CITY AND VICINITY.

PROBS.—Moderate to fresh winds, mostly from the east and south; fair weather.

SOCKING A COLLAR.—A celluloid collar has been soaking (in water) since July 9th and is as firm as ever, in the window of the Celluloid Novelty Co., Wellington Street.

IN THE CITY.—Rev. Dr. Crawford, of the Prairie College, Manitoba; the Rev. Dr. Nelles, of Victoria University, Cobourg; and Inspector Glashan, of Ottawa, are in the city.

NOT GOING TO CAMP.—The Durham Field Battery, of Port Hope, will not go into camp at Picton, a special order having been issued at the request of the officers for the annual drill to take place at home.

WRONG REPORT.—Mr. Fralick, of the Wemple House, denies that any scrimmage has occurred in his house since he took possession. The affray reported about a week ago occurred in the street not on his premises.

ORDINATION AND INDUCTION.—The Markdale Standard contains an elaborate report of the induction and ordination of Rev. Mr. Chisholm as pastor of the McIntyre Church. The occasion seems to have been one of very general interest.

HIRAM LODGE.—Next Monday, 29th inst., Hiram Lodge, A.F. & A.M., Wolfe Island, will hold their seventh annual excursion to the camp grounds and Alexandria Bay. A pleasant trip is promised. Music on board. See the advertisement.

BUSH FIRES.—Nothing further has been elicited regarding the bush fires raging in the rear of this county. Some say that they are on the increase, but we can find no particulars. The hot dry weather is adding greatly to the intensity of the flames.

ANOTHER GRADUATE SETTLED.—Passed Cadet Huntly Brodie Mackay, of Montreal, has been gazetted to a lieutenancy in the Royal Engineers, his commission being dated 25th June. He was the highest on the list of graduates at the Royal Military College in June last.

HONORS TO CANADA.—It is the intention of the British volunteers to present the two Canadian cadets who accompanied the artillery team to Shoeburyness with a souvenir of their visit. The cadets are Messrs. Hodgins and Kirkpatrick, of Toronto and Kingston respectively.

RECEPTION TO THE "BRANTS."—The "Brant" lacrosse team reached home last night. They received an enthusiastic reception. A procession met them, and, after doing the city, addresses of welcome were made in the market square. The team speak in the highest terms of praise of their reception in Cobourg, Montreal and Kingston.

A POLICEMAN'S DIFFICULTY.—This morning a King street citizen made a complaint against a city policeman of abusive language. The police magistrate called for the policeman, and the accuser and accused made their statements. The policeman denied in toto the charge, and the complainant left utterly disgusted with the result. The policeman was cautioned to be sure and not overstep his duty at any time.

DRUBBING FROM HIS SON.—This morning Thomas Empey was before the Police Court, charged with drunkenness. A friend arose and said that while they admitted the offence yet it was not from the effect of the liquor drank, but that Empey was weak owing to a severe drubbing administered by his son. Empey was handed over to his friend and an information taken out against the son. The case will be heard tomorrow.

ATTEMPTED TRAIN WRECKING.—Detective Macauley has been enquiring into the attempted train wrecking case, but cannot get evidence that will fix the guilt upon any one. The villainous work must have been done in a few moments, tho' in such a manner as to indicate that they had a knowledge of how to aim at certain results in the quickest time and the most effectual manner. One man only was seen in the vicinity of the obstruction, and he was too drunk to do any mischief of the character described.

A CAR RUMPUS.—A difficulty occurred here yesterday morning between a passenger and the porter on a Pullman sleeping car. The gentleman had occupied a section in the car and not a berth. Pay was demanded for the section, and the amount for a berth tendered. The passenger refused to pay any more. His baggage was then seized for the amount. Policemen were notified. The matter was settled by the passenger paying the amount for the section under protest. He will lay the case before the Montreal authorities of the G. T. Railway.

First Class Examination.

Mr. David Robb, of Pittsburg, was the only successful candidate for a first class certificate from this locality. The papers were very fair but they covered the entire work prescribed. Prof. Watson's history paper was highly spoken of by the candidates. Algebra, as usual, did the greatest amount of plucking. The new examiners, Professors Watson, Haanel and Baker, deserve praise for the fair papers they set, none of them putting a single "catchy" question.

IN A LADY'S BOUDOIR.

