COUNTY NEWS.

INTERESTING LETTERS FROM OUR STAFF OF CORRESPONDENTS.

A Budget of News and Gossip.—Personal Intelligence.—A Little of Everything, well Mixed up.

SOPERTON.

SATURDAY, May 10.—Our store has opened up again under the management of Mr. Williams, and we hope that he may find the business profitable enough to continue.

Mr. H. Whaley's youngest daughter, was badly bitten by a dog on the arm last Saturday. We hope that nothing more serious will result.

R. Cronk is building a new wire fence in front of his house, and intends moving his barn as soon as seeding is over.

Lake st. is going in for blood stock, Mr. J. Hudson having purchased two thoroughbred Ayrshires.

W. Randolph is gaining slowly.

The farmer who bought a pulverizer on the quick time spoken of in your issue, while the B. & W. had come to a stand still, works with renewed energy at both ends, while the middle has and inclination to seek the fame of the dude, to rise above work.

WHITEHURST.

MONDAY, May 5.—It is our sad duty to chronicle the death of Mrs. Reuben Peer, Sr., at Whitehurst, on April 29th, of pneumonia, aged 56 years. The funeral sermon was preached at the home of the deceased by the Rev. Mr. McAmmond, of North Augusta, taking for his text 2nd Corinthians, 5th chapter, and 10th verse. She had been in poor health for a number of years, but always had a desire to see her family grown up to man and womanhood. She lived to see it. She left a husband and eight children—two sons and six daughters—to mourn her loss. She died in the triumphs of faith. The veil was taken away. She said she was going to Paradise, and seemed to have sweet communion with the spirit world. She was a kind and loving mother. The whole neighborhood sympathise with the family in their sad bereavement. Blessed are the dead that die in the Lord from henceforth, yea saith the spirit, they do rest from their labors and their works do follow them.

ELBE MILLS.

MONDAY, May 12.—Mr. Tripp received a large consignment of flour from Westport on Saturday last.

The cold wet weather is greatly retarding spring work.

A young man in this neighborhood recently undertook, for the first time, to harness a horse to a buggy. He found that the harness had been left without being separated, and how to get it on the horse that way was the theme for a long study. The first attempt resulted in the crupper coming over the horse's ears and the bridle at the rear. This surely could not be right, for he thought he had never seen a horse driven that way. By the time he got it off, it was so tangled that he could not tell one end from the other. Then slowly and painfully he proceeded to unbuckle and separate the lines bridle and tugs from the rest, and after an hour and a half he succeeded in getting on enough of the harness to draw the buggy to a neighbor's, where he got help. His adventures on his trip to the back country will form another chapter when I get the particulars.

WESTPORT.

MONDAY, May 12.—The services conducted by Rev. Mr. Whyte, in the Baptist church are being largely attended. Mr. Whyte will occupy the Presbyterian church the coming week.

Several new and attractive dwelling houses are in course of erection.

Westport Fair will be held on Tuesday, May 13th.

Mrs. A. F. McConn will offer her farm, implements, stock, etc. for sale by public auction on fair day.

Mr. W. Dier is home from Ottawa, where he has been in the employ of the C. P. R. as telegraph operator.

Uncle Tom is here and this evening was put through his facings before a large and appreciative audience. The play was fair, the chief features being Eva, Topsy and Lawyer Marks. We were not altogether too well satisfied with the man who sold pop corn without sugar, nor yet with the performances of the dogs. If bloodhounds in the days of slavery displayed no more eagerness for the capture of a fugitive than the canine part of the hunt did, this evening, we would infer that the slave's break for liberty was nothing when compared to what the average small boy has to contend with, when he attempts to mount a barb wire fence, chased by the cantankerous collie of some indignant farmer, whose fruit he has been testing.

SHEATOWN.

TUESDAY, May 6.—Mr. John Dockrill was laid up for a few days with a lame back. He has Mr. M. Shimnock hired to follow his six hundred dollar team. Moses says that when they strike any rock or stone, they go right through it and lift him right off his feet.

Mr. Bennett Kavanagh is giving his house a coat of paint. When it is finished it will be one of the finest residences on the street.

Mrs. Edward Hayes has been very sick for some weeks, but she is recovering, under the skillful management of Dr. Addison. Her two daughters came to see her from the U. S.

The separate school inspector, Mr. Donovan, visited the separate school here in the last of April, and by the appearance of things he put a little nerve in the trustees.

