Miss Campbell will be in her rooms each day during business hours, when she will be pleased to see prospective customers, either to advise as to material and trimming or to receive orders.

Respectfully,

Obituary.

Benjamin Townsend died at the residence of his father (lately deceased), Long Point, on June 7th, aged 40 years. For several years he had been a sufferer, but at the last death came unexpectedly, as he had been able to be about the house up to the day of his death. He had always lived an exemplary life and was ready when the Master called. The announcement of his death was received with deep sorrow by his large circle of friends and acquaintances and his funeral was attended by many from near and far. To his mourning relatives we tender our sympathy.

Victory for the A. B. C.

The Athens Baseball Club added one more to their long list of victories by defeating Lyn at that place on Saturday. The match was between second nines of the two clubs, but was none the less a good game. Only five innings were played and the result was 5 to 28 in favor of Athens. The clubs were composed as follows:

Lyn.—Pregan, Cornwall, LeClare, Walker, Batson, Hunt, Black, Lillie, Gardiner.

Athens.—Johnson, Williams, Ackland, Moles, Dunn, Rhodes, Tye, Hanna, Brown.

The boys were, of course, elated with their victory and signalized their home-coming by singing the old war song of the club, "We beat them on the tan-bark," etc.

High School Report.

I beg leave to submit herewith the high school report for the month of May.

At the examinations to be held next month, a large number of candidates from this school will write. In some schools, it is difficult to get all the pupils that you think could pass, to try the examination; but here the contrary is true, it is difficult to keep those that you know must fail from writing. We have pupils that take a term of six months at school and try to do in that time a year's work. The result of course is that the majority of such fail. I wish we could impress, by some means, the minds of parents that the High School course is now so arranged that three years must be spent before the Primary or Third Class Examination is taken, and one year more before the Junior Leaving or Second Class. I may say that we have recommended or advised thirty candidates to write at the approaching examinations. Of these we expect a large percentage to pass and thus keep up the reputation that this school enjoys for successful work. As the results of examinations in connection with the several universities are being published, it is encouraging to us to note the success of some who were students here. Several have graduated in medicine; and several in arts, one at Victoria University winning the Prince of Wales gold medal.

Respectfully submitted,

L. A. KENNEDY, Principal.

L. O. L. No. 233 will hold a special meeting in their lodge room, Athens, on Saturday evening next at 8 p.m.

We are pleased to state that Mr. W. M. Stevens has so far recovered from his recent illness as to be able to walk around town, though still very weak.

Mrs. Jas. Ross is making a big success as a photographer. Last week we inspected a very fine negative of the Rev. L. A. Betts, taken by Mrs. Ross.

The evangelistic services conducted by R. C. Horner, B. C., at Glen Buell, on Sunday, were attended by a large number from all parts of the country.

The social given by the Pansy Mission Band on Wednesday last was only slimly attended, owing to the very unfavorable weather. The Pansies will have to bloom again.

Mr. John Earl, of Rear Lansdowne, is erecting a fine two storey building, with mansard roof, on Elgin street, directly opposite John A. Rappells' grocery. It is rumored that the front of the first flat is to be done off for a store and that one of Mr. Earl's sons will be the proprietor.

A full attendance is requested at the next regular meeting of the A. O. U. W. on Tuesday evening, June 21st, to make arrangements for the excursion to Newboro on July 1st, and to meet D. D. G. M. and other visiting members from Brockville.—ISAAC C. ALGUIRE, M. W.

The festive potato bug is abroad in the land in millions. Farmers say that there are more of them in sight at present than at any time since they first made their appearance in this country. What a harvest the Paris green vendors will have this season!

On Thursday of this week Mrs. A. E. Donovan leaves for Halifax, N. S., the present headquarters of of Mr. Donovan. She will be in company with Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Flemming, who are going on a two months visit to friends down by the sea.

Frank Avery, a former well known resident of the Front of Yonge, in writing from Rockford, Ill., ordering the Reporter for a year, adds as a post script: "It has rained every day, except four, since the first of May in this vicinity, and the country is flooded."

