North Ontario has been opened by the acceptance by Mr. Thomas Paxton, of the shrievalty of Ontario. A Reform successor will, no doubt, be selected, Mr. Paxton having been repeatedly elected to represent the constituency. The friends of the Government mean business at any rate by calling a convention, at which a candidate will be nominated and put in the field without delay.

The case of General Hewson v. Sir John Macdonald has been withdrawn. It is safe to say that the proceeding would not have taken place unless the gallant plaintiff was pacified in a way the genuineness or substantial nature of which he could not doubt. The General professed to have done unwise service for the Conservative party in the election of 1878. He wrote powerful articles, the value of which he reckoned at several thousand dollars. His claim upon Sir John has not been clearly explained, but it would seem that at the time the General penned and printed in defence of him and his party the wily Premier was in humour to enroll all he call in his service by winks and nods and honeyed words. General Hudson was anxious, apparently to reeve, and Sir John was in need of servants, but when the campaign was over the latter found it difficult to reward all who helped him into power. The General waited and waited, but at last came impatient and vexed and threatening. That he has in some way succeeded in his suit for "satisfaction" there can be hardly any doubt.

The election in Prescott county, of a successor to the late Dr. Harkins, has resulted in the return of the Liberal candidate, Mr. Hagar, by a majority of 68 votes. The campaign was conducted in a vigorous manner, and that the Conservative and Independent candidates have been defeated by the pledged supporter of the Mowat Government must be convincing proof that Liberalism in this province is growing in popularity. The Opposition in the Local House is weak enough in all conscience, and it cannot afford on a division, by the election of Thursday, to have the ministerial vote increased by two. Recent circumstances have given the Reform party great encouragement. There is an unmistakeable renewal of confidence in those who lead it, and reasonable preparation and activity and organization only are needed to win the greater victory of which we regard the contests in East Northumberland, Carleton and Prescott an index. There can be no doubt of Mr. Hagar's position, nor can there be any doubt of the political attitude of those who have sent him to Parliament.

A coalition of parties, in so far as the administration of provincial affairs are concerned, is proposed in Quebec. It is said to be in the interest of economy, and the agitation extends to an abolition of the upper chamber which is expensive and more ornamental than useful. Such has long been the opinion of the leading Liberals of the lower Province, but the sentiment has not been shared in by the Conservatives, and it would be surprising if such were so since the Chapleau Government was cleverly assisted into office by the old ladies of the Legislative Assembly. Their conspiracy to defeat the Joly Administration shewed that they were not wholly useless and we cannot conceive that good Tories are now participating in a movement so ungrateful in its aspect and effects. But this coalition means more than a desire for economic measures. It may be the temporary expediment of a weakened and somewhat disorganized ministry, a party shift to gain the support of a few more of those who have not heretofore been disposed to play into the hands of more tricky than patriotic men. A coalition may be formed in Quebec, and it may be the salvation of the province—certainly it will be the salvation of the Conservative Government—but the political union will not be long lived and very harmonious.

Mr. W. Clendenneng, whose business has been bolstered up so much by the N. P. that he feels it incumbent upon him to talk as flippently in praise of the present Government as the straightest dyed-in-the-wool Tory, is responsible for the statement that Mr. George Stephen, of the Pacific Railway Syndicate, will remain in England and that he is likely to replace Sir A. T. Galt as Canadian High Commissioner. Mr. Clendenneng may be in confidence of the Government, and may be talking by the book, or he may be giving publicity to what he thinks ought to take place according to the eternal fitness of things. Sir Alexander Galt is said to be desirous of relief from a position which involves very heavy expenses. On that score he has not so much reason to complain as those whose money is freely and all too liberally spent in sustaining a small Canadian court at London. Sir Alexander may be tired of his tinsel and gold lace, and wearied of a position and routine of so little benefit to any but himself. Mr. Stephen would certainly be interested in one thing—the increasing of the population of the North-West. This would be a benefit to the country, but it would be doubly so to the syndicate the members of which do not seem to be satisfied with the monopoly that they have secured but continue to reach out and grasp at everything that serves their purposes, and will grip the Government itself if the people at an early opportunity do not prevent it.

PATTON'S APPOINTMENT.

