

Special Olympics Canada (SOC) hosts its National Olympic Games in July, 2018 in Antigonish, Nova Scotia.

Fifteen rhythmic gymnasts are slated to represent Team Ontario — five of whom are from the SOC Oakville Butterflies Club. St. Paul's United Church has generously provided additional training space for the Nationals-bound athletes. To show appreciation, the five athletes helped with the church's annual bazaar, acting as greeters, running games, and helping with clean-up. St. Paul's also gave them the opportunity to display a money collection jar to help raise funds to meet the considerable costs of sending five athletes to a National Olympic competition. From left, Annick Leger, Shannon Ross, Julia Kostecki, Sarah Lisi and Stephanie Vandamme, who are heading to the nationals Special Olympics in Nova Scotia in 2018.
