George Brown a Millionaire

We understand that the astute and shrewd George has lately made a most lucky speculation, Tired of attempting to make a fortune by politics, he has turned his hand to more practical matters, and matters more suitable to his talents. Find-ing that the empty title of Honorable, when unaccompanied by the emoluments of office for a longer period than two days, is but a slow means of filling the pocket, and convinced that his splendid financeering talents are thrown away on a thankless people, he petakes himself to speculations more likely to be profitable.— Truly, it is better to be born lucky than rich. We have good authority for stating that Mr. Brown not long for stating that Mr. Brown not long since became the fortunate possessor of a knowledge, of the modus operandi, of making paper from straw by a new and cheap process, for which he immediately procured a patent right. He has now sold the right to manufacture and sell this article, in the State of New York alone, for the enormous sum of $800,000; he gives $300,000 to the man who taught him the process, cleaning half a million for himself.

Men of straw without number have emanated from the prolific brain of the Honorable gentleman, but anything so practically usefu as straw paper, his greatest admirers have certainly never dreamed of, Success to the manufacturer of cheap paper; it will. We advise him now to set his wits to work to discover something in the cabinet-making business, as it might be useful to him if he should ever have any work to do in that line; of which, however, there does not appear to be much danger.

FIFTH OF NOVEMBER AT PINE Grove.—On the 5th inst. No. 28 Loyal Orange Lodge met at 2 P.M., and marched in full regalia to Mr. Jenning's Hotel, Pine Grove, where senting s Hotel, the Grove, Werte they dined and spent a very plea-sant evening. An excellent dinner was provided; after which the Rev. Mr. Carry, Church of England minister, made an excellent speech. The following gentlemen not belonging to the order, were specially invited, and by their presence contributed much to the evening's delight:—Mr. Harvey, Mr. J. Graham, Dr. D. Elvyn, Mr. Long, W. P. Giles, Master, presiding, and Christopher Scanlan, Deputy Master, acting as Vice. The usual loyal and Orange toasts were drunk with all the honors, and after singing some patriotic songs, and otherwise enjoying themselves in a sociable friendly manner, they adjourned to their homes at an early hour.

FALSEHOOD NAILED.

To the Editor of the York Herald.

Sir: -In reply to the letter from Mr. . Rowe, which appeared in your last issue, I beg to state that Mr. Rowe's statements are entirely false. Mr. Rowe sent the challenge to the Aurora Club at the time of the King Fair by Willson Linton, and also left word with Mr. Christison that the Springhill Cricket Christol that the Christol Club would play the Autora Club on the same conditions as were offered to the Richmond Hill Club. In consequence of this challenge, I sent a letter to Mr. Rowe stating that the Aurora Club would play them a friendly game. Mr. Rowe sent me a reply by letter that the Spring-hill Club would meet us at Christison's, and signed the letter as Secretary and Treasurer. When the truth is, he holds Treasurer. When the truth is, he holds no office at all in the Club. I wish it to be fully understood that the Aurora Club do not attach any blame to the Springhill. lub, as it is quite evident that Mr. Rowe had no authority either to send or necept a challenge from us; he acted solely on his own responsibility.
Yours Truly

GREAT FIRE IN BUFFALO.

FOUR LIVES LOST. -$80,000 DAMAGE.

A very large fire took place in Buffalo, on Friday night, by which damage to an immense amount was done. We take from the Courier the following particulars. It says:—

From all we can learn, the fire was first no ticed about a quarter past twolve, by a gentle man passing up Main street, who gave the alarm to Mr. Rockwell, the clerk of the hote forthwith. It had evidently started in one o the female servents' rooms, on the fifth story of the north wing of the building. The block had two wings; one extending on South Division street, the other parallel with the first, esterding back towards Washington street, thus enclosing a small ally, which is completely shut in by the blocks of Washington, occupied by Dr. Kenyon.