Mr. Peter Coby is the only man that is making any progress in spring work as yet.

MONDAY, May 12.—P. Coby has postponed the erecting of his store. He says commerce is in too dormant a state now.

The separate school is making rapid strides in progress. With such pillars as P. Hickey and P. Coby, why not?

Mrs. Hayes is convalescent. Ed. finds his position embarrassing. He says that a house without an active female is like a pudding without fat. A little more courage.

Jas. Keyes had assigned him by his father, 100 acres of stoneless land last week. Jim is hard at work erecting a dwelling house.

Miss M. A. Shea is in Mallorytown, studying telegraphy. She will, says the tutor, become a clever operator.

McINTOSH MILLS.

MONDAY, May 5.—The disputed school site is not settled. A board of arbitrators has been formed, whom, as we write are unsuccessful.

Mr. Green, the master sawyer in Fortune's timber mills, complains of the inadequate water-power this spring to operate the machinery of the saw mill. Last week the master sawyer had a hair's breadth escape. The mishap, as Mr. Green states, is simply the cause of his being a little green in the running of such institutions.

Mr. Fortune, in conversation with one of his patrons, informed him, that in order to satisfactorily conduct a grist mill one should attend the Guelph agricultural school, where a miller gets proper training. Just the other day, Mr. Avery went there to have grinding done. Mr. Fortune went to work, threw in the grain, started the apparatus, but, worse than usual, it would not proceed effectually. He suspected that the grain was too large, which might be the indirect cause of impeding the mechanical action of the burrs. Mr. Avery said he thought the stones were in default. Thereupon Mr. Fortune called a derrick and had the stones extracted. After minute investigation, it was decided that stones and grain were all right, but that the process of preparation for action was deficient, which deficiency lies with the miller.

MONDAY, May 12.—Ben Leeder is doing a rushing business in his mill. He is not green in the running of a saw mill. The R. C. committee of St. James' Church bought of him 16,000 of shingles for their sheds. They are said to be superior. We regret that Ben's mill is not to the front.

BALLYCANOE.

MONDAY, May 5.—Mr. W. Kerr, of Ballycanoe avenue, is incontrovertibly endowed with an extensive stock of inventive talent. But a few months ago, he completed his new potato-digger, which all the farmers sanguinely hope he will have patented before autumn. Just the other day, a friend perchance, furtively peeped into the secret sanctum of inventor Kerr, whilst the latter was being interviewed on a question of intricate jurisprudence by a local Frontenec, when, to his great astonishment, he perceived the fetus of a new cross-cut-saw in an advanced state of perfection. This invention of a saw, is, as reported by my interlocutor, a vast and decided improvement on the lance-tooth crosscut now extant in our county. The originator, when interviewed by a Young Frontor, as to his intentions about applying for a patent, would not give any information. Mr. Kerr is a man of deeply rooted humility, like a legion of the great geniuses of past centuries, who protected their writings and mechanical inventions not to appear till after death, thus fulfilling the address of God to Adam, in Gen. chap. iii.: 19.

Mr. Jas. Bolger, assisted by his father, is hard at work beautifying the grounds and house on his new farm, formerly the Donnely home. It is rumored that Jim will join the Benedicts after harvest.

Pete Flood is off, learning to be a brick layer in Lyn. He is taking lessons on the violin from a professed artist.

Mr. J. Wight has secured the contract for the building of the public school at McIntosh Mills.

Mr. R. J. Leeder was the guest at M. Ronan's last Sunday, who, after a long absence, were pleased to greet him welcome.

Mr. Geo. Leeder's mare, on Saturday night, brought to the light of this world twin colts, which are both living and apparently healthy.

MONDAY, May 12.—The ladies on this street, go in for horticulture this year. They are a shade more æsthetic in the disposition of their parterres than usual. We presume they copy some of the tasty Athenians.

This street is ornamented with "turkey gobblers," majestically strutting along with red veils over their bills.

The Leeder twin colts closed their eyes on this world Monday. The obsequies were held the same day.

NEWBORO.

MONDAY, May 12.—The building boom has set in quite strong in the Eastern Ward. H. Kilborn's valuable lots are finding an increasing demand and new streets, which were surveyed a year ago, will shortly be opened up to give access to lots north of Drummond St. in the neighborhood of Keyes Park.

This enterprising man, exhibiting the largest spirit, is he who would perulse in picking up the school grounds for the benefit of a travelling show to pitch its tents upon, thereby mutilating it shortly after the children took the pains to clean it off and set out shade trees through it. We set this official up as a champion.

