COVERAGE INVITED

Anti-semitism in the New Testament
subject for address at WLU Dec. 2

Anti-semitism in the New Testament and its modern interpreters will be the subject for an address at Wilfrid Laurier University Dec. 2 at 10:30 a.m. in Centre Hall.

The talk, sponsored by the department of religion and culture, will be delivered by Dr. William Klassen, chairman of the department of religious studies at the University of Manitoba, Winnipeg.

While the talk is meant essentially for students at WLU, the public is invited to attend.
