RECRUITING IN GOLD CAMP

of the battalions are doing."

In answer to a query as to numbers of each battalion, the Colonel stated that his instructions were to raise one company of 250 men in Northern Ontario, one in Western Ontario, one in Toronto, and one east of Toronto. It would have been very easy to have recruited this battalion from the infantry battalions now under arms but it was felt that an opportunity should be given men of the class required all over eastern Canada who had not already enlisted, to join a corps for which they were well fitted.

Appeals to Local Men.

The Colonel thought that a corps of this kind should appeal strongly to the class of men found in Northern Ontario and he intimated that, although only 250 men were allotted to this section of Canada, if they applied very largely he would make an effort to curtail the number from other places and give eligible men from here a chance. He mentioned that the officers were all civil engineers who were qualified as officers.

Asked as to his success so far in recruiting at other points the Colonel said that in Toronto they secured 220 men; in London 80 and Ottawa 25.

"The men as soon as they join will go on pay," was one item which probably prospective recruits will consider most important as stated by the Colonel. "They will be sent from here on acceptance, to Haileybury and stay there until orders are received to move to a mobilization centre which may be London, Ont."

The Pay and Allowances.

The pay of men would be $1.10 per day with 75c extra for subsistence. In the case of married men or sons who were the sole support of a mother or others depending on them a special allowance would be made of $20 per month apart from any allowance which local Patriotic Societies might make and in the case of children $3.00 per month would be allowed for each.

The Colonel was at Cochrane on Wednesday and arrived in the gold camp, as stated, last evening. He returns to Haileybury to-morrow, Saturday, morning.

It has been arranged that the recruiting office in Timmins will be in that of H. E. Montgomery, the Town Clerk, and here Lieut. Alex Smith will be officiating as recruiting officer. It should be mentioned in conclusion that Col. Davis is arranging for a medical examiner to attend the recruiting office for a short while and applicants will learn before leaving the gold camp whether they are passed as physically fit or not.

SOLDIER WAS DUMB RECOVERED SPEECH AFTER A "DRUNK"

Had Been in Hospital and Was Allowed Afternoon off With Remarkable Results

London, Sept. 29th.—Many curious stories of hospital happenings are being told and there are a number of men who can absolutely vouch for the truth of this incident. A private who had been wounded in France was practically convalescent except that in the shock of battle he had lost all power of speech. He made a request in writing for an "afternoon off," and was allowed out for a few hours. He came back at night in a very dishevelled state. His jaw was cut and bleeding, his face was bruised black and blue, and he was very drunk.

He had, it seems, gone to a public-house, pointed to a glass of beer, and put his money down. Though he could not speak, he managed after a few drinks, to become very quarrelsome. Nobody wanted to fight him but he insisted. The result was that he got badly knocked about. When he returned to the hospital he was quite happy—and had a vivid flow of language. "I am wondering whether I should let two more dumb men who are in the same ward have an 'afternoon off,'" said the doctor to me.

MINISTERS PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH CONGREGATIONS ARE INCREASING.

That the Presbyterian Church congregations are "growing both in interest and attendance could not have been better exemplified than on such a wretched night as last Sunday when over 100 people were present at the service in the Empire Theatre. It will be pleasing news to those connected with the Church to know that arrangements have been made through the generosity of the Empire management to utilize the building all through the coming winter and as an assurance to those timid of cold weather it should be mentioned that the Theatre will be heated so as to make it quite comfortable. The choir, under the excellent leadership of Mr. J. Geils and Mrs. J. W. Faithful as accompanist, has recently acquired a number of new members and Pastor J. M. Allan is very sanguine as to a most successful winter session in his work. At present two practices are being held this week, in connection with the Church, for the rendering of a big first class concert at the end of October and as details are further arranged these will be made known through The Advance.

The Champion Runner.

A slab-sided, mud covered granger entered a Broadway clock store about dusk the other evening, and, with a bewildered look, asked:

"Mister, is this where a man kin git a clock?"

"Yes, sir," said the clerk.

"Wall," said the granger, "What be that ticker worth?" pointing to an ornate and intricate piece of time-recording mechanism on the shelf.

"That, sir," said the clerk, "is a wonderful time piece. It is worth $200, and will run three years without winding."

"Great Scott!" gasped the granger, "three years without winding. Say, mister, how long would the blamed thing run if she was wound up?"

ATTRACTIVE WINDOW DISPLAY

One of the most attractive window displays which have probably ever been seen in the gold camp is that now to be seen at Marshall Ecclestone Limited, and reflects great credit on Messrs. Gilbert Eldridge and K. C. Dreyer, who were responsible. It depicts a hunter's cabin and of course has advertisement as its main purpose. The various little detailed arrangements, however, have been so carefully thought out and carried into effect that the whole is a picture well worth paying a special visit to see. The hunter is seen aiming at a moose the body of which is presumably hidden in bush but the head just protruding. All the little items necessary in the life represented are brought into play and during the past week every night has seen crowds gazing in with admiration at the unique display.

