CITY AND VICINITY.

PROB.—Moderate to fresh westerly to southerly winds, and warmer weather.

SALE OF PICTURES again to night at 7.30. Great bargains in pictures and frames by Hutcheson.

WOMENS' CHRISTIAN TEMPERANCE UNION.—The regular monthly meeting will be held at Mrs. Chown's, Brock St., on Friday at 3. p.m.

ASSEMBLY.—The I. C. B. U., No. 9, will hold an assembly on Easter Monday in the City Hall. Dancing to commence at 8 o'clock. Music by Rielly's string band.

MEAT DISPLAY.—To-morrow the butchers will make their usual display of Easter meat. The exhibit, we have reason to believe, will be very fine, especially in the evening, when the dressing of the stalls and shop will be complete. The holiday is usually spent by many in inspecting the show of meat.

THE FIRST ARRIVALS.—On the 6th of this month W. Sands found while crossing the meadow of George Hanley, near Milburn, a bird's nest containing four small birds, which had been hatched about a week. The little fledglings were undoubtedly alive and covered over with the heavy snow that fell on the 1st of April.

DEATH OF MRS. NAVIN'S CHILD.—The blind child of Mrs. Navin (who is incarcerated in Napanee gaol, charged with the murder of her husband) died a few days ago at the residence of an aunt, who broke the sad news to the unhappy mother by standing on the railway track near the gaol and shouting, "El'nur, El'nur, your baby's dead."

MONTREAL CONFERENCE.—Rev. J. M. Hagar, M. A., addresses the Conference Educational meeting in Napanee on May 25th. Rev. Dr. Elliott and Rev. W. Galbraith, B.C.L., assist in the reception of the candidates for the Ministry on Friday 27th; Rev. W. Jackson, of Coaticook, will occupy the Presbyterian pulpit on the morning of Sunday, 29th inst.

METHODIST FUNDS.—Up to the 1st of April $92,389.59 were received by the Treasurers on account of the Relief and Extension Fund. This shows that over $23,000 remain to be collected. Queen Street Church has forwarded $84 as a first instalment to the Missionary Fund, and $27.57 for the Relief and Extension Fund. Cataraqui has sent $10 for the same purposes.

BATCH OF DRUNKS.—There was a fair representation of bacchanalians at the Police Court this morning. Mrs. E. Mulligan was discharged after a few hours incarceration in the cells. J. Ahern, a pensioner, was fined $2 or 10 10 days. W. Waldron, an old stager, wearing a convict's cap, was surprised by the Magistrate. He was permitted to depart, a favor which Walter did not expect.

DECISION FOR SPOONER.—Mr. J. P. McKim, arbitrator in a dispute between C. N. Spooner and A. G. Cook & Co., New York, regarding a hay contract, has decided in favor of the former. The arbitrator held that after the hay had been pressed into bundles it was the property of the purchasers, and that they were responsible for its safety. Messrs. Cook & Co. have to pay $[illegible] per ton for fifty-one tons of hay besides all the expenses in connection with the arbitration.

SYMPATHY FOR THE MEN.—The Carleton Place Canadian, referring to the Yeon-Walker seduction case, says the tide is turning, and people are beginning to sympathize more with the men, and to think a man's testimony as of equal value to a woman's in such cases. A properly trained girl would fly with horror at the slightest improper approach, no matter at what stage of courtship it might happen. That's the best armor against disgrace and ruin.

A THIRSTY INDIVIDUAL.—Miles Campbell, a malster, broke a window in the Grand Trunk Brewery last night and crawled through the opening into the establishment. He tackled a cask of beer and drank until he was full to the chin. He then lay down on the floor in a stupor. He was discovered by the brewery men this morning and the police were notified to remove him. At the court he begged to be liberated, but was assessed to the tune of $1 for his escapade. Miles looked as if he had had enough beer for a year.

IMMIGRATION OF YOUTH.—Yesterday afternoon sixty-four young immigrants, principally Scotch, passed west in charge of Miss Bilbrough, for Marchmont Home, Belleville. In age they ran from 5 to 18, the younger ones being for adoption into respectable families, and the elderly persons for service upon the farm. The young people have certainly been well cared for in their passage to this country, and the managers of Marchmont will see that they are comfortably settled in life. They were passengers by the steamship "Manitobian."

