Call it mere coincidence, and say that what I saw was the reminiscence of my landlord's story and dreamed in the delirium caused by my hurt—explain it upon any natural ground—that you choose, I shall still adhere to my opinion of the matter.

NOTED BRIGANDAGE.

A Singular Story—Murder of Eight Monks in Hungary.

A shocking murder was committed a fortnight ago at a monastery near the forest of Yrango-Sets, in Hungary. This monastery, which was inhabited by eight monks, who were believed to be very wealthy, was attacked by a band of brigands, but an alarm having been given, a body of soldiers came to the rescue. The brigands endeavored to barricade themselves in the monastery, and exchanged several shots with the soldiers, who were more than an hour before they could force an entrance. When they did get in they found the monks lying gagged on the floor, but could find no trace of the brigands. After the monks had been set at liberty they informed their deliverers that the brigands had escaped by an underground passage leading from the cellar into the forest. The soldiers at once searched for the passage, while the monks went off to the chapel to give thanks for their delivery. The soldiers, having explored the cellar and having failed to find the door of the passage, came back to ask one of the monks to act as their guide; but they were nowhere to be seen. In the course of further investigations, however, they found the dead bodies of the eight monks in a small room, and the mystery was then solved. The brigands, seeing that they could not escape, had murdered the monks and hidden their bodies in this room, having first stripped them of their clothes and put them on themselves. They then gagge done another to deceive the soldiers, and while the latter were searching in the cellar had made off to their fastness in the forest.

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

Mail. When the U. S. nation stood like Niobe, crownless in her voiceless woe, Canada felt the same grief. We were sisters mourning in a common loss, that of a good, brave man.

Toronto News. We do not wish to intrude, but we would like to whisper to Sir Hector Langevin that this banquet business is getting a little, just a little, monotonous. No man can eat his way into success.

Mail. Justice Wilson deserves the strongest support the press of Canada can give him in the endeavour to bring the practice of chariveting into disrepute. It is at best senseless, idle, and vicious, frequently resulting in death.

Ontario. There will be no regret in the commercial community that Mr. Brunell is soon to retire from the Inland Revenue Department. No other public officer that we are aware of has earned such an undesirable notoriety as an incapable, meddlesome person.

Post. Dr. Wild, the sensational Toronto preacher, says the United States will soon be annexed to England and England to Jerusalem. When that time comes the Rev. Mr. Wild will have on a jacket which will not be crooked.

Advertiser. At the St. Thomas dinner to Sir Hector Langevin, Charles Roe said that "Personally, the city had a high opinion of Sir Hector, but—they wanted a post office and custom house out of him." Come to think of it, that would be a very good way to spend that $32,000.

Richmond Hill Herald. The agricultural and arts association draws $10,000 a year from the Government. The time was when it did a vast amount of good, but the position is better filled now, and the money might be more usefully expended in various ways than in keeping up an extravagantly managed institution.

London Free Press. London will and must have a reduction in the number of her Aldermen. This result is inevitable. The present cumbrous system has outlived its usefulness, if it ever had any, and must give place to something more fitted to the spirit of the times. It will be the most popular move ever inaugurated in London.

The Winnipeg Sun says that the Hon. Wm. McDougall has the refusal of the Government to be vacated by Lt.-Gov. Cauchon, but will probably accept the position of Land Commissioner, under the Railway Act of last session. The name of Hon. Mackenzie Bowell is mentioned in that event for the Lieut.-Governorship.

Value and Quality.

Our stock of fine Scotch tweeds and English serges are the best value in the city in quality and low prices. Our stock is always well assorted as we receive a few pieces weekly to prevent the assortment from being broken. They average in price from $12.50 to $18.00 a suit. Remember we guarantee a good fit and first-class trimmings. Z. Pravost, New York Clothing Store.

Honored and Blest.

When a board of eminent physicians and chemists announced the discovery that by combining some well known valuable remedies, the most wonderful medicine was produced, which would cure such a wide range of diseases that most all other remedies could be dispensed with, many were skeptical; but proof of its merits by actual trial has dispelled all doubt, and to-day the discoverers of that great medicine, Hop Bitters, are honored and blessed by all as benefactors.—Democrat.

Daily British Whig.

Ogilvie per Orkom Diem.