The appointment of Hon. J. Patton, as Collector of Customs of Toronto, does not indicate that the Government has profited by the work of the Civil Service Commission, or that there has been any change in Tory principle, so far as political appointments are concerned. Rarely, perhaps never, had an important office been so long left vacant, and why? Simply because the Government feared to act promptly and while a number of candidates for office were, not in humour to be appeased or conciliated by the ordinary promises. Mr. Patton was, no doubt, Sir John's choice during several months, but it did not serve the purposes of the party to make the appointment when it might have been reasonably expected. As for Mr. Patton's competency for the position the Globe aptly remarks that he is now approaching sixty, a fact which of itself proves that he is appointed, not to render the country any useful service in the future, but in consideration of the services he has rendered his party in the past. Only two years ago the Government forced into superannuation the late Postmaster of Toronto, who is at the present moment better fitted physically for work than the new Collector. But the latter, in addition to being an old Conservative politician, has been the business partner of Sir John Macdonald, which makes all the difference. The appointment comes with the worst possible grace from a Government professing to be in earnest about civil service reform. On the testimony of the Minister of Customs the Acting Collector has managed the affairs of the port in an admirably efficient manner, and therefore he should, on any theory of civil service reform, have been promoted to the Collectorship. If a new Collector must be had, then the place should have been given to some one with mercantile experience, in the prime of life, and not to a retired barrister on the verge of superannuation.

'Prentice Boys' Concert.

Under the auspices of Walker and Milburn Lodges, Nos. 11 and 12, Sydenham and Harrowsmith, a concert was held in the Town Hall, Harrowsmith, last evening. There was a large attendance present, several being from Kingston. Mr. John McIlroy, G.M., of this city, occupied the chair. The programme was as follows: Chorus, Sydenham Glee Club; reading, "Jemmy Butler and the Owl," Mr. F. Summerby; song, Miss Ruttan, guitar accompaniment by Mr. K. Purdy; reading, "The Difficulty about that Dog," Mr. James A. Perry; chorus, Glee Club; dialogue by two members; recitation, "The Hungry Man," Mr. Hall; stump speech; chorus, Glee Club; recitation, "The Field of Waterloo," Mr. John McIlroy; farce, "The Irish Justice," six members of Sydenham Lodge; song, "See that my Grave is kept Green," Mr. Bert Day; violin solos by Prof. O'Brien; reading, "Father Phil's Collection," Mr. H. Bibby; duet, Williamson Bros; dialogue by seven members; choruses, "Sweet Braes of the Donkey," "Good Night, Ladies," and "God Save the Queen," Glee Club. The concert was followed by dancing. The Kingston deputation arrived home shortly before 5 o'clock this morning.

Kingston Cotton Company Meeting.

A meeting of the provisional directors of the Kingston Cotton Company was held last evening in the office of Messrs. Britton & Whiting. There was a full attendance. The business transacted was of a semi-private character. Among the matters ordered was the appointment of a committee to see to the incorporation of the company. A committee, consisting of Messrs. G. A. Kirkpatrick, M.P., J. Breden, W. Nickle and J. Richardson were appointed to go to Ottawa and interview the Government regarding the use or purchase of a property which is regarded as a good site for the factory. It was thought that the plans, prepared by Messrs. Bullough and Leigh, would be here to-day, but they did not arrive. On the 1st of May 5 per cent. of the subscribed stock will be called in. Messrs. Bullough and Leigh are now in Montreal. They are expected here presently. The amount of stock subscribed reaches nearly $155,000.

A False Charge.

The Kingston school question has degenerated into one of petty economy—that is that the school rates are to be lessened by reducing the salaries of the four teachers in the High School from $3,850 to $2,650, and thus save an average of one cent for every ratepayer! "A lame and impotent conclusion, my masters."—Mail.

The above would be less absurd if there was a shadow of ground for the statement. A reduction of that order was never proposed, save in a bantering letter to one of the papers. On the contrary the rate for schools here is to be greatly increased this year, owing to the raising of the salaries of the public school teachers and the effort to preserve the salaries of the staff of the Collegiate Institute from extinction.

Death of Mr. Reekie.