BIRTHS CERTIFIED.

The stork has been generous in the gold camp recently and distributed his gifts without impunity but in the receipt of those little parcels the fortunate ones in many cases, no doubt because of their joy, have overlooked an important fact—that the birth must be registered with the Town Clerk of wherever they are residing. Yesterday ended the last quarter and these different officials are anxious to make up their returns to September 30th before October 15th. It should be mentioned that a penalty of $10 is liable to be paid if a birth is not registered within thirty days of its taking place. And even some of the local medical men are asked to make note of the fact.

CURFEW NEEDED IN TIMMINS.

Although no definite instructions have been given as yet the question of ringing the fire bell at a fixed hour during the winter months as a "curfew" was discussed by the Town Governing Body this week and probably it will be decided on at the regular meeting of the Council on Monday. This has been brought to their attention because of the large number of young children who have been noted on the streets at late hours of the night.

Baseball at Church.

Recently the baseball editor of a metropolitan paper was sent to report the sermon of a new minister as the religious editor was ill. This is the copy he turned in: "Quite a bunch was present last Sunday evening at the church owing to the presence of a new star and the box of boosters was anxious for a line on his work. Rev. — is certainly there with the goods and performed to the satisfaction of all present. Owing to the fact that this was his first appearance on the local grounds he was a little nervous the first inning. Encouraged by the coaches in the 'Ames corner' he let himself loose and had the game well in hand from then on. His new Jerusalem slow ball is a peach and when he turned loose on eternal punishment his speed was terrific. As this was his first workout it was too early to try to predict his future for him, but if he can keep up the gait he has started with it's him for the big league next season."

GRAPHIC DESCRIPTION OF WHEN ZEPPELINS ATTACKED LONDON

Is Given in Private Letter Received From Toronto Lady Who was There at the Time

A graphic description of a Toronto lady who was in London during the recent most destructive Zeppelin raid is contained in a letter to friends in that city and contains details which are not usually received by newspapers. It is more of a personal experience and relates just what one may be expected to feel when an attack of this description comes so unexpectedly.

The writer says:

"Last night between ten and eleven o'clock we were visited by Zeppelins . . . very near to this hotel. I had been reading downstairs after dinner and came up to my room shortly after ten o'clock and sat down to read for a little longer, when suddenly I heard two very quick and loud reports. I waited for a moment or two, and ran into Kathleen's room and said 'I think there is a raid on.' She was partly undressed and I said, 'hurry and get into your clothes and come out to see it.'"

Trying to Return Fire.

"The Zeppelin seemed to waver once, I thought it must have been struck, but it went on, but seemed to be coming lower down. It may have been trying to return the fire of our guns but we were in the dark whilst our searchlights made it perfectly plain to our guns. It finally disappeared, going north, but after it had gone the sky became quite bright from fires which had taken place. Fortunately they had been under control by this time."

"The Royal Society of Medicine doctors and others volunteer as Red Cross men when a raid is on or imminent, and this society is their rendezvous. The night before last Zeppelins again visited us, but they did not come as near as they did last night. Some of the people in the hotel heard the guns. I did not hear them, but was awakened by the noise outside, of the doctors' motors on their way to relieve the wounded."

Explosions Fast and Furious.

"Then I ran back to my room and got my cloak and hurried down stairs to find the street filled with people. The explosions were now fast and furious. I could see them in the air. A porter came out to me and said, 'Madam, come in please, as there might be danger.' I did so and stood just inside the door. The reports were growing faster, and another porter, a Belgian, came and called me, saying, 'come, Madam, you can see the Zeppelin plainly.' I ran out into the street again and oh such a sight met my eyes. The Zeppelin was flying high, but near us and the guns booming out from our air craft lit up the sky as the shots exploded. Then the Zeppelin would be hidden in smoke and again our searchlights had it, and bang went our guns again."

Dressed All Ways.

"Scotland Yard telephones to the Society of Medicine when help is needed, and the doctors wait there until called and told where to go. We must have guns stationed on some buildings not far from here as I could plainly see the bursting of the shell and their fire."

"We are going out later to see the result of the raid. People were out in all kinds of garb. One little woman had a young infant in her arms and was standing in the middle of the street holding the mite. We are all rather bleary-eyed to-day and tired, as we did not get much sleep. Jack volunteered to go to give relief, but he was not needed, so I hope no many were hurt or killed. A few were killed the night before. We are on the watch and that gives comfort. It is wonderful to see the play of searchlights in the sky, searching everywhere."

Mr. and Mrs. Reg. Charlick are taking up their residence in Cochrane and left yesterday. Mr. Charlick goes to manage the Star Theatre there which has been taken over by the Timmins Empire owners. If such success is accompanied his efforts in the railway town as have been seen since he was connected with the local show then Cochrane may look for some splendid attractions and comforts for patrons of the theatre there.