Marsden Kemp, specialist in piano treatment and tuning, will be here on his regular trip very soon. Mr. Kemp has had a thorough training in the different finer branches of factory, wareroom and city work of about 14 years, and is practical. Nearly all manner of repairing can be done without removing the instrument. He is independent, but is employed by the largest Canadian firms, dealers, and convents. For engagements, address Athens P. O., or Kingston later.

We have refrained from making any comments on the tests made on the streets of Athens by the agent of the Carr chemical engine for extinguishing fires, for the reason that his visit here was on purely business principles and we decline to advertise any man or his business for nothing. The village council, however, thought so well of the practibility of the apparatus that they agreed with the agent to take one dozen and furnish them to any citizen who would guarantee to take and keep them in readiness for a fire, not only on their own premises, but anywhere in the village, the council to pay all but $5 towards the price of the machine.

A stranger in company with Mr. Smellie, chief engineer of the B. & W., was in town one day last week. It is said that he represents a company anxious to purchase the road and extend it on to Sharbot lake and Palmer Rapids. He intimated to some of our citizens that the first thing the new company would do, if they obtained the road, would be to effect an arrangement with the old creditors along the line, so that they could work in harmony with them and secure their good will. We trust the rumor in all its bearings may prove correct, and that the proposed extension may be commenced at once after the new company assumes control.

The entertainment given in the high school hall on Tuesday last was well attended and as the programme, as advertised, was presented, it was highly enjoyable. The audience were delighted with the singing of Miss Rette Chute, of Brockville, and she will receive a warm welcome should she again visit our village. The High School Glee Club gave a chorus; Miss M. L. Harrison, a recitation; L. A. Kennedy, M. A., a reading; Rev. Wm. Wright, an address; Miss Loverin and R. J. Read, B. A., piano solos. The trial scene from "The Merchant of Venice" was well presented, Mr. Kennedy's Shylock being particularly fine.

District Meeting I. O. O. F.

The annual district meeting of the I. O. O. F. for this section was held in the lodge room, Athens, on Wednesday evening last. At the close of the regular meeting, R. I. Stevens, D. D. G. M., of Delta, took the chair, when credentials were presented by the following representatives:

Smith's Falls.—E. McGillivray, R. G. Shaw, Geo. S. Seeber.

Brockville (St. Lawrence).—W. W. Woods, D. Mathieson. Brock.—H. Rath, W. H. Cole, C. C. Lyman.

Merrickville.—McGee.

Lyn.—G. Hoag.

Mallorytown.—V. Buell.

Delta.—R. I. Stevens.

Athens.—Jas. Ross, L. Lamb.

The reports given of the different lodges showed them to be in a flourishing condition. At the conclusion of the reports, nominations for the position of District Deputy Grand Master were called for and Mr. McGee, of Merrickville, received the honor by acclamation. It was also decided that the next district meeting should be held at Merrickville, so of the honors of the evening that ambitious town received its full share.

The idea of a grand excursion embracing all the lodges in the district, was introduced and discussed, and, generally speaking, was viewed with great favor. The matter was left in the hands of a competent committee and will probably eventuate some time in August.

On adjourning, the delegates and members of Athens lodge repaired to the Gamble House where they partook of an excellent repast served up in good style.

A game of baseball played here on Tuesday last between village and high school clubs resulted in a victory for the latter, the result being 12 to 24.

It is said that Mrs. Henry Hunt, of Fern Island, has the most varied, extensive, and valuable collection of house plants to be found on a farm for many miles around.

The famous Ballycanoe pic nic takes place on Saturday, or, if weather proves unfavorable, on a following Monday. Already there is assurance of a great gathering.

Delta prize list will be in the hands of the binders the last of this week, and the secretary will be able to send a copy to any person applying after Tuesday next.

Our special offer of the Reporter to new, cash, subscribers for balance of 1892 for the small sum of 40 cents is being taken advantage of by a large number. Twelve new subscribers sent in their names last week.