A cablegram announced the death of Mr. R. J. Reekie, aged 70. The sad event occurred yesterday in London, Eng., whither he went in February last. In his day he was a remarkably active as well as enterprising man, and engaged in various works and contracts, by which he amassed considerable wealth. Here he was well known by reason of his connection with the Locomotive and Engine Works, of the company owning which he was elected President in 1869, and retained that position until the foundry recently changed hands.

The Mechanical Orgulnette.

This instrument, the production of W. F. Abbot & Co., of Montreal, is the most interesting of recent importations. It is the simplest musical producer of the mechanical order in existence, except the musical box, over which it has the advantage of variety. While the musical box can play but a stated number of tunes, always under twenty, the orgulnette can be made to play any tune. It is very well finished and is an ornament as well as a curiosity.

NIHILISTS' END.

Execution of the Czar's Assassins—Scene at the Gallows.

London, April 15.—A St. Petersburg despatch says: "All the Nihilists except Henry Helfmann, condemned for connection with the Czar's assassination, namely, Russakoff, Michaeloff, Kibaltschitsch, Jeliaboff, and Sophie Pieffosky, were hanged this morning. Order was not disturbed. There was an immense concourse of spectators, and the excitement has not been paralleled by any event since the Russian capital was thrilled by the story that the Czar had been torn to pieces by a Nihilist bomb on March 13th. At the appointed hour the victims of the law were taken from their cells and placed upon a hurdle drawn by four horses, and surrounded by a strong body of mounted troops. The cortege proceeded at a slow pace through the streets of the Someroff square, the place of execution. The square was taken possession of in advance by a large body of troops, which filled it wholly, the

who viewed the sad and depressing spectacle from outside a closely drawn cordon of military. In the middle of the square stood the scaffold, a revolting object, with its five dangling ropes against the sky. To last evening one of the five persons so soon to die refused positively to accept the ministration of offices of the priests. An appalling incident occurred as the drop fell. Michaeloff's rope broke, and he fell to the ground. A thrill of horror went through the vast assemblage, and even the officers charged with these terrible duties showed signs of being shocked. The body was raised, and upon again attempting to hang him the rope once more parted. Loud exclamations of disgust and pity were heard from the people, but there was no breach of order. The work of death was finally accomplished amid an awed hush in the great throng, and the five condemned Nihilists swung together from the fatal beam. All of the prisoners refused to appeal for a respite. Each one had a on which the words "Murderer of the Czar" were printed in large letters. Sophie Pieffosky attempted to address the vast crowd, but the drums drowned her voice. The prisoners kissed each other and conversed for a moment, and then kissed the cross that was presented to their lips by a priest. They were hanged successively, each dying firm. The execution lasted twenty minutes, and the drums were beaten incessantly.

PLACARD ON HIS BREAST,

The appeals for mercy of the Nihilists Russakoff and Michaeloff were submitted to the Czar, but he replied that the sentence of the court must be carried out.

ANOTHER SUSPICIOUS CASE.

Another St. Petersburg despatch says: "A man has been captured having in his possession unlawful prints. He declines to answer questions. He has been made to stand upon a chair at the prefecture of the police and all house porters and the general public have been invited to pass through the apartment to see if anybody identify him. Up to a late hour on Thursday no body had recognized him.

FELON'S LAST HOURS.

St. Petersburg, April 16.—The executed Nihilists passed the last day as follows: Russakoff prayed incessantly and offered his services to the Government as a spy; his offer was declined. Jeliaboff spent the time in writing page after page about the trial, committing to paper what he was forbidden to speak. Sophie Pieffosky wrote to her mother to waste no time in assuaging the wrath of her father. Kibaltschitsch drew up a memoir on the subject of his specific discoveries, which he addressed to the high court of justice avowing a desire that his name should be immortalized, and making a gift of his inventions to the state on condition that all profit from them should go to the amelioration of the lot of the children of political criminals.

FIRE AT TRENTON.

An Inauspicious Good Friday—Loss and Damage Sustained.

