national prejudice, and anxious to support a French Canadian who had been violently outraged, exhibiting altogether by the unanimity of their sentiments and votes in favor of a stranger, a bearing worthy of the wisest amongst them—having no view but one aim, the confraternity of both populations, and while we see their efforts crowned by the happiest success, notwithstanding the intrigues and persecutions of time; we cannot refrain from acknowledging that so strong a spirit of union and a capacity so marked in the exercise of their elective franchise, entitle them not only to the highest honor, but yet more to the esteem and gratitude of the Lower Canadians in general, and of the inhabitants of the County of Terrebonne in particular—and bear magnificent testimony of the sincerity with which they are disposed to lend their hand to raise us from the state of inferiority in which we have been placed by the new constitution.

Resolved 4thly.—That our conviction is that this example of generosity, and of the love of equal justice, will not remain unpaid, and will strongly contribute to abolish national distinctions, and to effect that union of sentiments so necessary to the connexion between the two provinces.

Resolved 5thly.—That a proceeding so noble on the part of that enlightened portion of the Upper Canadians, is well calculated to teach their Representatives that they are bound in duty to record to the eastern part of the province the enjoyment of equal rights and a fairer share in the public revenues, as the sole basis of permanent concord and general prosperity.

Resolved 6thly.—That on consideration of the fact of our having been prevented from exercising our right of elective franchise, by acts of violence and bloodshed, and of our being thereby deprived of a vote in the United Parliament, we have reason to expect that our fellow countrymen of the Fourth Riding of York, will graciously follow the experienced voice of the man whom they have chosen, to be raised at times in defence of our interests which, in union with those of his new constituents can claim no other bases than justice.

Resolved 7thly.—That a copy of these resolutions be transmitted to Messrs. Baldwin and Lafontaine, to the electors of the Fourth Riding of York, and to the Editor of the Aurore des Canadas.

We have copied in another column the Order of the Day, since which some slight alterations have been made in it. A review of the troops will be held in front of Mr. Wilson's house. The splendid Band of the 14th Regt. will be in attendance at the Town Hall during the Dinner of the Children, and play some of their favorite airs. The Gentlemen of the Committees will assemble at the Town Hall on their return from Government House, and afterwards be in attendance at both places to assist in the distribution and keeping order. The Prince of Wales steam' boat will be launched to-morrow forenoon at 11 o'clock precisely.

Our New York dates are up to Wednesday last, at which time Sir Chas. Bagot had not arrived. The mails are behind time through the weather.

The Weather became cold last Friday, with some snow, but not enough for good sleighing. The thermometer yesterday morning and this morning was at Zero. The harbour is frozen over, and the ice will probably take to Wolf Island in a night or two.

Complaints have made in some of the papers in the lower part of the Province, respecting the want of Storage for produce in Kingston. Such complaints will not be made long. Mr. Garratt has nearly finished an immense Warehouse on his new wharf, 241 feet long by 60 feet wide, and two stories and a half high. To give a better idea of its capacity, it will hold above 50,000 barrels of flour! We rather guess this will accommodate our growing trade.

Died,
