

Poetry.

A SONG FOR THE TIMES.

Let hard times assail us,
Let poverty assail us,
Like mythical horse shoes to every old wall,
Let deep tribulation
And fierce desolation
Spread over all lands like a funeral pile;
Though empty our purses
Though creditors curse us,
And quarters are squeezed till the eagles all
Howl,
Let's have merry faces,
And smiles for all places,
Remembering 'tis better to grin than to growl.

What though banks are breaking,
And "big houses" quaking,
Let one day undo all they ever have done,
Our crosses can't mend it,
Our weeping won't end it,
Why not take the bright side and call it all fun
Will forfeit pleasures
Or imbecile measures
Bring back our lost confidence, lift the dark Cowl,
No, no, to-day's sorrow
Brings no brighter tomorrow, When things will go bad, let us grin and not Growl.

But let us keep thinking That though we are sinking,
We can't go much further, because it won't Pay.
The old saw not forgetting,
That's cured lots of fretting,
The hour is the darkest just before the day;
Though vacant our purses,
Though creditors curse us,
Though quarters are squeezed till the eagles all
Howl,
Let's have merry faces,
And smiles for all places,
Remembering 'tis better to grin than to growl.

Miscellaneous.

"So far, so good," as the boy said when he had finished the first pot of his mother's jam.

If you would not have affliction visit you twice, listen at once to what it teaches.

"What have you to remark, madam, about my singing?" "Nothing, sir, it is not remarkable."

"I MUST leave in dis-gust," as the darkey said when he hid his friend "good night" during a thunder-storm.

Ten poor men can sleep tranquilly on a mat, but two kings are not able to lie at peace in a quarter of the world.

A SLIGHT HINT a woman may laugh too much. It's a fact; for only a comb can always afford to show its teeth.

A SERIOUS QUESTION.—What is it possible that sausages are made of, when a cat, at the smell of them, spits and gets her back up?

Do all the good you can in the world, and make as little noise about it as possible.

SUSAN JANE JOHNSON, is under arrest in Detroit for stealing five dollars from one lover to pay the minister's charge for marrying her to another.

A LAWYER, on his passage from Europe, observed a shark, and asked a sailor, what it was, who replied, "Here we call 'em sea lawyers."

A SCOTCH lass thus describes her mistress's ways and domestic habits with her household, "She's vicious up' the work; but eh, she's very mysterious o' the victualing."

RETOUR.—A miser having threatened to give a poor man some blows with a stick,
"I don't believe you," said the latter,
"for you have not a heart to give anything."

It is doing some service to humanity to amuse innocently; and they know very little of society who think we can bear to be always employed either in duties or meditations without any relaxation.

A Jew of Espar.—A foreigner, in the counting-house of Rothschild wishing to show some straw paper, was facetiously shown a bundle of Austrian bank notes.

A SENSIBLE writer advises those who would like good eating to keep good-natured "for," says he, "an angry man can't tell whether he is eating boiled cabbage or steamed umbrellas."

"I DIDN'T say, your honor, that the defendant was intoxicated, no, not by any means! But this I will say, when last I saw him he was washing his face in a mud-puddle and drying it on the door mat."

A LADY was passing along a street, when she was met by a young man, who in staggering past, stepped on her dress. Turning to the lady, he remarked, "Hoops take up too much room," to which the lady quietly replied, "Not so much as whiskey, sir, and passed on."

"THERE and BACK AGAIN."—A client came to a lawyer and said:—"W—, the stable, shaved me dreadfully yesterday, and I want to come up with him." "State your case," says D—"I asked him how much he'd charge me for a horse to go to Dedham. He said one dollar and a half.
I took the team, and when I came back he said he wanted another dollar and a-half for coming back, and made me pay it."—"D—gave him some leagel advice, which the client immediately acted upon as follows:—He went to the stable and said, "How much will you charge for a horse and waggon to go to Salem?" Stabler replied, "Five dollars." "Harness him up." Client went to Salem, came back by railroad, went to the stable, saying, "Here is your money," paying him five dollars. "Where is my horse and waggon?" says W—"He is at Salem," says the client, "I only hired him to go to Salem."

NARRATIVES OF

THE JESUIT FATHERS!

LAST year the French reading part of the Canadian people were edified and enlightened by the publication of the original Narratives of the Jesuit Fathers, who were the pioneers of religion and its attendant civilization in Canada. This work, important as it is to the French Canadian, is not less so to the English-speaking part of the population of North America. All inhabitants of this great continent, especially all Canadians, will assign it an honored place on the shelves which bear the stirring narratives of the first English and Dutch adventures.
It is fit, therefore, to make its reverend authors speak with an English tongue.

The early history of Canada is at this moment attracting much attention. The French Government has made large and precious contributions of historical matter to our Provincial Library, both in the form of general publications, and in the form of MSS. relating to the early history of the settlement and wars: the Government of the United States has been overzealous in collecting documents relating to the acts and sufferings of their hardy and adventurous forefathers; and, in the most judicious and judicious manner, the Government of the United States has been over-zealous in collect-
