WE DID IT

The result of last night's meeting in behalf of the Cotton Mill enterprise has to-day been the subject of much public congratulation. Considerable additional stock was taken, and the success of the undertaking may now be accepted as assured. The alacrity with which our business men have gone into this project does great credit to their commercial enterprise, and will furnish an effectual contradiction to the flippant sneers which "faster" places are in the habit of indulging at the supposed expense of the old Limestone City. Now that this move in the direction of industrial activity has taken another decisive step towards final success we may expect a revival of the claim that the powerful "articles" of our local contemporary have had all to do with it. If so the difficulty will arise than an "article" of our own in last night's issue advised the very proceedings which took place at the meeting, and expressed the confident expectation of the identical result which has been attained. Under these circumstances we shall energetically dispute the demand of our neighbor for a sole monopoly of the credit of this thing, and hereby file our own claim to our rightful share of whatever eclat may be due to the Fourth Estate for the exercise of this almighty influence to create and sustain whatever may be essential to the prosperity of the city. Not having taken the initiative in preparing such a claim we shall next await our neighbor's example in the laudable matter of resurrecting the dead lead works that lie buried in the neighborhood of the Cataraqui swamp. We have the utmost confidence in the powers of our contemporary to effect this or any other industrial miracle, but when it is accomplished by means of more of his vitalizing "articles" we shall expect to come in for a humble share of credit for having directed the attention of the journalistic magician to so promising a subject for the exercise of his peculiar charms.

A CONTRAST.

Even the opponents of the present Premier of Great Britain will admit that he is the soul of honor. Gladstone would scorn to resort to trickery for the purpose of compassing any political advantage. To such a length does he carry this principle of absolute fair play that he disdains to take advantage of the opportunities his position places within his reach to promote the interests of himself, his party or his measures. After the prolonged debates on the Coercion Act and the Arms Bill he might have plausibly pleaded the pressing urgency of the Land Measure to have rushed it through Parliament without due consideration. But this is the very thing he has not done. On the contrary he introduces his measure before Easter for the very purpose of affording the country plenty of time for its consideration and of giving the Opposition the amplest opportunity for discussion and criticism during the Easter recess. This is the conduct of a man who has faith in the people and confidence in his measures to meet the popular wants, and hence he has no misgivings as to the result. Comparisons are proverbially odious, but the above action stands out in such striking contrast to that of the politician at present at the head of Canadian affairs as to challenge attention. When Sir John Macdonald brought in his syndicate bill last session there was nothing of the anxiety we see in Gladstone to get at the views of the people regarding it. There was as great a contrast in the measures themselves as in the respective modes of submitting them to the touch-stone of public opinion. Gladstone's is a bill to give the people larger rights in the land. Sir John's was a measure to lock up the public lands in the hands of a company of monopolists and thus lay the foundation for just such a trouble in Canada as Gladstone is trying to remove in Ireland. No wonder then that the Canadian Prime Minister should strive to elude public opinion and bull-doze his measure through a partisan parliament without giving the people a chance to pronounce upon it. And so, with the submission of the measure to the House he declared that it must be rushed through before Christmas, and that Parliament should not adjourn for the usual vacation unless this despotic determination were complied with. The force of public opinion, and the stalwart attitude of the Opposition compelled the Canadian first minister to back down and allow a full discussion of his railway swindle both by the House and the country, but his conduct suffers none the less by a comparison with the honorable course which the British Premier has adopted in introducing his Irish Land Bill. The latter is indicative of conscious rectitude and confidence in the people to recognize and support the principles of justice, the former was illustrative of the essential crookedness of the man and the perpetration of a great political wrong which it was feared the public mind would revolt against and condemn.

INADEQUATE.