There were eleven girls employed in the h oight of whom essepad through the smoke down stairs, although with great difficulty. A little later it was noised that a girl named Alice White still remained. Eight firemen, namong whom were Win. D. Sage, flobed Gardner and Fire Marshall Love, immediately by a horeulean offert, raised a ladder big enough, for eight ginut to handle. Mr. Gardner penetrated into the building and brought out the girl, almost sofficeated. Site was handed down the hadder by her callent delivers and received by Gora Love allant delivers and received by Gora Love. cated She was handed down the bidder by he gallant deliverer, and received by Geo. Lovin safety. Iwo other girls, Bridget Mulcahey cook, and Ann McAuley, chamborimoid, mix have perirhed in the strength to struggle down through the smoke. They were sought for, bu unavailingly.

Two Lives Lost.

through the sance. They were sought for, out unavailing!.

On the same floor, on the side next Main street, several gentlemen boarders at the Clared, and their rooms. Mr. Henry L. Chambain, of the firm of Lowe & Chamberlain, occupied the room in the north-west corner, Mr. William Carland, Mr. C. H. Cowan and Mr. B. Franklin, of New York, had rooms adjoining. Those apartments were quickly barrianded with smoke, Mr. Franklin oscaped by a sufficiently of the same heart of the day of the same and the same by that route. Mr. Carland, it seems, had a window in his room open to the hall, so that his must have been enveloped in sancke. He probably never loft his room, and so perished in the ruiss.

Mr. Chamborlain, a short while later, failing to make his casape by the stairs, was seen at his window, frantic with alarm. e was told by the bremen to hold on till they could raise their ladder, but all appeals to his reason were vain. He threw himself to the ground, and striking the iron balavstade in his face was bortilly mutihand. He was taken first into Peabody's drug store, and afterwards to Matthews', but expired in a short time.

The exciencent in the hotel was intense.

THE ALARM IN THE HOTEL. THE ALARS IN THE HOTEL.

The excitement in the hetel was intense. Gongs were sounded and every conceviable alarm given. Guess and boardors rushed from their rooms and hurried, some with seasity wardrobes, down into the laidies' parlours. Happit, all were suffered to escape, and nearly all of the baggage of the immates was saved, together with a large part of the boardars' furniture, &c. All were speedily got out and proposity cared for.

The night was one of uninterrupted rain, but as the fire gained strength it rose through the roof and burst out at the windows in higher and wilder forms of flame, and at last, in spite of all efforts, raged demoniacelly in all parts of the main building. The utmost bleet could be done was to save the wing on Division-street. Roof and ceiling fell in with thunderous crashes, and the whole of the stadel; substantial structure, that so long has been a pleasant home for the traveller and an ornament to the city, sunk to a shapeless mass of ruins. Before daylight only the strong brick walls stood up, out of whose glassless and shashless windows looked forth the gheety decolution of the interior. All Saturday painful rumours were rife that still other lives than those whose loss we have momittened had been sacrificed in the general destruction. It is pretty certain however, that only four persons perished. On Saturday afternoon excavations were commenced with a view to discover the remains of Mr. Carland, but up to night these efforts were fruitless. The bodies of the girls, Ann McAuley and Bridget Mulcahey, were also yet unrecognized amid the ruins. It was thought altogether likely that all three would be resolved into unrecognized amid the ruins. It was thought altogether likely that all three would be resolved into unrecognized as and the resolved into unrecognized between.

THE HOTEL.

The Clerendon Hotel was built by Orson Phelps, Esq., na a cost of about $50,000, and was owned by that gentleman up to the time of its destruction. It was insured for $27,001 as follows:—In the Resolute, N Y, $2,000; Norwich, N, Y, $4,000. Springfield, Mass., $5,.000; Ætna, $5,000; Hartford, $5,000; Atlantic, $2,000 - r, Ricords, the proprietor of the hotel, saved scarcely $1,000 of his fine furniture, which was valued at $16,000. On this Messrs, Hodges & Ricords have $2,000 insurance in the Atlantic, Ningara and other companies. Mr. W. H. Pesbody, druggis, estimates his loss at $45,000, of which the has $5,000 insured in the Atlantic, Ningara and other companies. Mr. W. H. In ured for $700 in the Atlantic, which will in great part cover the loss Time anire loss from this celamitous fire will not fail far short of $30,000, a little more than half of which is covered by insurance.

