ESTABLISHED 1834.

THE BRITISH WHIG

is published by E. J. BARKER PRIOR every evening, at the Office, Brock Street, Kingston, Canada, at Six Dollars a Year, Cash.

The WEEKLY BRITISH WHIG is published every Tuesday morning at One Dollar and a Half a Year, if paid in advance; otherwise Two Dollars a Year.

Advertisements under Six Lines are charged $1 per three insertions and 15 cents for further continuations. Those of not Nine Lines are charged $1 for three insertions, and twenty cents for subsequent. Other Advertisements are charged the rate of Eight cents per line for the first insertion and four cents per line for each subsequent insertion—except when ordered once or twice a week, when they are charged Eight and Six cents per line respectively.

Notices in editorial columns, the object of which is to promote class, society, secondary or private interests, to become legal advertisements and payment is rigidly enforced. For notices of births, marriages and deaths a cash charge of fifty cents is made; if booked, marriages are charged One Dollar.

Special contracts made for monthly, year. Advertisements are payable at the time of contract.

LAUGH GIRLS.

Now ladies, look here I'm a bachelor gay
Who for forty long years have had my own way
And all these long years I've kept out of harm,
And have managed, besides, to secure a good farm.

I'm exactly five feet and seven inches high,
And weigh just one hundred and fifty when dry;
Neither snuff smoke or chew nor never get tight
But the sware words will come when things don't go right.

But I've tried at last to mend my old ways,
The all time being mean, woman and dog;
Why it keeps me so busy from dawn until dark
That I can't get the first single minute to spark.

So, after long thoughts, I've concluded 'tis wise,
As I can't look around, to just advertise,
So if any lady can fancy my way
And is ten years younger, at least let me say
And is pretty and pleasant, and so taller than me,
Perhaps on a wedding we'll sometime agree.

WRECKING SERVICE.

Canadians Acting On Their Dignity—A A Crooked Act Returned—Matching be Americans.

(Toronto Mail.)

To be a Canadian is sufficient to condemn a man in the eyes of many an American, and as a rule the latter ask in the words of old, slightly altered, "Can any good thing come out of Canada?" Although their population is ten to one against Canada, and their capital in even a greater proportion, they recognize in the business men of the country rivals that are bound to make themselves felt. So long as they endeavor to restrain the trade by fair means, the rivalry was a healthy one, and tended to bring out the best points of both countries, but they have for the past year or two confined themselves to a system of crying down Canadian enterprise in a way neither creditable nor just. Lately the canal and all vessels built to suit the requirements of the canal trade was the object of their attack. Not even a stonehooker came to grief on this lake but it was magnified into a "canaller" by the time the news reached Chicago, and a moral was drawn against shipping grain via the Welland Canal route. For years it was the

CANADIAN WRECKING LAWS,

with their "inhumanity," that caused the trouble, and in attacking them they quite forgot that they were framed on the American model, and brought into active force by the conduct of Americans in connection with the seizure of the tug 'Robb,' and the affairs of Messieurs Norris & Neelon, noted in the despatch below. So long as Canadians had no properly equipped wrecking company there was some ground for the attacks, but now, when they possess the best outfit on the lakes, Americans should give it a chance. The tug 'Swain' lies a wreck in Canadian waters, and as every appliance for raising her can be had on Canada shores the Customs authorities very properly refuse a permit to American wreckers. No doubt this will be greeted with the moral howl of indignation, but Canadians can stand that as easily as the abuse they formerly received so freely.

DESCRIBING THE DIFFICULTY.

The tug 'Martin Swain' was sunk by collision with the propeller 'Jay Gould' on Tuesday morning last when off Bois Blanc Island, in Canada waters. The Custom authorities have refused to allow Drummond's tugs and wrecking apparatus to work on her, as the Canadian wreckers are willing, with three steam pumps and the best wrecking outfit on the lakes, to take the job at a reasonable figure. Every endeavour is being made, however, to do without their services. The renowned diver, James Quinn, formerly of Kingston, has been engaged, and is working which is four feet wide, and nearly down to her keel, and it is the intention to try and pump her out with a steam fire engine, without straightening her up on an even keel. The parties who own the 'Swain' are alleged to be the parties who would not allow Captains Norris and Neelon to work one of their propellers on a consort which broke away from the propeller and went aground at Alpena a few years ago, and so put Messrs. Norris and Neelon to the expense of some $40,000 over the matter. They are also the same parties that own the tug Winslow, which was seized for evading the Canadian wrecking laws, but escaped; and also owners of barge Ark, which for the same offence is now lying under seizure here. The several Canadian wreckers are holding themselves in readiness to go at a moment's notice, if called, so that no excuse can be offered for refusing their services. Captain John McKenna, the well known insurance man, of Detroit, is superintending the job for the insurance companies, assisted by Charles Baxter, United States ex-Consul at this port.

PATCHING UP THE GASH,

PROVINCIAL EXHIBITION

Shall it be Sustained or Should the Grant be Withdrawn?—Public shall Decide.