It would have been too much to expect that the Land Bill of Gladstone, which is at present the all-absorbing topic in British politics, would prove entirely satisfactory to the Land League leaders. The demands of the latter are of so revolutionary a nature that no British Cabinet could exist an hour which should concede them to the full. Indeed it is good proof of the generous nature of the measure that it has given even partial satisfaction to the Irish leaders. The worst they say about it is that it is inadequate. This is all right from their standpoint, but this will prove a very poor reason for opposing it. It is at least a measure of justice, and a very large and liberal measure at that, and therefore should not be lightly esteemed nor factiously opposed.—As well might the means of relief which last year went in many a ship load of provisions from England and America have been rejected and refused on the score that they might possibly have proved to be "inadequate" to fully relieve and remove the tremendous distress then existing in the Green Isle. The people of Ireland on that occasion took the common sense view of the situation, and appreciatively accepted those contributions as an alleviation of the existing distress, and never dreamt of rejecting them on the score that they would not prove fully adequate to the wide-spread wants of a starving people. In the matter of the Land Bill the Land Leaguers do well to get the best terms possible, and to make the bill as nearly as possible the embodiment of their demands, but we shall be much surprised if they offer a factious opposition to the measure on the score of inadequacy when they could not begin to obtain anything like so liberal a measure of justice from the Conservative party if a defeat of the present Liberal Government on this or any other question were to bring the Tories back to power again in England.

MARINE NEWS.

The ice is still firm in the inner harbor.

The sloop "Calabria" has had her name changed to "Glenfiniass."

The schr. "Caroline Marsh" is loading peas at Port Hope for Kingston.

The schr. "Belle," of Hamilton, arrived at Genanoque yesterday from Ogdensburg.

A number of vessels have bent their sails. Everything is in readiness for an early start.

The prop. "Florence" has been engaged to lay a cable from Morristown, N.Y., to Brockville.

The river is blocked with ice near the Sisters' Light, rendering it impassable for vessels to get to Kingston.

The sch. "A. G. Ryan," which has been thoroughly repaired, will load rye at Richardson's for Oswego at private terms.

The sch. "Grantham" passed through lock No. 2, Welland Canal, on Saturday last. She got as far as McMahon's Island before she met any ice. She will load lumber at Hamilton for Kingston.

A Deseronto despatch says the river is free of ice from that place to Napanee. The steamer "Pilgrim" started on her regular trips to-day, and the sloop "J. Maw" arrived from Napanee light. The bay will be open to Trenton and Picton in a few days.

Rodgers & Brown, Buffalo, as agents for Capt. Jas. Scott, of Oswego, owner, and master of the schr. "F. D. Barker," have commenced a suit against Scott & Hudson, insurance agents, of Buffalo, for the recovery of about $1,100, as a portion of loss sustained by the "Barker" during a storm in November last.

Another Adjournment.

This morning the much-discussed liquor case, in which Mrs. Hattie Graham is the defendant, was again called at the police court. The two witnesses for whom warrants are in the hands of the police were not present at expected. The counsel for the prosecution requested the defendant to take the witness stand but her counsel objected, claiming that a person charged with a crime (and he held that illicit liquor selling was criminal) could not give evidence for the prosecution. Mr. Whiting said that he had authority for such procedure. Mr. McGuire asked to see it. It was not forthcoming, but Mr. Whiting asked for an enlargement of the case so that he might look up the law. Mr. McGuire objected to his client being harrassed by so many adjournments. If the prosecution would pay the expenses thus incurred they could adjourn as often as they desired. The Magistrate allowed an adjournment until Saturday. Hattie was convenient, but not in court.

A Dead Give Away.

The steamer "Pierrepont" carried yesterday from Cape Vincent to the city a party of three gentlemen and an attractive young lady. The latter succeeded in captivating the three gentlemen travellers. No. 1 was quite flattering and arranged for an evening's flirtation at the Anglo-American Hotel; No. 2 calculated upon the lady's comfort at the British American Hotel; No. 3 drew from her the promise to accompany him to the Windsor Hotel if her friend did not meet her at Kingston. The time passed pleasantly until the boat reached the wharf. Each gentleman felt anxious but confident, and each braced himself up to do the amiable. Their prayers, that no friend would appear, was dissipated, for as the boat touched the wharf a granger, tall, rawn, and uncouth, jumped aboard and saluted the fair creature with a resounding kiss. Astonishment and disappointment took possession of the lovers, and seizing their valises they sped away without so much as a parting farewell.

SCOTT ACT.

It Was Defeated Yesterday by a Very Large Majority in Hamilton.