LENTEN SERVICES.

Observance of Holy Week—Good Friday Announcements for all the Churches.

In St. Mary's Cathedral last evening the office of the Tenebræ was held. His lordship presided assisted by Very Rev. Vicar General Farrelly. The Rev. Fathers Hogan and Spratt chanted the psalms. There was a large congregation present.

THIS MORNING'S CEREMONIES.

There were nineteen priests present at the service in the Catholic Church this morning. Bishop Cleary was celebrant, assisted by Vicar-General Farrelly, Belleville, as high priest; Fathers Spratt, Wolfe Island, and Hogan, as deacon and sub-deacon of the mass. Father Twohey, as master of ceremonies and Fathers Mackay, Brophy, Tyo, Dinaga, Brown, Port Hope; Twomey, Centreville; Donohoe, Erinsville; McDonough, Napanee; Welsh, Kitley; McWilliams, Railton; Kelly, Gananoque; Kelly, Kingston; Larkin, Grafton; Murray, Cobourg, as apostles; and Fathers Casey, Cambellford; O'Brien, Kingston and Donohoe, Erinsville, as deacons. The ceremony, as described in yesterday's WHIG, was carried out, at the close of which Bishop Cleary imparted the indulgence of forty days.

GOOD FRIDAY.

This day is observed in commemoration of the suffering and death of our Lord. In England many curious customs were in vogue on this day, but at present the day partakes of a religious character, and the church services are marked by unusual solemnity. At Rome the services in the churches on Good Friday are of the same solemn character as on the preceding day. At the Sistine Chapels the yellow colour of the candles and torches, and the nakedness of the Pope's Throne and of the other seats denote the desolation of the church. The cardinals do not wear their rings, nor do the bishops. The mace as well as the soldiers' arms are reversed. The Pope is habited in a red cope, and he neither wears his ring nor gives his blessing. Everything in the church denotes sorrow and mourning. The priests are clothed in robes of black colour, and all the altars are draped with the same sombre hue. The Passion of Our Lord is read, at the end of which the cross is unveiled and kissed by the clergy and people. The Host, consecrated on the preceding day, is borne back in procession to the altar and consumed by the officiating clergyman. Generally a sermon is preached on the great tragedy of man's redemption.

INTIMATIONS FOR TO-MORROW.

St. Mary's Cathedral—Service at 8 a.m. and 7:30 p.m.

Anglican Churches—Service at 11 o'clock in all the churches; united service with addresses in the evening at 7:30 o'clock in the cathedral. Offertory on behalf of the society for promoting Christianity among the Jews.

Methodist—Union service in the Sydenham Street Church at 7:30 o'clock.

Brock Street Presbyterian Church—11 a.m. and 7 p.m. Evening service in preparation for the communion.

St. John's Church, Portsmouth—11 a.m. Special musical service on Easter Sunday.

HOLY SATURDAY.

This is the last day of Holy Week and is a day of fast and abstinence, being the vigil of Easter. In the Roman Catholic Church the services are of a more joyous character. At the commencement the altars are divested of all coverings or ornaments, but as the service proceeds this is changed, the officiating priest being habited in a rich robe of white. To Holy Saturday belongs the solemn blessing of fire and the water of the Baptismal font; and from the earliest times it was set apart for the baptism of catecumens and for the ordination of candidates for the ministry. From the fire solemnly blessed on that day is lighted the Paschal Light, which is regarded as a symbol of Christ risen from the dead. This symbolical light is kept burning during the reading of the gospel at mass throughout the interval between Easter and the Ascension. The bells, which have been silent from the preceding Thursday, again are rung at the Gloria of the mass. Service will be held in St. Mary's Cathedral at 7:30 a.m.

FEAST OF THE PASSOVER.

The feast of the Passover began last evening with the paschal meal of unleavened bread. To-day is observed as a holiday by Jewish citizens.

A Mostyn Monument.

It has been suggested (says the Carleton Place Central Canadian) by several influential eastern gentlemen that the memory of Dr. Mostyn could be substantially preserved and kept green by the erection of a suitable monument in the agricultural grounds at Almonte. While his memory is fresh, and his good works and kind deeds are embalmed in mind and matter, the strike could be most profitably made. The entire constituency of North Lanark is under obligations for his activity in promoting honorable competition among the farmers. The town of Almonte has been substantially benefitted by his hundreds of acts of gratuitous skill in keeping sickness away from the laboring classes, enabling them to add to the general prosperity.