Another Burglary. A Bad Thing to Wear are Rubbers When the Road is Dusty.

This morning Detective Macauley was summoned to the residence of Mr. Armstrong McCormack, Centre street, a burglarious entrance having been made into his house between the hours of three and four o'clock. It was thought that the fellow had entered by the front door, passed up stairs into a bedroom occupied by Mrs. Thibodo. There he hunted through the pockets of a number of dresses. Mrs. Thibodo was awakened by the noise and screamed out an alarm. Mr. McCormack heard the cry and asked the cause. She replied "A man in the bedroom." Both arose quickly but before Mr. McCormack could reach the room the thief had escaped. Macauley found in the dust of the road footprints forming in towards McCormack's front gate. These were traced to the home of James Campbell, a hard case in Portsmouth. The house was entered and Campbell found lying on his bed with only pants and vest on and his feet covered with rubbers. McCormack had thought the man who entered house was in his stocking feet, but Macauley thought he wore rubbers. Campbell was arrested and the rubbers secured. They were found to correspond with the marks on the road. He was brought to the station house and lodged therein. Campbell was asked when he had reached home and he said about four o'clock. He denies being the offender.

WHAT'S THE NEWS?

Laconic Arrangement of Items of Local and General Interest.

The Cobourg World will break out in Academy Latin.

Hundreds left the city to-day on the three excursion boats.

Quiet prevailed at the Chinaman's establishment last night.

The Syracuse cricketers left this morning for the Salina City.

Eight o'clock is rather late for the band in the park, still folks ought not to look a gift horse in the mouth.

The Battery Band will play in the park on Saturday evening, being off on the Mechanics Institute excursion to-day.

A detachment from "B" Battery will do the marking at the Dominion Rifle Association matches, which open in Ottawa on Monday.

The "Hero," which came to Kingston on Wednesday with an excursion party from Belleville, did not reach the City of the Bay until 4 o'clock the following morning.

The "Armstrong" was expected to arrive yesterday with another excursion party, but did not show up. Being late it is presumed she returned without coming in sight of Kingston.

A firemen's tournament at Cape Vincent is being agitated for. It is proposed to invite the Kingston, Watertown, Carthage, Adams, and Sackett's Harbor companies to attend.

The coroner's jury wanted to hang Constable Cole, who shot the guide Parker through his lung while attempting escape. They were surprised to hear that they could not sentence.

The fire which consumed the five barns of Mr. James Bell, Kingston & Napanee Road, also destroyed the telegraph poles of the Dominion Company adjoining. Yesterday the repairs were made.

The recent non political reception by the City Council of Sir Hector Langevin had its counterpart in the action of a Conservative Council when the Hon. Alex. Mackenzie, as Minister of Public Works, visited the city officially.

Unfortunate Accident.

The steamer "Maud" left Kingston yesterday morning about 10 o'clock with 300 on board. She make a quick trip to the Lake of the Mountain and Picton, stopping at each place. Before starting on the return trip unfortunate accidents occurred which somewhat marred the day's outing. Two little girls got started down the steep road at the Stone Mills on a run, and before they could stop themselves went tumbling down a rough place. A daughter of Guard Bryson was seriously injured about the head, and a daughter of Mr. Wm. Derry, of the "Maud," had her arm broken. The third daughter of Mr. W. H. Godwin was saved from injury by Master Albert Shannon. He caught her as she was rolling down. The return trip to Kingston was pleasant otherwise, and the ferry wharf was reached at 10 p.m.

Garden Island Picnicers.

Yesterday the Garden Islanders, to the number of 200, picniced at Channel Grove. The steamer "William Johnson" transported the villagers from Garden Island to Simcoe Island. The day was spent most sociably. The dancing stand was used nearly the entire day. Races and other sports were indulged in for prizes given by the villagers. At noon the various families enjoyed dinner under the trees, some privately and others with five or six families grouped. Messrs. Malone and Bole were on the ground the entire day doing all in their power to create pleasure. At six o'clock tea was partaken of, and some returned home on the steamer. The greater number of the young people, however, rowed over the distance.

Pool Tables Attacked.