Many are the ways in which it has been proposed to embalm and perpetuate the memory of Garfield. A monument in Westminster Abbey was one of these, and now it is suggested that it shall take the humanitarian form of a national hospital to be erected at Washington! If as hinted in the telegrams, the whole civilized world is to be permitted and invited to contribute the necessary amount could very soon be raised to erect such a monument to the late President's memory. It would be a suitable tribute to his worth and a sad and perpetual reminder of his sufferings and martyrdom.

Every successive team of English cricketers that visits America gives fresh evidence of the superiority of the old land champions as compared with the best efforts of the best players this continent can produce. Shaw's team of Englishmen, now on a sporting tour through the States, have literally "played with" every American club that has had the temerity to oppose them. As usual it is of no avail to give the Americans odds in numbers the result in every instance being a "win as you please" victory for the Englishmen. Cricket is really the national game of England and the national fame for excellence in it is not likely to suffer in the hands of the present generation of English cricketers.

Conservative journals are industriously pegging away at the impossible task of attempting to prove that the duty on coal does not increase its price to the consumer. This is one of the silliest contentions yet made on behalf of Tilley taxation. No one we presume will deny that the importers of coal have to pay the duty of 50 cents on every ton they bring into the country, and the general public are not such confiding believers in the coal merchant's generosity as to suppose that the latter having paid the duty themselves never think of it again as an item of outlay when figuring up the retail rates for their customers. As a matter of fact and as a matter of course the 50 cents on hard and the 60c. on soft coal are factors in the retail price as certainly as is the original cost of the coal or the price of its freight. Whatever may be the retail price the duty is in it and the consumer pays it, and all the writhing of the organs to make this particular black appear white will not affect the palpable fact in the case.

THE FAIR SEASON.

Now that "Canada's greater fairs" are over, a perfect crowd of smaller exhibitions are being held throughout the Province. The "Central" of Guelph, the "Southern" of St. Thomas, the "Central" of Lindsay, and many others are proving what separate sections of the country can do in instituting and sustaining successful fairs. This local self-reliance has latterly been very strongly developed in exhibition matters and it is this fact that strengthens the impression that the Provincial can be dispensed with, in fact that it has already been largely superseded by these local shows of less and greater magnitude. There will be a lively discussion in the House when next the ten thousand dollar grant is under consideration, and the greedy grasping of the association when it lately refused the just claims of Kingston in order to grab the heavier gate receipts at Toronto will prove to be a short sighted specimen of over reaching which the parties to it will yet have good reason to regret.

KILLING MADE MURDER.

There is no denying the fact that Vankoughnet was most fortunate in having a jury that disagreed upon his case, especially in view of the hard luck prisoners of his class are meeting with elsewhere. There is, for example, the case of Hayvern, who murdered Salter, his fellow prisoner, in St. Vincent de Paul Penitentiary. The accused was sworn by the highest medical authority, during the trial, to be an epileptic maniac and perfectly irresponsible imbecile, and yet the jury brought him in guilty of murder, and he has been duly sentenced to be hanged on the 10th of December. Executive clemency may interfere and commute his sentence to life imprisonment, or it may not, but meanwhile the fact is on record that the jury found him guilty of the capital crime notwithstanding his alleged irresponsible condition. It is quite evident that some juries are inclined to give to society and its murdered victims the benefit of the proverbial doubt. Such will likely prove to be the case with Guiteau, whose indictment is about ready, and whose just doom will not be long delayed, although he affects to be as crazy as a March hare, and to have assassinated the President under the direct inspiration of Heaven.

POLITICS BEING REVIVED.

There is getting to be quite a stir in political matters in various places throughout the Dominion. Certainly the Liberals do not seem to be afraid of discussion for in almost every instance it is they who are throwing down the gauntlet to the taxationists. We lately announced that Sir Richard Cartwright would shortly address his constitutents in Centre Huron. His utterances like those of Mr. Blake will possess more than a local or passing significance and will be eagerly scanned by thinking men of both parties, and especially by those who are not wedded to either party. Other Liberal leaders are carrying the war into Africa as did Mr. Charlton, M.P., for North Norfolk when a couple of days ago he invaded the preserve of J. B. Plumb and forcibly and eloquently addressed the electors of Niagara. The poet laureate of the Tory party was subjected to a severe and scathing criticism at the hands of Mr. Charlton and although the former essayed a reply it only proved to be a sorry exhibition of the weakness of his cause. Mr. J. Burr Plumb only holds his seat as member for Niagara by a majority of a few votes and the visit of Mr. Charlton will tend to render his chances of re-election more remote than ever.

