Indoor Tanning: It's About Control

- Ozone Layer
Regular changes in the Earth's ozone layer affect the amount of ultraviolet light from the sun that reaches the planet surface. It is virtually impossible to know from day to day how these conditions will change.
- Worry About Sunburn
Have you ever spent a day outside, only to be surprised at the end of the day by a sunburn? Or maybe you didn't get a sunburn when you expected you might. All of the variables listed above make tanning outdoors a guessing game.
- Control
You always know exactly what kind of ultraviolet light you are getting and exactly how long you'll be getting it.

Come visit on Midnight Madness for refreshments!