An order has been issued through the city police to each and every proprietor of pool, pigeon, or bagatelle tables that in future he is not to allow games to be played on his tables for drinks or cigars, as has been usual. If games are played they must be paid for in money the same as in the game of billiards. This order will remove the fascination of the game, as most players do not enjoy playing for the sake of winning, but simply for a glass of liquor or a cigar. If another order was issued prohibiting minors the privilege of the saloons in which these tables are placed many mothers in this city would be very grateful. A raid was made upon pool tables in New York State three months ago in order to suppress the ruinous custom of playing for drinks.

RESTORED TO SOCIETY.

What Released Prisoners Think of the Kingston Penitentiary, the Press and Things Generally.

E. L. Burton was discharged from the penitentiary on Saturday, having served his full term of seven years, less the commutation allowed by the Government for good conduct. He was sent from Guelph for arson. Our representative, without being known to him as such, gleaned considerable information regarding the impressions and feelings of the convicts. He speaks very highly of Warden Creighton, whom he considers a true philanthropist and sincere Christian. He says that a few days before his discharge the Warden left for a couple of weeks' holidays. Before leaving he took occasion to inform the prisoners that he was going away, and expressed the wish that they would behave as well in his absence as when he was amongst them. Mr. Sullivan, who is acting Deputy Warden, is generally well liked by the convicts, and many hope that he may be permanently appointed. Chief Keeper McCarthy is enjoying a three months holiday. It was thought that he would have received the appointment, having the support and influence of the Warden. Burton is a wood-turner, and a good tradesman. In the carpenter shop he was under the care of Mr. Thomas Davidson, a man of patience, experience and discrimination. He has no special complaint to lodge. The prison food is nutritious and abundant, but is occasionally spoiled by bad cooking and inattention to cleanliness. Many workmen, in food, fare worse. There is, however, a desire among the prisoners for a more frequent change of diet. The same dishes every day all the year round, becomes positively nauseous. The vessels, being made of tin, are liable to rust. Prisoners complain that they do not get justice at the hands of the public press. Descriptions are sometimes unfairly written. The description lately given in the Globe is said to be the best, so far, written by an visitor to a penal institution, but yet it was very far from giving the full truth. Even the Write, he says, made a mistake in saying that Convict Sturdy, the painter, was deranged, while the News announced, very oddly, that his charge was abortion. He speaks very strongly against the present system adopted by the Government in the granting of pardons, and affirms that the case of Allen, cited by us last Saturday, was a fair sample. In some cases it has been the very men who ought to have served every hour of their sentence who have been pardoned; while there are retained men who never have been associated with crime in any form, except the particular one with which they stand charged and to whom the very fact of being arrested and tried brings more suffering and punishment than to many who put in a long term. He would like the papers to mention the names of F. Sturdy, painter, from Guelph, who have already put in four full years, and Arthur Pierce, a hard working, well behaved man, who has been sentenced for twelve years. The public are referred to Warden Creighton for his opinion on these two cases. He also thinks that there should be an independent court of appeal for officers as well as convicts—in other words a body of directors.

On being asked how he ascertained what was going on in the outside world he naively remarked that when they found out how Guiteau the would-be assassin of Garfield, imprisoned in a separate cell, closely watched with special instructions, knew that the President was out of danger and was conversant with the bulletins, then he would tell. He imparted his information in a straight forward and intelligent manner.

FONG LEI'S PERSECUTION.

An Arrest Last Evening and a Release To-Day—Traynor's Case Dismissed.

The young man Traynor, charged by Fong Lei with throwing stones on his premises, was at the court this morning with a lawyer, Mr. R. Shaw. A discussion ensued between Mr. Shaw and the magistrate regarding the Chinaman's reliability. The magistrate said that he would believe him, and even had he to stretch the law he would do all in his power to prevent the annoyances to which the Chinaman was subjected. Traynor produced a witness, Franklin by name, who swore that no stones had been thrown by Traynor. The place of Fong Lei had been visited about 9:30 o'clock. He had asked for a price list, but anything further in regard to his movements in the shop he refused to answer. The Magistrate had no other alternative than to discharge Traynor.

Another youth was charged by P. C. James Nesbitt with having rapped several times upon the Chinaman's window after the latter had closed up. The boy was severely reprimanded and allowed to depart. He claimed that he had rapped on the door seeking admission.

Arrest of a Would-be Murderer.