Rev. L. A. and Mrs. Betts left Athens for Brockville on Monday. After getting everything settled in their new home they will, as usual, spend the summer months at their cottage on the Union camp grounds.

In another column will be found a letter from Michael Callaghan, one of the town councillors of Cornwall, who was treated for a very bad case of catarrh in 1889, and is now a well man. There can be no mistake in taking Dr. Washington's treatment if he is consulted in time, but to expect him or any one else to cure a patient with one foot in the grave and the other out is absurd. He does not profess to do any such thing, and those who consult him under such circumstances will get only temporarily benefited.

A Little Curious About Bees.

During the past several days quite a number of stocks of bees in many localities are daily diminished by starvation. The few existing flowers furnish little but pollen. I have examined good colonies, well stored with brood and bees, and found not one ounce of honey in the hive. (June 10th). If the day proves fair, they may get something to eat; if not, they suffer. This may continue for some time. Such might be tided over this bee-famine and remain valuable by feeding crushed sugar syrup. A few hives contain considerable last year's honey. I believe that I am the first to make a test and note the following: I have examined colonies that had apparently formed a hollow square and, with fixed bayonet, carefully guarded their scanty store, keeping back the oldest, the defective and the youngest—all useless boarders—until honey flows freely; keeping them back until they fall famished on the bottom. Here they are seized by a numerous and vigilant police, dragged out and pitched over while yet kicking with life. They do this probably on the same principle that guides the inoffensive Inuet indians, of the remote polar regions, who, in their wanderings, leave the old, the sick, and the dying to end life on a snow bank alone. The interior economy of a hive is a kingdom of uses.

If we apply the smoker, the hungry ones, in the confusion, pitch in and fill themselves. If we use the little feeder, it will generally stop civil war and the carrying out of half-dead bees. The new swarms should be helped now with a frame from a fairly stored stock.

The wondrous, fascinating, charming force of kindness wins the affectionate obedience of the great elephant no more truly than of the little honey bee. Feed the famishing hungry ones. They will repay, for they appreciate gentle kindness.

W. S. HOUGH.

A Farewell Gathering.

On Tuesday evening last quite a large number of the many friends of the Rev. L. A. Betts and his good wife assembled at their residence, at the corner of Mill and Main Sts., Athens, for the purpose of manifesting their kind and friendly feeling towards them, and to express regret at their removal.

After partaking of a most excellent repast, provided by the willing hands of those present, Mr. M. A. Evertts presented and read the following address:

To the Rev. L. A. and Mrs. Betts.

KIND FRIENDS.—Having heard with unfeigned regret of your intended departure from our midst, we, a number of your large circle of friends in Athens, feel it our duty to apprise you in some manner of the unbounded esteem in which we hold you, as an ever kind and friendly neighbor and christian.

While your change of residence will necessitate the severance of many and pleasant ties, we yet sincerely hope that it is a wise step, and that your future days will be brighter and cheerier than those spent here, and that He that "doeth all things well" may shower upon you His blessings more abundantly for the time to come.

In conclusion, wishing you God's speed, we ask you to accept this trifling sum, not as expressing by its amount our feelings towards you, but as a slight earnest of our regard. And we trust you and Mrs. Betts may live long to recall with pleasure the many happy days spent here together."

Mr. Betts, in replying said: "I sincerely think that the estimate formed of my associations with you the past three years, as expressed in your kind and feeling address, I fear is far too flattering; yet I may here say that it has always afforded me unbounded pleasure to know that I possessed the confidence and esteem of all those with whom I formed an acquaintance. And it has always been my aim and purpose to act through life in such a manner as to merit its continuance. I most cordially reciprocate the kind wishes expressed in your friendly address for the welfare and happiness of myself and family, and I do most earnestly pray that the blessing of our Heavenly Father will rest upon, follow, and guide each and all of us, both you and me, now and forever."

Short, earnest and feeling addresses were then made by W. G. Parish, S. A. Taplin, Rev. Mr. Murdock (Baptist), D. Fisher, and J. P. Lamb, in which all expressed their appreciation of their long and pleasant acquaintance with Mr. and Mrs. Betts.