At three o'clock on Friday morning a fire broke out in the rear brick block, one half owned by T. James, occupied as a steam cabinet factory and dwelling, the other half owned by Mr. G. H. Gordon and occupied by G. S. Bonter as a dwelling, on the east side of Front street. The property extended to the Commercial Hotel, a frame building owned by the Corby estate, occupied by Mr. T. Crampton; also two frame stores owned by the same parties in Montreal, one occupied by Mr. Wm. Shea as a tin and store wareroom, the other vacant; also J. Brook's butcher shop next to the hotel. Then the fire took across the street to Mr. J. O'Neil's butcher shop, T. Kinsella's harness shop, and Morrison & Kirmiley's livery office, all small frame buildings. Insurance—T. Crampton on furniture, $1,200 in British American, a good deal saved; Corby estate, on Commercial Hotel, $1,500 in Queen's; T. James, $1,200 on building in Watertown Insurance Co., more on stock, machinery and furniture total loss; G. S. Bonter, no insurance, total loss; Wm. Shea, $1,300 on stock in Norwich Union, of England, nearly all saved, but in a damaged condition; T. Kinsella, insured $300; J. Brooks, and J. O'Neil, no insurance. The origin of the fire is unknown. When discovered it had full control of James' engine house, and all the rear buildings. When the fire brigade with the steamer got in play the flames were with great difficulty checked on account of the number of frame buildings. The brick block, belonging to the Biggar estate and Thos. Russell, occupied by Mr. W. H. Ireland, grocer and provision dealer, and S. S. Young, wholesale grocer, had a very narrow escape, being badly damaged.

Meat Display.

The exhibit of Easter meat was one of the great attractions yesterday. The morning was spent in arranging the display, presenting its best side to the public, and setting off appearance still more by the liberal use, in some instances, of paper flowers and garlands. On the whole opinion agreed that the exhibit was not as good as usual. At some four shops the exhibitors perhaps outrivalled former shows, some of the imported article being extra fine. It is always a matter to be deplored that the local stock raisers do not make a speciality of fatting cattle for Easter. The profits are not calculated by all people in the same way, some declaring the results to be without reward. Certain it is that the butchers, when they have to seek supplies of beef at Galt and Guelph, cannot sell to advantage, some, indeed, lose by the Easter speculation. The pork, veal and mutton, home feeding, merited favorable comment. Last evening especially the shops were crowded, the effects being then better than during the day.

PROBS: Moderate winds, mostly westerly to southerly fine warm weather, continued fine warm weather to-morrow.

More indications of gold have been found on the Ottawa.

Wm. Winne, Brooklyn, was found dead in her bed yesterday, suffocated by escaping gas.

The Herald says it has learned from good authority that Whitelaw Reid, editor of the New York Tribune, is an applicant for the Berlin mission.

A raft, containing 600,000 feet of lumber, was broken up and carried away by moving ice at Davenport, Iowa. Much other damage was done by floods and water.

The Department of Railways have not as yet received confirmation of the reported epidemic among Chinamen employed on the British Columbia section of the C. P. R.

There is some talk of a conference of the chiefs of police of the various towns of Ontario to be held in this city about the middle of next month, for the purpose of discussing police matters.

Burglars ransacked Compton's corset works, Toronto, last night, but were discovered. A policeman caught one of the burglars by the whiskers, but the fellow pulled away leaving the whiskers in the officer's hand.

Notwithstanding its 14,000 sheets and 255,000 signatures, the German anti-Jewish petition is to be ignominiously pigeon holed. Bismarck is opposed to any change in the existing laws and whet that is said all is said.

A number of drunken negroes quarrelled eighteen miles from Plague, Min., the other day. One named Wall fired at a man in a boat containing eight colored men, killing two and wounding four, but missed the man he intended to shoot.

As evidence of the strides the cattle export trade is making in Canada it is stated that freight room on the steamers sailing from Montreal has at this early date been secured for more than twice the total number of cattle shipped in 1880, and thrice that in 1879.

GREECE DISTURBED.

Note to the Powers—Situation Not Less Solicituous.

Athens, April 16.—The Greek Government awaits a reply from the powers to the following points: Whether occupation of a new territory will be speedily peacefully effected? Whether Europe will propose a new frontier, as Greece regards the present proposal insufficient, and what arrangement will be proposed for Greeks excluded by the present proposition from the union with Greece? The organ of Tricoupis characterizes the reply of the Greek Government to the proposal of the powers as the most disgraceful coup d'etat since the formation of the Greek kingdom.

