The Conference—Firmness of Turkey

London, Jan. 8.

The request of the Sublime Porte for a postponement of the conference on the eastern question for a few days, in order that time might be gained for introducing Turkish representatives, has no been acceded to. The sessions of conference will certainly be opened in Paris to-morrow. The Sultan has consequently been obliged to telegraph his instructions to the Turkish Ambassador at Paris. There is no question that part of these instructions are that, if the discussions in the conference extend beyond the Sublime Porte's ultimatum to the Grecian government, the Turkish representatives will immediately withdraw.

The Turquie, the official newspaper at Constantinople, has said that if the Turkish representatives withdraws from the conference, war with Greece is inevitable.

Vienna, Jan. 8.

The Press asserts that the representative of the Greek government at the conference will not be permitted to offer any proposition. The conference will frame project of settlement which it will be the duty of Greece to adopt, after its acceptance by the Sublime Porte and the withdrawal of Turkish ultimatum.

London, Jan. 8.

The firm attitude of Turkey on the eastern question excites much alarm.

Paris, Jan. 8.

The Spanish government is about to establish a corps of observation on the Pyrenees.

London, Jan. 7.

Lord Clarendon, the Minister of Foreign Affairs, received a despatch from Lord Lyon, Ambassador at Paris, stating that new documents have been communicated to him by the Turkish Legation. These documents, it is said, complicate the difficulty between Turkey and Greece.

Brutal Murder in Glengarry.

A MONSTER IN HUMAN SHAPE BEATS HIS WIFE TO DEATH.

A most brutal murder was committed in the 3rd concession of the Township of Charlottenburgh, on the morning of the 1st of January. The circumstances of the case, as nearly as we could learn, are as follows:—On the morning in question, a man by the name of Hughes, and his wife,—the former over sixty years of age, and the latter fifty-eight—had been indulging very freely in bad whiskey, when a row between them ensued, the culmination of which was the death of the old woman from blows received from her husband. The weapon used by the old man was a heavy stick about 4 feet long, which had been used for a walking cane, with a large iron spike in one end and surmounted with a heavy brass ring. After the old villain had committed the deed he had carefully washed the blood from the stick, but had forgotten to scrape out a crack in it, in which were sticking blood and small pieces of hair. The unfortunate woman has always borne a good character, and had been the sole support of her husband for over four years. An inquest was held on the body of the deceased, by Dr. Dickinson, Coroner, when the Jury returned a verdict of wilful murder against Hughes, and he was at once committed to the Jail here to await his trial for this horrid crime.—Cornwall Freeholder.

Stabbing Affray at Eldorado.

A CLERGYMAN ASSAULTED.

Madoc, Jan. 8.

A desperate case of stabbing took place last night at El Dorado. The Rev. Mr. Sparrow was assaulted and stabbed by one Christie. Sparrow was badly injured. Christie has been arrested and is on his way to jail.

STOPPING NEWSPAPER.—A certain man hit his toe against a pebble, and fell headlong to the ground. He was vexed, and under the influence of anger and self-sufficiency, he kicked mother earth right saucily. With imperturbable gravity, he looked to see the earth itself dissolve and come to naught. But the earth remained, and only his poor foot was injured in the encounter. This is the way of man. An article in a newspaper touches him in a weak spot, and straightway he sends to stop his paper. With great self-complacency he looks to see the crash, when the object of his spleen shall cease to be. Poor fool, he has only hit his own toe against a wind that does not perceptibly feel the shock and injuries no one but himself.

DREADFUL TRAGEDY AT SEA.—The Cork Herald publishes the particulars of an extraordinary tragedy at sea. A Londoner named Rogers, one the crew of a Dutch vessel which arrived in the harbor on the 21st. of December, from South America, attempted while the vessel was a sea to obtain possession of her by murdering all his shipmates. He pushed two men into the sea and inflicted injuries on several others, and did actually become master of the ship for three days, but on the fourth one of the captives killed him while he was asleep.

Case of Kidnapping.

SUMMARY EXTRADITION OF TWO PRISONERS.

(From the Buffalo Express.)

On Christmas Day there were two men confined in the jail at Brantford, Canada. One of them, named Charles Smith, was under sentence of twenty-two years in Kingston Penitentiary, and the other named Brown was under indictment for robbery, awaiting trial. Smith is a tall muscular man, while Brown is small, wiry fellow, as spry as a weasel. Both are well known in Buffalo, and it seems they have a particular ingenious friend with a very active temperament living here. On Christmas this woman, named Barrett, appeared at the jail with a cooked goose, which she gave to the turnkey as the means of furnishing a Christmas dinner for Smith. The appearance of the fowl created no disturbance on the part of the official, nor did the sorrowful face of the woman who was so thoughtful as to provide a Christmas dinner for the prisoner, who thought a criminal still occupied a place in the affections of a sister. In due time the goose was given to Smith and divided by him with Brown, who occupied the same cell.

Now, the great peculiarity of that bird was the stuffing. Most people would be shocked to find what they did, but circumstances alter cases, and when a steel-cutting saw and a small file came to view they danced with delight, and masticated the old gander with extreme gusto. That night in the silent watches the iron bars of their window gave way before the small hard teeth of the watch spring saw; and their bedding furnished the ready means for a rope by which to reach the ground. And so they escaped, coming directly to Buffalo with the woman, who had been waiting for them at an appointed place. 'All's well that ends well.'

When the officials discovered that their birds had flown was observed the manner of their exit, the trick of the woman was at once divined, and measures were taken for their recapture. It did not require a deal of skill to trace the fugitives to this city. The Canadian detective solicited the aid of a number of men, and on New Year's day Smith and Brown were discovered in a saloon on Exchange street in company with their deliverers, spending the time in pleasant conviviality.