Toronto, April 14.—The Scott Act was defeated yesterday by 1,148 votes. The Mail says that from a little after one o'clock there was no slackness till five o'clock. The committee headquarters then became the centre of attraction. Two or three returns came almost simultaneously into the anti Scott headquarters. They gave majorities of nearly two to one against the Act. From this on to six o'clock return after return came in with majorities against the Act, until the matter became monotonous, and the solitary return from polling division 27 in ward No. 7, which gave no majority, was hailed as a sort of satisfactory change. The vote from this division was a tie, standing 126 on either side. At temperance headquarters the scene was a gloomy one. At first a show of courage was kept up, but as blow after blow was received the committee became disorganized, and while a number of returns were yet wanting Dr. Foster left in disgust. Another who followed his example expressed his views briefly as he departed, "Let them drink themselves to death," said he, "if they will have it." Shortly after six o'clock the returns were completed, and were found to stand as follows:

Ward	For	Against.	Majority against.
No. 1	149	282	133
No. 2	155	367	212
No. 3	206	350	144
No. 4	294	451	157
No. 5	328	501	173
No. 6	271	448	177
No. 7	338	381	43
	1,564	2,712	1,148

The total vote cast being 4,476, out of an electorate numbering some 6,000.

Toronto, April 14.—A large number of persons leave here to-day for Hamilton to take part in the demonstration over the defeat of the Scott Act. The excursion train will be run under the auspices of the license victuallers.

W. MORLEY PUNCHEON.

The Death of the Great Preacher To-day Announced.

London, Eng., April 14.—Rev. Wm. Morley Punshon, the distinguished Wesleyan preacher, died this morning, aged 57.

The intelligence will be received with profound sorrow by the deceased's many Canadian friends and admirers. His has been an eventful life; successful in regard to his ministrations, but saddened by the heavy bereavements which he has suffered. His first wife he lost in England, and his second (whom he came to Canada to marry) shortly before his return to old England. Latterly he lost by death his promising son, who had also adopted the clerical profession, and this circumstance must have accelerated the very unfortunate event we have now to chronicle. Though it is some time since Mr. Punshon visited Kingston it seems as but yesterday, his sermons during the holding of the Canadian Conference, of which he was elected President, and his lectures making impressions which will now be enlivened in a very gloomy and lamentable way. He was the founder of the Metropolitan Church, Toronto, in which there is a stained glass window in memoriam of his wife. He come to Kingston for the first time in 1868.

A New Temperance Experiment.

A new temperanc eexperiment has been tried at Brocton, Mass. It seems in 1876 the Selectmen issued twenty three licenses for the sale of liquors, but the privilege was so abused that in 1880 they indiced one of their own number to take out a license, and this was the only one granted. Their report states that "a stock of pure liquor was procured, the establishment opened, under the direct supervision of the board, and the principle adopted that while no sales should be made on the premises nor to drunken, partially drunken, or irresponsible persons, yet every person of adult age and intellect enough to qualify him for citizenship should be trusted to use his own judgment in the use of liquor until he is proved to have made a bad use of it." The result was that drunkenness was greatly diminished, and those who wanted liquor for family use obtained it at much less than usual prices. The profits of a year, which amounted to $2,000, are to be "devoted to the cultivation of such moral forces as will cure every inebriate of an improper appetite for alcohol."

Brockville Separate School.

Extract from the report of the Minister of Education:

"This institution has made an extraordinary upward bound during the past year, under the careful scientific management of Father McCarthy, who has caused the rooms to be partitioned, furnished them with modern furniture and appliances, separated the girls from the boys, and placed the former exclusively under the charge of Sisters St. Mary and St. Aloysius, while the boys are instructed by Mr. Hennessy and Miss Dolan. The progress made has been simply astonishing. The reading and grammar is excellent, the arithmetic good, and the penmanship perfectly marvellous, while the deportment is worthy of imitation by every school in the Province and cannot be excelled. The Deputy Minister, Dr. Hodgins, paid this school a visit in the summer, and expressed himself as astonished and delighted with all he saw and heard."

A Terrible Story of Suffering.