Messrs. John Hart and J. R. Wight have been granted hotel licenses. No applicants for shop license this year.

The water of the Rideau, in the neighborhood of Newboro, has given proof of its superiority in the way of fishing and scenery over other resorts in this part of Canada, having direct communications both by boat and rail. Its increasing popularity is not due to continual puffing and advertising in the local papers, as many other resorts are, but mainly to its merits, attested by those who have been fortunate enough to visit this locality. Its pleasure seekers have increased one hundred per cent each year for the last eight years. This alone is ample proof of its qualities. Many handsome buildings have been erected in the past three years on the islands adjacent to the village and extensive improvements have already begun this spring, in preparation for the coming season.

From another correspondent.

The "Mica King" made his first trip to the city last week, for the purpose of entering into negotiations with a certain Kingstonian concerning the disposal of a valuable mine which he has in his possession. Being a man characterized by great decision and energy, he, no doubt, succeeded in disposing of it to his satisfaction.

Judging from the remarks of the Singleton correspondent, in late issues of the Standard, the farmer's base ball club is very popular. The "ball" is of a superior quality and is still as good as new, notwithstanding the hard knocking to which it is subjected. The gamey, silvery-haired yeoman referred to is, no doubt, an expert in all stages of the game. He is said to excel in the use of the bat, which he wields with a skill that can be attributed only to long experience. He can also take the part of catcher, on any base, and deftly swing into gear for an innings with the dexterity and earnestness of a master hand, whose heart is in his work.

Mac McCann visited our town a short time ago, and, if we can Judge by appearances, enjoyed himself to the uttermost during his short stay. He has peculiar taste, however, auburn being his favorite color and vanilla his favorite drink.

Parties wishing to purchase new stoves would do well to patronize the enterprising hardware man of Bedford Mills. He has for some time past been "penetrating" stoves to the people of this vicinity, and his extremely low prices enable him to dispose of his stock without difficulty.

The Phantom with the beckoning hand, that "still allures and still eludes," struck town on Saturday. Young ladies, beware.

QUAIN.

MONDAY, May 12.—The Misses Fields, of Mallorytown, were visiting friends here last week.

Arbor day was devoted by the pupils of this school to planting cedar and maple trees. The trustees have repaired the outbuildings and fence, which adds greatly to the appearance of the ground.

Mr. T. H. Powell lost a fine young horse last week of Lagrippe.

Mr. A. H. McDonald is setting out a fine young orchard.

Mr. Alexandria Thompson and J. P. Mallory passed through here last week taking orders for aerators.

Mr. F. Hagerman, of Holland, paid us a flying visit last Sunday.

Mr. Chas. McDonald was busily engaged last week delivering apple trees for R. W. Gowan and W. Vanston.

The Hagerman Bros. have purchased a Toronto light binder from our agent, Mr. L. Griffin.

Mr. Peter Larue is building a wire fence this spring which adds to the appearance of his fine farm.

LYN.

MONDAY, May 12.—A decree has gone forth that no cows be allowed at large on the streets in future. Judge S. has been appointed pound keeper. Commencing his duties on Monday, two critters were placed in his charge. This decree bears hard on the poor man.

Two funerals last week. Charley, son of Mr. Bryson, a tailor, who has been ill for a long time, and Miss Adda Booth, who died in Montreal in January last.

Mr. Pegan's new house is daily nearing completion.

Messrs. McCready and Burris raised the frame of a new barn on Friday, said to be the heaviest in this section, for Byron Judson, near here.

David Cornell has set a good example to farmers, having put up a wire fence on the road that is both animal and storm proof.

A loud report that made things rattle, about 8 p. m. on Sunday, followed by a dense cloud of smoke in that direction, indicated that something had gone up at the dynamite works, near Brockville. Several parties drove down to see what was the matter, and found both factories total wrecks. The cause of the explosion was not learned. No one was injured.

On Saturday, May 24th, the Reformers of this riding will meet in convention at Brockville to select a candidate to represent them in the election for member of the Local Legislature to be held on 5th of June. A meeting of the Reformers of Athens will be held on Thursday, 22nd inst., in the town hall, to appoint delegates to the convention. Five delegates from each polling sub-division may be appointed. There some time ago in what the outcome of this meeting will be, but the probabilities indicate that there will be a small representation present.
