Miscellaneous.

Every toad carries a diamond in its head, says Hope; but in any known toad was it ever found. Innocence is like an umbrella; it covers us in days of darkness; and once we have lost it, we must never hope to see it again.

A RAILWAY ACROSS THE ENGLISH CHANNEL.

From the Mechanics' Magazine.

In the introduction to a recently-published work upon the Channel Railway, Mr. Chalmers reviews the different methods proposed for effecting railway communication between England and the Continent.

A French engineer, Mathieu, sixty years ago, prepared plans for tunneling under the Channel, and laid them before Napoleon, then First Consul; they were exposed for some time in the Luxembourg and other public galleries in Paris, but are now said to be lost.

IMPORTANT IF TRUE! And every word is true. For upwards of three years past, I have been engaged in a business, which has yielded me at the rate of $3,000 per annum, but being desirous of going to Europe in the course of a few months for the purpose of introducing the business, I am willing to test it to any one who will send me $1. The business is no humbug, but of a highly useful and general character, adapted both to cities and villages, and one that any person of ordinary capacity, young or old, male or female, can acquire with a few hours' practice, and by which they can secure a very handsome income.
