body to church on the 5th proximo. A visiting brother from Londonderry states that the 'Prentice Boys of Derry passed a resolution to the effect that Kingston, Canada, should be granted one of the guns and a ball used in the siege of Derry by the Apprentice Boys of 1688. This called forth the most vociferous applause and cheers. The reason that Kingston is to get the gun is, because the Lodge of 'Prentice Boys in this city derived their warrant direct from Derry Club, the others in Canada having branched off from it. Mr. William Shannon, formerly of Derry, but now of Kingston, was its first W. M.

A Concert at Odessa.

Last Tuesday night Mr. Storms, of Odessa, obtained the services of a number of young men from this city to assist him in a concert for the benefit of the school. It was held in the Town Hall and attended by upwards of four hundred persons. A number of ladies and gentlemen of Odessa added to the success of the entertainment by putting on several very nicely arranged tableaux, which contributed largely to the success of the concert. The instrumentalists from Kingston have always met with a good reception, and this occasion was certainly no exception to the rule. The following were those from Kingston who took part: E. Couper, J. Burns, W. Middleton, E. Crumley, F. Sharpe, H. Bentley, A. Greaza and W. J. O'Shea.

CHARIVARI TROUBLES!

Attack Upon Jimmy Watts' House—Police to the Rescue—A Very Happy Expedient.

Three days since we confronted Jamie Watts as he posed thoughtfully on Ontario Street. He beckoned us aside and confidentially remarked that he had passed through some strange vicissitudes; that when he lost his wife not only his courage but appetite went; that for months his life had been an utter blank, as it were; that at an unexpected moment a glint of sunshine had penetrated his heart; that he met a young woman of prepossessing appearance, and as he looked he loved; that he "axed" her to be his wife and that he had been accepted. Next day he was licensed to marry and as the sun descended and finally disappeared in the West Jamie appeared in the East bearing upon his arm a bride whose face reflected the half moon smile that broadened his countenance. Rumours were current of a proposed "serenade of rough music" (otherwise a charivari) in honour of Jamie's wedding, and last night it occurred, creating what was certainly not expected.

A SMALL RIOT

on the corner of Earl and Division Sts. It seems that the groom was first interviewed by a number of youths and asked for sufficient money to have their whistles wet, and being repulsed they planned an attack upon the citadel after the manner of Wolseley at Tel el Kebir. The lamp at the corner was extinguished and then operations began. A breast works was first thrown up—the old steamer boiler which lay for months outside of Gardiner's biscuit factory was rolled up against the door, followed by a heavy artillery fire. Jamie within the enclosure, "beneath his own fig tree," felt secure, even calm, but the fusilade of rocks startled him as much as if the comet had fell upon the house.

And now the cause of all their fear
By slow degrees approached so near
They might distinguish different noise
Of horns and pans, and dogs and boys
And kettle drums, whose sullen dub
Sound's like the hooping of a tub

Next pans and kettles of all keys
From treble down to double base

And at fit periods the whole rout
Set up their throats with clamorous shout.

ARRIVAL OF THE POLICE.

Officer Thompson left the police station at 8 o'clock upon his beat, and Sergt. Carson started for home. Both reached the scene of the disturbance about the same time and utterly failed to preserve the peace. It was very dark and there must have been a couple of hundred persons on the street, of all ages, sizes and sexes. All were not disturbers, but they encouraged the mischief makers and laughed heartily at the commotion within the bridal retreat. The officers did their best to arrest the stone throwers, but failed. They could not watch the crowd, and when they went in one direction the missles came from another and thumped against the mansion. The situation became not only exciting but alarming, when Officer Thompson ran down street and from the residence of a gentleman on Earl telephoned for the reserves, (P. Small and R. Nesbitt,) who were prepared for action and went off on the double quick. Ere they arrived, however,

HOSTILITIES HAD CEASED.

Sergt. Carson raised a flag of truce, and when he could speak without danger of swallowing a brick bat or fence rail, hurled promiscuously about before that, he said he would see if Watts had relented. He was cheered as he climbed over the debris and entered the house, finding Watts excited and "with eyes in fine frenzy, rolling." He was not inclined to surrender but was advised to do so by the Sergeant, and the latter in a few moments emerged with $2 in his fingers. This he handed to some of the leaders, and immediately there was a stampede for the nearest lager beer saloon. Watts, who during the siege was afraid to look out, was glad that the engagement was over, but still he threatened to carry some of the rocks flung at his house to the Police Court and inform the Magistrate that he would sue the corporation for damages, resulting from the insufficiency of protection he had received.

