A PROVIDENTIAL ESCAPE

Two Children Cling for Five Hours to a Plank While Drifting Down the St. Lawrence—Rescue of Them.

(Boston Post.)

On Friday evening, after the steamer Prince Arthur had shot the Lachine Rapids and was nearing the Victoria Bridge, the captain, who was on deck and looking ahead, espied in the distance two small objects floating on the rapid and troubled waters. Fortunately he kept his eyes rivited on them for some time, although the darkness of the hour was fast growing thick. When within a short distance of the bridge the unrecognised objects drifted into the regular channel, right in the way of the approaching steamer. The pilot, however, steered to one side, and thus saved the lives of two children, for such were the objects which had attracted the attention of the captain. The steamer and children were now closing in on the bridge, where it was impossible to render any assistance, as the current is almost irresistable at this spot, and any stop would endanger the safety of the boat and the passengers. The captain, therefore, was forced to pass the little ones.

LEAVING THEM TO THEIR FATE.

They looked to be a brother and sister, and their only support in their dangerous position was a small plank on which they seemed to balance themselves in a miraculous manner. Their only chance was not to become restless and overturn the plank. The little girl shivered with cold as she clung to the rope with desperate firmness. The boy, as he saw the steamer approaching, tried to call for help, but he sank again as it glided by. The children were now lost sight of, and the "Prince Arthur" reached its pier in about half an hour. The Captain, on his arrival, at once proceeded to inform the Water Police officials of the circumstances of the case. In the meantime Mr. Conway also learned the fact and without a moment's delay.

BOARDED A HARBOR TUG

and went in search of the two little ones. He at first steamed down the river, but had to exercise the greatest precaution in making his movements as it was now completely dark and nothing could be distinguished on the waters at a distance of any length. He was cruising around the vicinity of St. Mary's current when weak cries of young voices fell on the ear of an employee of the tug. The order was given to pull up when the crying became distinct and indicated the near presence of the poor children. The plank was about shooting into the very rapid current when it caught the eye of Mr. Conway, who in a moment was by the side of the children.

THEY WERE RESCUED.

Their little voices were weak with crying, and their little hands and feet were numb, and their tears flowed fast and heavy. The little girl was a child of four years and her companion was but two years older. They had been playing together in the afternoon by the river side, above Laprairie, and having seated themselves on the plank began to paddle about, when they suddenly found that they had drifted a considerable distance from the shore. They were wise enough not to jump into the water, but made every effort to draw nearer to land or to attract the attention of some one on shore, but it was all of no avail and no one was around, so they drifted away on their perilous course.

Attempted Murder

Yesterday morning Constable Whalley, of North Augusta, brought into jail here a man named William Anderson, 59 years of age, charged with attempting the life of his daughter-in-law, the wife of Samuel Anderson. It seems the old man lives with his son on a farm near Easton's Corners, and being of a quarrelsome disposition, has not got along very well with his children. His spite has been freely vented against his son's wife, and not long since he is reported to have made an attempt upon her life, chasing her across the farm with an axe. A warrant was sworn out for his arrest before Magistrate Bellamy, of North Augusta, and was placed in Mr. Whalley's hands for execution. The first attempt at arrest did not succeed, Anderson escaping to a swamp. Last night he was found at Frankville, and the arrest cleverly executed by the constable.—Brockville Recorder.

CHRISTIANCY CASE.

A Challenge to Fight and the Cause of it—Further Scribes and Scandalous Derelopments.

Dr. Lugenbeel has sent Mr. Christiancy, ex-minister, a challenge to fight, because of the latter's statements concerning his wife.

Dr. Lugenbeel is devoted to his sister, and since certain interviews with Mr. Christiancy have been published his attitude towards him has not been friendly. He sought Mr. Christiancy in a lawyer's office; but not being able to speak with him he made some excuse and then left. Afterwards Mr. Christiancy found the challenge as stated.