Lady Florence Dixie is war correspondent to the Morning Post. When last heard from she was cooking her own rations in camp and challenging the Boers to trials of skill in rifle shooting. Bottles placed at the distance of 200 yards were hit by Lady Florence with ease, and the defeated Boer is convinced that an English woman can shoot if Englishmen sometimes fail.

THE TWO LEADERS.

What the People are Doing to Receive Them.

Dear Sir,—It is said that coming events cast their shadows before them. We have, I think, a remarkable instance of this in the treatment received by the present and the future Premiers from the people of the Dominion. Every Liberal expected that the Premier would have a grand reception upon his arrival to show that the public were glad that he was restored to health after his tedious illness. The first general knowledge of his arrival is given by his attending church at Ottawa. Then a sort of surprise party scramble took place to give him a formal reception, and he leaves for Montreal to participate in the doings of Exhibition week, returning again to the oppressive dullness of the Capital.

How different has been the treatment of the coming Premier, the Hon. Edward Blake. From the time he left Toronto until his return he has met with princely receptions. It was one continued ovation everywhere he went. In the ancient capital all classes turned out to bid him welcome, illuminating the city in his honor. Halifax gave him a very generous welcome. It looks as if the people took advantage of this visit to show the state of their feelings and how desirous they are for a change of Government. I am not writing this to disparage Sir John, but I would like to wake up the Reformers of these counties and Kingston. It is time they were preparing to take part in the struggle of '83. There is much to be done to complete organization and provide candidates. Kingston is secure as Mr. Gunn, but they should help the surrounding neighborhood. Kingston was redeemed from Tory rule by persistent work. The same method will redeem the counties. Then let the coming winter see a movement to that end.

UNITED STATES DESPATCHES.

The Corn Corner Broken—A Rush for Vessels—Guiteau Agitated.

New York, Oct. 8.—The influx of foreign fire insurance capital to this country is increasing so rapidly that the officers of many local companies fear their interests are being seriously impaired by new and powerful rivals.

Hartmann, alleged Nihilist, sailed for Europe on Thursday.

CONKLING ON DECK.

The World's Washington special says that it is clear if there be any hesitation within the ranks about electing a Democratic President of the Senate it originates with curious influence long ago established by Senator Conkling over certain Democrats.

Garrison's, Oct. 8.—French visitors left this morning for Niagara Falls.

THE PRESIDENT WORKING.

Washington, Oct. 8.—The President has begun filling vacancies in the Executive Departments, and made several appointments for the Interior Department.

GUITEAU ALARMED.

Scoville left a batch of newspapers in Guiteau's cell. They were the first papers the assassin had seen since he was arrested. He was suffering from a malarial attack, and reading expressive references to himself threw him into a high fever.

A CITIZENS' MOVEMENT.

New York, Oct. 8.—A meeting of forty prominent citizens has agreed that citizens irrespective of the party, should see that proper candidates for Legislature and national offices are nominated if they are not furnished by existing organizations.

THE CORN CORNER BROKEN.

Chicago, Oct. 8.—The corn corner collapsed yesterday amid the wildest excitement of the season. Preparations are being made for the shipment of grain to the east. Vessel room for 480,000 bushels were engaged yesterday, rates to Buffalo established at 2½c.

A MISERABLE PLOT.

Philadelphia, Oct. 8.—The United States detectives have discovered that the shippers of infernal machines from Boston were O'Donovan Rossa, Patrick Ledwe, and Peter H. Foye, the latter of this city. The machines were manufactured here. The machines were fraudulent, and a plot to cheat the English Government out of a large sum of money to be appropriated by its originators for their personal uses.

A CHURCH SCANDAL.

Sycamore, Ill., Oct. 7.—The Thomas heresy trial is actively progressing before the Rock River Conference. Thomas filed charges against Dr. Parkhurst alleging lying and slander. Much feeling is manifested.

A SWINDLER OUT AGAIN.

Washington, Oct. 8.—The Government swindler, Howgate, was this morning discharged from custody on his own recognizance in $20,000.

GUITEAU'S CASE PRESENTED.

Indictment against Guiteau was presented to the Grand Jury at eleven o'clock.

At 12:45 the Grand Jury entered the court room and presented the indictment against Guiteau and endorsed "a true bill" and signed by signed by Calet Churchman, Foreman.

THE INDICTMENT.