London April 16.—It is semi-officially stated that the powers are displeased with the tone of the Greek reply, and, while accepting its substance, has asked for explanations regarding its form. The Premier said in view of the excited state of the public mind and the dangers the throne might incur he could not modify the form and would simply abide by the note of assent until the deputies met.

Railway Enterprise.

Morrisburg, April 16.—The people in the rear townships between Ottawa and the St. Lawrence are enthusiastic on the subject of railway connection; and a meeting was held on Friday to consider the best means of securing railway connections with the leading lines. Upwards of 1,500 persons were present, and two schemes were submitted to the people—one for the construction of a line from Ottawa to Morrisburg, with a bridge across the St. Lawrence, there connecting with the American lines at Potsdam, N. Y., the other tapping the Canada Central RR. at Smith's Falls, and running east to Moose Creek, connecting there with the Atlantic and Ottawa Railway. A report was submitted by Mr. Bell, C. E., Ottawa, giving the estimated cost of a line from Ottawa to Morrisburg, bridging the St. Lawrence there, at $1,392,000, or at the outside not to extend $1,500,000, the cost of the bridge being estimated at $600,000. Mr. Imlay, Ottawa, a contractor, offered to take the work at the figures quoted by Mr. Bell. The meeting was strongly in favor of the east and west routes, but committees were appointed to consider both schemes and they will meet again soon to report when some definite action will likely be taken.

Grazing Lands.

Ottawa, April 16.—The Department of the Interior is daily receiving applications for large tracts of land in the North-West territories for colonization purposes. A company of American capitalists are said to be negotiating for the lease of 200,000 acres for grazing purposes.

A report was circulated recently to the effect that Capt. Boycott was in Ottawa and the guest of Senator Bronsé. The latter yesterday morning received a letter from a person in Winchester, Va., applying for the position of manager of some lands which he understood Capt. Boycott intended purchasing in the North-West.

A Queer Elopement.

Memphis, Tenn., April 15.—Two tramps a short time ago stopped at the house of Ben Davis, who with his son lived at Fifteen Mile Bayon, below here. A few days after they eloped with the wives of the old man and the son, and left on a flat boat. Young Davis took his gun, boarded a steamer, and started in pursuit. Twenty-five miles below he saw the eloping party camped on the banks and shot one of the tramps dead. The others escaped. In the pocket of the dead tramp was found a convict's pardon from the Illinois penitentiary.

Grant's Commotion.

City of Mexico, April 16.—General Grant's movements are regarded with apprehension. The riots which imperilled the lives of the Protestants here, in Michoacan, and at other points recently, are believed to have been promoted by persons hostile to the investment here of American capital. The Government has shown great energy in suppressing the outbreaks. All Protestants are now perfectly safe throughout the Republic.

Saving England.

London, April 15.—Mr. Gladstone says the Government will not adopt an apologetic tone in the coming debate on the Transvaal question. It was, he says, a question of saving England from sheer bloodguiltiness.

Heavy Fines.

Toronto, April 16.—Inspector Newburn, of the Post Office Department, has imposed fines and duties in the London Custom House fraud case amounting to nearly $10,000.

Recovery Confident.

London, April 16.—Beaconsfield passed a restless night. His condition is improved. The doctors are confident of his recovery.

PRESCOTT ELECTION.

Success of the Straight Government Candidate, Mr. Hagar.

Tunisian Affairs.

London, April 15.—The Tunisian troops leave for the frontier to-day. A correspondent reports that the French are not expected to begin operations against the Kroumirs for a week, owing to the defects in the transport service. A Paris despatch says 12,000 French troops will begin operations on Tunisian territory on Monday next. There will be no diplomatic intervention by any of the powers.

REVISED VERSION

OF THE

New Testament

As a report is now being circulated by one of our rivals in business to the effect that the Revised Edition of the New Testament can be had only through them on the day of publication, we again repeat that immediately on their being issued we will have a full supply of all the editions, the statements of our rivals and our opponents to the contrary notwithstanding. Parties leaving their orders with us may depend that they will be supplied with a copy as soon as will their neighbors.