Ex-Senator Christiancy, in conversation over the matter, said the letter was in keeping with everything that came from the Lugenbeel family. It was mean and contemptable. Nothing good ever came from the Lugenbeel family, and he was not surprised at what had occurred. He was too old to be made a target of, and intended to hold the writer responsible under the law, as there has abundant law to cover the case. Further than this he did not care to speak. The room of ex-Minister Christiancy, at the National Hotel, was robbed of $6,000 worth of diamonds and jewellery. The articles were entrusted to Mr. Christiancy for safe keeping while he was Minister to Peru.

Mrs. Christiancy was also seen by a reporter, and stated that she was a little surprised at the writing of the letter, but did not see how it could be construed into a challenge. Her brother had become very much aggravated at the way in which she had been treated by Mr. Christiancy, at the manner in which she had attempted by everything in his power to destroy her character, and at his purchasing false witnesses to swear against her. She was very sorry that, instead of writing letters of that kind, he had not gone and whipped Mr. Christiancy. There was nothing to contemplate, she added, for Mr. Christiancy to do. These might be hard words for a wife, but she knew him better now than when she was married him. She then enquired if the story of the robbery of the jewels was simply gotten up out of sympathy for Mr. Christiancy or whether it is true. Upon being told that a letter was the cause, she said she knew who the jewels belonged to. They were the property of a woman who had lived with him at the legation, and whose name had become notorious there as being his mistress. It was this woman who was the cause of her having to go to a hotel. She had no doubt that he possessed the jewels and their owner also. He was only waiting for this divorce that this woman might come on and marry him. Her brother was hasty in writing the letter, and probably said what he would not have said if he had thought over it. Still, she could not see where there was any challenge in it.

A Fact Worth Knowing

With ordinary good grooming, and the occasional use of HARVELL'S CONDITION POWDERS, any horse, no matter what the condition of his health or physique, can be so restored in every relation, as to make him an almost new animal. They are Sold everywhere.

A Moral Power.

Stove pipes are supposed to move the deepest and most profound desire to swear that it is possible for man to experience. Be that as it may, we venture the opinion that corns produce as many startling exclamations, and the introduction of Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor should be hailed as a moral influence in the world, independent of its power as a reliever of physical suffering. Sold by all druggists in Kingston and by N. C. Polson & Co., agents for Ontario.

Holloway's Pills.

This medicine has resisted every test which time, prejudice, and vested interest could impose upon it, and it at length stands forth triumphant as the most reliable remedy for these derangements of the system so common at the change of seasons. When the air grows cooler and the functions of the skin are retarded, an occasional dose of Holloway's Pills will call on the liver and kidney for greater activity, and compensate the system for dimished cutaneous action. As alteratives, aperients, and tonics these Pills have no equal. To every aged and delicate person, whose appetite is defective, digestion infirm, and tone of health low, this medicine will be a precious boon, conferring both ease and strength.

Harvest Home.

A very successful harvest home dinner occurred at Millhaven on Tuesday last under the direction of Rev. Mr. Kellock, the resident pastor of the Presbyterian Church. Some three hundred persons assembled, among them several Kingstonians. Three long tables piled with good things, kindly provided by the ladies, made a harvest home dinner unequalled in any part of the Midland district. After the edibles had been disposed of addresses followed from Revs. Kellock, McCuaig and several ministers from Bath and, Napanee. The large company heartily enjoyed themselves, returning home filled with gratitude and pleasure at the bountiful harvest of the past season.

Has Stood the Test.

N. H. Downs' Vegetable Balsamic Elixir has been in use for half a century in the United States and Canada, and the thousands who have used it have never found it to fail, as a certain and speedy cure for coughs, colds, croups, asthma, diseases of the lungs and consumption. The inventor has been blessed by thousands as a benefactor of humanity, and when half a century more shall have gone by his name will still be a household word, while many of the great names now so honored and revered shall be forgotten. The fame of the Elixir, so long ago established, gains wider renown each year, for all who use it spread abroad the news of its efficacy more effectually than any medium of advertising could do.