Census Returns.

The ladies' column is supposed to contain these questions: Madam, are you single; if so, what was your age last birthday? How many offers have you had; how many refused and why? What is the color of your hair, and do you wear bangs, and if so why not? Have there ever been any old maids in your family, and if so, state reasons? What is your favorite brand of tea, and do you keep a cat? The penalty for not answering these questions is a fine of five cents and forfeiture of cat.

A Beautiful Present.

Spangenberg to-day completed a very elegant wedding present for a Kingston patron. It is a broach pin in the shape of a dart, with the letters of a name attached. In these letters are 67 diamond settings. It foreshadows a fashionable event, over which a host of cordial wishes will be expended.

COTTON MILL ASSURED.

Meeting of Shareholders—Enough Stock Subscribed to admit of the Company Organizing.

Last evening the emergent meeting of the stockholders of the Kingston Cotton Mill was held in the Council Chamber, the attendance being good. There were also present a number of new faces.

Mr. J. Minnes was of course called to the chair, and Mr. F. Shaw was requested to act as Secretary of the meeting. The latter commenced proceedings by reading a narrature of what had already taken place in connection with the enterprise, the announcement being made that before petitioning the City Council for a Bonus a total sum of $118,900 had been subscribed—$109,100 in the city, $2,000 in Toronto, $2,500 in the United States and $5,000 in England. There was still a balance of $81,400 required before action could be taken towards organization, according to the prospectus which had been issued by the provisional directors. The communication stated the results of the conferences between the directors and the finance committee, and also made mention of the fact that correspondence had been carried on and interviews held with parties who manufacture machinery of the class desired for the projected mill, and estimates had been obtained of what the said machinery would cost. The directors had concluded that the English machinery would be the cheapest as well as most durable.

COMING TO THE POINT.

Mr. Minnes explained the financial position of affairs. He said that should an additional $40,000 be subscribed application would be made for letters patent, incorporating the company. In the meantime Messrs. Bullough (of England) and Leigh, (of Boston,) who had visited the city recently, would prepare estimates of what machinery would be needed and plans of such a building as would conveniently contain it. Of course the future of the scheme depended upon the results of this meeting.

Mr. Carruthers—I understood that Messrs. Bullough and Leigh were to have their plans and estimates here in the course of a week.

Mr. Minnes—The plans are now being made, and Mr. Bullough telegraphed that he would send on a man with them at the last of this week, but a reply was sent requesting a stay of proceedings until further advised.

REACHING AN UNDERSTANDING.

Mr. Carruthers—Do you understand intelligently what it will cost to work this number of spindles, 10,000?

Mr. Minnes—$140,000 or $150,000 is about the amount for the building and plant.

Mr. Carruthers—There was a difference of opinion between Messrs. Bullough and Leigh, one fixing the cost at $16 per spindle and the other at $14 per spindle.

Mr. Minnes said he had received a letter from Mr. Bullough, dated 4th April, to the effect that the cost of the mill might be fairly estimated at $14 per spindle, and that Mr. Leigh concided, his previous calculation having been but an approximation on the safe side.

The working capital was a matter of considerable discussion, the amount required for current expenses until the production of the mill became a source of revenue being differently considered by different persons. Mr. Carruthers thought $160,000 sufficient for building, machinery, and all other purposes; others thought the original sum, $200,000, small enough. The wages were figured at $3,400 per month.

Mr. Carruthers—Which of the propositions made to you by the finance committee do you feel disposed to accept?

Mr. Minnes—The provisional directors thought it best to refer that question to the stockholders themselves.

THE SCHEME HOPEFUL.

Mr. Kirkpatrick—Have you changed your mind as to the paying character of the investment?

Mr. Minnes—Not at all. At the request of a director the chairman stated that the city finance committee proposed to give the company $5,000 in lieu of a site and exemption from taxation for ten years. Other means of aiding the scheme were suggested, but the Solicitor pronounced them illegal. The city would have taken stock but could not under the statute. He had received letters from gentlemen in Montreal venturing the opinion that there was plenty of room for one or two more cotton mills, and desiring to become the salesmen of the mill's production.

Mr. Carruthers—Would none of these take stock?

