Six More Red Cross Nurses Are Reported as Missing

Washington, July 9—The American Red Cross said today a British vessel bearing 10 Red Cross nurses to Great Britain had been torpedoed and that six of the nurses were missing.

A Red Cross official said the vessel, identity of which was held secret, was torpedoed about two weeks ago. Four of the nurses were rescued four days ago and are in good condition, he asserted.

The six nurses are: Miss Phyllis L. Evans, Everett, Mass.; Miss Dorothy C. Morse, Boston; Nancie M. Pett, Detroit; Miss Helen Jurewicz, South Amboy, N.J.; Margaret I. Somerville, Catskill, N.Y.; and Dorothea L. Koehn, Oshkosh, Wis.

The nurses reported saved are: Rachel M. St. Pierre, Amesbury, Mass.; Marion Blissett, Kalkaska, Mich.; Victoria M. Pele, Auburn, N.Y.; and Lillian Pesticak, Albany, N.Y.

The Red Cross also said there still has been no "conclusive" reports of the safety of two other women of a contingent of 17 Red Cross nurses aboard another vessel, the Dutch steamer Maasdam, which also was torpedoed.

The four nurses rescued after torpedoing of the unnamed vessel had been drifting at sea for about 10 days when they were picked up, the Red Cross said. It was considered possible that the six missing ones may have been picked up by some other ship or still may be adrift in a lifeboat at sea.

These nurses as well as the 17 aboard the Maasdam were en route to help staff an American Red Cross—Harvard hospital "Somewhere in Southern England."

The other two women unreported are Mrs. Ruth B. Breckinridge of Winston Salem, N.C., and Washington, house mother for her Red Cross group, and Miss Maxine C. Loomis, a nurse, Springfield, Mass.

Only a Few Jobs Open Here For Skilled Tradesmen

The Timmins branch of the Ontario Employment Bureau announced this week that although there were several vacancies for skilled tradesmen there were no vacancies for the ordinary labourer. Mr. Delbert Murphy, district superintendent at the Employment Bureau said that placements this year have been fewer than last year but said that there were fewer men in the district now who were still unemployed.

Activity at the local Employment Bureau has been rather slow lately and according to the superintendent it is not expected to pick up until the Unemployment Insurance Office is established.

Banquet at Toronto at $10 per Plate

Yet None Need be Other Than Proud for It Netted $6,000 for the Bomb Victims of Britain.

A banquet with the cost of attendance held at $10.00 a plate, and many unable to get places.

That happened Monday night in Toronto in these days of war.

Moreover that Toronto banquet netted the very material sum of $6,000.00

And is Toronto ashamed of that sumptuous $6,000.00 banquet? Not a bit of it! At least there is no cause for shame. Indeed, all Ontario, all Canada, should be proud of Toronto because of that banquet. It was presented to be an event to honour Mr. C. O. Knowles, editor-in-chief of The Toronto Telegram, because he had sponsored The Toronto Telegram Fund for Bomb Victims in Britain, a fund that has sent over $800,000.00 in realty, while it honoured Mr. Knowles all right, he felt the honour particularly in the fact that it netted the fund another $6,000.00. The whole story is worth general publicity. Here is the way The Telegram reports it:—

Passes the Praise to the Children
It cost $10 a plate for those who attended a testimonial dinner in Toronto last night—and they paid cheerfully and willingly.

Cheerfully because they knew that the high cost meant high returns to The Evening Telegram British War Victims' Fund—Returns which will mean an addition of over $6,000 to the fund.

The dinner was named by its sponsors as a testimonial to C. O. Knowles, Editor-in-Chief of The Telegram, for his sponsorship of The British War Victims' Fund. Mr. Knowles, when he replied to the vote of thanks given him, turned it into a testimonial to all who had helped the fund, singling out especially the thousands of children whose patriotism and desire to serve has caused them to bring more than $71,000 to the fund, and to the 62 editors of provincial papers, who, generously and enthusiastically, have fostered the fund in the districts they serve.

The dinner, too, was a testimony to the full-hearted patriotism of those who attended. They heard the Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen demand that they give to the limit so that Britain should have full-out aid; they heard the Rt. Hon. Malcolm MacDonald, Britain's High Commissioner to Canada, plead that they measure their help in terms of real sacrifice—and as they heard these calls upon them they broke into spontaneous applause as signal that what they were asked to do they would do, and do willingly.

The dinner was attended by more than 800, but tonight its speeches and spirit will be shared by countless thousands, for the CBC, on a coast-to-coast hook-up between 10 and 11 p.m., is to broadcast recordings made during its height. And in London, today, Britain's war victims will be helped to the tune of $5,000, thanks to the spirit of the countless thousands of Ontarians who share the feelings of those who attended the banquet last night. The 41st instalment to the Lord May-

Rose Show at Timmins Inspires Ode to a Rose

Toronto Business Man Impressed by the Fact that in This Northern Town There is to be a Display of Roses and Other Flowers This Week, Writes Verses on a Rose.