In Goshen township, Muscatine, Iowa, one night recently, constable Stafford and five others went to the house of Daniel Foss, a newly-arrived German, to search for stolen goods. Foss, who don't understand English, was terrified and ran out in the snow barefooted, clad only in pants and drawers, and started across the prairie. The posse followed, firing three shots. He was chased a mile, when he reached the river, where he plunged in and swam across. His pursuers abandoned the chase. Two days afterwards, Foss was found clinging to a fence up to his knees in ice water with both feet frozen. He was terribly mangled and bruised by sharp brushes and ice. A warrant has been sworn out against the officers for assault with intent to kill. The citizens are terribly incensed and determined to punish the officers.

Scandal in the Air.

It would seem that there is another Pacific Scandal in the air. General M. Butt Hewson, whose name will be remembered as that of a man who has written a good deal on the engineering work in connection with the Pacific Railway, has entered suit against Sir John Macdonald for $20,000, and it is said that the claim is for services rendered the party in the last general election. Sir John, it is understood, repudiates responsibility on the ground that the claim is against the party as a whole rather than against him individually. Whatever may be the merits of the claim, it is likely that the trial will develope some interesting reading concerning the methods of the Tory party at the last general election.—Advertiser.

IRISH QUESTIONS.

An Exciting Speech—Bishops' Position—Mr. Gladstone's Purposes.

Dublin, April 14.—Gordon, who was arrested at Claresbridge under the Coercion Act, addressed the people at the station, saying: "Keep up your courage. I'll be back again to fight the landlords. Go down to Curraghlee and see what took place there yesterday. Five whole families were evicted, one family consisting of thirteen individuals, another of eight, another of seven—altogether thirty five human beings. Three hundred police were engaged in the work, and to the honor of the force be it said, that many of them shed tears, and made up on the spot subscriptions of four and five pounds for the most distressed of the evicted families. (Cheers.) The people never insulted the police! (Shouts.) Never! I have been informed this morning that police patrols found those evicted families last night lying on the side of the road, sheltering themselves around a small fire, having been out all night. Go and see after them. Let none want." Another man named Corcoran was also arrested to-day in county Cork under the Coercion Act. At a meeting of the League in Dublin to-day it was reported that evictions are largely on the increase throughout the county.

MEETING OF BISHOPS.

London, April 13.—The meeting of Irish bishops yesterday resolved to separate without making a pronouncement concerning the Land Bill.

MR. GLADSTONE'S PURPOSES.

London, April 14.—Mr. Parnell in speaking at Manchester, said that Mr. Gladstone would have given the Irish a more liberal land bill if he thought he could have passed it, but Mr. Gladstone was justified in not wrecking his party. Parnell said a partnership between landlord and tenant was impossible, and when the land bill machinery failed the Government would hand the land over to the cultivators. This step, he said, would inaugurate Home Rule.

TREASONABLE LETTER.

Liverpool, April 14.—The Post says the Irish authorities have made arrangements to seize copies of the New York Irish World, in transit between New York and Queenstown, as treasonable publications.

APOLOGY MADE AND ACCEPTED.

London, April 14.—The Post states Archbishop Croke, of Cashal, has had to apologize for writing to Archbishop McCabe, Dublin, by superior order, for attacking McCabe's lenten pastoral. McCabe has accepted the apology.

ANOTHER ARREST.

London, April 14.—James Daley, proprietor of the Connoght Telegraph, was arrested this morning under the Coercion Act. His arrest causes considerable excitement.

Amusing Incident.

Ottawa, April 14.—A rather amusing incident occurred in Hull yesterday. A number of unruly boys had organized a mock court in the corrider of an old school building, and arraigned one of their number on a charge of disorderly conduct. He was found "guilty" and ordered to pay a fine of $2.50, or in default fifteen days in jail. The youthful Recorder had just pronounced sentence when the Chief of Police, who had been on the look out for the mischievous youths, emerged from an ante room and collared the prisoner, remarking, "I'll execute the judgment of the court." The boy was taken to the police station and subsequently brought before Recorder Champagne, who confirmed the judgment of the mock court.

Violent Storm.