Yesterday afternoon the notorious John Donoghue got into an altercation with a man named Martin, of Portsmouth. An assault followed, and Martin was injured. During the melee Donoghue drew a knife and attempted to stab his opponent. He then fled. A warrant was issued and handed to Constable Floody, who came to the city and last evening, and accompanied by P.C.'s R. Nesbitt and Thompson, went to the residence of Donoghue's mother, on Place d'Armes Street. As the policemen entered the house Donoghue bolted through an upstair window to the roof of an adjoining kitchen, and then jumped into the yard, a distance of twenty feet. The police heard his movements and rushed for the yard, but Donoghue had escaped. He was followed, and near the K. & P. RR. engine house was captured. He was taken to Portsmouth for trial.

CRICKET MATCH.

Kingston v. Syracuse—The Home Team Wins Easily—A Pleasant Game.

A match between the Kingston and Syracuse cricketers was played on the cricket ground yesterday. The crease was in good condition, but the field was a little slippery owing to the parched state of the ground. Kingston won the toss and went to the bat with Fayette and Newick, of the Onondagas, bowling. Galloway and Drummond faced the ball and started out with fair success. Smith, however, was the only one who secured double figures. In other respects the batting calls for no special mention, as it was inferior to that shown in other matches played this season. The fielding of the Onondagas was good, and by this means the score was partly kept down. A remarkable occurrence in this innings was that not a single wide or bye was recorded. The Kingstonians concluded the innings with only 51 runs, a small score for them.

EXCELLENT BOWLING.

The Syracuse players now found the left hand bowling of Galloway and the straight shots of Ireland too much for them, and their wickets fell thick and fast without any heavy scoring. Millard, however, ran up nearly half the runs made, having 13 opposite his name. The last six men retired with only five runs. The innings tallied Onondagas 28 runs.

In Kingston's second innings, the two first men went out without a run. Ireland scored 11 in good form, which included a beautiful hit for six. Grout played well. Master Worsley exhibited good form and has the promise of a fine batsman. The second innings of the the Syracuse club was short. It was thought that having become accustomed to Kingston bowling in the first innings they would show better playing, but the spectators were surprised to see the wickets falling quickly with small returns. The innings only showed 27 runs. Galloway, Ireland and Smith, in the bowling made most effective work. The left arm balls of Galloway were paralyzing on the Syracuse cricketers. The visiting club has been unfortunate in its tour, not having taken a match. Its players are gentlemen, however, and their visit here has been of a pleasant character.

THE MARKETS.

What is Doing in Barley and Cheese—The European Hazzards.

The Belleville cheese market is dull. One or two contracts were reported on Thursday at 11c for July, 11¼c for August, and 12¼c for the balance of the season.

The grain men of Kingston ridicule the idea of 85c being offered at Consecon for a season's crop of barley. The ruling price here is 60 to 65c; at Toronto 70c was paid yesterday, about the usual proportion between that and eastern markets. It is felt that the President's death may send prices down lower. There being no heavy receipts of grain prices have not yet really been formed in Kingston market.

The world's harvests are thus reported from London: France, a better crop than 1880; Great Britain, 10 per cent below the average; Austria and Hungary, good; Italy, good in quality, below the abundance of last year; Turkish Danube Provinces, medium; Russia, barley and rye abundant; Germany, generally good; Prussia, fair; Switzerland, small, but fine; Belgium, wheat the average; Spain, bad; Holland, good; United States, under the average.

Loughboro Murder Case.

An exchange remarks: "Mrs. Vankoughnet was paid $200 for informing the authorities of the whereabouts of her husband, who murdered farmer Richardson at Loughboro." This is entirely false.

The reward of $400 offered for the arrest of Vankoughnet, the Buck Lake murderer, will account for Downey's eagerness to effect the fugitive's capture, as well as his liberality in giving two or three coppers to the talkative little boy as a bribe for betraying the hiding place of his father.—World.

The Toronto Globe serves up one of the wood cuts which was made to do duty in the Biddulph murder trials as a picture of Vankoughnet, the Loughboro murderer. Alongside is to be found a partially laid out diagram of a baseball field—a "little off," it is true—which is alleged to be a map of the buckshot wounds in the breast of the murdered man. It is a remarkable work of art.—Hamilton Times.

Vankoughnet, the Loughboro murderer, has already tasted the bitterness of death at the hands of the picturesque printer. Longfellow has said that art is eternal, but the picturesque printer has also made it infernal and internal.—Evening News.

