J. W. Green Celebrates His Eightieth Birthday

Mr. J. W. Green, father of Mrs. J. D. Parks, has many friends in Timmins, who will be interested in the following reference to an unusual family gathering at his home. Mr. Green has been quite a frequent visitor to the North Land, coming here in recent years to visit his daughter, and previously as representative for The Mail and Empire. During his many visits here he made wide circles of friends. In a recent issue of The London Free Press reference was made to the fact that Mr. Green had reached his 80th birthday, the despatch from Kitchener saying:—

"Active in Western Ontario newspaper circles for more than 50 years, and now living retired at Doon, seven miles south of Kitchener, James W. Green to-day celebrates his 80th birthday with a gathering of his children and grandchildren. Twenty members of the immediate family were present, including nine children, their parents, and Mr. and Mrs. Green, and during the course of the day many friends from Kitchener, Preston and Galt dropped in to offer their congratulations. Mr. Green for many years was prominent as a newspaper publisher and editor in Western Ontario, having established papers in Gorrie, Parkhill, Mildmay, Tavistock and Wellesley. In 1907 he joined the circulation staff of the Toronto Mail and Empire, and for 15 years was their travelling representative throughout Western and Northern Ontario. For 13 years of that time he was a resident of Kitchener. Born at Freeport, within a mile of his present residence, Mr. Green came of United Empire Loyalist stock, both his mother's and his father's family having migrated from the United States following independence there, and settled in Waterloo County. Mr. Green first entered newspaper work at the age of 15 with the Galt Reporter, then a weekly newspaper. Children present at to-day's gathering included Rev. J. D. and Mrs. Parks and son, George, Timmins; Dr. Fred H. and Mrs. Nelson and two children, Stratford; W. Frank and Mrs. Strong and four children, Hamilton; C. O. and Mrs. Scott, and the latter's two children, Bruce and Helen Green, Toronto, and M. F. Green, London. One son, the late Capt. Carlton C. Green, a well-known newspaper man, of Cobalt, before the war, was killed in action on the Somme in September, 1916.

Master Beverly Brewer has gone to spend his holidays at Coplay, Pa.

Master Wino Siren, of Nakina, was recently taken to Ottawa for an operation on his ear. The operation was successful but the lad contracted scarlet fever in the hospital, latest reports from Ottawa suggesting that he is making the best of recovery.

Some local people who apparently do not realize the risk they take in attempting to secure liquor permits after their original ones have been "lifted" should note the case of the Bear Island gentleman last week. Charged with making application for and receiving another liquor control permit within twelve months of the cancellation of his previous permit, John Petrant, Bear Island, Temagami Reserve, was fined $10.00 and costs at Cobalt police court.

MEN FROM TIMMINS WITH ALGONQUIN RIFLES IN CAMP

Twenty Men from Here Left on Monday for Camp at Huntsville. Next Camp May be at Halleybury

Considerable interest was roused on Dominion Day morning by the parade of the Timmins platoon of the Algonquin Rifles, and the march to the station where the soldiers entrained for the summer camp at Huntsville.

The Timmins platoon consists of young fellows about twenty years of age, commanded by Lieut. Keith Sterling, with three veterans of the Great War as sergeants. In full marching order the platoon lined up in front of the Fire Hall on Monday morning, and after a short drill, were formed in fours and marched to the station, where they left on the 11.40 a.m. train for the annual summer camp.

The Algonquin Rifles are under the command of Col. Malcolm Lang, M.P. for South Temiskaming, the Porcupine Company being under command of Major MacDougall of South Porcupine.

At the camp this year, Timmins, South Porcupine, New Liskeard, Halleybury, Cobalt, and other North Land towns are represented with the Algonquin Rifles at Huntsville, while Sudbury and adjacent towns also have their quota.

It is understood that beginning next year it is the intention to hold the annual camp in the territory covered by the Algonquin rifles, the various centres to have the camp in rotation. According to this report, the camp will be held next year at Halleybury.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred McNamara left on Friday for a motor trip to Ottawa, Montreal and Detroit.