ADDITIONAL PARTICULARS .-- TWO BODIES FOUND SUNDAY .- The excavations with a view to finding the dead bodies were recommenced an early hour and continued with vigor. During the foreneen a part of the romains of Mr. Carlend was found. He fay under a large pile of debris, almost immediately under bis room, which fronted on Main steet. His heart was discovered almost untenched by the fire, but only small portions of 'or romainder of the corpse were extricated from the dreadful funeral rule.

corpse were extricated from the dreadul tuneral pilo.

Workmen, together with the friends of the girls deceased, were untiring in their efforts, at the same time, in the back part of the block near Washington street. In the merning a partion of the copies of one of the women was reached. It was terribly burned, but from fragments of dress attached, it has been identified as the body of Bridget Mulcahey. This poor girl, it seems, made her escape once down into the kitchen, but returned to save $150 in money which she had in her roem. The smake overpowered her somewhere about the top of the stairs which extended from the kitchen to the servants' bed rooms on the fifth floor. She was found immediately below where the top of the flight of stairs was. Bridget had a sister and trother living in this city on Folson street.

No explanation of the origin of the fire is given a Mac Coulding and in the size of the stairs what is provided in the country of the stairs what is the same that in their lurry they could not under the claim, but broke it, leaving mate of it attached to the vest of deceased.

HORRIBLE TRAGEDY-A FAR-MER MURDERED AND ROBBED!

CLUE TO THE MURDERERS.

(From the N. Y. Com. Advertisor, Nov. 12.) This morning the town of New Lots, N. J., was thrown into a state of excite-N. J., was thrown into a state of excite-ment by the discovery of a cold-blooded murder that had been perpetrated during the night, the victim of which was Theo-dore Colyer, a farmer, living about half a-mile from east New York, on the Ridgewood Heights, between the Jamacia plank road and the Cypress Hill roads. Mr. wood Heights, between the Jamacin plank road and the Cypress Hill roadf. Mr. Colver went to market last night with a load of trunks and did not return. His wife seeing his waggon in the yard about half-past 5 o'clock this moraing went out to the barn and there found her husband-lying dead on the floor with his head split

The statement given by Mrs. Colyer, is that yesterday afternoon Mr. Copper went to New York with a load of produce which he sold for about $50; he is also went to New York with a load of produce which he sold for about $50; he is also known to have collected bills to the amount of about $100. He returned at 6 o'clock and took tea with his family. After this, he went out to the store of Mr. Terney, on the plank road, to change a bill to pay for boots he had purchased there. While intensity the store he had occasion to pay some money' and drew out a roll of bills. Some one remarked 'Colyer you are flush to-nicht.

Two strangers who were in the store, got up and looked over Colyer's shoulder, and then went and sat down, and laughed. trigether in a low tone in German. Col-yer borrowed a pitcher and had it filled with beer, and saying that he was now going to feed his horses. He left the: store, and was followed in a few moments by the two men. Mrs. Colyer says that about ten o'clock she went out on that about ten o'clock she went out on the stoop to look for her husband, but not seeing anything of him, nor any light in the barn, she thought he had not returned she went in and returned to bed. This morning when she woke up, she was surprised at finding that her husband had not come in during the night. She got up, lit a fire, and got breakfast, and then went out to the burn. The barn is about 200 yards from the house; the first thing she noticed was that the door was open, and there was a pool of blood on the threshold, and a few feet further on the flow law the holy of her bushed.

The two men who are suspected of the murder are Germans, father and son.—
The smoke over-powered her somewhere about the top of the stairs which extended from the kitchen to the sextants' bed rooms on the fifth floor. She was found immediately below where the top of the figut of stairs was. Bridget had a sister and brother living in this city on Folson street.

No explanation of the origin of the fire is given. A Mr. Gardkin and wife, Canadians, were in the hotel, but fortunately escaped with their lives.

The theory is that the two Germans fol-lowed Colyer from the store, and murder-ed him soon after he entered the harn. Mir-Colyer was in good circumstances, had one of the finest farms in the neighborhood, and was much esteemed by his neighbors. He leaves a wife and three young children to mourn his loss.