FISH SPAWN.

Work in Connection With the Newcastle Hatchery—Interviewing Mr. C. Wilmot, Now in Kingston.

Yesterday morning we met at the British American Hotel Mr. C. Wilmot, who has charge of the Newcastle Hatchery. Some time ago he arrived here to complete arrangements for the annual collection of fish spawn, and now he brings the necessary apparatus with which to perform the work. The contrivances are very interesting, especially when Mr. Wilmot gives explanations of their uses as he did to us. He has the dishes into which the spawn is first placed, the pails into which accumulations are made, and a new box in which the productions of several days are kept in safety until circumstances permit of their shipment to Newcastle. This box is sunk in the water and perforated so that fresh currents can constantly pass through the trays, of which there is accomodation for 48, each having space for 8,000 eggs. The shipments are made in peculiarly constructed boxes. Those which the spawn collectors take with them are simple in their formation, as there is no danger of the contents being injured. The boxes in which the eggs can be sent to

are constructed with greater care. The eggs are laid upon trays with cotton bottoms, covered by soft moss as well as the usual damp cloths. One set of boxes hold each 320,000 salmon trout; another set half a million each. Mr. Wilmot has visited this locality periodically for several years, and fished off Pigeon Island, where the nets can be set and taken in daily, and the catch considered most satisfactory. The finest fishing grounds are at Meaford, Georgian Bay, where some eight or ten men are employed, and where the catch is confidently great, ten times what it is here. The spawn is not so good, however, for the reason that the nets cannot be taken up every day. Unfavourable weather may prevent their removal a week at a time, and, meanwhile the fish, trapped, plunge madly about and injure themselves and their eggs. Mr. Wilmot expects to collect about 2,500,000 eggs at Pigeon Island this fall. He got about 2,000,000 eggs last year. In the whole Province between 6,000,000 and 7,000,000 eggs will be obtained. The salmon trout eggs yield generally which are returned to the waters of the lakes when quite young. Mr. Wilmot says the efforts to keep up the salmon supply is disappointing. The streams in which they breed and remain for months when quite young are being not only injured by reason of various improper deposits in them, but the temperature is too hot, and thousands of them become diseased and die annually. There is a prospect of them becoming in time extinct. Few salmon are now to be had: they rarely appear on the market.

60 PER CENT. OF FISH,

On the 20th Mr. Wilmot returns to the city, leaving the work at Pidgeon Island in the custody of skilled assistants if it is not finished, and proceed to Meaford to look after operations there. He informs us that the hatcheries in the Lower Provinces will be more successful thus far than ever before. His father, Mr. S. Wilmot, Superintendent of Fisheries in the Dominion, has been commissioned to prepare an exhibit of fish for the International Exposition which opens in London on May 1st.

CHANCERY DIVISION.

Cases Set Down for Trial at the Court Opening on Monday—A Summary of them.

The High Court of Justice, Chancery Division, will open on Monday, at 2 p.m., by the Hon. Mr. Justice Ferguson, the new Vice-Chancellor. The cases are:

KERR v. CALVIN.—This action is instituted by the Trustees of the marriage settlement of D. D. Calvin, to obtain the opinion of the Court respecting the meaning of certain limitations in the instrument. The interference of the Court is necessary in consequence of the minority of some of those interested under the settlement. Walkem & Walkem for plaintiffs; Kirkpatrick & Rogers for defendants.

WILLIAMS v. FOLGER—An action to set aside a deed as a cloud on the plaintiff's title to certain land in Palmerston, and for an account of waste committed on the plaintiff's property. Walkem & Walkem for plaintiff; Kirkpatrick & Rogers for defendants.

HOW ISLAND v. CASSIDY.—An action to remove a gate said to have been placed by the defendant on the north shore road in Howe Island, the defendant alleging that the place where the gate had been placed is private property. Macdonnell & Mudie for plaintiffs; Walkem & Walkem for defendants.

