New Suits for Men are Distinctively Smart in Style and Appearance

Despite the Many Changes and Alterations in Clothing for Men, the New Suits for Fall and Winter are Very Decided Smart and Attractive in Appearance.

Fashions for fall and winter in men's suits and overcoats will surprise most people by the smartness of the style and the general attraction of the suits and coats. There has been so much talk about cuffless trousers, single-breasted coats, restricted buttons and several other "economies" in men's wearing apparel that quite a number of people were afraid that the new fall and winter suits and overcoats would be lacking in style and satisfaction. As a matter of fact the new suits are impressive because of their fashionable and attractive appearance. At first glance, the average man will be at a loss to see anything lacking in the new suits. Instead he may be tempted to believe they have an added touch of smartness. One leading manufacturer of men's clothing in Canada has capitalized on the ap-models. The snap and style of the new suits and overcoats have been achieved by care and thought and genius, without sacrificing a single one of the many regulations imposed upon the clothing trade by the conditions and circumstances arising from the war. The new suits and overcoats for fall and winter this year will prove themselves builders of morale and will materially assist in adding to the satisfaction of the wearers, because they are attractive in appearance and comfortable to wear and fully observe the regulations of the hour.

Leather Colors Restricted in Lines of Apparel Now

But Sufficient Shades to Suit All Tastes.

While government orders have restricted the colours of leathers used for clothing, gloves, caps, helmets, etc., and the maximum prices that may be charged for the articles, the seasons showing of all kinds of leather goods leaves a wide range of choice and the goods are more attractive. In addition there is a large supply of leather goods manufactured before the regulations were put into effect and these are available to any who cannot find just exactly what they want in the fairly long list of shades approved by the new regulations.

For garment leathers of horsehide, cowhide or sheepskin, eight different colours are permitted—London tan, olympic blue, horsehide and cowhide (only), royal blue (sheepskin only), black, dark green brown chestnut (army jenkins), kamel. Heavyweight garment horsehide or cowhide is to be black only. Garment sheepskin suede is confined to nigger brown and cocoa.

Six colours are permitted for glove horse sides (grain)—cream, pearl, black, brown, California cream, khaki (government only). Glove horse sides (buffed) are to be colored Alaska, boulevard, smoke, chamamois, and special chamamois. Horse butt gloves (grain) are to be cream only. Glove cow sides (grain) are to be cream, pearl, black, brown and khaki (government only). California cream. Glove bellies (grain) may be cream, pearl, black and brown. The colors of glove and cuff splits are to be pearl, canary, Alaska, brown (army machine gunners' gloves and mitts), fawn (horse splits only). Embossed cuff splits may be in brown, Alaska, pearl and black.

Advice to Avoid Fire Dangers on the Farm or Homestead

Every Farm Fire To-day a National Calamity, Says Dominion Fire Commissioner

(From Dominion Fire Commissioner) Fire Prevention on the farm is most necessary in these times when every pound of feedstuffs must be conserved to feed our fighting men and those of our Allies. Every farm fire is a national calamity. There are eight major causes of farm fires. These causes and suggestions for their elimination are briefly outlined as follows:—

1. DEFECTIVE CHIMNEYS AND FLUES — Chimneys should be cleaned out regularly and not allowed to burn themselves out, as sparks often escape through cracks in the chimney and set fire in the attic, or they may drop on dry combustible roofing, setting fire to it. The safest type of chimney is a good brick chimney built from the ground up and lined with fire clay or vitrified clay of a thickness of at least 4 inches.

2. SPARKS ON COMBUSTIBLE ROOFS — This hazard can obviously be eliminated by means of incombustible roofing material instead of a material that will ignite readily when exposed to sparks or flying brands from other fires.

3. LIGHTNING — The tremendous toll of life and property damage annually caused by lightning can be materially reduced by means of well installed lightning rods which have proven to be nearly 100% efficient.

4. SPONTANEOUS IGNITION — On farms this occurs most frequently in undercured or damp hay, although it also takes place in numerous other substances. To guard against this hazard, the following precautions should be observed: (a) Cure all hay well. (b) Do not pack the hay. (c) Do not place straw, fodder, bundles of grain or grass hay either at the bottom or top of mows of alfalfa, clover or soybean hays. (d) Guard against wetting of hay in storage from a leaky roof or open doors and windows. (e) Ventilate hay as much as possible immediately after it has been stored. (f) Avoid, if possible, wide, deep mows.

5. MATCHES — Make sure that your matches are completely out before discarding them. A good practice is to break them in two after the flame has been extinguished. Always strike matches away from you. Keep matches away from children and do not permit smoking in barns or near combustible material. During threshing operations insist on everybody clearing their pockets of matches and place them in a safe container.

6. GASOLINE OR KEROSENE — Gasoline or kerosene should never be used to start or revive a fire. Avoid the use of gasoline benzene or other inflammable liquids for cleaning floors or clothes. There are safe and cheap solvents on the market for these purposes. Never fill lamps, lanterns, kerosene or gasoline stoves, while they are burning. If necessary to keep small quantities of gasoline, it should be kept in an approved safety can painted red and plainly marked "GASOLINE". Small quantities of kerosene should be kept in closed cans of a size and shape different from that holding gasoline in order to lessen the chance of mistaking one for the other.

7. HEATING EQUIPMENT — Heating equipment should be properly installed, operated and maintained. Wood-burning stoves should be well protected. The sides and back of stoves and ranges should be at least 3 feet from woodwork or wood-lath and plaster partitions. Avoid long runs of smoke pipes. The sections should be securely joined and the pipes supported at frequent intervals. Smoke pipes should be at least 18 inches from unprotected woodwork. They should not pass through floors or closets or enter a chimney in an attic, and they should be cleaned at least twice a year.

8. ELECTRICAL WIRING — Electrical wiring and repair work should be done by a competent electrical contractor.

Observe Third Anniversary of the Finnish Red Cross

Third anniversary of Timmins Finnish local of the Canadian Red Cross Society was celebrated by a special prayermeeting held at the home of the Reverend A. I. Heinen, 53 Rea St. South, Timmins, on Sunday, Sept. 27th, at seven o'clock in the evening. Rev. Heinen gave a short sermon on the Cross of Christ as the spirit that created the Red Cross societies and that has always been the source and inspiration for that great work which these societies do. A special offering was received on this occasion. This will be used for buying and sending Christmas parcels to soldiers, sailors and airmen of Finnish origin who have enlisted in the Porcupine Camp and are now serving their King and Country.

At a business and work meeting of the Finnish group held at the home of Mrs. W. Wuorela, Avenue Road, Tuesday evening, Sept. 29th, it was unanimously decided to give a donation of $10 to the Salvation Army for their work among the soldiers, and to send

ter. Circuits should not be overloaded and fuses of the correct amperage (15 amperes for the ordinary branch circuits) should be used. Disconnect irons, heating pads and other appliances when not in use.

Remove all possible fire hazards, but be prepared to fight a fire should it occur. Chemical extinguishers, pump-tank extinguishers, fire pails or barrels of water and ladders should be available on every farm.