Washington, Oct. 8.—The Guiteau indictment embraces eleven counts, and is drawn with great minuteness. The fifth and sixth counts are the ones upon which it is said the prosecution will mainly rely. They describe the shooting as having been done of malice aforethought with a pistol of the value of $5, inflicting a mortal wound of the depth of six inches and breadth of one inch, of which the President, James A. Garfield, until the 19th of September did languish and ultimately died. Each court formally repeats the charge to Guiteau in a manner and by means described feloniously, wilfully, and of malice aforethought, did murder. There is considerable sharp criticism of District Attorney Corkhill for permitting his stenographer to sell to newspapers the confession of Guiteau.

EUROPEAN DESPATCHES.

The Emperors Meeting Creates a Hungarian Scare.

Warsaw, Oct. 8.—Great sensation was caused in Hungary by the news of the projected interview here between the Emperor of Austria and the Czar. It was reported that the meeting of the Emperors is connected with the violent suppression of the Eastern question by the annexation of European Turkey to Austria and Russia, with the promise of neutrality towards Germany in the event of war next spring with France. Constantinople is to become a free town. Hungary, whose sympathy with Turkey is very great, is strongly against such a policy, but it is said that the Dantzic interview leaves the Austrian monarch no option in the matter. It is feared that if Francis Joseph goes to Warsaw there may be a manifestation in his favor to spite the Czar, who does not treat his Polish subjects as the Austrian Poles in Galicia are treated.

WHAT CARNARVON THINKS.

London, Oct. 8.—Earl Carnarvon (Conservative), at Derby, yesterday, said: "The Government's legislation is meagre and fruitless where it is not shameful. The Government of great promises has become a Government of small performances.

NIHILISTS CAPTURED.

Berlin, Oct. 8.—Twenty pupils of the Constine Military School have been arrested, and many Nihilist proclamations were found on them. The Russian authorities, in view of this fact, are adopting the severest measures. Markets and fairs are prohibited wherever there is the least suspicion. The Nihilists attend such gatherings for their own purposes.

GLADSTONE'S IDEA ALSO.

Leeds, Oct. 8.—Gladstone in his speech referring to Parnell's course on the land Bill, declared that although Parnell did all he could to injure the bill he did not dare to vote against it, for if he had done so his own Leaguers would have risen in a body against him.

Montreal "Disappearance."

Montreal, Oct. 7.—The whereabouts of Mr. Charles E. Bourne is known, he having written to Mr. James Dakers from New York City. He seems to have owed no one any very large sum of money, and has been apparently overdrawing his accounts.

Further particulars of the Bourne defalcation place the amount of shortage at $10,000. It has now been determined to arrest Bourne in New York, if he can be found. Although he has written from New York his address is not known, and New York detectives will be looking for him are this gets into print.

The Lucan Tragedy.

Toronto, Oct. 7.—Mr. Hugh McMahon, Q.C., applied to Justice Osler for an order to admit to bail James and William Feehley, who are at present confined in London gaol, and against whom indictments were found, the first for the Donnelly murders at Lucan. The order was granted with the consent of the Crown counsel, permitting them to bail in the sum of $4,000 each on each of the indictments, and two sureties of $1,000 each to stand their trial at the next Spring Assizes.

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY.

How the National Policy is Affecting the Railroad.

London, Oct. 7.—At the meeting of shareholders of the Grand Trunk Railway, held yesterday, the feeling was far from buoyant; yet the greatest harmony prevailed. Nothing of a definitely encouraging nature was said, and the absence of an expected drop of encouragement has caused a general decline in Grand Trunk shares. Some light was thrown upon the cause of the unfavourable traffic returns by Sir Henry Tyler, President of the road, in his address. He explained that the expenses of the road had been greatly increased within the last few years in consequence of the altered fiscal policy of the Dominion Government, which made everything the poor man required dearer than it was before. As a result, workmen on railways, as in other branches of trade, demanded higher wages, which with a company having such an exceedingly large pay list as the Grand Trunk was a very serious matter. Materials of all kinds were also dearer than they had been before, and in particular the cost of coal was increased to the extent of the very high duty imposed. He (Sir Henry Tyler) could hardly conceive any thing more unwise in a nation like Canada than to place a duty on coal. He was not without hope, however, as he believed that in its present position, and with such favourable connections as it now possessed, the road would secure a good portion of the great trade which the demand for American products in England and the activity of business along the line seemed to promise.
