Oakville Library to change its hours of service

by David Lea
Oakville Beaver Staff

The Oakville Public Library (OPL) has introduced new hours of operation, which will impact all of its branches, effective Jan. 2, 2018.

The changes follow an Oct. 26 meeting of the OPL board of directors, during which it was pointed out that an extensive data analysis suggested a significant and increasing demand for service in OPL's northern branches.

Specifically, the analysis found that in 2016, the Glen Abbey and Iroquois Ridge branches got 55 per cent of the OPL's customer visits and 52 per cent of the library's overall circulation.

St. Paul's United Church, hosted its annual Holiday Jingle Bazaar recently. In addition to baking, crafts, knitting, sewing, jewellery, deli, and silent auction tables, there was musical entertainment and children's activities. 'Elf' Jeffy Laforet gave the event two thumbs-up. For more photos, see p.14 and 15 or visit insidehalton.com. | Riziero Vertolli/Metroland