MACDONNELL v. TAYLOR.—An action respecting a disputed account. Macdonnell & Mudie for plaintiff; Walkem & Walkem for defendant.

LINDSAY v. DODDS.—This is the celebrated brush patent case. It will probably be postponed. Walkem & Walkam for plaintiff; Hon. L. Wallbridge and D. H. Preston for defendant.

WEEKS v. CONSOLIDATED GOLD MINING CO.—A dispute respecting some gold mining transactions. Bethune & Oo. for plaintiff; Burdett for defendants.

Walking on Stilts.

Nothing is more noticeable on the streets now than boys walking on stilts. Many boys are now vainly trying to acquire the art. This novel made of locomotion it appears will supercede the tricycle. Evidently the boys have the muddy crossings in mind and are only preparing for the usual fall allowance. Those who visited the fair had the necessity for something thicker than a leather sole fixed indelibly on their minds.

Sydenham Notes.

Wesley Trusdale has erected a stone house beside his store.

Booth and Woodruff's plaining mill runs both night and day.

Those people living in the north end of that stone building near the post office, have left the village entirely. It is is hoped they will not return. There are one or two similar beings hanging about this village yet.

HOME MISSIONS.

Summary of the Meeting in Accounts—Items of Local Interest—Special Grants.

Dr. Smith has returned from Toronto, where he attended a meeting of the Home Mission Committee. He informs us that the principal business was the appointment of missionaries in Manitoba.

Mr. J. G. Henderson, Mr. J. Mowat, and Mr. J. Todd were sent to Manitoba. Rev. George Bruce, of St. Catharines, was called to take charge of Regina, the new capital of the North West Territories. He was granted time to take the invitation into consideration. He hesitates owing to the fact that he has received a call from St. David's, N.B.

The sum of $15,000 was voted for missionary work in the North West during the next year.

The Home Mission Committee have decided to send a missionary to British Columbia, the Church in that Province having generally signified its desire to be connected with the Canada Presbyterian Church. Formerly it was in connection with the old Kirk of Scotland.

The following items refer to the Kingston District of the Canada Presbyterian Church: An application was made for supplemented congregations and mission stations with the Presbytery of Kingston. The Home Mission Committee made the following grants: $400 per annum in support of a Superintendent of Missions in North Hastings; $200 per annum for an ordained missionary at Consecon and Hillier. Reports from all the mission fields within the Presbytery borders, both as regards work and the remuneration of ministers, were said to be encouraging beyond those of any previous year.

Rev. Dr. Smith, of St. Andrew's, will next Sunday occupy Rev. D. J. Macdonnell's pulpit in Toronto. He will attend the Foreign Mission Committee meeting on Tuesday.

HO! FOR CALIFORNIA.

Mr. Charles Tossell Leaves for Riverside—Joining Successful Friends in the South.

In a few days Mr. Charles Tossell, who has been an enterprising young man, and, as a contractor, worthily bearing the mantle of his father, leaves for California, locating within 18 miles of Riverside, where already a colony of Kingstonians have gone. He has purchased a farm of 30 acres, for which he paid sometime ago $100 per acre, making a good investment, which is indicated by the fact that he has since been offered for the property as high as $150 per acre and declined it. He purposes becoming a fruit producer, but until the land is broken and tilled, and the trees planted upon it are so developed as to have commenced to yield, he will pursue the business at which he has been an expert here. Kingston loses by his departure one of her most estimable citizens, one of those whose future is promising and whose labours will not only be of advantage to himself but to the place in which he resides. Riverside is an enticing point, beautifully situated, healthy, and its rich soil and uniform temperature afford harvests that contribute rapidly to the labourers' wealth. Mr. Tossell will, we presume, succeed as well as those who have proceeded him southward. Such at any rate is the wish of all his friends.

EPP'S COCOA.—GRATEFUL AND COMFORTING.—"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well selected Cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavoured beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—Civil Service Gazette.—Made simply with boiling water or milk. Sold only in Packets and Tins (½lb. and 1lb.), by grocers labelled "JAMES EPPS & Co., Homœopathic Chemists, London, Eng."—Also makers of Epp's Chocolate Essence.