Mr. DeLong, who traded a colt with $10 "boot" for the horse stolen from Richardson by Vankoughnet and left with one Brown, a store keeper, was in the city to-day consulting a lawyer as to what he had better do in order to regain his money and property. Brown yet holds them and refuses to surrender.

VANKOUGHNET'S STATEMENT.

Something that He did not do—How He Is Getting on in Gaol.

On Thursday we noted the fact of the burning of Richardson's barn and bush at Buck Lake and also gave the alleged statement that Vankoughnet, the murderer, had set the woods on fire by using matches while a fugitive from justice. After the Write was issued a gentleman connected with the gaol entered Vankoughnet's cell and said:

"Richardson's other barn was burned down last evening."

"Well," said Vankoughnet, "they can't say I did it this time."

"All the woods," continued the official, "on his property are in flames, and, do you know, they say that you started the fire by using matches while wandering in the woods."

"I'm innocent. People used to say I was the devil, but you see he hasn't left the place yet."

Vankoughnet was much surprised at the burning of the second barn. He claimed that it was set on fire, as all around the barn was plowed ground. He distinctly stated that he had not used a solitary match while in the woods.

Vankoughnet is looking better than when he was first incarcerated, but there is a bleached appearance in the skin below the eyes, produced by long continued crying. He has been removed from the north to the south side of the gaol. His ward is better lighted and is larger than his old cell. Every day he is allowed half an hour in the gaol yard under the supervision of the head turnkey. He is greatly pleased with the outing. He would like to be out all the time working, as in the cell he is lonesome, not being able to read. He sits near the table all his time brooding over his sad condition. This quietude causes much weeping.

Yesterday he was informed that Mr. J. D. Powley had passed his wife and daughter on the road near Buck Lake. He eagerly questioned his informant and particularly asked where she had been met. He was glad to know that she was well. He expected a visit from his wife and daughter to-day.

A number of ministers have visited Vankoughnet, but as he has declared a preference for Rev. T. W. Jolliffe, it is possible that all other ministers will be prohibited from giving spiritual instruction. Vankoughnet says that Mr. Jolliffe talks to him in such a plain way that he can comprehend what he means. The other ministers he could not fully understand. Yesterday Rev. W. W. Madge called to see him.

The sheriff has issued an order prohibiting any person from seeing Vankoughnet with the exception of his spiritual adviser. The sheriff thinks that as he has been interviewed by reporters and all necessary information elicited that they should not be allowed to see him again, but that he should be encouraged to seek a less worldly frame of mind than he has held hitherto.

Enquiry was made at the gaol at three o'clock and it was stated that neither Mrs. Vankoughnet nor her daughter had been to see the unfortunate man to-day.

MARINE NOTES.

The steamer John Thorn brought up a big excursion to-day from Alexandria Bay.

The Allan steamer Circassian passed Fox River at 1:40 p.m. to-day—a remarkably fast trip.

The last mail boat up was twelve hours late, owing to detention in the lower St. Lawrence Canals. She left at 5:30 for Toronto.

The schr. Annie Falconer will take a load of coal from Charlotte to St. Catharines at 45c. This is better than a load of grain at 2c.

Vessels cannot be secured here to carry ore to Charlotte or Ashtabula owing to the large freight paid on coal from Oswego to Chicago. It is said that $2.10 per ton is offered.

John Mack, the only survivor of the ill-fated crew of the schr. A. Ford (all the others having been frozen to death a few years ago when that schooner was wrecked on Lake Erie) died in the Marine Hospital in Detroit on Saturday. His family lived in Oswego.

Iron and Wood Barges.

The condition of the barge 'Kinghorn', now on the ways at the Montreal Transportation Company, indicates that it is not profitable to build boats of iron and wood. The frame of the 'Kinghorn' was brought from the old country, put together and planked at Montreal. That was eight years ago. Now she has to be virtually rebuilt, her wood being very rotten, so much so that when the work of repairing is finished there will be very little of the old boat remaining. Experienced vessel men assure us that the combination of wood and iron is not agreeable, that the iron injures the wood. Boats must be either all of one thing or the other. The Montreal Transportation Company have a good deal of work at their shipyard. The advantages of a yard is that barges can be hauled out and overhauled just when the manager of the company wishes.