The men were arrested on a fictitious charge of a crime committed at Niagara Falls, and as they felt perfectly safe they did not hesitate to go with the officers, well knowing that no charge could be sustained against them at the Falls. They were conducted to the Black Rock Station via the street railroad, and then they were handcuffed. Here is where the coup d'etat was made. Instead of taking the locomotive train, one of the men hired the ferry-boat to make a special trip. Everything being in readiness the prisoners were run down to the boat and then a most desperate struggle commenced. The jail birds kicked and fought with all their might, but the handcuffs proved too strong and inconvenient to admit of successful resistance. As they dragged their captors about on the deck the little man urged his bulky partner to spring overboard, swearing he preferred death to life in a Canadian jail.

Capt. Baggerr supposed, of course, that the prisoners were being extradicted under the proper forms of law, but took no further part in the struggle than to prevent damage being done to the vessel. On gaining the Canada shore he experienced considerable difficulty in unloading his freight, and it required a large force to place the convicts in the cars and keep off the Fort Erie refugees who threatened a rescue. They were finally secured and taken back to Brantford by the Canadian authorities.

The summary method of extraditing criminals may be a little irregular, but really under the circumstances, we do not believe any serious complaint will be made against the Canadian officers or the worthy citizens who aided them in relieving our city of the presence of two such characters.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

MONDAY MORNING, JANY 11, 1869.

SOIREE.—A Soiree in aid of the funds of the Society of St. Vincent of Paul will be held on the 26th inst., under the patronage of the Catholic ladies of Kingston. The Soiree will be under the management of the members of the Society, and from what we know of these gentlemen, and the manner in which they conducted their former entertainments, the public may look with confidence for a night of enjoyment.

THE LEEDS SHOOTING AFFRAY.—The results of this affair are not likely to be so serious as was anticipated, as Halliday and the constable, the two injured men, will probably recover. But the vigilance of the pursuers of Chase and Chapman, the two would-be murderers, has not been relaxed on this account, for we hear of the capture of the fugitives on Wolf's island, where they had sought a temporary refuge in their flight to the States. They had crossed from Rockport during the night. It is hoped that the prisoners will receive their merited punishment, in order that the other members of the infamous gang with which they were connected may know that the law cannot always be set at defiance, and that justice, though sometimes dilatory, is sure to reach them at last.

That quarter of Leeds has been made notorious by reason of its being the headquarters of a gang of horse thieves, whose boldness and experiness have been the terror of the farmers, and whose exploits were from time to time made known to our readers. Recently the farmers organized a league for their own protection against this lawless gang, and it was in the execution of what he considered his duty that Halliday, one of the league, was shot the other night. The wonder is that not one of the gang so far has ever been punished.

POLICE COURT, Saturday.—The notorious John Doyle, out of gaol on Saturday, made his appearance again this morning on the charge of assaulting his mother and sister. The father of the prisoner stated that his son had assaulted his (the witnesses') wife and daughter on the above day, and that it was impossible to live with him. The prisoner was then committed to gaol to appear for trial at the Assizes. Margaret Spooner, a miserable vagrant, was sent to gaol for 30 days. One drunk, a stranger, was ordered to leave the city.

PERUVIAN SYRUP.

A PROTECTED SOLUTION OF THE PROTOXIDE OF IRON supplies the blood with its LIFE ELEMENT, IRON giving strength, vigor and new life to the whole system.

If the thousands who are suffering from Dyspepsia, Debility, Female Weaknesses, &c., would but test the virtues of the Peruvian Syrup, the effect would not only astonish themselves but would please all their friends for instead of feeling cross, 'all gone' and miserable, they would be cheerful, vigorous and active.

A DISTINGUISHED JURIST WRITES TO A FRIEND AS FOLLOWS:

'Have tried the Peruvian Syrup, and the result fully sustains your prediction. It has made a new man of me, infused into my system new vigor and energy; I am no longer tremulous and debilitated, as when you last saw me, but stronger, heartier, and with larger capacity for labor, mental and physical, than at any time during the last five years.'

Thousands have been changed by the use of this remedy from weak, sickly, suffering creatures, to strong, healthy and happy men and women; and invalids cannot reasonably hesitate to give it a trial.

The genuine has 'Peruvian Syrup' blown in the glass.

Arsenic has been known for many years to have the power of imparting a wax-like complexion and a roundness to the features, and is said still to be used in some countries for that purpose; its employment, however, is attended with considerable danger, because of the fatal effects of its discontinuance after its use becomes a habit, and the shortening of life if continued. The plumpness and disposition to take on flesh imparted by FELLOWS' COMPOUND SYRUP, is due solely to its strengthening influence on the Nervous system. It creates a healthy action on all the organs of the body necessary to existence, assisting nature in building up and developing to the fullest extent, the human frame, and enabling the body to perform its functions with vigor. It is safe and reliable, and its use may be discontinued at any time without prejudice to the health or any unpleasant effect.

Sold by Apothecaries. Price $1.50 per bottle, or 6 for $7.50.

Polonius.—To thine own self be true;
And it must follow, as the night the day,
Thou canst not then be false to any man.
Hamlet, Act 1, Scene 3.

Puffs are the known device of quacks and cheats,
Rapacious, striving by unscrupulous feats
Of turgid boasting, deftly to deceive
Victims unwary who their tales believe.
I scorn their arts, and vaunt no spurious ware—
Soundness in quality's my constant care.
In each transaction this my anxious aim
Of MORRISON to keep the upright name.
No custom's sought where value's not returned.
Such is my scheme. Adulteration's spurned!

M. MORRISON.