The Executive Council met in the Board Room on the London grounds on Friday, when, after considerable discussion, the following resolutions were passed:

"On motion of Mr. E. Parker and J. Carnegie, it was carried unanimously: That as the management of the Council of the Agricultural and Arts Society of Ontario was attacked on the floor of the House of Assembly during its last session, and has since been severely criticised by the press, more especially so by the Toronto papers, who have tried every means to injure its usefulness by persistently condemning its management, arguing that its work has been accomplished and that the majority of the people of the great Province are now opposed to its continuance under Government patronage, and are in favor of the discontinuance of the annual grant from the Government of Ontario; and that shows similar to the Toronto Industrial, managed by a local board in the interests of the city in which it may be held, and without reference to the interests of the agricultural community, would be more acceptable to the public at large. We would, therefore, recommend that a committee, composed of the following gentlemen, viz., Messrs. Aylesworth, Drury, Rykert, Carnegie, Saunders, Jackson, Parker, and the President of the Mechanics' Institute, be appointed to prepare an address and circular in reference to the above question, and cause the same to be sent to all the agricultural societies of Ontario, to be by them submitted at their annual meetings for their expression of opinion thereon."

THINGS IN GENERAL.

The Phrenological Journal for September has a portrait and sketch of Paul H. Hayne, the southern poet.

A Chicagoan offers two untamed lions at $500 each. "Have you secured your winter pets?"

There is a decrease in the pink eye epidemic at Chicago since last report. The affected are rapidly recovering.

The St. Petersburg (Russia) Journal describes President Garfield's demise as a glorious death on the battle field of honesty.

Two Newburyport men played 5,262 games of dominoes last year. They must reckon that year as Anno Domino.

The Baltimore Sun tells of a young lady of that city who gave $100,000 for a husband. Us men come high, but the girls have got to have us.

Dr. C. L. Keeler has been arrested in Chicago for concealing cases of virulent small pox. This is his second offence of the kind.

In Sonoma county, Cal., a railway track crosses a deep ravine upon the upright trunks of the trees, which have been sawed off upon a horizontal line.

Queen Victoria converses on books and paintings in the Italian language, on general subjects in French, criticises music in, and reads in German.

A shooting affair in which two men were killed and one wounded, has taken place in the Magistrate's Court of Barrow county, Ga.

A man in Tallahassie, Fla., has bought a lottery ticket every month for fifteen years and has never drawn a cent. His persistent pluck stamps him as a hero.

Gold memorial medals will be struck at the United States Mint, Philadelphia, bearing the bust of Lincoln on one side, and of Garfield on the other.

The new Inman line steamship "City of Rome" is 8,000 tons register, and has passenger and crew accommodations for 2,400 persons. She has made a successful trial trip on the Clyde.

A mammoth tree cut down in Lewis County, Ky., recently produced 33,402 feet of lumber and twenty-five cords of firewood. It was 16 feet in diameter and 122 feet high.

It is not twelve months since "Eutymion" was sold in thousands at thirty-one and six pence per copy, and it is not six months since the death of its author. Second hand books can now be procured at the libraries at three shillings each.

A lady in Bridgewater, Mass., thirty years ago stamped her initials and a private mark on a small coin and passed it out. In change not long she was surprised after such a lapse of time to receive the identical piece of money.

Finly Dun, who visited America in company with Clare Read and Albert Pell M.P., has written a book on "American Farming and Food." The Athenæum fears his work will mislead more persons than it will instruct, and it does not seem to be pleased that Mr. Dun should vaunt the attractions of Minnesota and Iowa, to the neglect of Manitoba.

A New Jersey man recently married his mother-in-law, in violation of a State law and is punishable by a fine of $500.

If they let the man go he will probably be punished sufficiently for his rash act, but law is law in Jersey, and its iron clutches have probably ere this been fastened upon the man whom half the world has been commending for his bravery.

Henry Borenweitz, a farmer, living at Black Stump, L. I., died on Sunday. Ten years ago he lost $15,000 by the sinking of a vessel. Since then his mind has been affected. In August he expressed a determination to live longer without food than Dr. Tanner did, and his friends could not prevail upon him to abandon the undertaking. He fasted 29 days and became so weak and emaciated that his friends forced food down his throat; but his stomach was too weak to retain it, and he died.

A man named Deter walked five miles for the purpose of killing his wife, at Yorktown, Ind. He found her entertaining visitors, when, with a spirit of accommodation and a delicacy that must call forth the highest praise, he substituted his own head for her as a receptacle for the bullet and committed suicide on the spot. Few men would make such a sacrifice to avoid marring the enjoyments of a company.

A Quaker Wedding.

Marriage is contracted in the Society of Friends with as little ceremony as their other religious duties. The young people, having fallen in love and obtained the consent of their parents, give notice to the ecclesiastical council, who make the needful inquiries, and publish a form of banns at the following Sunday meeting to ascertain if there is any valid objection to the marriage. Then the bride and bridegroom, with their relative and friends, attend one of the ordinary week day devotional meetings, at which the solemn contract is completed without any formal ritual, there being no clergyman and no ring.

Without parson or priest at the table they stand,
And the bridegroom says—holding his bride by the hand—
"I John, take Friend Margaret here for my wife,
To be loving and faithful while God gives us life."
No vows to the simple sweet promise lend force,
Yet who ever heard of a Quaker divorce.