Impressed by the announcement that Timmins is to have a Rose Show tomorrow (Friday) Mr. J. B. Rittenhouse, of the firm of Rittenhouse, Hamilton & Co., stock brokers, Toronto, has written the following verses. "We are apt to think down here," says Mr. Rittenhouse, "that the climate in the North is not conducive to the growth of the beautiful rose. A few days ago in admiring a rose the idea came to me that I might be able to bring out my thoughts in the way of a poem, a copy of which I enclose."

A ROSE

One touch of nature — displaying its might,
Unfolds a 'rosebud' and brings it to light.
A transformation takes place, but causes no fear,
When before our vision a lovely 'rose' will appear.

A beautiful rose is a friend of all,
'Tis a gift of nature — awaiting man's call.
With varied colours to enhance its beauty,
In nature's own way it does full duty.

A rose is an emblem of affection and love
A gift to man by nature above.
'Tis a rose that a flower lover will always choose,
And gaze with delight on its delicate hues.

A rose by any other name would be just as sweet,
With over-lapping petals to make beauty complete.
Each full blooming rose scatters odor around,
And still, in the same rose more odor is found.

A lovely rose bedecking a lady's gown,
Enhances her beauty and increases renown.
For a beautiful rose is an object of delight,
And to others about 'tis a pleasing sight.

A rose on the lapel of a man's coat,
Is in the right place, and is worthy of note.
It well conforms to a manly form and face,
Increases its dignity and adds to its grace.

There is no other flower quite as sweet as the rose,
No matter where man in his wanderings goes.
He may roam the wide world, but never will find
A flower with beauty and odor, so well combined.

So always cling to the rose, that's nature's intent,
'Tis for man's use, till its richness is spent.
Always treat a rose as a friend most dear,
And when it is withered — press it — and still keep it near.

—J. B. Rittenhouse.

or's National Air Raid Distress Fund, cabled today, swells the total sent overseas to $193,004. The story of the dinner and the stories of other aids to the fund, which totalled yesterday $2,105.72, and sent the grand total to $865,308.63, are told on pages 12, 13, 14, 22, 23.

Funeral on Monday of Late W. L. Briden

Pioneer of North Honoured in Death.

Schumacher, July 9th. Special to The Advance.

The funeral service was held Monday afternoon for the late William Leonard (Bill) Briden who passed away Saturday at Mountain Sanatorium, Hamilton, where he has been receiving medical treatment. The funeral was very largely attended, the late Mr. Briden being a real pioneer of the North, and was held from his home at the Coniarium Mine to the South Porcupine cemetery. The Rev. Canon Cushing conducted the service. Sympathy is extended the wife and young son in their bereavement. The pallbearers were: Messrs Gerald Gordon, John Kirkland, Roy Lafferty, Jeff Skeene, Oswald Carter, Bill Watt.

The floral tributes were many and beautiful.

Among those from out-of-town at the funeral were: Mrs. Gibson of Toronto (mother of Mrs. Briden); Mr. Gibson, Toronto, (brother-in-law); Mr. and Mrs. Dobbin, of Halleybury, (Mrs. Dobbin being a sister of Mr. Briden); Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Briden (brother and sister-in-law) and daughter, Betty, of the Upper Canada Mine; Mr. H. Briden, Halleybury, (brother); Mr. and Mrs. Archie Briden (brother and sister-in-law), of South Porcupine.

No Fires in Timmins For Over a Week Now

Not to be outdone by the police, who set up a new record this week, the Timmins firemen stepped right out to earn some distinction for themselves. Wednesday of this week was the first time for more than a year that the Timmins Police had no prisoners to be transported to the district jail at Halleybury. That set up a sort of a record for the police department.

This morning the Fire Department officials stated that they have not had a call since July 2nd. This also sets up a sort of a record. It is by no means the longest period that the local firemen have gone without a call but it is the longest period for the past year.

Fire department officials were pleased to give out that bit of news this morning, adding that the longer they remained idle in that way the better it was for the people of the town and the better it was for them.

All the firemen are working furiously today trying to raise as much money as they possibly can for the British Firefighters' Fund. The firemen were granted permission to hold a tag day today and they intended to make the best of it. The local firemen are going to great lengths to make the campaign a huge success. The front line defenders in Britain are badly in need of the funds and the Timmins firemen are determined not to let them down.

The various business firms in Timmins are being canvassed today in an effort to swell the funds that will help the brave firemen of London, Coventry, Liverpool, etc.

When you meet one of the firemen on the street today and he approaches you and asks you to buy a tag, dig into your pocket and give him that loose quarter. The brave firemen of Britain can use the money to better advantage.

TENDER CHICKENS

The trustees of Oregon township, near Toledo, Ohio, are being sued for the price of eleven chickens as the result of the fire chief trying out a new fire siren. The chickens were scared to death.