Memphis April 14.—Tuesday's hurricane in the Mississippi crossed the Mississippi river at Commerce, and proceeded steadily to Hernando, cutting a path of 200 yards wide, laid waste the forests, houses and bridges. A great number of negro cabins, full of occupants, were blown down without a single case of injury to the inmates. The storm, as far as known, killed four persons. Some people were picked up and whirled several hundred yards through the air by the wind, but escaped material injury.

Somewhat Better.

London, April 14.—Lord Beaconsfield passed a quiet day. His strength has slightly increased.

London, April 14.—Beaconsfield is somewhat better.

London, April 14.—Dr. Quain has been summoned to defend himself before the College of Physician for consulting with Beaconsfield's physician, Kidd, who is an eclectic practitioner.

Cause of Prejudice.

Washington, April 14.—Consular reports show the efforts that are now being made in Europe to create prejudice against American pork and ham are due to a fear of the business men that the protracted heavy drain of gold from the old world to the United States may eventually result in a serious disturbance of the monetary balance between the two hemispheres.

Perjurer Sentenced.

New York, April 14.—James O'Brien, alias Robert Lindsay, who, during the last campaign, deposed that he knew H. L. Morey, to whom it was alleged Garfield wrote the Chinese letter, today pleaded guilty to an indictment of perjury and was sentenced to prison for eight years.

A Train's Plunge.

Atcheson, Ks., April 14.—Yesterday the engine of the passenger train left the track and plunged into the Missouri river five miles from here. The engineer, fireman and pilot, swam ashore. The baggage car tumbled on top of the locomotive. Two passengers were slightly hurt.

Anti-Jewish Petition.

Berlin, April 14.—Mr. Famon's anti-Jewish petition, sent to Bismarck yesterday, consists of 26 volumes, comprising 14,000 sheets, with 255,000 signatures, including those of noblemen, retired officers and officials.

Revolt in Albania.

London, April 13.—A Vienna despatch says: It is reported that the whole of Northern Albania is in insurrection and that 15,000 men are marching against Dervish Pasha at Scutari. The news must be accepted with reserve.

Satisfactory News.

Chicago, April 14th.—The chemist of the Health Department yesterday examined 400 hogs, taken at random in the packing houses. Not a single trace of trichinæ could be discovered.

Opposition to Kelly.

New York, April 14.—The opposition to John Kelly, in Tammany Hall, claim to have a majority of the members pledged to their ticket at the coming election.

SPECIAL DESPATCHES.

Condensed Into Small Compass.

The stock market was steady this morning.

The channel in the river at Montreal is now free of ice near the city.

NOTICE

Mortgage Sale of Real Estate

UNDER and by virtue of a power of sale contained in certain mortgages made by Peter O'Brien, of the Town of Gananoque, Province of Ontario, to the Frontenac Loan and Investment Society, default having been made in the payment thereof, which mortgages will be produced at the time of sale, will be sold by PUBLIC AUCTION on the premises, or at the Provincial Hotel, King Street, in the town of GANANOQUE, on Tuesday, the 26th day of April,

1881, at the hour of half past twelve o'clock noon, the following lands and premises, situate in the said town of Gananoque:

FIRST PARCEL.—Town lots Nos. 227, 228 and 229, as laid down on a plan made by one Humphrey Young, P.L.S., dated 3rd May, 1842, forming the corner of Gordon and Stone Streets, on which is erected a good substantial three storey Stone Dwelling House.

SECOND PARCEL.—Town lot 225, situate on the north side of Gordon Street, having 66 feet front by 132 feet deep, containing 7,300 square feet, bounded on the east by lot No. 226, and on the west side by lot No. 224. Frame Dwelling thereon.

THIRD PARCEL.—Town lot 32, situate on the south side of Gordon Street, having 66 feet front by 125 feet deep, containing 7,300 square feet, bounded on the east by lot No. 33, and on the west side by lot No. 31. Frame House thereon.

REVISED VERSION

OF THE

New Testament

As a report is now being circulated by one of our rivals in business to the effect that the Revised Edition of the New Testament can be had only through them on the day of publication, we again repeat that immediately on their being issued we will have a full supply of all the editions, the statements of our rivals and our opponents to the contrary notwithstanding. Parties leaving their orders with us may depend that they will be supplied with a copy as soon as will their neighbors.