Much credit is due Mrs. Parish, Mrs. Evertts, Mrs. R. B. Aiguire and Mrs. Jos. Thompson for the success of the evening's entertainment.

Mr. Arza Sherman has for sale a few bee hives (though's improved Langstrath) nailed or in the flat.

For the next two Sundays Rev. Mr. Flemming has arranged that in his absence his pulpit will be filled by Rev. Mr. Taggart and for the following two Sundays by Rev. Mr. Lowery.

The managers of Frankville fair claim to have the largest list of specials ever offered by any fair in this section. Their prize list will be commenced this week.

The time for cutting weeds, thistles, &c., is at hand, and we kindly suggest to the various pathmasters and road overseers that their duty calls on them to order every owner or occupier of property along side a public road or lane to cut or cause to be cut all noxious weeds growing on the roadside in front of their respective properties. If not, the overseer is empowered to cause the same to be done at the expense of the parties.

Brockville Cheese Board.

Special to the Reporter.

THURSDAY, June 9.—There was the usual large attendance in trade rooms to-day, and there was another uncommon feature in the business. A heavy decline in price, quite equal to one cent per pound. Factorymen and salesmen expected a decline, but in no case equal to what they had. Of course, it caused a good deal of excitement among those having the goods for sale, and those having orders in hand. Another new feature of the market was the small percentage of colored goods offered. Although the cable reported a difference of 2/ and 6d. in favor of white, our buyers were quite willing to get them on an equal basis of value, a feature which caused one of the salesmen, who has had colored goods for each sale, to remove his hat and indulge in one of those old-time cheers for colored goods.

In round numbers, we had 6,000 boxes, 1,700 of which were colored. Liverpool cable quoted 50/ and 6d. for white; 48/ for colored. Despite the drop in price, the sale was one of the best and most complete of the season. Nearly all was sold at 8⅞c., the extreme price being 8 11-16. The former was the ruling price.

The Delta Fair.

A meeting of the directors of Delta fair was held at the Hotel de Brown on Saturday last, President Alex. Acheson in the chair. The following officers and directors were also present: Wm. Bass, 1st vice; L. S. Soper, 2nd vice; L. N. Phelps, Secretary; and Messrs. H. E. Eyre, Cephas Brown, John Cook, John Bowser, A. D. Delong, Arch. Stevens, John Imerson, Omer Brown, and Geo. Morris, directors. The principal business was the appointment of judges for the fall exhibition and the arranging of preliminaries for the successful carrying out of the programme. The following is a list of the judges appointed for the different classes:—

On motion, the president and secretary were appointed to secure the required gate-keepers, police, etc., the president to look after the shows and games, Alex. Stevens to have charge of the sports department and arrange with the B. & W. for an excursion over that road to the fair.

The board then adjourned till the first day of the fair, unless sooner called by the president.

Justice.

To the Editor of the Reporter, Athens.

SIR,—Uncalled by any mercenary motives, I deem it only justice to Dr. Washington, and a great favor to the public, to publish through the columns of your paper a few facts regarding his treatment of my case of catarrh of long standing and of a very bad character. The early part of 1889 I consulted Dr. Washington during his professional visit to Cornwall (although I must confess with a great deal of doubt, because I had exhausted nearly all other resources to get relieved, but without any benefit)—and he assured me, after a careful examination, that my case could be treated successfully. I took his treatment and in a few months began to get very much better, and in a short time was as well as could be desired. The constant hawking up of tough phlegm, which oftentimes was so great as to almost choke me, and the dropping down from my head ceased, and I am to-day a well man. My case is, as I understand it, only one of many, which places Dr. Washington in the front ranks as a throat and lung specialist. I would not exchange my present for the past for a thousand dollars. No one can realize the wonderful change except myself. I will be pleased to answer, either by myself or otherwise, any question and give any further information desired.

Yours very truly,

MICHAEL CALLAGHAN.