Mr. Minnes—We want $150,000 subscribed in the city.

Mr. Carruthers—If you get the money what difference does it make where it is subscribed?

Mr. McRae—$50,000 has to be subscribed out of the city.

AN EFFECTIVE APPEAL.

Mr. Kirkpatrick—After having got this project so far it would be disastrous to the city to let it fail. There is no doubt that the persons engaged in the business, think that there is lots of reason for another cotton mill, probably two of them, and if Kingston permits this opportunity to pass it will be a matter of great regret. There is a Merchants' Cotton mill just started in Montreal, the capital stock of which, $400,000, was quickly subscribed. The mill is to be placed between two of the parishes outside of Montreal, and for this consideration the municipalities interested and benefitted have granted it a bonus of $10,000 each. (Applause.) If the Montrealers—keen business men—can make money by the cotton mill, why should such not be the case with us? All the mill wants is careful management to ensure success. I have made enquiries at Cornwall and Montreal, and found that the cotton mills are very busy, that some of them have orders for nine months ahead. The future is promising, especially if the factories make separate lines of goods. There is between $30,000 and $40,000 more wanted for our company, and I do not think our wealthy men—Kingston has many of them—will allow this enterprise to collapse at this particular time; they will double their subscriptions before such a thing will happen. (Hear, hear.) I think there are several who will subscribe if the wealthier set out and show them a good example. (Applause.)

Mr. Carruthers—What is the exact amount already raised?

Mr. F. Shaw—$109,600 in the city.

After some desultory debate subscriptions were called for. At first the work of raising the needful balance seemed easy enough, but later experience was not so cheering. Those who could doubled the stock already entered in their names, others supplemented their subscriptions, and a few new contributors joined the syndicate at a time when their assistance was deeply appreciated.

CORPORATION AID DISCUSSED.

It was when there was a long rest in stock taking that

Ald. Robinson remarked that the proposed bonus from the city, $5,000, was very small, that it should be at least $10,000, which amount he thought the people would carry if they were fully conscious of all the circumstances and the public importante of liberally helping the cotton factory. He had talked to a good many citizens and generally found that they wished the project well. He would regard it as a great pity if the Citizens would have to separate without attaining the object of their meeting. Some of those present were very willing to do much but were unable to help the mill to any great extent; others had done well, but they could do better. (Applause.)

Mr. P. L. Henderson thought that perhaps it would be well to adjourn until some other time. He expected that in a day or two all the stock would be subscribed, and the scheme triumphantly floated. (Hear, hear.)

The Chairman was asked if he had done anything about the selection of a site, and answered that such work had been left over until after the company was regularly organized. It transpired that several places were favourably regarded, that land in a couple of places was offered gratuitously, but that convenience to the railway and water were matters which weighed heavily in the selection of a position for the mill. The old Government wood yard, Place d'Armes, is well located, but it is very probably lacking in size.

AN ALDERMAN EXPLAINS.

Ald. Gaskin urged the subscription of the necessary amount before the meeting dissolved. He spoke feelingly, he said, for the reason that he had strongly opposed the granting of a city bonus to the cotton mill. The bonus system was wrong inasmuch as it made some pay for that of which they were in no way benefitted. Enterprises like the cotton mill should not be dependent upon the city for bonuses; they should depend upon their own resources, and that such should always be the case he was in favour of the Legislature cancelling the power of municipalities to give bonuses under any circumstances. He supported the offer of $5,000 in lieu of the free site for the mill, but, he would like to see the company so prosperous that its members could turn around to the city and say, "We don't want your paltry grant; we can do without it." There was no use in the law going to the people proposing to give a bonus of $15,000, $20,000 or $25,000, because it would not be carried.

THE FINAL RESULTS.

The canvassing was continued, dragging very slowly toward the end, but eventually the last $500 to make up the amount with which the company could be organized, was carried, amid applause. We append a list of the sums secured, giving in parallel columns the amount, if any, formerly subscribed by the same:

CLOSING SCENE.

The last $1,500, after five gentlemen had guaranteed to raise the balance, was the hardest to obtain. Several amounts was added until $1,000 was reached, and an anxious suspense followed, finally broken by Mr. R. Waldron who said "I'll take the $500," whereupon the meeting rose en masse, a few cessayed to cheer, and many indulged in cordial congratulation.
